Sir Thomas Lipton made five attempts to assuage this blow, which had carried gloom to the heart of every British yachting enthusiast from Queen's palace to peasant's cottage, but try as he might, spend as he would, the battered old mug never budged from its pedestal in the New York Yacht Club.

Two Great Regrets

Lipton never married, and under English law his great estate probably will go to distant relatives. Once in conversation with newspapermen, he named his two greatest regrets.

"The first and foremost is that I never have lifted the America's Cup, and the second is that I never have been married," he said.

W.C.T.U. MEETING FIRST OF FALL

Rev. R. Whattam, of Ontario Prohibition Union, Guest Speaker.

TO RENEW EFFORT.

The W.C.T.U. held their first Fall meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. with a splendid attendance.

Mrs A. B. Cunningham, first vice-president, occupied the chair and conducted the opening devotional exercises. When the hymn "Stand Up For Jesus" was sung and all joined in the Lord's prayer.

The business session included the minutes of the June meeting, an executive meeting held last week, and the treasurers report.

The work of the executive was brought before the meeting for its approval and discussion. One interesting item was the change in the payment of fees from the three-month system to an annual due date, to fall in October. This met with the unanimous accord of the meeting.

Rev. R. Whattam, representing the Ontario Prohibition Union was a guest at the meeting and gave a brief address. Mr. Whattam paid high tribute to the late president of the W.C.T.U., Mrs. C. H. Edwards, and also to her sister, Mrs J. G. Plunkett's memory. His visit to Peterborough was to re-organize the work which he represents among the people of Peterborough where there has been no organization effort for some time. Mr. Whattam has just returned from Northern Ontario where he has been quite successful in his organization work. His object is to introduce the work in every Sunday School with a year-round program. In this connection, he introduced several very telling posters to be used in the work and asked for the support of the ladies in the undertaking.

An interesting program followed which had in all its numbers direct and loving tributes to the late Mrs. Edwards. The Scripturhe lesson from Psalms and also a passage from the 14th chapter of John, was read by Mrs. S. D. Carver. In her reference to Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Carver said 'Her life was filled with all things that were good and noble" and expressed the great loss her going meant to the W.C.T.U as well as to the members in a personal sense.

Mrs. M. A. Morrison added to the list of tributes in a little intimate story of her many activities in church, in the W.M.S., the Local Council of Women, and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to which she gave so generously and lovingly of her time and talent. The acting president, Mrs. Cunningham, also testified to the great value of her work and influence.

Mrs. A. J. Brown led in prayer and a hymn was sung, "Blest be the tie."

The speaker of the day was Miss Lancaster, who began her address with an offering of love to the memory of the late president. Her most outstanding characteristic, said Miss Lancaster, was "unselfishness" which perhaps is the highest tribute one could have paid.

In line with the existing depression, Miss Lancaster asked some pertinent questions: "Did we ever know of such depression in the days of the O.T.A.?" she asked. The millions of dollars spent annually in Canada for liquor might be put to better use if we but had the power to close the liquor stores to-day. Gladstone the student, the scholar and statesman declared intemperance was worse than wars or pestilence and he knew whereof he spoke, for he lived through both war and pestilence. Why do life insurance companies discriminate against the drinking man? Why is drinking positively prohibited all men who are in training for sports? Why must every railway man be a total abstainer? The answer would clear up any doubts as to the harm of using intoxcating drink.

There is nothing so efficacious as the training of children on this question and when women take a stand on this basis they will soon relieve matters.

The meeting was closed with prayer offered by Mrs. Throop.

An executive meeting was called for Wednesday afternoon, October the 7th at the Y.W.C.A.

Police Court

A long oration in defence of his claim that he wasn't intoxicated early this morning when arrested on George Street by P. C. Stevenson, given by a local young man in Police Court this morning, was without avail, Magistrate Langley finding him guilty and fixing the customary levy of $10 or ten days.

Evidence was submitted that the young man had been picked up following a rumpus in a cafe and taken to the station. Warned to go home, he was allowed his freedom. Later he again wandered onto George Street and was re-arrested.

Five months in the Mercer Reformatory was the sentence passed on a local girl who pleaded guilty to vagrancy. She had a bad record, Chief Newhall stated, and warnings and advice were unheeded by her.

Co-eds Go Eugenic, Youths—Van Dyke

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., October 2 (C.P.). — Empress Eugenie hats among the co-eds at the University of North Carolina have brought on a revolt among the men students, resulting in the appearance in classes of numerous Neophyte beards.

"If the women are going back to Eugenie, then we've got a perfect right to fall back on Van Dyke and Franz Joseph," said the announcement of the format on of a new group of men who styled themselves the anti-shavers.

JUDGE QUESTIONS OLD COURT CUSTOM

Opened on Tuesday Because of Road Conditions.

Three civil actions which remained on the list of non-jury cases at the sessions of the Supreme Court of Ontario were this morning held over by Mr. Justice Wright.

The three actions were as follows: Brown vs. Troop et al; F. D. Kerr, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff. The trial was postponed to the next court at Peterborough.

Dickson vs. Neish; J. A. O'Brien for the plaintiff and W. F. Huycke for defendant. By consent the trial was postponed to the next sittings of the court jury or non-jury at Peterborough.

Stewart vs. Lewis, Hon. G. N Gordon K. C. for the plaintiff; R. R. Hall, K. C. for the defendant, James Lewis, and W. F. Johnston for the defendant Allan Lewis. By consent the trial was postponed until the next sittings of the court at Peterborough.

His Lordship asked if there was any reason why the court here should not open on a Monday instead of Tuesday.

Mr. Huycke answered that one reason was that in the early days here the roads were in bad condition and there was some difficulty for persons attending court to get into Peterborough on the first day of the week. That difficulty of course did not exist now.

Mr. Gordon also explained to His Lordship that Tuesday was originally decided upon for the opening of the Supreme Court here in the months of October or November because of a possibility of roads becoming blocked with snow at that period of the year. He was of the opinion that the day could be conveniently altered to Monday in these days when the highways and County roads were in good condition.

Mr. Hall concurred with Mr. Gordon's remarks stating, "I don't see any reason why the court should not open on a Monday."

Before proceeding with the trial of Orval Ward who stands indicted on a charge of manslaughter, His Lordship arraigned Harry Faiers who is accused of a similar charge in respect to the death of Norman Taylor on the night of Sunday, August 23. Taylor was struck from a cycle by accused's car on Lansdowne street. Faieres pleaded not guilty to the charge.

A jury was empanelled for the trial of Faiers, after which His Lordship discharged the remaining member of the panel of petty jurors from further service at that court.

SIX MONTHS' RESIDENCE IN CITY REQUIRED OF ALL APPLICANTS

Another deputation, representing the larger landowners on the street and headed by E. A. Peck, M.P., took the opposite view, maintaining that the cost of the curbs and gutters would so raise the taxes on their property, most of which is vacant, that the burden would be almost unbearable.

Cost Outlined

City Engineer Parsons stated that the cost of present paving on the street is 28.3 cents per linear foot frontage for 10 years, making an annual cost on a fifty foot lot of $14.37. With the curb and gutter the cost per linear foot front for 10 years would be raised to 44.5 cents or $22.25 on a fifty foot lot.

The deputation urging the curbs and gutters declared that they had been promised the work and should have it and were entitled to it, since other streets in Ashburnham which had been paved had also had curbs and gutters laid down.

Mr. Peck argued that the other streets were more densely settled than Armour Road, which had wide stretches of vacant lots, naming several estates which had 400 to 700 feet frontage with no houses.

No Agreement

No agreement could be reached although it was suggested that curb and gutter be laid in front of those houses whose owner desire it. This would result in a "patchy job" it was argued.

The committee failed to reach a decision on the matter after the deputations had left and it was thrown over for consideration at another meeting.

Tenders had been called on prices square yard for an asphalt top on 11,700 square yards of cement base, which the city is laying under the unemployment scheme.

Tenders Received

The following tenders were received: Brennan Paving Co., Hamilton, $1.42 per sq. yard; Warren Paving Company, $1.72; Standard Paving Company, $1.73; Dufferin Paving Company $1.35 for cold mix; Raynor Construction Company, $1.85; Construction and Paving Company, $1.78.

After a motion, moved by Alderman Holland and seconded by Alderman Cotton, that tender of the Warren Paving Company be accepted, has been lost, Alderman Turner's motion that the City Engineer, Mayor Denne and Chairman Hamilton form a committee to investigate the quality of previous work done by the Brennan Paving Company was passed.

Add Stocker

Alderman Tuggey suggested that Alderman Stocker be added to the committee since Alderman Stocker had previously stated that "they are all Warren men."

Aldermen Macdonald and Turner, mover and seconder of the motion, both declared their confidence in the committee as named.

"I don't like that. There was no statement about lack of confidence," stated Alderman Tuggey.

Alderman Turner, "Oh, yes there was."

Labor Clause

A clause providing for local labor in all tenders as drawn up by "All laborers employed on this work the City Engineer read as followes. shall be bona fide residents of the city of Peterborough except such skilled labor as may be necessary for the proper mixing and laying of the surface. All trucks employed on the work shall be local trucks. All laborers and truck drivers or owners before being employed shall report at the City Engineer's office and receive an order for work."

A motion that pavement be laid on Douro street from Roger street to Driscoll Terrace was not seconded. His motion for curbs and gutters on the same section of the street also fell.

Tenders for snow plowing will be advertised for.

Not a Square Deal

Alderman Tuggey complained that there is too much hiring and firing of men on the relief work. It all should be done through the Engineer's office.

Engineer Parsons, "That's what we are trying to do."

Alderman Tuggey, "Some of the men are not getting a square deal."

Alderman McNabb stated that his experience had been that all data on every man employed on the relief work was open to inquiries at the Engineer's office and that the staff there was always willing to co-operate with suggestions made.

Men who own their own homes and are unemployed should not be penalized by not having the turn on the unemployment relief jobs was another decision of the committee. It was pointed that while some owned their homes because of unemployment they had not been able to pay their taxes. "The men who own their homes are the best class of citizens we have," stated Alderman Tuggey.

The forty-strip pavement on the market square will be continued north to Simcoe Street, it was decided.

SEVEN WOUNDED

quale Seratta was arrested for the crime and committed for trial but so far has not been tried.

Two Fusilades.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Perri and Menno, the three were sitting in their home when revolver shots were fired at them through the glass of the door. They jumped up and two fusilades of shotgun fire hit them. They saw two men running away after having fired other shots. Perri, it is said, rushed upstairs and got a shotgun, which he fired after the running men, but struck the Rosania family, who live directly opposite Gatti and Del Vechio are married to daughters of the latter house.

An attempt was made to murder Perri some time ago when a man leaped out from ambush in Victoria Park and tried to cut his throat. Siratti is in Welland Jail and will face a charge of attempted murder at the Assizes, in connection with the attack.

Next door to the Perri home was a house owned by Louis Gatti, which was bombed some time ago. At that time Perri told the police he had been threatened because he talked too much. Mrs. Perri early this morning told the police that threats had been made that her husband would never live to give evidence against Siratti at the Assizes, and threats were also made against the lives of the Perris and their ten children by black hand Italians.

Some time ago Menno was fined for pointing a gun at Del Vechio, and, at that time, told the police that the latter had threatened his life.

Del Vechio was picked up shortly after the shooting and, early this morning, Gatti was found in the Del Vechio home.

Section In Ferment.

The Italian section of the town is in a ferment. Patrol Sergeant Tisdale told a crowd of a hundred Italians assembled there that the police would appreciate any help and urge that this would be the only way to stop such outrages. The recently installed signal system proved its value last night, when, in a very few minutes, every available member of the force was at the scene, and a thorough investigation started. One shotgun, said to have been used by Perri, has been found, but the other two have disappeared. Numerous pellets were taken out of the bodies of Perri and Menno and were evidently fired from two shot guns of different calibres. Perri had several slugs so deeply imbedded that the doctor did not dare probe for them.

Capone Puts Saloons On Chain Store Basis

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2 (C.P.).—A report was printed by the Chicago Tribune to-day that the Alphonse Capone Syndicate has virtually put the saloons and roadhouses of Cook County on a chain store basis for everything from beer to pretzels.

Even towels and table linen must be purchased from a Capone company and laundered by a Capone laundry, according to the regulations which the newspaper said had been made. Ginger ale, soda pop and carbonated water must be bought through the Capone Syndicate. Thus Capone collects a profit from the pretzels which the customer munches with the beer he gulps.

In a taxi ride started in London and ending at the Isle of Skye, Scotland, a passenger recently traveled over 2,000 miles.

JURY TAKES RECESS FROM COURT DRIVES TO PLACE OF ACCIDENT

If something went wrong with the braking mechanism of a car it was possible for the brake peddle to be released by the operator, and for him to be unaware of the locking of a wheel, the witness Ray explained in answer to the judge.

Then in answer to defence counsel he said: "It is possible the tendency would be for the Buick car to be drawn towards the centre of the road if the left rear wheel had locked."

Roderick Adams, son of George Adams, driver of the Marquette car, stated he was sitting on the extreme left of the front seat of the car. He saw an old touring car—a Chevrolet ahead of the car in which he was riding. It was going at a speed of 20-25 m.p.h. "No more," he said.

Heard Brakes Applied

"Our car pulled out to pass the Chevrolet car at a speed of 30-35 m.p.h.", exclaimed witness, adding that he first noticed the accused's Buick car as they went to pull out in front of the Chevrolet. The Buick was coming over the brow of the hill. It was on the right side of the road, but commenced to swerve.

Witness heard the screaming of tires as the brakes of the Buick car were applied. "The car proceeded to pull in to the center of the road until it came up to us."

He said that his father pulled their car over to the extreme right of the road and slackened speed. The brakes were not applied, but the car was decellerated.

Witness did not realise a crash was inevitable till the last second. After the smash he opened the door and got out of the car. He did not see the Chevrolet car again.

Cross-examined witness said he saw the Buick coming up over the top of the rise when the car he was in was in the act of passing the Chevrolet car.

He agreed that if the Buick car was coming over the hill when the Marquette car had straightened out on its right side of the road there would be no reason for the driver of the Buick to apply his brakes.

John Wilson, 530 New Chamberlain street, city, a passenger in the Adams' car, said he was seated on the right hand side of the rear seat. He said he had a clear view of the road. Witness remembered passing a car prior to the accident. He did not know what sort of a car it was. The Marquette was going at 35 m.p.h. as it passed the other car.

Witness noticed a car approaching from the opposite direction. As it got closer, he said, the back of the car was swerving on our side of the road.

He could not recall telling Const. of the car, but stated, "it was going faster than our own car."

"The back end of the car came into contact with the Marquette—the back end and not the rear," he explained. "It swung right into our pathway and we collided."

A Wedding Party.

Cross-examined witness said he was in the back seat of the car with his bride. They were proceeding in direction of Toronto. Another car followed the wedding party out of the city, he said. "I knew he was behind, but I didn't know he was following." Witness had looked back and seen the other car follow when a mile down the roadway.

Witness did not hear or see the brakes go on, on the Buick car.

He could not recall telling Constable Silvester in an interview following the accident that he did not see the Buick car, because he was pulling confetti from his hair and clothing. He denied also having told the constable that he was not in a position to state the cause of the accident because he was taking confetti out of his hair and shirt.

After further questioning by judge and counsel, witness admitted that he had made such statements, but that he did not refer in those statements to the Buick car but to the "old car" which they had passed prior to the smash.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of the previous witness, was riding in the back seat of the Adams Marquette car. She remembered passing a car shortly before the accident but did not know the make or type of the car. She noticed also another car coming over the hill on the right side of the road. The next thing she saw was the car started to come over on their side of the road. She could not state how far they were at that time from the car they had previously passed.

No Racing.

Witness denied that there had been any racing between their car and the car containing guests at the wedding party that followed them out of Peterborough.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Wilson stated the old car they had passed shortly previous to the crash had either slowed down or stopped, when they passed it.

Confusing testimony was given by Miles Hutchison, a farmer who lives on Highway No. 28 and who was driving the Chevrolet car from Peterborough that was concerned in the accident. His car was a Chevrolet touring model about ten years old, he stated.

He did not see the Buick car at all, he testified, but stated that he pulled out to pass the Marquette car. He passed the car and later pulled up at the side of the road as a tire had almost come off the left front wheel of his car. The next thing he saw, he stated, was the Marquette car in front of him. It was bearing straight down on his car.

"It was just a flash and it was all over," witness said.

Was Centre of Storm.

Mr. McRuer suggested to witness that he was the centre of a "storm" and was so everwhelmed by it that he did not exactly know what happend, but somehow witness had seen an opening for his car and had made for it.

Louis Andrews of Peterborough said he was hitch-hiking from Oshawa to Peterborough on the day of the accident. He hailed a Hudson Straight Eight at Welcome and was offered a lift into Peterborough. The car came up via the Dale cut-off. The Hudson car, witness stated, came onto the Highway at Dale just ahead of a McLaughlin-Buick car, which he would say followed behind the car in which he was riding at an average distance of a quarter of a mile. At Bewdley the driver of witness's car stopped to admire the beauty of the lake. Witness did not see the Buick car overtake them at Bewdley but noticed it following again when they were on the journey in to Peterborough from Bewdley. The last he saw of the car was a little the other side of Watering Trough Hill.

The Hudson car travelled at an average speed of from 55-65 m.p.h. and at one time before reaching Peterborough it did 68 m.p.h. Witness later saw a Buick car in the ditch. It was, he said, the car he had seen following the Hudson.

In cross-examination he admitted that there are hundreds of Buick cars on the road. He had no other means of identifying the car beyond the fact that it was a McLaughlin-Buick.

In reply to the judge he said he thought the Buick car he referred to might be accused's car, and he remembered when he was arriving at Peterborough that the ambulance was just going out.

ZOO CURATOR STAGES RE-UNION PARTY.

George and Suzanne, the two chimpanzees which were presented to the Toronto Zoo three years ago by George Bistany, noted explorer and big-game hunter, were in high excitement when their old friend visited the famous pair at the Riverdale Zoo. Despite the passing of the years, the two Simians recognized their old friend and embraced, kissed, and snuggled the director of the San Francisco Zoological Gardens as soon as he called to them. Here is Mr. Bistany with George, who refused to return to his cage until he was taken for a walk by his old friend.

Sports Program

The sports feature of the afternoon were two snappy softball games which attracted large crowds of people who divided up in a sporty fashion and routed for visitors and home towners alike.

The girls game was more than an enjoyable event with the National Maids of Belleville clashing with the Keene hurlers. This was a keenly contested affair and showed to what length the fair sex can go in the world of sport. After a neat nine innings the Belleville "beauties" got the better end of the count, winning by a 17-6 score which was not altogether indicative of the class of ball played.

The Campbellford Clerks also went to the wall with a 12-8 adverse count made by Bethel who played a fine brand of softball and kept the Campbellford champions hustling. The game was even as far as play went the visitors gaining a few slight leads which gave them the advantage.

This year's fair has given another and higher standard to live up to and despite the adverse conditions that prevail interest in this sphere of agriculture seems to have remained. Success is spelt in every undertaking of the Society which has given the public one of its finest annual events.

GASPE IS STILL UNSPOILT LAND

South Shore of St. Lawrence is a Wonderland.

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 2.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Dorothy Smith, in the "Chronicle-Telegraph," tells of Canada's Wonderland, Gaspe. She advises tourists to see the country while it is yet unique and unspoilt. But hurry before civilization creeps in, and the ghosts and fairies die out, and the legends are forgotten; for when that happens, which heaven forbid, Gaspe will no longer be a land apart, but just another scenic tour.

It is on the North Shore that ghostly visitors most abound. Anse Pleureuse takes its name from the moaning and weeping which early settlers claimed issued from the woods. It was attributed to wandering of souls, and persisted until 1814 when it was abruptly brought to a stop by a priest passing through the place. The explanation of the phenomenon turned out to be quite prosaic, but the good people of Anne Pleureuse still cling to their belief in wandering souls, and indeed who wouldn't?

Legend reaches its height at Bonaventure Island, a government bird sanctuary opposite Perce. Here lived the Gou-Gou, a monstrous witch who is one stride passed from the island to the mainland, gathering up and devouring handfuls of Indians and other folk on her passage. Perhaps you too will see the Gou-Gou if weather conditions are right; she comes in the form of a mist hanging over the water, but is nowadays quite harmless.

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

VICAR'S TITLE MAY DISAPPEAR

"Vicar of Wakefield" Made Famous By Goldsmith.

LONDON, October 2 (C.P.). — The most celebrated Vicar of Wakefield undoubtedly was that wonderful creation of Oliver Goldsmith's. For nearly 200 years in consequence mention of the title has brought a smile of pleased recognition to almost any reader of English. It is a matter of real concern, therefore, to hear that the orical title, "Vicar of Wakefield," is in danger of extinction. For 40 years now Wakefield has been the seat of a Bishop, and the former Parish Church has ranked as a cathedral A measure recently passed by Parliament provides that incumbents of churches which have become cathedrals (this has happened in most instances, as in the case of Wakefield through the sub-division of old historic dioceses) shall now be styled Provosts.

The Bishop of Wakefield, Dr. Seaton, expressed his concern about this: "I should be sorry that the ancient and historic title Vicar of Wakefield shou'd disappear under the new provision of the Cathedrals Measure Loyalty to the past history of the church as well as to the heritage of English literature alike would not allow us to consent I trust that the incumbent of the mother church of Wakefield will be styled in future Vicar of Wakefield and Provost of Cathedral Church, combining the old with the new.

It may seem rather unkind to mention it, but facts seem to show that it was almost by chance that Wakefield achieved the celebrity through Goldsmith's masterpiece The general beliefe is that Goldsmith selected the name merely because he passed through Yorkshire in one of his hapless journeys. There is certainly nothing in the book which could not be associated with a hundred other rural parishes of England in the 18th century period. Wakefield, like so many other similar places, lost its old character when the industrial era opened. Nowadays it is a rather straggling city, with factories for a variety of trades. Something of its old agricultural element remains in its weekly cattle market. It also gathers some pretensions to dignity in being the seat of a Bishopric, and the centre of much administrative work for the West Riding of Yorkshire. Many Canadians will remember that Canon E A. Welch, who was for 10 years rector of St. James' Cathedral, in Toronto, left there in 1899 to become Vica rof Wakefield. Canon Welch remained at Wakefield nine years, since then he has been Rector of Southchurch, Essex.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN W. JOHNSON.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon from her home at Havelock of Mrs. J. W. Johnson, wife of the late John W. Johnson, in her eighty-first year. Mrs. Johnson, although confined to her bed with failing health for the past few months, was a very patient sufferer, and all who knew her will always remember her pleasant smile and cheerful disposition, being loved by both old and young. Her maiden name was Harriett Smith, and has lived in Havelock most of her married life. The surviving members of the family are five daughters—Mrs. W. Purdy, of Cordova Mines; Mrs. A. Watson, of Havelock; Mrs. Ed. McMillan, of Toronto; Mrs. J. Hayes and Mrs. M. Thibault, of Sault Ste. Marie. Also three sons: Hiram and Stanley, of Windsor, and Peter H., of town.

The Rev. J. Lennox D.D., of Knox Presbyterian Church, conducted the funeral service, speaking words of comfort to the bereaved. The floral tributes were beautiful showing the high esteem in which she was held. Interment was made in the Pine Grove Cemetery.

ELIZA V. DROPE.

ROSENEATH, October 2 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Eliza Victoria McCleary, widow of the late Thomas Drope, who passed into the Great Beyond on Friday afternoon, September 25, took place from the family residence on Monday afternoon. St. James' Anglican Church was filled to capacity and many could not get admittance for the funeral service, which was conducted by the Rev. Francis Battersby, assisted by Rev. Thomas McKim of Colborne, who as former minister of St. James' Church was a close friend of deceased and the family. The late Mrs. Drope was in her 75th year, and a daughter of the late John and Caroline McCleary of Percy Township. In 1884 she married Mr. Thomas Drope, who predeceased her in the spring of 1930. Confirmed in the Anglican Church after her marriage deceased was faithful in attendance at its services and was a steadfast and loyal supporter of all missionary endeavors both at home and in foreign fields, and particularly the Woman's Auxiliary of St. James' Church. The hospitality of her home was frequently extended for the regular monthly meetings or a quilting bee of the society. All who knew Mrs. Drope testify to her mild and gentle spirit and a true Christian character.

There were many beautiful flowers, coming from the family, near relatives, and from neighbors and friends who sought in this way to express esteem for the one whose loved presence is gone from us. There were also tributes from organizations among the latter being floral pieces from Regina Kwan's Club, Regina Board of Trade, Regina, Sask., Drope & Hosie staff, Regina, Ruth and Andrew Hosie, Regina, and the St. James' W.A. of Roseneath.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Delbert Brisbin, Earl Drope, Albert and Charles McCleary, Harry Coyle and Harry Jones. The Woman's Auxiliary were among the mourners and marched in a body in honor of their beloved sister and member, who will be sadly missed in the society.

Those left to mourn the loss of a loving mother are her three sons, Harry of Regina, Sask., William of Toronto, and John T. on the homestead, Alnwick Township, and one daughter, Mrs. Stewart Atkinson of Dartford. Her son Harry and his little daughter of Regina arrived home only a few hours before the funeral. Other friends who attended the funeral were from Colborne, Peterborough, Norwood, Harwood, Hastings, Cobourg, Port Hope, Centreton, Fenella, Dartford, Warkworth and Toronto.

MRS. GEORGE FALLS.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 2.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The death of Mrs. George Falls, of Tower Farm, Rice Lake, in her fifty-seventh year, occurred suddenly on Sunday, September 27, deceased, who was never robust, having been about her home and engaged with household duties the previous day, retiring apparently in her usual health, and passing away the following morning with startling unexpectedness.

Mrs. Falls, whose maiden name was Ellen Jane Forsyth, was born and brought up in Cavan Township, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Forsyth. She was a life-long member of the former Methodist Church and later of the United Church, her kindly disposition, cheerfulness and courage in battling against physical weakness, often coupled with much suffering and other vicissitudes on the pathway of life, being an inspiration to her relatives and friends and endearing her to all who came to know her.

Deceased was twice married, two daughters, one of whom died when quite young, being born to her union with the late Joseph Roberts. The immediate surviving relatives include her husband, George Falls, of the Tower Farm, Rice Lake; one daughter, Mrs. Clinton Miller (Roma Roberts), of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. G. F. Harrington and Miss Ethel Forsyth, both of Millbrook.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from her late residence at the Tower Farm on Tuesday, September 29, at 2 p.m., Rev. Mr. Bunt, of Springbrook, whose summer cottage is quite near the late Mrs. Falls' home, having charge of the services. The pall-bearers included: Messrs. G. Byers, F. Halstead, G. Coulson, E. Crews, Robert and James Falls. Interment was in Gardiner's Cemetery, Millbrook.

A number of beautiful floral tributes were laid in loving memory on the casket.

Among those from various points who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falls, of Simcoe; Mrs. Greenaway, of Port Hope; Mrs. Sidney Smith and son, Elmer, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beatty, of Elizabethville; Mrs. Elliott, of Elizabethville; Charles Roberts, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Hancock, of Peterborough, and many other relatives and friends.

NATAL NATIVES FEAR LEOPARDS AT LARGE

Prowling Wild Animals Reported Near Durban

DURBAN, South Africa, Oct. 2.—(By the Canadian Press)—Leopards which have been reported recently at Kloof have come down the Umgeni River valley to within 15 miles of Durban. Natives and Indians on the Natal Estates are severely frightened, and the leopards are killing their goats. Owners of the land on which the leopards are believed to be prowling do not want organized hunts, but it is believed that the natives will approach the magistrate for permission to hunt them down.

300 ORGANIZE AT BELLEVILLE

Unemployed Appoint Ex-Mayor Hanna as Chairman.

WILL MEET COUNCIL.

BELLEVILLE, October 2.—At a meeting of the unemployed at Belleville, well over 300 men attended. It was an organization meeting and when Chares Hanna, ex-mayor, suggested that a chairman be appointed, it was unanimously decided that he take the chair. In his opening remarks, Mr. Hanna stated that under no conditions were Reds wanted in the city, and this statement met with rounds of applause. He urged the men to organize. A delegation was formerd to meet the city council on Thursday evening. The question of whether the farmers' sons would be taken on the Northern highway proposition was brought up, and the majority of those present were of the opinion that they should not be taken. When someone asked why a steam-shovel had been used in laying and excavating for a paved street in the city, many urged that the city council be put out, and a new council elected. The unemployment situation in this city is becoming serious, and considerable agitation is going on among the jobless.

A CAPABLE CAST.

To the strains of "Seeing Nellie Home" the curtain rose on the first act of "An Old-fashioned Mother" produced last night by the "Cheerful Workers Bible Class" to a large and appreciative audience in St. James Sunday school hall.

To achieve the character of an "old-fashioned mother" in this modern age was the successful feat of Mrs. Henry Turner, who played the part with artistic simplicity. She was supported by a well-chosen cast in telling the parable of a mother's love which triumphs over the ingratitude and neglect of her children. This is a three act drama filled with pathos, which is relieved by much spontaneous humor.

The action of the play takes place in the little village of Canton, N.Y., at Aunt Deborah Underhill's farmhouse, and the play opens here with the rehearsal of the village choir.

Most of the dramatic incidents centre about John the youngest son, and black sheep of the family. He was wrongfully accused of crime while under the influence of evil companions, who found him a weak and subservient tool for their misdeeds. His reclamation and return to his aged mother in her dire need is the pivot upon which the whole theme turns.

In the opening scene the village choir delighted the audience with their old-time singing to the accompaniment of the old organ played by Mrs. William Atkinson. The choir was led in their singing by Mrs. Ross Payne who also played the role of "Widder Bill Pindle" with her splendid and natural acting.

The personnel of the choir was Mesdames W. A. Woods, William Wood, J. O. Fife, and Messrs. W. A. Wood, William Wood, and Ashton Fife.

Arthur Vannest as Jerry Gosling a comical country boy, always wanting to "swap" something, with Mrs. A. Williams, as Lowizy Loving Custard, the old maid who recites, are great comedy parts and keep the audience in laughter all the time they are on the stage.

Mrs. Percy Vannest made a charming and youthful village belle, and is the fiancee of Charlie Underhill, the elder son, cleverly taken by Percy Vannest.

The part of John, the prodigal son was played in a natural and forceful manner by Mr. Herschel Welbourn who with Enoch Rone, portrayed by Mr. Henry Turner made a "hit" with their audience in their highly dramatic parts.

Little Freda McMahon as the "widow's mite" introduces a touch of comedy with her mischievous mimicry.

The family maid, who is as "good as gold," is Gloriana Perkins, and eventually falls in love and weds Enoch Rone. With inimitable ease Mrs. Harold McMahon skilfully acts the part of the shy maiden.

Outstanding in his excellent performance as Brother Jonah Quackenbush, Mr. E. Benson, paid court to the supposed heiress Miss Custard, in old fashioned and realistic manner.

The county sheriff, Quintus Todd, was the difficult role of Mr. J. Huggins, whose dignified manner made the part a success.

The costumes of several generations past, recalled old photographs, with their billowy skirts, high necks and puffed sleeves, the fur-lined wraps, and the veil scarfs were also happy reminders of grandmother's day. These, with the quaint living-room, made an appropriate setting for this worth-while drama which will give a repeat performance to-night.

Between-act music of a high order was furnished by St. James Sunday school orchestra.

The committee in charge of lighting, curtain and staging was composed of Cecil Church, Bill Anderson and Ernest Davis.

MISSIONARY GIVES SPLENDID ADDRESS

Rev. G. A. Andrews and Mrs. A. R. Parsons Speak at Hastings.

A graphic account of the work of the missionaries in the Diocese of Honan, China, was given by Rev. G. A. Andrew, missionary on furlough, to a large gathering of members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Peterborough Deanery at their annual conference on Wednesday, at St. George's Anglican Church, Hastings. A map and a number of interesting charts were used as illustrations.

Mrs. A. R. Parsons of the Toronto Diocesan Board, was also a guest speaker, her subject matter dealing mostly with the missionary literature, of which department she holds the position of secretary.

A very helpful sermon was preached at the morning service of Holy Communion by Rev. G. J. Bousfield, rector of St. Luke's Church, and Rural Dean of Peterborough, from the words, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." The Rev. H. F. Battersby of Hastings was celebrant and was assisted by Rev. W. J. Creighton of Lakefield.

During the afternoon sessions, reports of the work of the different branches were read, showing much progress made. Mrs. J. H. Hughes was unanimously re-elected to the position of Deanery officer for the fifth year, and an invitation from St. George's Branch to hold the meeting there next year was accepted. Miss Purdy, who has been working for some time with the Grenfell Mission, was present and spoke a few words on her work. Lunch was provided by the members of Hastings and Roseneath branches, and Major and Mrs. Maryat entertained to a delightful afternoon tea at their home.

At the evening conference a number of young people from Peterborough motored out and spent a profitable evening, the chief attraction being the lantern slides used by Rev. G. A. Andrew to illustrate his talk on the missionary work in Honan.

The meetings throughout the day were very well attended, and the collections were voted to the itinery missionary work in the Diocese of Kootenay.

CITY NOT LIABLE.

SARNIA, Oct. 2—Is a municipality responsible for damage done to automobile tires by spikes and nails left on the streets? Not unless it can be proved that municipal officers knew of their presence at the point where damage was done, it was ruled in the Division Court, as the outcome of an action brought by Harold Orae to recover $15 damage done to a tire by a spike from the former street railway ties.

FREIGHT CAR'S LONG TRAVELS

Covers 38,500 Miles in Twenty-eight Months' Service.

CROSSES TWO BORDERS

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 2.—It is seldom that an ordinary freight car causes any unusual interest when it is returned to its home terminus after a jaunt of several thousand miles through the United States and Canada, but the opposite is the case where Central Vermont Railway automobile car 41488 is concerned.

Number 41488 is one of the 1,000 automobile cars constructed in April 1929 at Pittsburgh, Pa., for the Central Vermont's New England auto mobile traffic. In its 28 months of life, number 41488 has never, previous to this week, been in St. Albans, having been placed in through service on the Grand Trunk Western Line in Michigan immediately upon completion.

As a careful record is kept of the daily performance of every car in service the books show 41488 has travelled 38,500 miles—more than one and one-half times around the world at the equator—during its 28 months of existence; its travels have taken it through every state in the union and every province in Canada with the exception of Nova Scotia, and even to far-off Santa Rosalia down in the state of Chihuhua, old Mexico.

Although designed especially to transport automobiles, 41488 has carried many commodities, as shown by its service record.

On one trip after carrying motor cars to Duluth, Minn., 41488 took on a full load of pulp wood which it carried to mills in Northern British Columbia. Tracing its route via the service reecord next finds the car "deadheaded" to the coal fields of Alberta where a cargo of Alberta coal was put aboard for transport to the wheat growing district of Manitoba. There, the coal was unloaded and 41423 was given a bath and reloaded with wheat for the long trek to grain elevators in Ontario.

From the grain elevators to Detroit was another "deadhead" trip for 41488, but once in Detroit it took on another load of automobiles for southern New England. Always faithful 41488 arrived safely at New London with its cargo.

Car accounting officers who had followed 41488's career, decided it was time for the car to come to the St. Albans' shops for an examination and breathing spell. This was done a few days ago and minor repairs were made and 41488 is again rolling towards the setting sun to take on a load of automobiles for some unknown destination.

THE BEST BUY

There is no better buy for kitchen pots and pans than those made from aluminum. Granted, the original cost is a little more, but the wear thereof is endless in comparison to utensils that chip. Moreover, worn aluminum can be given a treatment by those in the business that makes them like new at a very nominal cost. However, years and years will pass before this is necessary.

MADOC COUPLE CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

Seven Children and Families Numbering 43 Gather at Jarvis Home.

PRESENTATIONS MADE.

MADOC, Oct. 2 (Examiner Correspondence).—A golden wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joness Jarvis on St. Lawrence Street, Madoc, on Monday, September 28.

Fifty years ago, on September 28, 1881 the marriage was performed in Montague, Michigan, of Miss Melissa Hemstreet to Joness Jarvis, both of Madoc Township, but then residing in Michigan. Melissa Hemstreet was born on her father's homestead near Eldorado, and Joness Jarvis was born in the Jarvis Settlement, near Madoc.

Following the wedding ceremony they resided for three years in Michigan, coming then to Madoc where they have since resided.

On Monday last their seven children, with their families, numbering forty-three (two being unavoidably absent) gathered to gladden the old folks and to celebrate the golden wedding day. All joined heartily to make the day one long to be remembered, none more so than the bride and groom. Three of Mr. Jarvis' sisters and two brothers, with their families, were also present, and fifty-eight partook of the hearty and bounteous dinner provided. The dinner was provided by "the girls," the bride being forbidden to work on this "day of days." The decorations were of gold, and golden flowers were used in profusion. After dinner was over an address was read, and the bride and groom were each presented with a purse containing golden pieces, besides other presents of value, tendered with loving greetings and good-will. Telegrams of congratulation were received and read during the day from absent ones, and the "honeymoon trip" taken during the afternoon was, at the bridegroom's request, to Crookston and back.

An event of much interest was the christening, during the day, of one great-grandson, Jack Empey, and two grandsons, Robert Richardson and Joness Jarvis.

Seven children were home to celebrate this event: Mrs. J. Fenn and Mrs. R. N. Broad, both of Madoc Township; Mrs. E. Post and Mrs. J. A. Kitchen, of Toronto; Mrs. J. W. Richardson, of Marmora; Jim, of Toronto, and Roy, of Madoc.

Friends and acquaintances all join in wishing the happy couple many pleasant years to enjoy the sunset of life. Mr. Jarvis is seventy-four years old and Mrs. Jarvis seventy-two, but both enjoying life and health, and the company of their children, grandchildren and friends.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

OUGH FOLLOWING INFLUENZA.

One of the mean symptoms that follows influenza or a severe head cold is an irritating cough that is so persistent that it resembles the cough in whooping cough. Practically every physician has met one or more of these cases.

Dr. G. Richardson, Sydenham, England, points out that in examining patients who have recently had influenza that the trachea (windpipe) and the bronchial tubes which branch from it, one to each lung, are greatly inflamed. There is acute congestion just below the throat and extending all the way down to the windpipe and including the entrances to the bronchial tubes. This is the reason that a person afflicted with influenza has an uncomfortable sensation low in his throat—a hot tickly feeling.

After he gets over the fever of influenza there remains a typical cough, always coming on when lying down in bed at night or when going from a warm area to a cold one; in other words, whenever cold air is inhaled over this inflamed lining of the windpipe.

Once a patient starts coughing he finds it hard to stop.

Further, the intensity of the cough varies with the individual; the short, stout-necked person gives a most alarming display with his empurpled face, bulging, bloodshot and streaming eyes; but whatever the degree of the coughing fit, it is a great nuisance to the owner, and to the audience. It bears a startling resemblance to that of whooping cough.

Unfortunately these individuals begin to use the ordinary cough medicines which are used to "quiet" coughs, and all these medicines do in most cases is to upset the stomach and spoil the appetite.

I have spoken before about the use of friar's balsam for sore throat, tonsilitis and so forth, and this is one more place where it seems to be helpful. A teaspoonful is put in the bottom of a jug or other vessel and a quart of boiling water is poured on it. With a towel over his head the patient inhales the steam for a few minutes. This should be done two or three times a day.

Dr. Richardson tells us that while mustard, linseed, camphorated oil, and other external remedies may be applied to the throat, he has found the mercury vapor lamp the most effective.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There is an adage which few, if any, persons doubt or deny—that of "Practice Makes Perfect."

• • • • • • •

Parents whose children are taking music lessons see to it that the little folks practice a definite time each day in order to be prepared for their next lesson.

• • • • • • •

Older persons who pursue this study do not have to be prodded or reminded to practice. They fully realize, that without going repeatedly over the exercises and "pieces," they cannot either become note perfect or master the correct phrasing, and bring out the full beauty of the opus.

• • • • • • •

These things are true no matter how much natural ability or musical talent the child or adult has. Practice is essential to success.

• • • • • • •

The same thing is true whatever the study pursued or whatever the "gift" being developed. Without practice no one would feel competent to speak French or any foreign language, nor would anyone expect to drive a car, sail a boat or be a competent housekeeper.

• • • • • • •

Whatever is attempted must be practiced in order to gain success, the height of which is perfection.

• • • • • • •

One exception is made to this adage that practice makes perfect. It is the outstanding exception which proves the rule. Goodness is thought of as an attribute, a something which requires no practice in order for improvement.

• • • • • • •

Few think of taking time to be good. A kind-hearted, noble, sweet and thoughtful character is evidently supposed to be endowed with these traits. That they were perfected by practice is seldom considered for a moment.

• • • • • • •

Yet if you were to know the mental and spiritual lives of such fine persons you would recognize that these desirable characteristics were made perfect through practice.

• • • • • • •

The same goal can be reached by all who are willing to study and practice the virtues. This is not a matter of probing into one's heart and discovering the bad traits and attempting to weed them out.

• • • • • • •

Make a point of speaking good of and to others. Speak with sincerity and avoid the flattering word. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Think of others as you would have them think of you.

• • • • • • •

Spend a few minutes every day in quiet consideration of things that are beautiful in nature, lovely landscapes, gorgeous sunsets, etc. Think of fine pictures, of attractive interiors, of graceful actions.

• • • • • • •

But above all, think of spiritual beauty and loveliness.

• • • • • • •

These thoughts are restful and inspiring. The time is well spent as it helps to put one in a good attitude, and the practice of goodness gradually becomes a habit which brings joy to one's self, and happiness in the home.

FASHION SERVICE

To be just right, the clothes of the growing miss must have a bit of dash.

The jacket dress, so splendid for school wear, has a definite smartness and practicality too, for it is equally attractive when the jacket is discarded.

This jaunty model is delightfully carried out in yacht blue linen. And to be ultra-smart, it trims its jacket with blue linen overplaided in deeper shade. The dress repeats the trim in bow at the front, and for the modish cap sleeves. The skirt is so cute in box-plait effect at the front and circular at the back.

Numberless fabrics are suitable for this swager outfit as rayon novelties, jersely and supple woolens in tweed effect.

Style No. 3145 may be had in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Size 8 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

3,000 TONS LOST AS GRAPES FALL

Shedding From Vines Blamed on Hot Summer, Lack of Moisture.

LOSS EXPECTED.

BEAMSVILLE, Oct. 2—Grape growers in this area are faced with an unexpected loss in their grape crop, which at the early part of the season gave promise of being the heaviest in the history of the Niagara district. In the grapery of D. H. Laundry, near here, it is estimated that nearly five tons of grapes have been lost through falling off the bunches. In a grapery of 28 acres, Mr. Laundry has 47 rows of vines. He estimates that at least 30 basketfuls have fallen from each row, making a total of 1,410 baskets lost. As 280 baskets make a ton, it will be seen that this one grower will lost about 5 tons of grapes through this cause.

Mr. Laundry estimates that from 3,000 to 4,000 tons of grapes have been lost in the Peninsula, basing his estimate on the figures from his own grapery. The only cause of this condition suggested is that the extreme heat of this summer, coupled with the lack of moisture in the early part of the season and very dry ground, is to blame.

St. Paul's Choir Holds Annual Tour

The annual "pilgrimage" to the country by the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church took place last evening, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Fowler. This outing is hailed with joy each fall, and the doors of the Fowler homestead are wide open to receive the influx of choristers from the city.

A clear moon, myriads of stars, and the dancing Aurora Borealis made last night's gathering, if possible, more enjoyable than previous visits; and about eight o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Fowler welcomed the guests, and gave up their home. About fifty availed themselves of the invitation, and made the time merry while the night was young.

The call of the water was heard, and the members hiked to the creek running through the farm, where a bonfire was blazing; and beside its glowing pile "fishing" was indulged in, with a few drawing a prize on the end of the line. One young lady drew a scrubbrush and three bars of soap! The air was laden with mirth and banter. Games succeeded the task of the Izaak Waltons, hilarious and joyful; and about 9:30 the "army" formed in column of route, and marched to the house, singing, to be greeted with weiners, coffee, and pie in abundance. Hearty appetites were evident while the edibles lasted—but a clearance was soon effected.

Music by various choristers for dancing was enjoyed, and community singing with the happy conductor, M. B. Chenhall, at the piano was a big item on the program.

The social committee were remembered for their duties—and at the interval a vote of thanks was tendered the hostess, who is president of the choir, for her kindness (with the hope of a visit in the future). Solos, dance, and "Auld Lang Syne" concluded an evening of great happiness, home being reached about eleven o'clock. John T. Hornsby had efficient charge of the transportation.

MOURNING WARDROBE

"A death occurred in our family and I had to go in mourning. I could hardly afford to buy all black clothes, so decided to dye what I had. I consulted our druggist and he advised using Diamond Dyes. Everything came out beautifully; coats, wool dresses, stockings and all. I have since learned to appreciate the excellence of the black Diamond Dyes. I tried another black dye and the results were impossible. I had to get Diamond Dyes and do the work over. Recently I have tinted my curtains a beautiful raspberry shade and dyed a rug a lovely garnet with Diamond Dyes. They are real money savers—the finest dyes money can buy—I truly believe."

Although Outhit 12-11, Athletics Connect When Hits Count Most.

4-1 FAVORITES TO WIN.

Earnshaw and Hallahan Will Likely Take Up Duties on Mound To-day.

(By Edward S. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., October 2. — Amid steadily increasing plaudits of a baseball world that knows a truly great team when it sees one, the world champion Philadelphia Athletics have picked up the thread of World Series conquest where they dropped it last fall.

It isn't so much that the A's seeking a record of three straight series championships, whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 2 yesterday in the opening game of the annual fall diamond classic. One game, important at the start of a short seven-game clash, still does not necessarily mean ultimate victory.

Rather it was the way the champions of the baseball world, insolent in their confidence, rose up in their might to come from behind and administer a typical Athletics thrashing to a team keyed to the point of desperation in its quest of victory. It was the old, old story of Athletic power, administered with crushing effect, steam-rollering the enemy into broken subjection just when hope was beginning to sprout again.

Last fall the Athletics leaped upon these same Cardinals in the World Series, blasting them apart at just exactly the psychological moments, to win their second straight world triumph for Connie Mack. They entered the first game of the 1931 pageant a natural favorite at 8 to 5. And to-day, facing the second and last game here until three matches have been played in Philadelphia next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, they stand out a 4 to 1 choice to gather in their third straight series conquest, something never before achieved in the history of baseball.

A crowd of 38,529, jamming flag-draped Sportsman's Park to within a few hundred of absolute capacity, paid $165,161 yesterday to see the Athletics, with absolute ease and nonchalance, smother a situation that had dramatic possibilities as great as any opening contest in the history of these time-honored duels of the American and National League champions.

There was Lefty Grove, probably the greatest southpaw of all times, certainly the finest pitcher of his day, easing his long, lank frame into the hurling box to oppose a giant right-handed rookie, Paul Derringer, No. 1 man of the Cardinals, and the first freshman in the major leagues ever to start the opening World Series game for his team.

It was a situation crammed with history-making opportunities, and the great crowd, basking in the warmth of a blue-murky Indian summer afternoon, caught every bit of the dramatic possibilities. If the 215-pound, 6 foot 3 inch farmer boy just a few years out of the Kentucky hills could tame the mighty A's with his sweeping curves and great speed, St. Louis could go on with every possibility of going into the record books as the club that finally smashed the American League Juggernaut.

Hurls Great Ball.

The big rookie, solid and chilly as a cold storage turkey, bent to his task. Four of the first six men to face him went down, lunging futilely at his curve ball. And in the meantime the Cardinals, swinging from the hip in desperation, climbed aboard the mighty Grove.

There was something wrong with the great Lefty's curve and control in the very first inning after he had fanned little Andy High, substituting in the Cardinal third base corner for the injured Sparky Adams Wally Roettger smacked him for a single. Frankie Frisch shot a single into right on the hit and run play and Jim Battomley, the hitting bust of the 1930 clashes, promptly drove home the first run with an infield single. And before the inning was over Pepper Martin, the young center fielder, like Derringer a newcomer to this sort of thing, banged a long double off the right field screen and the second run was over.

Some of the highest and widest cheering and uproar any series ever saw wafted Derringer out there for the third inning. His two run lead bulked large to the grandstands. Then it was that the House of Cards came toppling down as the champions turned their power loose on the rookie who had given too much of his swift ones and benders blotting out the A's in the first two innings.

Jimmy Dykes bounced a single over third, first hit off the rookie. Williams, sensational young shortstop who ousted the veteran Joe Boley from the champions lineup cracked a safe shot into right. Grove fanned for the first of three times and Max Bishop's grounder led to Dykes being trapped off third. Mule Haas belted a double into left and one run was over. Mickey Cochrane walked.

Simmons Walks

But there were two out and the big crowd sat tense as Derringer, his lead fading, worked carefully on the outstanding slugger of them all, Al Simmons. The big youngster had three balls and two strikes on the major league hitting champion. One more strike even a ball hit so that a fielder could handle it, and Derringer might have come through to hear his name sung to-day all over the baseball world. Instead the crucial pitch was an inch or so wide. Simmons walked. And the deluge came with the run he forced in. Jimmy Foxx hammered a vicious single through the infield, another pair of runs counted, and the game was on ice.

Later, in the seventh inning when it meant little except for the picture value, Simmons plucked off a high, wide ball and planted it in the left field bleachers. Mickey Cochrane, who had singled, scored ahead of him. Derringer left the game at the end of the seventh and Sylvester Johnson held the A's hitless for the last two.

Grove, hit harder than was expected, coasted in after the big fourth inning although the Cards reached him for 12 hits, one more than the A's got off Derringer. They hit the big Lefty only when hits did not mean runs, however. Pepper Martin led the Cards with three—two singles and a double.

To-day the Cards had 'Big Jarge' Earnshaw to contend with and even in the hearts of the most rabid National League partisans there was little hope. Gabby Street named "Wild Bill" Hallahan, the lefty who shut out the Athletics last year to do his pitching. But the general impression is that it doesn't matter much. The Athletics are in their usual blasting mood.

Rochester Evens Minor Series

RALLY IN 6TH INNING GIVES WINGS VICTORY

Rochester Evens Little World Series By Beating St. Paul 5-2.

BELL ALLOWS 6 HITS.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 2—Rochester hammered out a 5 to 2 victory over the American Association champions of St. Paul behind the six-hit pitching of Herman Bell yesterday, to even up the junior world series at one game each.

A crowd of 6,000 saw three Saint pitchers attempt to stem the barrage of hits off the International League batters' war clubs, but the Red Wings bunched their blows in one big inning—the sixth— to score four runs on as many hits, and added another in the ninth for good measure.

Bell sailed along without much trouble, save for the second and fifth innings, when the Saints scored a run in each. John Murphy was the victim of the four-run assault in Rochester's big sixth inning. Prudhomme relieved him.

St. Paul scored its first run in the second. Oscar Roettger singled, and went to third on Durst's double off the left-field fence. He scored while Delke was throwing out Morrissey.

In the fifth, Murphy belted the first ball pitched for a home run over the left-field fence.

Going into the sixth two runs behind Rochester went out to hit. Moore walked, and went to second on Pepper's single to right. Puccinelli walked to fill the bases. With no one out, Murphy took Bentley's grounder and forced Moore at the plate, but George Fisher pinch-hitting for Delker, sent a sizzling single to centre, scoring Pepper and Puccinelli to tie the score. Bell lined to Murphy for the second out, but Wilson singled to centre, scoring Bentley and Fisher. Manager 'Lefty' Leifield jerked Murphy for Prudhomme, and Toporcer forced Wilson at second to end the inning.

Score Again in Ninth

The Red Wings added another run in the ninth against "Slim" Harris, who relived Prudhomme. Wilson had grounded out when Toporcer walked, went to third on Moore's single, and scored on Pepper's long fly. The Saints went out in order in their half of the ninth.

The Red Wings got nine hits off St. Paul hurlers, while Bell was keeping his six hits well scattered. Toporcer was the fielding star, handling eleven chances without a bobble.

Both teams will be idle to-day the third game of four to be played here being scheduled for Saturday.

BARTON HELPS CUBS TO W[illegible]

Former Leaf Drives in Run for 1-0 Victory Over White Sox.

INTER-CITY SERIES EVEN.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—The Cubs finally emerged from a long scoring famine in the ninth inning yesterday to defeat the White Sox, 1 to 0, and even the battle for the Chicago City championship at one game apiece.

"Kiki" Cuyler and Vince Barton provided the winning punch in the game, which was a great hurling duel from start to finish, between Vic Frasier of the White Sox, and Guy Bush, Cub right-hander. With one out in the ninth inning, Cuyler slashed a hard hit to centre-field and raced to second. Lester Bell fouled out to Grube for the second out, but Barton rammed a single to right, bringing Cuyler home.

It was the first Cub score in the two games of the series. They were blanked, 9 to 0, Wednesday, by the 43-year-old veteran, "Red" Faber.

Fraser had the better of the pitching duel yesterday until the fatal ninth. He allowed but three scattered blows until that time, while Bush yielded six. Bush struck out seven batsmen. Three double plays aided Frasier yesterday.

With the series all square, the two teams move over to Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox, for the next three games.

ST. Wrestlers on the eligible list are Richard Shikati, Everett Marshall, Ray Steel, Don George, Ed. Lewis, Rudy Dusek, Gus Sonnenberg, Wladek Tbyszko, Pat O'Shocker, George Galza, Hendri De Glane, Montreal, John Pesek, Jim McMillen, Hans Steinwe, Jack Sherry, Karl De Jello, Kola Kwarian, Hans Kampfer, John Evko and Milo Steinborn.

Few Players Taken From Minor Leagues

ST. LOUIS, Mo., October 2. (C P.) — The higher draft price for Class 'AA' and 'A' players and business conditions in general have caused the major league club owners to select only 15 players the smallest number in recent years, from the minors this season.

The draft price for Class 'AA' Leagues — the American Association, International League and the Pacific Coast League—is $71,000 under the new agreement, while $6,000 must be laid down for players from Class 'A' Leagues such as the Southern Association, Texas League and the Eastern League. The old prices were $5,000 and $3,000.

Of the fifteen players called in the 1931 draft meeting last night only three will have trials with the American League teams next season, and of the remaining 121, the Boston Braves got four.

TWO BADMINTON CLUBS IN CITY

Game First Organized in India is Becoming More Poplar Throughout Canada.

CONSIDERABLE FOLLOWING

Two badminton clubs will operate here this winter, and half a dozen courts will be occupied nearly every night of the week starting shortly. The game is becoming more popular in Peterborough, as it is throughout Canada every year and yet few of the devotees of the game know anything of its history.

Badminton, in crude form, was first played in India under the name of Poona, a town in which it originated. British army officers transported the idea to England in 1872, and it became known as badminton a year later in honor of the Duke of Beaufort, in whose home—"Badminton"—located in Gloucestershire, the game was formally introduced.

It become a popular indoor sport in fashionable England and this led to formation of the Badminton Association in 1885. Later the Bath Badminton Club came into existence and it was then decided to alter some of the rules to conform with English ideas. Badminton is played on an indoor court with a racquet and shuttlecocks. Each shuttlecock has sixteen feathers. The strategy of play stresses volleying, the action is furiously fast and followers of the game insist that it demands more speed and stamina than does tennis. It somewhat resembles tennis, but the technique is far different.

Unofficial championship matches were first played in England in 1899. They were doubles, while singles followed the next year. The first official tournament was held in 1904, and they have been annual since then, except for the war years.

Canada adopted the sport soon after it became popular in the Old Country, and the game is finding larger numbers of followers in the Dominion each year. Canadian and English badminton stars frequently invaded other countries on tours, and Jack Purcell, of Toronto, is well known wherever the game is played.

Badminton found some favour in the States along the Atlantic seaboard, over a generation ago and had a considerable following for a time. Then it seemed to die out and become almost obsolete. But in the past few years, it has performed a "comeback" and is played quite generally the country now being particularly popular in California.

COACH HARRY HOBBS TO FIELD STRONG SQUAD AGAINST CATS

Light Workouts Called for To-night by Various Rugby Coaches.

FOR EXHIBITION GAMES.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2 (C.P.)—A brief respite frim the heavy training schedule of the past week will be enjoyed by aspirants for places in local senior grid to-night, when only light workouts have been called by all coaches in preparation for the opening of the Ontario rugby and footbal season and the many exhibition contests scheduled for tomorrow. Coaches sent their squads through a heavy workout last night and have called on light signal drills for this evening.

When the University of Toronto Inter-collegiate squad takes the field against Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers tomorrow they will be without the services of two of their stars, Art Snider and Don Wood, both of whom are resting injuries. Coach Harry Hobbs sent the Varsity squads through a heavy signal and tackling practice last night and hopes to field a strong team against the Panthers in the exhibition tilt. The Inter-collegiate squad officially open their schedule a week Saturday when they tackle the strong Queen's aggregation from Kingston.

Strong Backfield

About 40 players were in uniform last night when Coach Buck McKenna of Argonauts sent his proteges through a stiff drill in preparation for the game with Balmy Beach for the City Championship to-morrow. Further development of the use of the forward pass and heavy tackling practice composed the hour's training schedule. Frank Turville and Armour Munro will be Coach McKenna's backfield selection for Saturday.

Coach Alex. Ponton, of the champion Balmy Beach aggregation, after last night's heavy drill, has called a light signal workout for to-night. The O.R.F.U. title aspirants had a complete turnout last night and a strong squad will be sent against Argos to-morrow. Ab Box, diminutive kicking ace of last season's Dominion champions, has kicking assignment in to-morrow's game, while he will be assisted on the backfield by Alex Mackenzie, starry backfield runner of last season's squad.

Over in Hamilton last night Coach Billy Hughes of the Hamilton Tigers concluded a heavy week's training program when he sent his squad through an hour's workout under the floodlights in preparation for the exhibition tilt with University of Western Ontario Mustangs in Hamilton Saturday. A light signal practice is scheduled for to-night.

Following Wednesday's impressive showing against the Windsor Greyhounds in the Border City, Coach Billy Breen of the University of Western Ontario sent his squad through a light workout last night and has called another drill for this evening. He hopes to field his strongest team against the Bengals Saturday.

F. H. DEARBORN WINS SINGLES

Winner Defeats H. Freeman 21 to 4 on Local Bowling Greens.

FRIDAY TOURNEY.

The singles competition of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club was completed last evening and resulted in a nice win for F. H. Dearborn. As this was a handicap event it did not represent the Club championship, although in past years, when there were no championship events held, the winner of the singles was considered to be virtually the club champion. This year the club championship was won by E. H. Hall.

Yesterday's results in the singles games were as follows:

Quarter-Finals

W. J. Oke defeated H. Moyer, 21 to 10.

Dearborn defeated W. Wood, 21 to 9.

Semi-Finals

Freeman defeated Oke 21 to 9.

Dearborn defeated J. T. Braund 21 to 12.

Finals

Dearborn defeated H. Freeman 21 to 4.

The victory of Dearborn was well deserved, in-as-much as he bowled consistently throughout all his games and has won almost all of them by somewhat decisive margins. His closest game was with J. Harrison where the score at one time stood 19 to 17 but which Dearborn won by 21 to 17. In order to win Dearborn defeated G. Sorensen, J. Harrison, B. Bolam, W. Wood, J. T. Braund and H. Freeman. Freeman in order to get into the semi-finals defeated G. Hutchinson, K. Sloane E. Wall and W. J. Oke. A number of players who were defeated had themselves previously defeated strong bowlers. J. Harrison, for instance, had defeated D. Smith, W. Wood had defeated J. Bennet. Bolam had defeated D. Dyer. Thus in surviving this competition and winning out by such a decided margin, Dearborn, who has been bowling for only two years, deserves great credit. Last night he had a handicap of 4 over both Braund and Freeman.

Dearborn's bowling ability consists possibly more than anything else in a temperament admirably suited to carry him through tournament events. It enables him to play consistently, no matter what the circumstances under which he is bowling. He is not overcome by the reputation of some of the men he bowls against nor does he become over confident when success comes his way and he seems to be winning things somewhat easily. Added to all this, he is an excellent judge of distance, greens and weight and thus is well equipped to qualify as a high class lawn bowler.

Wilf Wood this year has won as many or more prizes in important tournament events both in and out of the city, as any other member of the club, while Freeman's ability as a players was shown not only by the fact that he reached the semi-finals but by his long record of victories in rinks, doubles and singles events over a period of years. Dearborn's decisive scores over these two fine players yesterday, neither of whom, however did themselves full justice, is worth giving and was as follows:

Dearborn ... 2300221020040103 1—21
Wood ..... 0012000102101010 0— 9
Dearborn 30002132402 and plus 4=21
Freeman 01110000010 4

Friday Tournament

To-night's rinks tournament will be the last of the season as the greens will be closed from now on in order to prepare them for next season's bowling. This has been the most successful season in the history of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club and plans are already being made for an even better season next year.

International Match In Canuck Golf Final

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2.—(By the Canadian Press.)—An International match between Canada and the United States is certain in the final round of the Canadian ladies' open golf championship to be played to-morrow over the tricky Rosedale course. This was brought about last night with the announcement of the draw, which brings together Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N.S., and Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, and Mrs. W. G. Fraser, of Ottawa and Miss Margery Kirkham of Montreal in the semi-final round for the Dominion title and the Duchess of Connaught Cup to be played to-day.

CASUAL COMMENT

Here's hoping the weather to-morrow is better than it was last Saturday, so that a bigger crowd will be out to see the big rugby game at Stevenson Park. Oshawa seniors and P.C.I. should stage a real battle when they clash, as the locals have plenty of speed and daring while the Motor City outfit is heavy and also speedy.

• • • • • • •

It's beef on the line that good rugby teams are built around, but it's speed and trickery like that of Red Grange, or the Four Horsemen of American fame, or Harry Batstone of Queen's, that are always upending the dope bucket. Well we'll see what we'll see over there to-morrow afternoon.

• • • • • • •

The radios around town had a big play yesterday while the World Series' game was being broadcasted. The result of the game was true to form, the A's taking the tilt in rather comfortable style. The great "Lefty" Grove proved to be no mystery to the Cards, but he held them down just enough, aided by fine support. We have an idea that a bunch of fans here are pulling for "Gabby" Street's boys because they are looked upon as the under-dogs.

• • • • • • •

Quite a few bowlers are starting the season off these nights down at the Duffus Alleys, and it won't be long before a flock of leagues will be keeping the pin boys on the jump. In fact, the C.G.E. Shop League is re-organizing this evening for the fall and winter, and over two hundred bowlers will be upsetting the hickory soon.

• • • • • • •

Nothing further has been heard of the proposed boys-girls softball game at the Bowl, with Westclox damsels and the Big Bens in feminine attire coming together. Maybe, the men have decided to wait till hallowe'en, but it's liable to be downright chilly then.

• • • • • • •

The softball games in Lakefield in which Peterborough teams are participating draw fair crowds at the rink. The outfits haven't been at it long enough yet to get a good line on their strength, but so far they look to be pretty closely matched, and there'll be quite a tussle toward the finish of the schedule for the silverware.

• • • • • • •

The Girls' Softball League fall meeting will probably be held some time next week, when all the business for the year can be cleaned up. There should be a fair cash balance over expenses, as the girls' games proved popular throughout.

• • • • • • •

Some of the other local leagues broke even this year, but we don't know of any, outside the maidens' circuit, that had money left over in the treasury. And this in the first year of a comeback, too. They had their share of expenses also during the schedule, but not being affiliated with an Ontario association, the winner had no costly trips to other towns. And then look at the gates they had at the East City Bowl, anywhere from five hundred to more than a thousand at every contest.

• • • • • • •

The Percy Bond Silver Trophy, won by the Keene damsels, will be on display shortly in one of the downtown windows. This cup was up for competition formerly, when girls' softball was played here some five or six years back. But it was never won three times in a row by any team, so will continue to be competed for another couple of years anyway.

• • • • • • •

With the charge of semi-professionalism in golf, emanating from Montreal, the investigations which will follow are bound to prove interesting. Already, denials are coming from various parts of the country. Of course, the game is strictly amateur here and in any town this size.

• • • • • • •

Most of the best swimmers in Ontario will be seen at the swimming exhibition at the new "Y" pool this evening at eight bells. Olympic artists, and all sorts of divers and trick watermen and girls will strut their stuffff. If possible, George Young will come down from Toronto with Tommy Walker and the bunch for the exhibition. It ought to be worth seeing, and no admission is charged.

SOCCER CHAMPS BEAT QUEEN MARY

Smart Goals by Mowry and Post Defeated Smith, Brilliant Queen Mary Custodian.

Queen Mary dropped two valuable league points in the public schools soccer schedule yesterday afternoon, when they were defeated by the champions of last year (King Edward) two goals to nil. The winners played their position to advantage and made good use of the openings presented against the light-weight eleven of Queen Mary.

	P	W	L	F	A	Pts.

First Half

King Edward kicked into the west goal against the wind and sun. Both elevens instituted dangerous raids that failed to defeat the custodian. Play ran from end to end at a terrific rate, although King Edward forwards were presented with many excellent opportunities through their wing men penetrating the defence on the wing and sending accurate centers into goal, where White and Nieman had difficulty in clearing the ball. Smith, custodian, coming to their rescue after they had miskicked. Time and again, the Queen Mary boys would break through the back division to find the full backs dominating the situation. But they reverted to the long punts over their heads and tested the goalie occasionally in the first moiety. Queen Mary 0, King Edward 0

Half Time

On resuming, the West end boys found the sun in their face a disadvantage whenever the ball dropped near the goal. Nieman being the only player to acquaint himself with the predicament. After ten minutes play, the King Edward boys travelled down the field all in a line and confined the tactics to the Queen Mary territory, which finally gained them the opening counter from a scrimmage in front of goal. No less than three times, did Mowry connect with low grounders but resulted in the full backs frustrating the attack. Then he lifted the ball over their heads to beat Smith with a high shot. Queen Mary made many attempts to break through the South-end boys' defense, but they abided by their positions to keep the shooting at long range. Just before the final, King Edward forwards kept the ball swinging from wing to wing, which kept their opponents on the run. From a deadly centre by Conners on the right wing, Post on the outside left position connected at the opportune moment to completely baffle the Queen Mary custodian with a lightning grounder from the left foot while on the run. King Edward 2, Queen Mary 0.

Scorers—D. Mowry and A. Conners.

King Edward—G. Grose, goal; R. Vilneff and J. Fife, full backs; R. Detler, J. Field and E. Jobe, halves; A. Conners, R. Heal, D. Mowry, L. Grose and J. Post, forwards.

Connie Mack Tells Why He Keeps Mum

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 2. —(C P) — Connie Mack, 68-year-old manager of the victorious Athletics, explained today why he never gives out his pitching selections in advance of the world series game.

The reason is because he might change his mind 15 minutes before the game and the baseball public might think he was trying to put something over or become mysterious.

"I usually make up my mind the day before the game," Mack said, "but then I might change it.

"If I gave out my selections and then changed my mind, the public might believe I was trying to fool them, or that I had something up my sleeve.

"I haven't anything up my sleeve," Mack said, raising his long right arm and dropping it to show nothing fell out.

"If I don't tell who is going to pitch, I don't have to take anything back if I change my mind now, that's fair, isn't it?"

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

MAKING HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

When shines the sun stop not to play,
For time it is for making hay.
—Old Mother Nature.

Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was smiling his broadest and little Chief Hare felt like smiling also.

"It is a great day for making hay," said he to Mrs. Little Chief. "We must waste no time. Mr. Sun looks as if he intended to stay out all day and a whole day of sunshine means a lot to us just now."

"Just so, my dear," replied Mrs. Little Chief. "I have always said that there is no hay like sun-cured hay. It is sweeter and has a better flavor."

"I wish it wasn't quite so far from these rocks to that grassy place," said Little Chief. "I was over there last night and there are a lot of the nicest plants growing there, the one we like best. They are just ready for cutting now and with Mr. Sun to dry them for us we'll have the finest crop of hay we ever have put up. It will taste pretty good next winter when there is no fresh green food to be found."

"It will so," declared Mrs. Little Chief, "and the sooner we get it cut and out to dry the better. We are wasting time, and no haymaker can afford to waste time."

"Quite right, my dear. Quite right," replied Little Chief. "I tell you what, you sit on this rock and keep watch while I run over there and cut a bundle and bring it back. Then I will keep watch while you do the same thing. It is a pity we can't both work together, but we must cross too much open ground for it to be safe for both of us to go together. The best hay in the world isn't worth the loss of life. Safety first, my dear. Safety first."

Mrs. Little Chief sighed. "Of course you are right," said she. "We've got quite a lot of hay put up and it would be a dreadful waste if there should be no one to eat it. Wouldn't it be nice if we never had to watch out for enemies? It sometimes seems as if we spend half our time keeping watch."

"Well, no one can have everything, and so far as I am concerned I would rather be hunted than to have to hunt others in order to get enough to eat," replied Little Chief. "We never have to go hungry and that is more than some of those who hunt us can say. We always know where the next meal is coming from and that means a lot.

"I wish it wasn't quite so far from these rocks to that grassy place," said Little Chief

Yes sir, that means a lot. Now you keep watch and I'll get busy."

So little Mrs. Little Chief sat on the rock, from which she could see far in all directions, and Little Chief scampered across the open space to the grassy plot and there began cutting as fast as he could. When he had cut as big a bundle as he could carry he hurried back and spread it on a rock where the rays of jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun would fall upon it. Then he climbed up on the rock to watch and Mrs. Little Chief scampered across to the tiny bit of meadow.

They worked fast, did these two little people. First one and then the other brought a little bundle of grasses and other plants and spread them out to dry. They wasted no time. Looking down from high up in the blue, blue sky jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun watched them and smiled more broadly than ever and did his part to make that hay good. And some one else watched them and chuckled. It was Farmer Brown's Boy hidden among the rocks. Having helped to make hay many times back on the farm he took special interest in the way these two little people worked.

COWBOYS BECAME SHIP GANGSTERS

Word "Buccaneer" Originated From Caribbean Life.

The Caribbean Countries connected with Canada by the Canadian National Steamships, are famous for their history of pirates and buccaneering, yet few people stop to wonder what buccaneering really is. Centuries past, the aboriginal Caribs used to smoke wild meat on wooden frames, which came to be called boucans, or bucans. The process became known as buccaneering.

Later, Europeans developed a considerable industry by chasing, killing and smoking South America's wild cattle. These "cowboys" drew the name buccaneers. When chasing treasure ships became more profitable and thrilling than chasing cattle, the buccaneers deserted the land for the sea. They retained their name, buccaneers, as they played high stakes with death on the Spanish Main. Thus we have buccaneers, filibusters, pirates, bootleggers and gangsters. They are "birds" of much the same feather.

PRESENTATION TO HASTINGS GIRL

Pleasant Social Evening Held at Home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stinson.

HASTINGS, Oct. 2.—On Friday evening of last week, a large gathering of over two hundred neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stinson to show their esteem toward their only daughter Chrystina before leaving for Toronto, where she accepted a position. Chrystina's sunny disposition won her a place as a general favorite among all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

During the evening which was spent in various games and dancing, an address was read by Miss Madeline Convey and a gift of a most beautiful club bag was presented by Mr. Tom Gorman. In Chrystina's reply she expressed her surprise and thankfulness assuring her guests, as she was going to and fro, in days to come, she would have a beautiful remembrance of her friends and neighbors, after which all united in singing, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." The address read as follows:—

Dear Chrystina,

The news of your departure from among us has caused much surprise, and a great deal of regret. However, we take this opportunity of spending a few hours with you and extending a wish for your success and happiness in your new field of endeavor. Your willingness to help, your thoughtfulness of others; and your pleasant disposition will be greatly missed in your present circle, but we know those same traits will speedily win for you many new friends. It is our pleasure to present you with this small token of our esteem.

Signed on behalf of your neighbors and friends, Misses Collins, Fred Barry, Tim Gorman, Will Coveney.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 2nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.45 a.m. to 9.30 a.m., from noon to 3 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger hours are from 9.45 a.m. to 11.50 a.m., and from 9.30 p.m. to 11.15 p.m.

October 2nd, astrologically speaking, holds out bright prospects, especially for those engaged in electrical and engineering work. Home relationships will also be favored. The spirits of energy and sympathy will prevail. Tangible results may not immediately materialize, but some seeds will drop and these will yield a plentiful harvest later on.

Children born on this October 2nd may, and probably will, be a disappointment in early years. Just prior to adolescence, however, they will astonish all concerned—including themselves—by a new outlook on life. They will then begin to work hard, study unremittingly, and become affectionate, tolerant, and sympathetic.

You, if born on October 2nd, are capable of ascending to sublime heights or descending to abysmal depths. There are always two distinct individualisms striving within you for supremacy. You have the best intentions in the world, and really mean to do what is right. On the other hand, your pleasure-loving proclivities are very apt to make you wander far from the "straight and narrow." Your horoscope says that this internal tug of war will continue until Romance steps in and, by the strength of passion that it invokes, makes you discard, once and for all, "the aching for the flesh pots."

Nature gifted you in a niggardly fashion. Mentally, you are away above the average, and physically, you are brave and courageous. A spirit of adventure often impels you to do things that are foolhardy—and you get away with it. Until you "settle down," your life will be colorful, exciting and full of "ups and downs." Once you realize that Life is real and earnest, your habits will change and you will become a stickler for everything that is conventional. You will be an uncompromising critic of those who do not live according to the rules and by-laws laid down by Mrs. Grundy. You will forget your lurid past, and only live in the respectable present.

HAROLD LLOYD RESCUES HIS CHILDREN FROM FIRE

LOS ANGELES, October 1. — Harold Lloyd, the film comedian, carried his three children to safety yesterday when a small fire broke out in his beach home. He then returned and extinguished the fire which occurred in the bathroom, and was believed caused by the heating apparatus.

It can't be
"just like Kotex"
Kotex protects health as well as comfort

PLEASE don't ever think a sanitary pad is "just like Kotex" because it looks the same. You need more than surface resemblance.

You need the purity of Kotex. Your health requires its hygienic safety. Its care in making. Kotex is machine packed and hygienically sealed in dust-proof packages.

No sanitary protection that fails to meet these standards should ever be considered. You know Kotex is safe. You know hospitals use it.

Be Assured

This assurance of safety is beyond price. Don't give it up for the sake of a few pennies, when this saving means you must take some questionable substitute of whose makers you know nothing. Kotex assures every comfort.

Wear on Either Side...
1. Can be worn on either side with equal comfort. No embarrassment. Inconspicuous.
2. Kotex is soft... Even the gauze is specially treated to make it amazingly soft.
3. The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in Canada's leading hospitals.
4. Disposable, instantly, completely.

Amazing softness, that lasts. Scientific shaping, for comfort and inconspicuous lines. Easy disposability.

SWIMMING MEET HERE TO-NIGHT

Galaxy of Canadian Acquatic Stars Will Perform in Y.M.C.A. Pool.

LADY SWIMMERS ALSO.

A galaxy of outstanding swimming stars of Ontario will take part in the swimming exhibition at the Y.M.C.A. pool this evening, starting at eight o'clock. The majority of them will come from Toronto, under the leadership of Tommy Walker, Director of the Central "Y" there.

Several of these swimmers are topnotchers in Canadian aquatic circles, having taken part in various international swim meets including the Olympics. Bert Gibson, Jack Aubin, Ted Munro and Ernie Kenneth — all Canadian champions and record holders, and members of the North American champion team for the past three years—will participate in different events. Aubin is a 1928 Olympic swimmer, and Bill Lewin, who will take part, is one of the best divers in the country.

In the ladies' section are such outstanding water stars as Betty Edwards, Canadian free style champion; Mary Carthy all around mermaid; Helen Carthy, nine-year-old swimming and diving wonder; and several others.

Walker is endeavoring to get George Young, C.N.E. marthon winner, for the local exhibition also, but as he has just returned from Montreal, it is not certain if he will make the trip.

An unusually large crowd will be on hand this evening to see these experts in action in the new "Y" pool, and as no admission is being charged, swim fans should go early. The visiting swimmers will be banquetted and entertained by the local Y.M.C.A. Anyone interested is invited to attend the water meet.

OLD SCHOONER IS UNREPORTED

Vessel With 11 Persons Aboard Has Only One Experienced Seaman.

MAY BE HONEYMOON SHIP

SAN PEDRO, Cal. Oct. 2. — A heavy sea swept by a strong southeasterly gale, held the mystery today of the whereabouts of the old four masted schooner Phillippine with 11 persons aboard.

Fears were expressed here for the safety of the vessel, its passengers and its one experienced seaman. The schooner was sighted 25 miles off the local harbor by the steamer H. F. Alexander early last evening, slowly wallowing its course from Oakland to the local port.

The Phillippine departed Saturday from Oakland, where it had long been tied up on the mud flats. It had been reported the vessel was to be brought here to be remodelled for use on a honeymoon voyage by Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton and her husband David Hutton, but the evangelist subsequently said she had no plans for a honeymoon voyage.

Federal authorities at Oakland reported the passengers on the cruise included Duff Lohez, of Biloxi, Miss., former Tulane University football player and a group of California lawyers.

CASE POSTPONED UNTIL DECEMBER

Civil Suit Relegated by Criminal Action.

An action on the non-jury civil list in which Thomas McIvor is sueing Thomas P. Kerr in which he claims specific performance by the defendant of a contract to purchase a farm or in default damages for $1,500 and costs, was last night held over by Mr. Justice Wright to the next non-jury court at Peterborough on December ... next.

His Lordship asked counsel in the case how long they thought the trial of the action would take. Unless they could give him the assurance that it would not occupy more than two hours he was not prepared to go on with it, he said, because he had a criminal trial in the morning that would occupy his attention throughout that day.

J. F. Strickland, K.C., M.P.P., solicitor for the plaintiff, intimated that he would have seven witnesses to call, while W. F. Huycke, solicitor for the defendant, said he had five witnesses to testify. They were not prepared to give the assurance that the action would not last for more than two hours.

The court then adjourned until 9.30 this morning.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR NO. 95 By Edgar Rice Burroughs
(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

Singly and in twos and threes the lions leaped the boma, until the little enclosure was filled with cursing men and screaming horses battling for their lives with the green-eyed devils of the jungle. With the charge of the first lion, Jane Clayton had scrambled to her feet, and now she stood horror-struck at the scene of savage slaughter that swirled and eddied about her. Once a bolting horse knocked her down, and a moment later a lion, leaping in pursuit of another terror-stricken animal, brushed her so closely that she was again thrown.

Amidst the crackling of the rifles and the growls of the carnivora rose the death screams of the stricken men and horses as they were dragged down by the blood-mad cats. It was every man for himself; and in the melee the defenseless woman was either forgotten or ignored by her black captors. A score of times was her life menaced by the charging lions, by plunging horses, or by the wildly fired bullets of the frightened troopers. Yet there was no chance of escape for her.

Wide-eyed Jane Clayton stood watching. In a daze she saw the beast nearest her suddenly drop the inanimate thing he had been clawing and raise his head to look about for a new victim. Powerless with fear she was unable to move. Now the yellow eyes fastened themselves balefully upon the figure of the young woman. The bristling lips raised, disclosing the grinning fangs. A terrific roar broke from the savage throat and the great beast crouched to spring upon this new and helpless victim....

Quiet had fallen early upon the camp where Tarzan and Werper lay securely bound. Two nervous sentries paced their beats. The others slept—or tried to sleep—all but the ape-man. Silently and powerfully he strained at the bonds which fettered his wrists. The muscles knotted beneath the smooth, brown skin of his arms and shoulders. The veins stood out upon his temples from the force of his exertions— a strand parted, another and another, and one hand was free—and then both arms.

R. J. WILLIAMS KIWANIS GUEST

Joint Luncheon With Members of Life Underwriters.

MESSAGE OF OPTIMISM.

"Consider the banana, when it leaves the bunch it gets skinned" was the admonition given to members of the Kiwanis Club and Life Underwriters' Association at a joint luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day by R. J. Williams in defending what he termed "the great American weakness" of club luncheons.

Mr. Williams is Ontario manager of the Prudential Life Insurance Company and he brought a message of encouragement and optimism to life underwriters and business men in general. He declared that the deparession was being taken as an excuse for many men to let up in their efforts of producing business, and that most salesmen to-day were approaching prospects with the ill-concealed expectation of being refused.

He pointed out the service insurance salesmen are giving and urged that they be given a more kindly reception.

Harold Snelgrove sang two solos in very fine voice. E. L. Sackville introduced the speaker and President John I. Allen was chairman of the meeting. He announced that plans for the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition are going ahead and the best exhibition of its kind is assured.

Hoover Is Against Navy Increase

President Favors Armament Economy To Check Distress

Will Appeal to American Nation if Necessary for Their Sanction of His Policy of Limited Naval Construction.

OPPOSES BIG NAVY INTERESTS DEPRESSION POLITICAL FACTOR

Flotation of National Loan For Unemployment Measures Believed Probable — Labor Assumes Wage Cuts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3. — (By Ken Clark, C. P. Staff Correspondent)—The spotlight in Washington swinging more rapidly across the foreign and domestic policies of Presidetn Hoover's administration as difficulties in both fields were intensified, this week threw disarmament into sharp relief. Still confused, the labyrinthian ramifications of finance and commerce stood in the background, while newspapermen were given definitely to understand the president would not permit any hanky-panky on the part of big navy interests. The administration appeared headed up for a blow against armament and for economy in that line as a first means of attack on world distress.

The Navy Department announced a cut of six destroyers from its building programme. The president, it is understood, does not ask elimination of units authorized for construction but does demand economy and will fight with all his power against any increase in building, if necessary appealing to the people of the United States.

Borah Backs Policy

Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, back in Washington, offered full support to the president, characterizing reductions in naval costs suggested by Mr. Hoover, as modest.

Co-incidentally with the re-emerging of disarmament as a primary policy of the administration, it became known Washington looked upon the forthcoming visit of Premier Laval as a courtesy call. Premier Laval comes to the United States upon invitation of the Ambassador to France; Walter Edge, he comes as a representative of a national now holding a military position second to none in Europe and—only incidentally for the purpose of this paragraph controlling approximately one quarter of the world's gold supply. It is reported overtures for visits by the heads of other European governments were received in Washington without extreme enthusiasm.

The Political Factor

In consideration of administration policy in the United States as in any other democratic country, it is essential to have first regard to the domestic political situation. This week in a congressional election in Missouri looked upon by a Republican authority as a barometer reflecting just how great is the swing away from the Republicans, a Democrat, although running against an Independent Democrat as well as a Republican, was elected by an unprecedented majority. The economic situation far from being ameliorated as has been continually predicted for the immediate future by Government spokesmen and good Republicans ever since 1929, appears to be slightly worse. This factor was undoubtedly responsible for the Democratic victory.

Railways' Demand.

The demand of the railways for a ten per cent. increase in freight rates, a demand which few suppose will be granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was made as an alternative to a wage cut. The ten per cent. cut in the steel industry has so far provoked no open strife between the employers and workers, despite denouncement by William Green, head of the Federation of Labor. But it is doubtful whether railway workers would be as passive as the steel men. The position of agriculture has not improved. Temporarily, except for an outburst from the National Grange against beer, the return of which is held to endanger the dairy markets, the farmers have not been so vociferous of late weeks, but when Congress reassembles in December all the interests affected by the present condition of the country will find voices to make the dome of the capitol ring again.

See National Loan.

Not improbably the legislators pressed upon by the demands of individual constituents, communities and home states, may take the bit between their teeth and force the flotation of a national loan to deal with unemployment. Obviously, this will require taxation. Obviously, no administration wants to go to a country saying: "We have

MUST WIPE OUT WAR REMINDERS

Council of Fascism Urges Settlement of Reparation, Limiting Armaments.

SET GOOD EXAMPLE.

ROME, Oct. 3 (A.P.)—Limitation of armaments and settlement of war debts and reparations were advocated by the Grand Council of Fascism to-day as the most effective remedies for world-wide depression.

Premier Mussolini, chairman of the council, in meetings last night and early to-day reaffirmed his long-standing conviction that reminders of the Great War must be wiped out in order to restore genuine peace and prosperity.

Foreign Minister Dino Grandi's proposal for an immediate truce on arms to last until the disarmament conference in February, submitted to the Council of the League of Nations, was said to have surmounted prejudice and placed the international arms problem on a realistic and concrete basis.

Fascism's example in acting quickly to meet the emergency within its own borders, it was said, should be made known to the world as a helpful and effective influence.

NOTED SWIMMER STABBED IN SIDE BY HER TRAINER

Attack of Anna Benoit Occurs as She is Sitting at Breakfast Table.

HUNTING KNIFE USED

Attacker Takes Poison, Collapses—Held on Attempted Murder Count.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3. (CP)—Anna Benoit, well-known marathon swimmer of Holyoke, Mass., now residing in Toronto, was stabbed in the side to-day with a large hunting knife, said by police to have been wielded by her trainer, Herman Hunt, 40, of Great Neck, Long Island, during a fit of jealousy.

Hunt is under arrest on a charge of attempted murder. After the stabbing he allegedly drank a solution of bichloride of mercury and water, and was removed to St. Joseph's hospital where his condition is not considered as dangerous.

Three stitches were required to close up the deep gash in Miss Benoit's side; the doctor who attended herd did not consider her condition as serious either.

No Word Spoken

According to Mrs. Davis, Ann's mother, who called the police after the assault this morning, Hunt had been away for a month or more. To-day he walked into the kitchen where Ann was having breakfast and, Mrs. Davis said, without a word, drew a long hunting knife and plunged it into the girl's side. He then walked out of the room, drank the solution and collapsed at the head of the stairs where he was picked up by police, Mrs. Davis added.

Hunt was placed under arrest by Detective Shields at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Anna Benoit has been competitor in the women's swims at the Canadian National Exhibition since their inception in 1927. In 1928 she won fifth prize, in 1929 she was taken from the water after swimming eight miles and in 1930 she was fourth. This year she was taken out after seven and a half miles when she was in seventh position.

Barely a week ago, Miss Benoit expressed the intention of remaining in Toronto for the winter. She then said her coach and trainer, Herman Hunt, had gone to Florida to the swimming pool where he and Miss Benoit acted as swimming coaches last winter.

Running Board Proves Death Bed For Wanderer Seeking Haven of Rest

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 3.—Chill breezes were sweeping the citys streets early today when an old man, with head sunk low in his coat, walked into the comparative warmth of a public garage.

No one seemed to mind so he lay down on the running board of a car and went to sleep. Presently the owner returned for his car and drove away not knowing someone was sleeping on the side.

A short distance away, the car bounced sharply and the aged man on the running board tumbled into the street, but did not awaken. He died in his sleep, physicians said. At the morgue he was identified as Frank Collins, 65, homeless and unemployed.

ALDERMEN DEBATE GIMBLETT CAR HESITATE TO BUY A NEW "EIGHT" INVITE TENDERS ON "FOUR" FIRST Proposal to Buy a Hudson Coupe Halted by Economy Spirit.

COST OF EIGHT $1,150

Mileage at 12,000 Not Excessive Aldermen Contend.

Whether or not another car is to be purchased for Fire Chief Gimblett and whether or not the car is to have four, six or eight cylinders were the questions which last night caused much debate among members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

At a previous meeting, Chairman Cotton had pointed out the need of a new car for the Fire Chief and stated that the car could be paid for out of savings that had been made during the year in the appropriations of the Fire Department. Instructed to get prices on cars, he last night brought in a list of prices as given by local car dealers.

All Eight Cylinders.

All the cars on the list were of eight-cylinder make and several aldermen, including Macdonald, Tuggey and Turner, immediately questioned the wisdom of purchasing such a high-powered car. After a great deal of discussion a motion instructing Chairman Cotton to secure prices on four and six cylinder cars was passed, Mayor Denne, Aldermen Turner, Stocker and Tuggey voting for it.

Thus a previous motion made by Alderman Phelan and seconded by Alderman Fitzpatrick, that the tender for a Hudson car be accepted at a cost of $1150 with the turn-in allowance on the present car be accepted, was lost.

Oppose Purchase.

In beginning the discussion, Alderman Macdonald stated that he was opposed to the purchase of an eight-cylinder car. "It will appear that we are going out of our way to spend the people's money. I will never support the purchase of an eight-cylinder car," he declared.

Alderman Tuggey had previously taken the stand that the car purchased must be of Canadian make. In reply Chairman Cotton explained that printed information of the Customs Department one car was 54 per cent. manufactured in Canada and all other makes 52 percent made in this country.

Small Mileage.

Alderman Tuggey: "Why, the car the Fire Chief has now has only covered a mileage of less than 12,000 miles in six or seven years. There's no need to buy an eight-cylinder car just to run around the paved streets of this city. Its only about three miles to the border of the city in any direction and anyone can get there in a few minutes with any car." He had the same opinion as Alderman Macdonald that it was an unnecessary extravagance in buying an eight-cylinder car. "Scrap that list and call for tenders on four and six cylinder cars," he demanded.

Chairman Cotton: "Why wasn't this question of the power of the car brought up at the other meeting?"

Alderman Tuggey: "We never mentioned the number of cylinders. You were told to get prices on cars and you bring in a list on eight-cylinder cars."

Purchase Unwise?

Alderman Hamilton: "Don't you think the purchase of a car at this time is unwise in the face of everything?"

Not a member of the committee but granted permission to speak, Alderman McNabb stated that thus far the Fire Department had saved only $345 from its appropriation. He also maintained that 12,000 miles on any car was no great mileage.

Device Forms Ice Keeps Ship Afloat

GENEVA, Oct. 3.—An original process developed by a Swiss company is intended to prevent a damaged ship from sinking by means of a refrigerating apparatus.

This is placed over any hole which appears and the water is prevented from entering the ship. Then the machine, working under pressure, with ammonia, brings the water to a freezing point and is ice-formed, obstructing the opening and saving the ship.

The new device is the second made by a Swiss in this line, the first being an invention to raise sunken submarines.

BANK EMPLOYES HELD FOR THEFT

Embezzlement of $412,760 Alleged in New Warrants.

FOUR ARRESTED.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 3. — New warrants issued in connection with the closing last spring of the American State bank, bringing the total shortages charged up to nearly half a million dollars.

In the new warrents drawn yesterday Robert M. Allan, former president of the bank, was charged with taking $412,760.59 of the banks funds. Previously he had been charged with embezzlement of $200,000. The original warrant will be dismissed Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Toy said.

In addition to Allan, seven former employes of the bank were named in the new warrants. They were accused of embezzlements ranging from $1,000 to $25,000. Four of them were arrested late yesterday.

Those under arrest are: Albert Schobert, former branch manager; John Sweedyk, former branch teller; Steve Kapczi, former employe of the main office discount department, and Horace Ceosti, former branch teller.

Chester P. O'Hara, assistant prosecuting attorney, said that Kapczi and Reosti admitted embezzlements. Schobert and Sweedyk refused to make statements until they had consulted attorneys.

The assets and liabilities of the American State bank were taken over by other Detroit banks shortly before it closed last March.

Load Of Flour Upsets Driver Is Unhurt

Considerable damage was caused to a load of flour, when a truck belonging to J. H. Charlton, of Lakefield, turned over at the intersection of Hilliard and Water streets at noon to-day.

The driver escaped without injury. It is claimed that the truck overturned in a successful attempt to avoid a car driven by a young lady which was also proceeding in the direction of Lakefield. The driver of the car was accompanied by another young lady. The car did not stop following the accident, it is stated.

RIOTS RENEWED BY UNEMPLOYED STORES LOOTED

Glasgow Streets Littered With Debris After Street Battle.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS.

Forty-sight Men in Police Court This Morning.

GLASGOW Scotland, Oct. 3—(Canadian Press).—The most persistent rioting and looting in years, extending intermittenly over two nights and a day, came to a climax early to-day when police swept the streets and restored order.

Resuming about 8.30 last night the battle between Jobless men demonstrating against dole reductions and the forces of law raged for more than six hours. An undetermined number of the rioters and several police were injured and upwards of 100 arrests were made.

The melee began when police charged a body of about 100 men who were holding a manifestation outside the jail in which John McGovern, Labor M.P. and his lieutenants were being held for Thursday night's outbreak. Almost simultaneously trouble started in the Gallowgate, Glasgow Cross and other sections of the city.

Police Use Batons

Far outnumbered, the police tried on foot and horseback to disperse the mobs. They charged time and again with loaded batons and the rioters replied with hammers, hatchets and makeshift weapons of every description. A variety of missiles thrown from neighboring houses added to the confusion.

As fast as the demonstrators were driven off the main streets they darted into alleys and formed for renewed attacks. Throughout the night and early hours they broke into countless shops and carried away great stocks of food and other merchandise. The damage was estimated at thousands of pounds and the loss in foodstuffs was considered incalculable.

Streets Littered

The police finally got the upper hand and mounted patrol over streets that were littered with loot and the debris of battle. Scores of mauraunders were taken into police stations with blood streaming from their wounds. A few went to hospitals and hundreds nursed battered heads and broken limbs within the privacy of their homes.

The outbreaks apparently were not organized like those of the previous night and seemed to lack leadership. They occurred in all parts of the city without warning and were stamped out only to rise again when the police relaxed their vigilance. Their object seemingly was the theft and destruction of property as much as a protest against the government's economy measures.

48 Appear In Court

This morning forty-eight men arrested in Thursday night's fighting appeared in court and were remanded until Wednesday.

John McGovern, Labor M.P., who was among the forty, protested that he was victim of a frame up. Another of the prisoners was Jean Gibson, a 17-year-old girl, who was released later in $25 bail.

Women in the courtroom screamed hysterically as the young woman was led away with the rest of the prisoners and court attendants had some difficulty restoring order.

Meantime police took extra precautions to guard against a renewal of the disturbances

TEGUCIGALPA, Oct. 3—The inhabitants of Tela were thrown into panic by three huge waterspouts in the Carribean which threatened the banana port, headquarters of the United Fruit Company, for several hours. PREMIER PLANS TO TRY HIS LUCK IN OLD RIDING

Will Accept Nomination if Invited by Official or Unofficial Labor Heads.

CHALLENGE TO OLD RIDING

Cabinet Meets Monday to Prepare Manifesto Appealing for Free Hand.

LONDON, Oct. 3—(AP)—Premier Ramsay Macdonald again repudiated by the Labor executive of his constituency, said today he would run for re-election to Parliament from Seaham Harbor if Labor leaders of either official or unofficial organizations invited him to be a candidate.

His decision was viewed as a challenge to the Seaham Harbor Labor executive which re-iterated its decision to support another candidate last night after he had explained his reasons for heading the National Government and asked for its endorsement.

Under any circumstances he would have a tough battle in his present constituency, it was believed. The Conservative and Liberal candidates polled only 12,000 votes there in the last general election as compared with his 35,615 as Labor candidate.

Mr. Macdonald visited the King this morning to keep him informed on the latest political developments tending toward a general election the latter part of the month. The cabinet will meet Monday to prepare a manifesto which is expected to appeal for a free hand for the Prime Minister and his ministry in bridging the nation over its present difficulties.

John McLaren Saw One Accident—His Driver Would Not Stop.

TWO DEATHS INVOLVED.

Harry Faiers Acquitted of Carelessness in Norman Taylor's Death.

On two different charges of manslaughter arising out of motor accidents heard at the assize court here presided over by Mr. Justice Wright, the jury late yesterday returned verdicts of "not guilty" thus acquitting Orval Ward of Trenton indicted for the killing of Blair C. Brown, motorcycle officer who met his death in an accident on June 27; and Harry Faiers of North Monaghan who stood trial in connection with the death of Norman Taylor who was run down and struck from his bicycle by Fairers' car on Lansdowne street on the night of August 23.

The trial of Orval Ward opened on Thursday morning. The evidence was all in shortly before half-past-two yesterday afternoon. It was at 2.27 that J. C. McRuer, K.C., of Toronto commenced his address to the jury. He spoke for a little more than an hour and made a striking and eloquent plea on behalf of the accused.

Crown Prosecutor D. G. McIntosh K.C., of Kitchener also addressed the jury at some length in which he pressed vigorously for a conviction.

Three Cars In Smash

The accident occurred on the afternoon of June 27 last, some four miles out of the city on Highway 28. It involved three cars—a Buick, driven by Orval Ward, the accused; a Marquette car driven by George Adams and a Chevrolet touring car driven by Miles Hutchinson. Blair C. Brown a motorcycle officer of Trenton, a passenger in accused's car was killed.

The jury retired to consider their verdict at 4.42 p.m. They had not returned when the court adjourned at 6.30, but where ready with the verdict when the court reassembled at 8 p.m. Before retiring the jury was directed on various points of law by the judge, but were recalled some few minutes later to be directed upon another point of law. His Lordship also called to the attention of the jury that the theme of the defence was that the Adam's car while it pulled out once to pass the Chevrolet, turned back again. It then turned out a second time, possibly for the reason that it was going at too fast a speed that there was some danger of it striking the Chevrolet car.

A dramatic story was related by John McLaren, life insurance agent of Picton, and whose home is at Peterborough. On the day of the accident he had an offer of a ride to Peterborough in an Essex car. He testified that he saw the accused's Buick car pass the Essex car close to the scene of the accident. "My attention was directed to the car," as it was swerving and swaying." Three cars appeared abreast of each other on witness's right. One was the Buick going to Peterborough, another was a large green sedan car and the third a Chevrolet car.

"The Buick swung round in a circle and ran into the ditch on the right side of the road facing in the direction of Port Hope. The green car came to rest near the rear of the Chevrolet.

There was no doubt, he mentioned, that the green car was attempting to pass the Chevrolet car. The Essex car pulled ahead of the scene of the accident and stopped. Witness was going to get out and go back but the driver told him to desist as he did not wish to get mixed up in the accident. Witness then came on to Peterborough and returned again almost immediately. He did not know the driver of the Essex car.

Knew Ward 72 Hours

In cross-examination he said he had known accused for 72 hours. The Essex car was travelling at 35-40 m.p.h. He never for a moment lost sight of the Buick car from the time it passed him till the time of the accident. He did not agree with the Crown Prosecutor that by reason of a rise in the road his view of the Buick would be obliterated at some time. He was positive that the Chevrolet car was on the right hand side of the road. He could not say if it had changed its position just prior to the crash.

"Are you saying, witness, that some man passed the scene of an accident when there were persons injured in a crash?" asked the Judge.

He asked witness the name of the man who drove the Essex car, and upon being informed by witness that the name of the driver was unknown, His Lordship said he did not believe that such a callous person

COUNCIL DECIDES TO PURCHASE RECORDS OF PETER ROBINSON

Century Old Document Offered to City at Small Cost.

STORY OF PIONEERS.

The Finance Committee of the City Council last night took steps to make certain that a document, relating perhaps the most dramatic chapter in Peterborough's history, will not be lost to the city.

This document is in reality one of the original account books of Peter Robinson, founder of Peterborough, and gives the names of every man, woman and child whom that dauntless pioneer brought out with him from the Old Country in 1825. Names of the oldest families in the city are set forth in the book in a clear, legible handwriting as though almost engraved in ink on the pages.

A study of the book also gives valuable information as to the expense of the voyage, the cost of provisions and their transportation from Kingston, and other historic sidelights on the difficulties overcome by those early heroes of Peterborough.

This book along with an oil painting of Peterborough County's first sheriff were offered to the city at a cost of $15 each by Mrs. William E. Belcher, local collector of antiques and historic documents.

Unanimously the members of the Council voted to purchase both the account book and the picture. They will be placed in the Library for safe keeping.

Japan Ships Gold, Buys U. S. Dollars

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Oct. 3 (A.P.)—Consigned to the United States for the Yokohama Specie Bank, 15,000,000 yen (about $7,500,000) was aboard the steamship Kinai Maru to-day. It was the first specie shipment made here since Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard.

Financial circles said it was the first of a series of shipments that will total 70,000,000 yen (about $35,000,000), to be made to replenish the gold holdings of the Yokohama Special Bank, which has an increasing demand for dollars since Great Britain temporarily went off the gold basis.

POTATO GROWERS SEEK TO GET FAIR PRICES FOR THEIR CROPS

Decide to Refuse Sale at Prices Below Production Costs.

TO ASK MINISTER'S HELP.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Aroused by the collapse of potato prices and the urgent need of immediate action to relieve a desperate situation, growers from all the commercial producing section of Ontario met in an all-day conference at the Royal York Hotel yesterday and decided that a committee be sent to wait upon Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, with a view to seeking relief measures.

Relief Measures

The relief measures suggested were an advertising campaign, booklets illustrating the food values of potatoes and radio broadcasts and other forms of publicity. There was general unanimity in regard to the causes of the collapse in prices, and it was agreed that importation of potatoes from other provinces and the United States would only tend to aggravate the situation.

Another important decision arrived at was the agreement to hold back the sale of potatoes at prices below the cost of production and clear the market of present over supplies. The growers agreed there was no need for the ridiculously low prices now being offered and while they declared that they had no desire to control the situation they felt that this action was necessary to stabilize the situation.

JOHN W. CLAPPER GIVEN SENTENCE OF SEVEN YEARS

Hastings Youth Convicted of Serious Offense Against Girl.

TEN LASHES ADDED.

Strong Plea By B. H. Park—Prisoner Sub-normal Mentally.

Sentence of seven years in the penitentiary, with ten lashes to be administered at the end of the first three months imprisonment was last night imposed by Mr. Justice Wright upon John Wesley Clapper, 19, of Hastings who was convicted of a serious charge in respect to a five year old girl.

B. H. Park, prisoner's counsel, in a statement to the court before sentence was pronounced, said that the prisoner had been examined by two local medical practictioners who found the mentality of the prisoner to be that of a twelve year old child. He went to school until he was seventeen years of age and only reached the third book. The prisoner had been separated from his parents, and his father had served overseas.

He had recently served a term of correction after having been convicted of incest. Counsel suggested that under the circumstances a short term of imprisonment or other form of punishment might serve the ends of justice. He contended that a long term would not do the prisoner or society any good.

"I have heard what your counsel has well said on your behalf," His Lordship said. "It is always difficult in such cases to decide upon proper punishment. Were this the first conviction for a crime of this nature I should have endeavored to give a moderate sentence, that you might have had an opportunity of reclaiming yourself and of trying to become a decent citizen, but this is not your first offence. You were convicted of a detestable, horrible crime and imprisoned for that. It did not seem to have impressed you at all."

"The crime for which you are convicted is abominable. I doubt if ever any savage would be guilty of such a crime. Crimes of such a nature should be severely punished as a warning to others that such crimes will not be tolerated. Your crime warrants imprisonment for life, but I am not going to impose such a sentence."

"I am however, going to make the punishment sufficiently severe as a warning that such crimes will not be tolerated." His Lordship then imposed sentence as stated, and ordered the prisoner's removal to the cells.

EXPERT ADVICE FOR PLOWMEN

Demonstrations Will be Held in Preparation for International Match.

Program From J. B. Nelson.

Plowmen in Peterborough who are planning to compete in the great International Plowing Match, to be held here during the week, of October 12 will, if they desire, be able to receive tuition in the science of plowing next week from former plowing champions.

Aiming to improve the style and work of local plowmen, demonstrations will be given in the county by James McLean of Richmond Hill and Clark Young of Milliken, both of whom have earned high honors at past matches. Each day in different sections of the county these demonstrations will be given.

Those attending the demonstrations are urged to bring their own horses, tractors and plows, so that they may be coached in the best manner in handling their respective implements. The proper start and finish will be taught and the men will also be instructed in which class they had best compete.

Saturday, the demonstrators will be at Charlie Moore's farm in Smith; Monday in Ennismore and Tuesday at W. Harper's in Douro.

Those desiring further information on the demonstrators' program for the week are urged to telephone J. B. Nelson, Agricultural Representative, or J. J. Duffus.

GATE RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE AT MILLBROOK

More Than 2,000 Entries at Cavan's Successful Fair.

IDEAL WEATHER.

Larger Attendance Than Usual--Horse Races a Feature.

An increase in gate receipts and an increase in entries marked this year's Central Exhibition at Millbrook. The entries, numbering over 2,000, were 25 per cent. more than last season's total, and the money received at the gate totalled almost $825, about $160 more than last year's sum.

The directors didn't require to collect on their rain insurance. The day was ideal, with a warm sun that persisted until five o'clock, and a mild breeze that tempered its rays.

The horses that make this fair famous in the countryside were there, better than ever in quality and larger in numbers. They pranced around the judging ring, they stood in sleek, shining lines and heavy draught size, they peered, in small editions, out of dark stalls, —like the little chestnut colt with the blaze face and eyes of two separate colors, one dark brown and one a dull blue,—and they raced about the track in three well-contested and hotly-applauded races.

The track events were good ones yesterday. C. Fife's "Keandale," from Peterborough, whose spectacular habit of starting late and then romping ahead of more docile and less speedy horseflesh, made him an interesting entry, had everything his own way in "B" class. He ran first in every one of three heats, with E. Johnston's "Amdexter," from Peterborough, in second place throughout and Frank Hicks' "Bert Abdell," from Bowmanville, in third. Jim Akey's "Gypsy Wilks," a game starter that had just a little bit the worse of the going, also ran in the first two heats. Time: 2.25; 2.18½, 2.18.

In "A" class, "Murry Direct," owned by W. Sherin of Peterborough, was first in three heats; "Lou Grattan," owned by E. Jones of Peterborough, was second, and Jim Akey's "Fury Mildred," was third. Time: 2.17; 2.22½, 2.22¼.

In "C" class, "Betty Winger," owned by G. Dunford of Peterborough, ran first in each of three heats; "Eva Patch," owned by Ed. Powell of Newcastle, a little back that got plenty of applause from the watchers for a spirited performance, was second (3-2-2); and "Peter Patch," owned by W. Boyd of Orono, was third (2-3-4). "Iron Bars," owned by L. Harness of Orono, also ran. Time: 2.26¼, 2.27½, 2.26.

John McMillan of Cobourg, F. C. Nugent of Lindsay, and T. Cowan of Orono, were judges of the races; J. B. Beggs of Lindsay was starter; Dean Pickell of Bowmanville, timer, and T. H. Collins of Millbrook, clerk.

Larger Entries

In every section of the showing, with one exception, the entries were much larger than in other years, and the quality was excellent. The exception was in the Poultry building. It seems that, for many years past, considerable resentment has been aroused by the breeders of fancy stock coming in and taking the majority of the poultry prizes. This year, outsiders didn't compete with the local men and the latter fell down. There were perhaps one hundred birds in the poultry building, which is usually packed to the roof with birds of every type. The judge had a fairly easy time.

The judges in the horse ring, however, had the large job. They were not finished until long after six o'clock, and the competition in every class was very stiff.

The silver cup, valued at $25, donated by J. F. Staples and Son, for the best single carriage mare or gelding in harness, went to R. R. Byers of Blackstock, who also won several other awards; among them the goods, valued at $3, and given by J. J. Powell for the best three-year-old carriage horse in harness; the first prize of $6, given by E. G. Britton of the Bank of Toronto, for the best high stepper; and the first prize of a wheelbarrow valued at $8, given by W. E. Ball, for gentlemen's carriage turnout. To horses entered by Mr. Byers went also the first prizes for best lady driver and best lady rider, one of $5 given by C. G. Graham of the Empress Hotel, and one of $3 given by Dr. H. E. Ellis.

The silver cup valued at $25, donated by the Peter Hamilton Company of Peterborough for the best single road mare or gelding in harness, was won by J. O. Ball and Son, of Peterborough; Ira Nattrass of Millbrook took the first prize of $3, donated by R. O. Larmer, for the best saddle horse, with L. R. Carveth of Millbrook taking the second prize of $2 given by W. A. Reid, and W. Reed of Bowmanville took the first prize of $5, given by J. N. McGill, for the best pacer in single harness. Harry Jamieson of Mount Pleasant took second prize of $4, given by E. G. Britton for high steppers, and the second prize of $3, for the best lady driver, went to an entry by Colonel Earchman of Millbrook. The prize in second place for the best lady rider; $2 went to an entry by H. Jamieson, who also took second prize; a lamp valued at $3.50, given by Fred Scott, for gentlemen's turnout. The third prize in this event, a bag of flour valued at $2.50, given by G. W. Sayles of Millbrook, was won by L. Patterson of Orono.

To W. H. Armstrong of Millbrook went the silver cup, valued at $15, given by E. V. Warne of Peterborough for the best agricultural mare or gelding; also the first prize of $6, "Patterson's Special", given by Harry Patterson of Millbrook, for foals of 1931, sired by "Greenhall's Best", and the first prize of $3 given by W. J. Hutchinson for the best trained foal shown on halter by a boy or girl under 15 years.

R. McKnight and Son, of Millbrook, also won several prizes: the second award of a can of Kreso, valued at $2.25, given by Ivan Gray, for the best agricultural or heavy draught foal; the first award of $5 given by Harry Tinney, for the best pair of heavy draught or agricultural horses; the second award of a blanket valued at $4, given by J. H. Bingham, for the best four animals agricultural or heavy draught; mare or filly; the second award of $4 given by H. Patterson for foals of 1931, sired by "Greenhall's Best" and the second award of $2, given by P. Stinson, for the best trained foal on halter by boy or girl under fifteen years of age. The third award of $1, given by F. W. Bowen, M.P., in the last-named class, went to J. Whitney Boyd of Orono, while the third and fourth awards of $3 and $2 respectively, in "Patterson's Special" for foals, went to Arthur Fallis of Millbrook and William Lunn of Millbrook. Mr. Fallis also won the second prize of an auto tire valued at $5.50, given by A. Tinney and Son, for the best agricultural mare and two of her progeny, to be under three years old, while Mr. Lunn won the first prize of a chair valued at $15, given by A. Comstock and Sons of Peterborough, in the same class. John Armstrong of Fraserville took first prize of $4 given by F. W. Bowen, M.P., for the best agricultural or heavy draught foal; J. Whittington and Son, of South Monaghan, took the second prize of a pipe valued at $3 given by Wilfred Whitek for the best pair of agricultural or heavy draught horses, also the first prize, $5 given by F. W. Bowen, M.P., for the best four animals, agricultural or heavy draught, and John Elgar of Millbrook took the prize of a neckyoke, valued at $3.50, given by J. J. Kellett for the best agricultural mare or filly.

Women's Section

The women's work was outstanding this year. The Main Building was filled with products of their skill, in fancy work and cooking. Every type of fancy work was represented, with some exceptionally fine examples in the quilt section and some very dainty embroideries.

The cakes and pickles, fruits and preserves were also worthy of special notice, as was the exhibit of painting and the work of the Women's Institute and the flowers, in a very lovely exhibit. Dahlias in several instances were georgeous big blooms. Something quite new and interesting were the gift boxes with collections of everything needed for the boudoir, in the way of dainty taffeta accessories, and also for the bath-room, in towels and toilet ware.

In the vegetables line, one woman, Mrs. W. A. McCall of Wooller, had an exhibit of no less than fifty-seven varieties that included such novelties as black corn, bull-nose peppers, banana squash and pear tomatoes.

The display of apples was wonderfully large and of good quality.

Outside, there were many busy booths for the dispensing of refreshments, also many games, one of them including a familiar-looking device with a rotating wheel that stopped at special places. "Come a Catholic, you may go away a Protestant", was the peculiar crowd-call of the man at this particular bit of amusement-vending. A gentleman with a sing-song voice, a chin whisker and a large cow-breakfast hat, entertained his hearers with long-drawnout renditions of such old favorites as "After the Ball", and three little white mice scampered about looking for food, the holder of the lucky number into which they plunged first getting a box of chocolates.

POLICE REQUEST WAGE HEARING

Matter of Reduction to be aTken Up at Session on Oct. 13.

MUCH INTEREST ROUSED.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Writer.)

LONDON, October 3. — The police are debarred from making public demonstrations concerning their service conditions, but with the permission of the Home Secretary a meeting has been arranged for Oct. 13 at the Royal Albert Hall, when the reductions in pay will be discussed. Representatives of all the British police forces will be present.

Peculiar interest attaches to the attitude of the police. Yesterday and indeed on previous occasions this week, police in various parts of the country have had to battle unemployed men and others demonstrating against the reductions in expenditure on social service including the "dole."

The promoters of the meeting point out that silence does not always mean consent. There may be some expressions of bitterness at the meeting but there will be no fireworks. Because of its magnitude, the meeting is attracting public attention, it will be serving its object.

On the other side of the picture is a statement that the Ministry of Pensions is daily receiving letters from all classes of war pensioners, including disabled officers and men, and widows, who are wholly or partly relinquishing their pensions.

The casualties were estimated at 200. Sixty bombs were dropped.

HARCOURT MAN IS ACQUITTED

W. Millen While Waiting for Boots Used as Crown Exhibit is Re-arrested.

LINDSAY, Ont., Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—At a session of the County Judge's Criminal Court on Thursday afternoon, William Millen, of Harcourt, was acquitted on the charge of stealing a mackinaw coat.

The Crown put in as an exhibit the boots worn by the accused, it being contended that the footwear fitted into the track around the property where the alleged theft was committed. The accused appeared in court wearing a pair of boots borrowed from the jailer. When Millen made application for his own boots, he was advised by the County Crown Attorney to consult his solicitor, Mr. R. I. Moore.

Millen, while sitting on the jail steps until the jailer had telephoned Mr. Moore, was re-arrested on a charge of perjury.

ACID stomach

EXCESS acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. It is responsible for most of the everyday ailments that people suffer; sick headache, sluggishness, nausea, biliousness, gas on the stomach, etc. The quick corrective is an alkali which will neutralize the acid. The best corrective known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Go to the drug store and get a bottle to try. Take it to-night, and follow the simple directions you find in the package. Learn what it means to have a well-alkalinized system. See how much better your general health will be. How seldom you will catch cold.

Be sure that you get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia that physicians prescribe. It is sold in 50c bottles at drug stores everywhere throughout the Dominion.

To keep the teeth white and guard against acid mouth, use Phillips' Dental Magnesia; it is a superior tooth-paste. (Made in Canada).

The Church and The World

DR. C. W. GORDON, famous as Ralph Connor, in a recent notable sermon was reported as saying that it was not religion that the world had a quarrel with, but the Church. The world had every right to look to the Church for authoritative leadership on such matters as national and international affairs, financial and industrial matters and vexing problems such as unemployment—in short, to get civilization out of its present chaos and to blame upon it its failure to do so. Surely this is the voice of a prophet, so far is it removed from the common usage or thought of the churches in which when any minister meddles with economics or public policy, he is speedily told to keep out of politics if he does not wish to break up his congregation, that his business is with the way to heaven; he had better leave the things of earth to those who understand them. If he enters the moral field and discusses the evil ways of the time, he finds himself condemned to be as mum as a member of a subsidized political party; and for the same reason, the danger of alienating support. So it is that Mammon wins his way to mastery even over the house of God. But what a tale to tell of the Church. Yet while this indictment is undeniable and implies actual disloyalty to the high ideals which the world rightly entertains for the Church, it is obvious to all of us that in its more stately observances it is ill adapted to dealing with controversial subjects.

The Voice of the Church.

Where one man speaks as an oracle from God and none may answer, he has to keep within the limits of received opinion. Yet to say that is to utter a portentous contradiction. Is God not free to speak in His Church because some simple ones might be stumbled, or some great ones might take offence? The former of these inhibitions is a reasonable cause for tenderness. St. Paul "spoke wisdom among them that were perfect." Jesus broke the bread of life into stories for those that were capable of naught else. For the other form of bondage there is no warrant. In any case there is obvious need if the Church is to exercise its sought-for leadership, for some open forum may have utterance "by that which um where, as at the first the Spirit every joint supplieth." We are told of a time when the word from God was scarce, when the Divine Spirit did not find among men charity of free utterance. At present to one man is for the most part left the whole organization of the congregation. That is becoming a complicated function requiring high inspiration. At what are called "services" the primary idea theoretically is the worship of God. In practice it comes to be listening to one man declaiming and to a number of others playing and singing, and afterwards discussing the merits of these, if the service is remembered at all. Instead of tending toward the precious mutuality in which the Church was nursed, the tendency is steadily away from that. Success in a ministry is measured by growing congregations and increasing incomes; and displays itself in finer buildings. The intimate family of believers who can open their minds and hearts to each other becomes a more or less stated crowd of strangers to each other, in spite of all pastoral devices to bring them into fellowship, they are for the most part "hearers."

The seer did not leave his vision of the New Jerusalem—the world led by the Church—thus in the upper air of what ought to be. It has, as of old, to come down out of heaven and realize itself among men. So coming, its weapons "are not carnal, but are mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds." Still, if they are to affect the interests specified, morals and economics, national and international, they must work powerfully on the propensities and actions of men. The Church, says Dr. Gordon, should be able to give the world what is so badly needed to-day, a sense of the fatherhood of God and of the brotherhood of man—the fatherhood finding tangible expression in the brotherhood, or denial in the absence of brotherhood. He felt that the lack of international confidence was a great indictment of the Church. Indeed, though no test of Christianity is more insisted on throughout the Gospel than that of mutual love, yet as seen from the world's point of view it would be hard to specify a virtue which the Church has worse illustrated. It was distinctly foretold by implication that the world would never accept leadership from a divided Church. What does that imply? That Christians can and must all think alike? To enact that would involve a stupendous miracle, and would preclude them from thinking at all. Still less can that rule be applied to mankind. The victory of unity is not to be achieved in lifeless similarity, but in mutual esteem. Dissension is indeed better than apathy. St. Paul was himself at times a dissenter.

Beauty was according to the same discourse another power for the Church to exercise over the world. But it must be "the beauty of holiness." Beauty has right of sway in outward things only as an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace. All nature proclaims the Creator's pristine love of beauty in its physical expression. His approval of that in man which has in all ages and tribes sought expression in art is inscribed on the most ancient rocks. It is therefore godly to cultivate beauty. It may, however, be cultivated for ostentation, or for adulation, where through the long drawn aisle and fretted vault the pealing anthem swells the note of praise. It may be for exculpation as when one whose name is had in discredit in some scandal, financial or other, becomes a pillar of some sanctuary and there outfaces the coolness, perhaps aversion, which surrounds the liberal donor in the resorts of decent people. In each of these cases there is the self-deception of imagining that this aesthetic tribute is doing God service, a common but deadly error.

MEDITATION.

John 12:26. "And where I am, there shall also my servant be." The good servant takes care to be where his master is, alert to respond to the master's commands. However, this was not the thought Jesus had in mind. The thought of Jesus was that the good master is concerned about the welfare of his faithful servant, so concerned that he will make the servant's comfort and well-being his personal care. He will keep the servant in his own company and share with him his own lot. Thus Jesus, as the Good Master of our souls, has prepared a place for us, had as promised to receive us unto Himself when the term of our earthly servitude is ended.

HYMN.

To all who follow Thee,
That where Thou art in glory
There shall Thy servant be;
And, Jesus, I have promised
To serve Thee to the end;
O give me grace to follow,
My Master and my Friend.

Glorious Music

NO music could ever equalise the heaven-born cries of newborn babes. When the snowdrops of youth appear in the garden of the church, it evinces that there is a glorious summer approaching.

Hate

HOW little we realize when we hurl thunderbolts of hatred toward another that these terrible thought shafts always come back and wound the sender, that all the hateful, bitter thoughts intended for another are great javelins hurled at ourselves!

How many people go through life lacerated and bleeding from these thrusts which were intended for others!

Think of what people who refuse to speak to another, because of some fancied grievance or wrong, are really doing to themselves! How this venom intended for another poisons their own minds and crippled their efficiency!

A kindly feeling, a good-will toward another, is our best protection against bitter hatred or injurious thoughts of any kind. Nothing can penetrate the love shield. We are unharmed behind that.

It does not matter what feelings of revenge and jealousy a person may have toward us, if we hold the love thought, the charitable thought toward him, his javelins of hate will glance from us, fly back and wound only himself.

How easily, beautifully and sweetly some people go through life, with very little to jar them or to disturb their equanimity! They have no discord in their lives because their natures are harmonious. They seem to love everybody, and everybody loves them. They have no enemies, hence little suffering or trouble.

Others, with ugly, crabbed, cross-grained dispositions, are always in hot water. They are always misunderstood. People are constantly hurting them. They generate discord, because they are discordant themselves.

Self-Mastery

I imagine that we all wish to enjoy our bodies and the world to which they give us access; and I am sure that we were meant to. They are among the best of the good things of life. But we cannot enjoy them; and it has been truly said that "nothing is evil if a man have the mastery over it and nothing is good if it have the mastery over man." To keep the mastery of your own life in your own hands is the secret of happiness.

The driver of a motor car, if he be a wise man, will occasionally try his brakes in order to see that they are in full use should the need arise; and the knowledge that they are available for use gives him confidence. A well-known writer has told us that he forces himself to write a certain number of words each day in order to keep himself in trim, with a view to the moment when the real inspiration shall come.

And although an athlete will go into special training for a special occasion, he will, even while the great event is still far off, exercise himself less strenuously and at odd times in order to keep himself on the threshold (as it were) of his form.

We need not always be exercising mastery; indeed I think the lighter we keep our hold on life the better; but the mastery should always be available, ready on call. —Philemon in From My Window.

The Sea Spirit

WHAT is it in the sea life which is so powerful in its influence? It is in the laugh of the little child, in that look of the woman you love. It is on the bosom of the great river, in the breast of the wide moorland. It whispers in the wind of the veldt, it hums in the music of the tropical night. To some it is borne on the booming night notes of the deep forest, to others it speaks on the silent snow peaks. But above all, it is there to the man who holds the nightwatch alone at sea. It is the sense of things done, of things endured, of meanings not understood; the secret of the Deep Silence, which is of eternity, which the heart cannot speak. . . . It was the same to Ulysses and Columbus as it is to-day to the barge's skipper or the young fourth officer of a Liverpool tramp.—H. W. Smyth.

Creating Character

THE word "character," which comes into our English speech directly and without change of sound from the Greek, signifies, first, the sharp tool with which a seal or a die is engraved, and then the inscription of the object which is cut in the seal or in the die. Our character, then, is the image and the superscription which we cut upon our life; I say we cut, for however much happens to us, and bears upon us from outside, causes beyond our control, it is true, in the last analysis, that we determine our own character. We hold the tools which cut the legends on our life. We grave the die, we incise the seal. What are the tools with which we cut character upon ourselves? The tools are thoughts. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."—Charles Cuthbert Hall.

A Satisfying Destiny

STRIVE always to excel; strive always to keep that attitude of mind which abhors defeat; for it is a proved fact that man's nature is so adaptable that he can accustom himself to mediocrity and numb his senses of failure. But the converse of this is also true, making it impossible for one to train oneself to be satisfied with nothing less than the best, and with the failure idea made so repellent that all one's faculties will be kept constantly on the alert to discover opportunity, possess it, improve it and through it carve out a significant and satisfying destiny. A study of the careers of successful men will reveal this attitude as one of the underlying factors in their progress. It is an unfailing source of inspiration and the fountain from which flows that matchless determination so pronounced in those who lead.—R. E. H.

JOTTINGS

THE DISTANT LAMPS.

WE discovered one curious fact of natural history, that with a searchlight you can see the eyes of dogs and jackals at night more than half a mile away.

A previous ship had reported that men came down to the shore with electric torches, and it was only after some days that we discovered that these will-o'-the-wisp appearances were in reality the eyes of dogs.—Aubrey Herbert.

Sentiment of Truth

A good thought will lift the latch of the garden of happy acquaintances, by which we find ourselves in good company and become as George Herbert puts it, "One of the number."

A good thought will find its way through the sloughs or the slums of disordered humanity, and will often prove a light through the dark and narrow passages with which we become so familiar, and too easily satisfied.

Why Do It?

FRIEND, why will you search another man's wound while your own is bleeding? Take heed that your own vesture be not full of dust when you are brushing your neighbor's. Complain not of dirty streets when heaps lie at your own doors. Many people are no longer well than while they are holding their fingers upon another person's sores; such are no better in ther conduct than crows, which prey only upon carrion.

Flatter Or Force

THE devil may flatter us, but he cannot force us; he may tempt us to sin, but he cannot compel us to sin. He could never come off a conqueror were he not joined by our forces. The fire is his, but the tinder is ours. He could never enter into our houses if we did not set open our doors.

A REASONABLE ATTITUDE.

The decision of the city authorities that only those who have been bona fide residents of Peterborough for six months will be considered in the local unemployment relief work scheme, will meet with approval among the citizens generally.

If the major part of the responsibility for caring for the unemployed is to be thrown upon the shoulders of the municipalities, as seems evident then it is only fair that each municipality should be called upon to look after those who are genuine residents.

There is no reason why any particular centre should be expected to provide work for people who at the first hint of a program of work being undertaken drift in from here, there and everywhere.

These floaters should be cared for by the municipalities from which they come, and if they have been transients so long that no particular district can be assigned the responsibility, then it is up to the Government to step in and deal with the situation.

There are enough genuine residents of Peterborough in the ranks of the unemployed to keep the authorities busy, and it is not, therefore, unfair for them to take the attitude that nobody who has not lived here for the past six months can be provided with a job under the municipal scheme.

THE CHEMONG BRIDGE.

An Examiner reader comes to the front with a practical suggestion in regard to the construction of a permanent causeway across Chemong Lake as a means of dealing with the unemployment problem in this district.

Briefly, he proposes that on the Smith side of the lake for half the distance across the present floating bridge should be replaced by filling in to the extent of 18 feet on the top and spreading out until there would be a width of 40 feet of material at the base.

He estimates that one-half of the present bridge could be so done away with at a cost of $48,000, and that the work would give employment to a large number of men and would be of especial benefit to many farmers who have been hard hit by economic conditions.

The matter is one of great interest, not only to the people of Ennismore and other townships further north, but to the citizens of Peterborough as well and any move the County Council may make to secure action in connection with the Chemong bridge should receive the warm support of the local municipal authorities.

The scheme outlined above, which would build a permanent causeway on the side of the lake where damage is usually caused the present structure in the spring, is not as expensive as replacing the whole bridge and is worthy of investigation.

THE TAX ON CIGARETTES.

A deputation from South-western Ontario, headed by Eccles J. Gott, M.P. for Essex South, waited upon the Federal Government this week and urged that the excise tax on Canadian cigarettes should be reduced from $6 per thousand to $3 per thousand.

The reduction would bring the Canadian tax into conformity with that in force across the border and do away with the difference in the retail prices now prevailing in the two countries.

Canadian tobacco growers claim that a lowered excise tax would materially reduce the wholesale smuggling of American cigarettes now prevelent, and that while it would mean a revenue loss for the Government at first, the federal coffers would eventually receive the benefit of a much greater sale of Canadian-made cigarettes.

The growing of tobacco in South-western Ontario has become a major industry in recent years, the total output each year running into millions, and it is a matter of great importance to the people of that part of the Province that impediments to the sale of Canadian cigarettes should be removed.

The present tax is regarded as a drag upon the industry, and tobacco growers declare that it should be substantially reduced.

The army of Canadian consumers who feel that they are being taxed out of all proportion for their smokes are likewise convinced that the excise levy should be scaled down.

Repeated attempts to impress the various Finance Ministers who have held office in recent years have, however, failed, and it would not be safe to count upon cheaper smoking for the present at least.

THE GOLD STANDARD.

There is a rapid growing opinion in Canadian newspapers that Premier Bennett made a mistake when he declared on the abandonment of the gold standard by Great Britain that Canada would remain on that standard.

The Financial Post suggests that attempts to artificially bolster up the Canadian dollar are not wise.

The same idea is expressed by the Vancouver Sun, which points out that the drop in the Canadian dollar may not be an unmixed evil for a time, and remarks that the idea of pegging the Canadian dollar in New York is not acceptable to Canadians.

"Whatever our status is in finance and trade and world affairs," says the Vancouver paper, "Canadians should know it and work from it, rather than work from an artificial status that will some day collapse. Canadians want no false structure hanging upon their heads."

The Ottawa Journal, a good friend of the Bennett Government, is of much the same opinion.

"This being true, it is difficult to see what good the gold standard is to us at all, or at least the sort of gold standard that we're on.

"The truth is that this whole question of gold as a currency stabilizer has got to be so confused, so mixed up and bedevilled by scrambled exchanges and credits and deals, it wouldn't be surprising to see gold dropped altogether by most of the world as a foundation or buttress for currency. Drop it at all events until the world can get back to more of sanity and clear-headedness in the way of orderly trade."

MONEY CHAOS.

The Standard has recently commented on the money chaos which has followed the suspension of the gold standard in Great Britain. What is going to be the price of silver, a medium of exchange which is bound to be affected as there are hundreds of millions which have depended on silver, while other countries have hoarded gold? Arthur Brisbane writing in his syndicated column, makes the following observation:

The extraordinary thing is that nobody seems to know anything. It is all a guessing contest. Our great financiers are as much puzzled as spring chickens when the first snow comes. You have seen them putting one foot in the snow, taking it out again and wondering.

While Canadian bankers have arrived at some standardization of the exchange rate at their numerous branch banks throughout the country, even they cannot tell what the dollar will be to-morrow or a week hence, and none ventures to put the finger on the exact definite reason why there should be such variation from day to day.

Since the pound sterling was devalorized, Norway, Sweden and Denmark have gone off the gold standard. True it is only temporary, but if some nations, as well France and the United States to keep them from sit on it and enjoy it, will three-quarters of the world supply held by these countries react at all to their advantage? Gold is not much use unless it is put to work.

The anomaly of the Canadian situation is that we are supposed to maintain the gold standard and yet the Canadian dollar has slipped anywhere from six to eleven cents inside a few days. This country surely cannot be buying United States goods to the extent of building up an adverse trade balance which would cause such a discount on our gold-backed dollar?—St. Catharines Standard.

REDUCTIONS IN THE CIVIC PAY ROLL.

(From the Brantford Expositor)

The appointment by the City Council of a special committee to consider the best means of putting into operation the announced reduction of ten per cent. in the civic payroll is a wise one. In a matter of this kind uniformity of practice is an absolute essential. If there has to be a cut, it is obvious that it cannot fairly be applied to any one department of this city's administration unless all others are treated alike. And therein lies the greatest difficulty since the conditions are far from uniform. Some employees are engaged on a graduating scale of wages over a term of years, while others are employed for unstated periods only, and some merely from day to day. In the schools the greatest difficulty arises over the fact that the teachers are engaged by contracts, contracts which have already been signed for this year, and also because of a schedule of annual increases, which has, however, for this year been deferred. There is a further complication, too, in the fact that the teachers earn a superannuation allowance based upon their annual earnings over a fixed period.

Brantford has been fortunate in having a very capable staff, and the greatest care must be taken not to lower the present standard. For these reasons the Board of Education suggested a voluntary contribution of ten per cent. of their annual income from the teachers, instead of imposing a compulsory cut. With this end in view a referendum embodying this suggestion was submitted to all the teachers of Brantford, the understanding being that the will of the majority would prevail. The result of this vote, as the chairman of the board stated in his letter to the mayor, was a very large majority in favor of the voluntary contribution, and the Expositor understands that the members of the Board of Education have already unanimously declared their intention of making the wishes of the majority binding upon all.

Naturally, the mayor does not want to confuse in the minds of citizens generally the purposes of the approaching campaign for voluntary contributions to raise $75,000 for relief purposes, with the reduction in civic overhead which the Council has already decided is absolutely necessary because of the present critical financial position of the city. For that reason perhaps the contribution from the teachers might go into a special fund to be applied against the taxes, instead of being credited to the Community League for relief purposes. The net result would be the same, but the teachers' superannuation allowances would not be affected.

The Expositor has never been an exponent of the theory that a general cut in wages is the only solution of our present economic ills, but at the same time it has felt that the City Council was right in asking civic employees to accept temporarily a ten per cent. reduction in wages as a step towards keeping the cost of relief off the civic tax rate. It is unnecessary to point out that there are very few citizens of Brantford who have not been compelled to manage on a revenue that has been reduced by considerably more than ten per cent., while hundreds have lost their positions and have been able to carry on only through the acceptance of relief from the municipality. By comparison the proposed ten per cent. cut in the civic wage list, especially since it is only for a fixed period, and, therefore, does not establish a lower scale, seems quite reasonable. Public opinion in this city is undoubtedly overwhelmingly in favor of any measure calculated to reduce overhead, and it is to be hoped, therefore, that the special committee appointed by the Council will be able to reconcile the suggestions of the Board of Education for keeping down the taxes with the wage reduction plan introduced by the Council a few months ago.

INSTALMENT 22

Lisa heard steps in the hall. She turned and raised her eyes with a smile. But it was not Dr. Warburton who stood upon the threshold of the office. It was a tall, lean, dark young man with black hair and black brows.

"Oh, I'm sorry," he exclaimed. "I didn't know any one was here. I want to look up something in the files." He crossed the room to a tier of oak drawers, drew one out, extracted a sheet of paper and stood silently gazing at it, apparently oblivious of Lisa as she studied his profile. A large nose, a firm chin, one of those foreheads slightly depressed in the center so that the brows rose like low hills.

When he had finished with the paper, he replaced it, and without a glance as Lisa, crossed to Dr. Warburton's flat-topped desk in the bay window, sat down, pulled out another drawer, extracted another sheet of paper from another file, and fell to studying that in the same engrossed manner. He appeared to be unaware of Lisa's presence, or of the fact that a lady was standing while he sat.

When he had finished with it, he replaced it in the file, and turned to Lisa.

"Had you an appointment?" he inquired with the professional manner he had used over the telephone.

"Oh, I'm not a patient."

"Oh, really?" And at that he did stand up at last. "Have you come to see Dr. Warburton?"

"Yes, I have," Lisa replied. "On business."

"If you'll tell me your business and name, I'll go up and see if Dr. Warburton will see you."

"How kind! Thank you so much," said Lisa, her eyes bright with the smile she couldn't completely conceal. "My business is the New Wing at the hospital, and my name is Vale."

"You don't mean—you can't be—are you Mrs. Rupert Vale?"

She nodded. "Yes, I am."

There was a pause.

"I'm Dr. Warburton's assistant. My name is Regan."

"Oh, really?" Lisa showed no sign of ever having heard of him before. "I'm glad to meet you, Dr. Regan."

Dan frowned. "I'm the one who ran over your daughter's dog."

"Oh, are you? Well, we don't think the accident was your fault in the least, Dr. Regan."

Dan's frown deepened. "I'm the one who sat up so late talking with your daughter after a dance."

"Oh, did you? Really? When? Where?"

"Why, she said you knew!" ejaculated Dan. "She said she'd told you about me!"

(They had met then since day before yesterday! Or were in correspondence.) "Oh, yes, I do remembernow!" Lisa exclaimed. "Fabia did tell me about a doctor she'd met, and about a late talk she had had at her grandmother's one night. How interesting to be a doctor," Lisa went on brightly. "It is a wonderful calling, I think."

"I don't think it is any finer than being anything else," replied Dan. "Its measure of success is different, that's all. I'm just as cold-blooded about wanting to succeed as if I'd gone into law or business. A sentimental attitude about doctors always gets my goat."

Gets my goat! It was an expression that always got Lisa's. But she didn't show a trace of irritation. Just then she heard the stairway in the hall creaking, under the descending weight of Dr. Warburton probably.

"I should like to have you come out some evening and dine with us, Dr. Regan," she said, "and we'll continue our discussion."

"I'm afraid I can't," Dan replied. "I don't do anything in the social line."

"Oh, it won't be a social event. Just a family dinner. Some night when my daughter is to be home." "I'm afraid I can't," Dan repeated.

Lisa ignored the repetition. He was probably shy. "How is Saturday for you—a week from tomorrow night?" she pursued. It was seldom Lisa pursued.

"I always try to spend Saturday nights with my folks," said Dan.

Folks! Gets my goat! How the little telltale signs will crop out! Sitting while she had stood! Inclined to be combative in an argument. Anything but courteous in receiving her dinner invitation.

"Well, what night will be most convenient?" she inquired, showing no indication but that she thought his manners perfect. She would manage to have Morris Haverford drop in for dinner also, if possible. The comparison between the two men would be striking. But her plan of campaign was defeated by Dan's reply.

"I'm afraid I can't come any night just at present. I'm very sorry."

He didn't give her a chance even to reply, "Well, another time." Never before in her life had a dinner invitation of Lisa's been treated in this manner.

"Well, I'm sorry, that's too bad." She laughed it off lightly. "My daughter will be sorry, too."

"Oh, Fabia'll understand."

His familiar use of Fabia's name and his presumption that she would require no explanation filled Lisa with more indignation than the refusal of her dinner invitation. She shrugged now. "Will she? You seem to be very sure."

"I am sure," he said simply. Then abruptly, "I'll go and speak to Dr. Warburton. He's upstairs somewheres."

Somewheres! Hadn't Fabia observed?

Three minutes later, Dr. Warburton's big soft right hand was firmly clasping Lisa's in greeting.

Miraculous right hand. Equally miraculous left hand too. Dr. Warburton's hands were as richly endowed as Paderewski's or Rachmaninoff's.

"Well, well," he said, smiling benignly as he leaned back in his broad seated desk chair. "What's troubling you?"

It wasn't necessary, after all, to offer an excuse for her call. She completely ignored the New Operating Wing. She instantly replied, "What can you tell me about this young assistant of yours, Dr. Warburton?"

"Dan Regan? I think he is the most promising young surgeon in Boston. I picked him out to be my assistant when he was still an interne. He's got the steadiest hand, the best technique, and the best judgment of any young man I've run across for years, and Dan's got something no amount of education could give him. Dan's got surgical sense. Like card sense, you know. A sort of intuition that has nothing to do with what you've been taught or learned by practice. Young men have it as well as old and experienced. I think the boy has a big future ahead of him as a surgeon."

"It sounds so; but I didn't want to get your opinion of him as a surgeon—though it is so interesting—so much as——" "well," she broke off, "what sort of person is he?"

"He's a splendid sort of person."

"What does that mean exactly?"

"Well, he's got what I call character. He won't drink, he won't smoke, he won't take strong coffee. He won't do anything that might make his hand unsteady, or in any way interfere with his object in life. Dan's got an object in life. I wish you could see Dan at an operating table."

"I wish I could," Lisa replied. "I have an idea that he's—he's—how shall I express it? Well," she smiled, "I have an idea he's a little more at ease at an operating table than at a dinner table, isn't he?"

Dr. Warburton's crow-feet deepened. "You've hit it. Dan hasn't had much experience at dinner tables, at the kind you mean—with a lady in evening dress on each side of him. Dan comes from simple people. A little rough on the outside, perhaps."

"And not so gracious in manner as one expects a young man with such a name to be."

"Oh, Dan's only half Irish, and he seems to have inherited more of the lighting tendencies of the race than the gay and genial. Dan is very ambitious, and he's had a good many obstacles to overcome. But beneath he's got the kindest and softest of Irish hearts. Patients invariably like him. So do his colleagues. He's so genuine, and hasn't a mean trait in him that I have discovered. I don't think a little roughness in manner will stand in Dan's way to success."

"Won't his name stand a little in his way, here in the Back Bay?"

"Not if he's a real fellow. The Back Bay can be as broad as it is narrow. Dan is as proud of his name, by the way, as you are, or as I am of mine. Why, let me tell you what happened. I am as fond of that boy as if he were mine, and having no son, nor prospect of any, I suggested to Dan, once, that I pass my name on to him along with my practice. I suppose it was my desire for some form of immortality. I thought Dan wouldn't object because he's so anxious to succeed here in Boston. But he would not listen to the proposition. He doesn't want to succeed as Daniel Warburton. It's the name of Regan he wants to immortalize."

"What sort of people are the Regans?"

"Good, plain, ordinary sort. Middle-class, I guess you'd call them. Dan's father is a foreman and his mother is a jolly little woman who does her own work and whose chief recreation is the movies. They live in a bungalow on the wrong side of the State House—that is, from the point of view of those who live on this side. It doesn't trouble them a bit! But why are you so interested in Dan?"

"Fabia knows him slightly."

Dr. Warburton turned and looked out of the window. "So I understand."

"You understand? Has he talked to you about Fabia?"

"Yes. Dan talks to me about everything that is important to him."

"Oh, Fabia isn't important to him."

"Well, he doesn't intend to let her be. I can assure you of that. He appreciates the folly of anything cropping up between him and a daughter of the Vales, whom, by the way, he'd never even heard of until I told him who you were."

"When did he talk to you about Fabia?"

"Several weeks ago. We agreed that he must avoid any such entanglement. I know exactly how you feel, Mrs. Vale. The backgrounds are too different. It would never be successful. Dan thinks exactly as we do. You needn't worry. Dan has a head on his shoulders."

"Dr. Warburton," Lisa went on, "if you think your assistant is so remarkable, and you were willing to give him your name, then why is he an inappropriate partner for any girl he might choose to marry?"

"Because Dan belongs to a clan. My proposition to Dan didn't include the clan. Dan's profession is a separate part of him. He never allows anything domestic to interfere with it. Besides, in my proposition Dan was to take my name. In marriage, the girl must take his—and a lot else besides. Dan's very loyal to his family. The girl who marries Dan has got to be decent to his people. She ought to be the kind who will appreciate what they are, rather than what they're not."

"I've never heard Dan apologize for anybody in his family. I can't help but admire his attitude. Dan's just the opposite of a snob. But there—when I get started on Dan there's no stopping me. I actually love the boy. Only, of course, he must marry in his own class. He has somebody already picked out."

"Oh, has he? You make him sound so interesting, Dr. Warburton. Whom has he picked out?"

"A girl his aunt, who's on the newsstand at the Statler, got to know. Fine girl, too. She's on the telephone switchboard at the Statler. Dan introduced me to her once. Her name is Agnes Hearn. She's very attractive. They don't all have to be debutantes to have charm."

CHINA SUFFERS MORE FLOODS

Yentsing District Has 5,000 Miles Covered—Toll 25,000.

300,000 AFFECTED.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2 (C.P.)—A new China flood disaster, following closely upon other catastrophes that have taken tens of thousands of lives within the last two months, was revealed to the National Flood Relief Commission to-day in a telegram from B. L. Pond, resident engineer of the Chinese international Famine Relief Commission at Yunnanfu, Yunnan Province.

Pond declared 25,000 persons perished and 5,000 square miles of territory were inundated as the result of continual rains in the Yentsing district of Northern Yunnan Province.

"Three hundred thousand people are affected," he telegraphed. "Crops are entirely destroyed. The rain is continuing in some districts."

This follows a three-year famine from which it was previously estimated Yunnan Province would require twenty years to recover.

It was estimated floods have claimed 250,000 lives in the Hankow area alone. Tens of millions of Chinese are destitute as a result of the disaster. The floods have been described as the worst in the last 500 years.

LONGSHOREMEN STRIKE

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 2 (CP) Two hundred longshoremen employed by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Line to-day joined with about 100 striking longshoremen of the Luckenbach Lines, causing a tie up of work on four steamers.

The American-Hawaiian workers struck in protest against the employment of strike breakers who for several days have taken the places of the men who quit their jobs with the Luckenbach lines because of allegedly "too heavy" sling loads.

TORONTO LIST REMAINS CALM

Volume Light and Confined to Half Dozen Free Stocks This Morning.

OILS ARE ACTIVE.

CAR HITS TRUCK CRASH FOLLOWS GIRL IS KILLED

Mitchell Royal Hotel Proprietor, Driver of Death Car, is Arrested.

INQUEST ORDERED.

Fatality is Third in District Inside Past Four Days.

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 3. (CP) R. A. Benneteau of Mitchell appeared in police court here this morning, before Magistrate Makins on a charge of criminal negligence, arising out of the death of Miss Irene Collins, age 17 of Mitchell. He was remanded until Oct. 12 and is endeavoring to arrange bail.

Miss Collins, employee of the Royal Hotel at Mitchell, was instantly killed at an early hour this morning when a car driven by Benneteau, proprietor of the hotel, crashed into a steel box gravel truck. Mrs. Benneteau was injured, but not seriously.

This is the third fatality in the Mitchell district in four days.

Benneteau was placed under arrest by Provincial Officers R. J. Beatty and G. T. Murdock and was brought back to Stratford to appear in police court today.

According to information in the hands of the police, Benneteau, his wife, the deceased girl, Harvey Sleeman of St. Thomas and Oscar Mowatt of Thamesford had gone for a drive and later attended a dance at Kennicott. On their return to Mitchell, they overtook the gravel truck, driven by Christie E. Diehl of West Moncton. The driver of the car evidently did not turn out soon enough to avoid hitting the truck, and the corner of the steel box caught the window of the sedan, tearing the top completely off the car. The machine then turned over on the shoulder of the road.

An inquest is being held in Mitchell. The girl is survived by her parents and six sisters.

Lake Shore Closes Up $2 in Light Turnover on Standard.

NICKEL IS SOFTER.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3 (C.P.).— Picking up where they left off last night, higher-priced gold stoks recorded additional substantial recoveries on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day.

Lake Shore, in relatively light turnover, registered the largest gain, closing up $2 from last night's final. McIntyre regained another $1. Hollinger, in improved demand, 50 cts.; Teck-Hughes 25, Wright-Hargreaves 12, and Dome Mines 10

International Nickel showed a reactionary tendency from the opening and closed down 45 on the day. Noranda firmed a few cents and maintained its lead and an odd lot of Hudson Bay changed hands at $2.50, up 25.

INDUSTRIAL LIST IS DEPRESSED BY UNINTERRUPTED LIQUIDATION

Absence of Indications of Trade Recovery is Cause of Heavy Selling.

MARKETS UNSETTLED.

(By Thomas C. Thompson)

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 3.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Acute weakness in Canadian dollars at New York, with discounts of as much as 14½ per cent. against Dominion funds, and further unsettlement in sterling exchange, bond prices and the stock markets presented a confused picture of the financial situation in Canada this week.

Stock exchanges at Toronto and Montreal remained in the semi-artificial state during the week. Such issues as Brazilian Traction, International Nickel, C.P.R., Ford of Canada 'A', Walkers, and the Oils show net losses for the week in nearly every instance.

The bright feature of the week's trading on the stock exchanges was a robust rally in the gold leaders on Friday, a movement that carried these stocks well above their levels of the preceding day.

But the industrial list was depressed by almost uninterrupted liquidation, brought on by the persistent weakness of the New York market and by the absence of important indications of trade recovery this year. It was doubtful whether the Canadian list was called upon to absorb much forced liquidation yet holders in many instances became nervous over the excessive weakness shown by important stocks, and threw their shares on a market already overburdened by selling orders. The result was a decline by Walkers to a new record low of 3, with subsequent recovery to 3 3-8 against 3¾ last week, a decline by Canadian Pacific Railway from 17 to 16 and a further loss by Noranda, which declined form $15.25 last week to $13.10 this week.

Noranda sold below the $13 level but recovered under renewed buying later in the week. Brazilian Traction was prominent in the movement of the industrial list, declining below the $10 level, although closing sales in Toronto on Friday at that price reduced the net decline for the week to ⅝ of a point. International Nickel, active leader of the interlisted group, was sensitive to fluctuations of the New York market but rallied moderately in response to Friday's recovery at the latter centre. Last sales of Nickel in Toronto at 9⅜ compared with 9⅞ last week.

Oils Also Slump

Oils slumped with industrial stocks and there was no indication of revived demand for these issues as the week drew to a close. British American Oil shares were sharply lower at 8¾, after touching an extreme low of 8, while Imperial Oil lost ground at 9¾ against 10½ last week, and International Petroleum sagged from 9⅝ to 9. Still lower prices were reached by International Petroleum prior to Friday's upturn.

No significance was attached to the movements of shares that have been pegged since these issues can only be traded at or above their levels of two weeks ago. In that period the trend of the market has been definitely downward however, so that unchanged prices for these issues do not necessarily indicate their actual valuation in the minds of traders. Power and utility shares show narrow fluctuations for the week and they have been traded in light volume.

Canadian Dollar.

Aside from the stock market situation, attention has been centred on the action of the Canadian dollar. While Canada is not officially off the gold standard, the Canadian Dollar is still at a discount of 12½ per cent. in New York, with the result that the temporary weakness of Canadian funds forecast by some observers when the dollar first slumped, has proven more than a brief sinking spell. In turn, Canadian bond prices have been highly unsettled, particularly in the case of some government issues, and the general trend of the bond market is downward. No gold shipments from Canada to the United States have been announced this week, and as yet, the dollar exchange situation shows no sign of corrective measures. Sterling funds both at Montreal and New York are also fluctuating irregularly with no tangible indication as to the level at which sterling will settle.

WINNIPEG SEPTEMBER WHEAT TWO CENTS LOWER FOR WEEK

Export Trade Negligible Except for Moderate Business in Early Days.

SOME HEAVY DELIVERIES.

WINNIPEG Man. Oct. 3 (CP) October has shown no favors to the downtrodden wheat market here so far, the month's approach and its coming have shaken severely what confidence remained in the pit. Firmness of mid-September has departed for the time being and trading started to-day at a level more than two cents under a week ago.

October wheat closed trading for the week at 52½ cents yesterday, down 2¼. November was off 2¼ cents at 53 and December sank 2¼ to 53¼c. May dropped 2¼ to 57⅛.

Export trade for the week was negligible except for a moderate business in the early days. An erratic exchange rate and weak stock market appeared to curtail outside trading that had previously been of much help in the Winnipeg market in the absorption of hedging sales.

Improvement in western Canadian weather and resumption of threshing in many Saskatchewan and Alberta districts resulted in heavier deliveries at country points and consequently larger sales in the wheat futures market.

Volume of trade for the week was moderate with many dull periods in the daily sessions and bulk of operations was carried on by local traders.

Demand for cash wheat was spasmodic and buyers displayed less keenness than in the week previous. Top grades held their spreads fairly well. Durums were in good demand.

Oats changed hands in small quantities in the coarse grain market and a little export business in malting barley was reported, rye and flax showed heaviest losses for the week, flax being down 4¼ to 4⅞.

ALDERMEN DEBATE GIMBLETT CAR

No Rolls Royce.

Alderman Cotton: "Yes, but it isn't any Rolls Royce."

Alderman Phelan argued that now was the time to buy the Chief a car if it ever was to be done, since sufficient money had been saved from the department's appropriation and next year the Council would balk at including a new car in the estimates.

Alderman McNabb said that he knew of a car, the same make and model as the Chief's, which had gone 47,000 miles over country roads in winter and summer and except for having the cylinders rebored was in great shape.

Asked by Alderman Tuggey to explain how the sum necessary for the purchase of the car had been saved, Chairman Cotton stated that it was because the equipment bought by the department had dropped in price over that estimated.

In Bad Condition.

Alderman Fitzpatrick said that he had ridden in the Chief's car recently and it was certainly in bad shape.

Alderman Cotton: "The gears are very bad. I don't care if we buy another car or not but one is certainly needed."

Alderman Stocker: "Oh buy him a Ford! Buy him a Ford!"

In answer to a question of Alderman Turner, Chairman Cotton stated that everything included in the Fire Department's estimates had been purchased but the drop in prices had allowed that saving.

Alderman Turner moved that any action for the purchase of a car be held up and that no action be taken. He explained that he had moved the motion at the last meeting asking the Chairman to get prices, but since the prices had been obtained the Council was not bound to buy a car.

Alderman Phelan moved an amendment for the purchase of the Hudson car. This motion was seconded by Alderman Fitzpatrick who reiterated that the Chief's car was in bad state.

Alderman Tuggey moved, seconded by Alderman Macdonald, that the purchase of the car be held up until tenders were secured on cars of four and six cylinders. This motion passed ending the debate.

PIONEER OF MARMORA DISTRICT MRS. J. BOYD NEARS 76TH YEAR

Family Have Occupied Settlement Since Long Before Confederation.

Recalls Early Hardships.

MARMORA, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — Among the pioneer families of the Marmora district of half a century ago, none were better known or are better remembered today than the Boyd family.

Their settlement is about 3½ miles west of Marmora village on the Havelock road, and travelling from Marmora this settlement is entered by descending the well-known Boyd's hill. Unlike the majority of hills of equal high grade, this hill seems to have had a safety record, for none can recall even a runaway having taken place there. At the base of the hill in the frame house erected by her husband in the year 1875, a year after their marriage, resides the sole local survivor of the Boyd family of pioneer days, in the person of Mrs. James Boyd, a lady who, if living on October 16, will celebrate her seventy-sixth birthday and fifty-seven years of residency in the Boyd settlement. She is the only one of the old stock to live to see the day when travellers between Havelock and Marmora will use but little longer the road which calls for the negotiation of Boyd's hill. The new highway under course of construction by the McNamara Construction Company takes a course which skirts the major portion of the Boyd settlement and traffic which has hitherto been passing Mrs. Boyd's door will in future be viewed some distance away.

Family History.

The history of the Boyd family is briefly this: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Boyd emigrated to this country from Dublin, Ireland, long before the year of Confederation. In course of time, five sons resided on farms in the settlement which took their name. They were Ezekiel, George, Alexander, James and William. Another son, John travelled as a bridge builder The old homestead was on the site of Allen Wallbridge's present residence and later on was moved to Blairton to become the present residence of Patrick McFaul. To-day all the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Boyd are deceased, and, with the exception of James Boyd's family, none of the descendants are residing in the old settlement. Mrs. James Boyd, in her reclining years, is to-day enjoying the companionship at home of her own son, Alexander, and his children, and though she has known years of toil and a certain amount of suffering, is exercising one of the brightest dispositions in the district. The caller will find a hospitable welcome from one whose form is tall and remarkably erect for a septuagenarian. Many the wayfarer that has come to her doors through the years that have passed to partake of what hospitality she could offer and they have not always been of the desirable type. But none ever molested her as she carried out that creed which she shared with her husband—charity.

True, in base ingratitude, one transient raved at her on one occasion because she had no home-made bread in the house to offer him but that could be later appreciated as a joke as the case of the other transient who quenched his thirst with seven cups of tea at her expense.

Mrs. Boyd is one of ten children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Almond Harris in the 16th concession of Smith township. Her father was drowned at Lovesick Rapids. As a girl she had to walk 2½ miles to school on the Buckhorn road w n winter and other adverse weather did not permit the shortcut being taken across the fields. One night the log school house was destroyed by fire and the next day all the scholars had to buy new books.

She recalls having witnessed the death of her aged great-grandmother when she herself was eleven years of age. In those days babies were not lulled to sleep in cradles. Sap troughs answered the purpose. Her parents were Prebyterian in religion. On Dec. 23, 1874, Hannah Harris, as she was then known, was united in marriage to James Boyd at Peterborough, the officiating minister being the Rev. D. McClennan, Presbyterian minister of that city. Four sons and one daughter were born of the marriage and are living to-day. Mrs. Boyd after marriage became a member of the Blairton Methodist Church. She is fond of reading. She reverences the Bible, and enjoys good books and Sunday school literature, besides a glance at the daily newspaper. Though she has had to use glasses for reading for some years, she is feeling now the advent of second sight. She has been widowed for the past eight years. One other daughter-in-law of the late Alexander Boyd is still living, namely, Mrs. William Boyd of Sault Ste. Marie.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.— Trade was slow on the local butter market yesterday, but some sales were made of choice lots at a lower basis than generally asked by brokers. The finest offerings were being quoted at 20c for o. 1, and 19½c for No. 2, but trading was at 20c to 20¼c for No. 1 solids, with the better lots bringing the extra ¼c.

With exoprt trade at a standstill, trade during the week was very slow. There were sales made, but prices were decreased in almost every instance. Brokers were asking 30½c for choice creamery solids, and being offered 20 and 20¼c, with the lower price being quoted regularly. Storage holdings for Toronto as published on Oct. 1, showed about 1,000 boxes more in storage than on Sept. 1, or about 6,000 boxes more than Oct. 1, 1930.

Cream Lower.

Cream prices were steady to easier this week, local buyers quoting a range 20c to 21c for special, 19c to 20c for No. 1, and 16c to 17c for No. 2, f.o.b., country points. In certain districts the levels were above those offered in others.

Cheese Trade Slow.

Trade in cheese was slow, and prices were nominal only at 11¼c for new large, 11¾c for twins, and 12c for triplets. Retailers were quoted new large at 13c, twins at 13¼c, and triplets at 13½c.

Egg Prices Higher.

Poultry prices were lower this week-end, but quotations on eggs were substantially higher than previously to country shipper and retailer. The rural shippers were quoted 2 for extras, 25c for firtss, and 14c to 15c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned, an increase of 4c per dozen over last week on all but seconds, which were not in demand. Retailers were offered supplies at 35c to 37c for extras in cartons, 34c to 35c for extra loose, 29c to 30c for firsts loose, and 19c to 20c for seconds loose, an increase on the two top grades of 5c per dozen. Brokers were quoting graded eggs in free used cases at levels only 2c above last week, at 31c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 17c for seconds.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Rumblings of a financial crisis in Russia affecting her grain export plans and domestic seeding delays in the Southwest tended to lift wheat prices yesterday. Urgent need of rain was reported over wide areas of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Liverpool advices said grain collections in Russia were much below the quantity planned; that world shipments of wheat were expected to shrink, and that British traders considered recent declines in wheat prices excessive.

Wheat closed unsettled, a shade to 1-8c to 1-4c higher; corn, 3-8c to 5-8c down; oats, 1-4c to 3-8c off, and provisions, unchanged to 12c up.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3. — Egg and butter prices were higher, while cheese and potato quotations held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of fresh Ontario or Prairie eggs were mainly higher, extras and firsts gaining a cent at 33 to 34 cents and 27 to 28 cents, respectively, while seconds were unchanged at 18 cents a dozen. British Columbia fresh extras and firsts, in carlots, held steady at 35 cents and 30 cents a dozen. To retailers, fresh eggs, in cartons, were all a cent higher, specials being quoted at 40 cents, extras at 37 cents, firsts at 32 cents and seconds at 24 to 25 cents a dozen. Storage eggs were unchanged. Receipts were 801 cases.

No. 1 pasteurized butter, in carlots, gained a quarter of a cent at 20 cents a pound. To retailers, solids at 21 to 22c and prints at 22 to 23 cents a pound were both unchanged. Receipts totalled 1,578 boxes.

Ontario and Quebec cheese held at yesterday's levels, with Ontario being quoted at 12½ to 12¾ cents, and Quebec at 12¼c to 12½ cents a pound. Receipts were 8,345 boxes.

Montreal potatoes per 80-lb. bag were unchanged, 40 to 50 cents, and New Brunswick Cobblers were steady at 50 to 60 cents per 80-lb. bag.

WINNIPEG, October 3. — Wheat dawdled through another uninteresting session yesterday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and finished unchanged to ¼c lower. Offerings were light throughout the period, but interest in the market was lacking.

October finished at 52½c, and December at 53¼c, both unchanged; losses of ¼c were shown by November at 53c, and May at 57¼c.

A strong Liverpool cable sent the values ahead a cent at the start, but the scarcity of buying orders allowed the light offerings to wipe out the gains. As a whole, the market was easily the dullest of the week.

Cash wheat trade was rather slow, demand for durums continuing fair, however, with the top grade quoted at ¼c better than previous closing spreads. Sales were confined mostly to odd cars.

LANDMARK MOVED ACROSS THE RIVER

Old Mowry Home is Only Residence in Lakefield to Have Basement Kitchen.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, October 3.—An old landmark has disappeared from the corner of Reid and Water streets, within the past couple of weeks, when the house once known as the old Mowry home was moved across the river to D'Eyncourt street.

The house was one of the old houses of the village and was a two story frame building, well built and with the best of materials. The moving required considerable skill as it was taken over the river on a scow under the direction of W. J. Webster and Sons, who are settling it in its new situation. The house was purchased by Warden C. S. Tanner for Rev. J. J. Garvey.

Telephone Expansion.

During the autumn months the Bell Telephone Company will be engaged on a project affecting the arrangement of their central office equipment at Lakefield. The work is designed to provide adequate means for maintaining present telephone traffic and to place the office in a condition to meet future growth.

As the existing circuit routes are well filled, the company plans to remove two open wire lines and replace the circuits in cable leads. Other changes will be effected in the exchange, and the work, requiring an outlay of over eight thousand dollars, will place the office in a condition to care for any future expansion which may occur.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright.
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

CAVAN

Nina Moore Jamieson, a favorite Canadian writer says, "The literature of a country advertises that country, but the literature of a country cannot live unless it is supported by the people of the country. I wonder how strongly Canadians are supporting Canadian literature? In a certain school room in a very well advanced community this question was asked of the children, "Name your favorite Canadian author." Their favorite Caadian author was Zane Grey. I have nothing to say about Zane Grey whatever, but he should not be placed in the hands of Canadian children as the outstanding author for their reading and impressive years.

Everyone of you has at some time in your life been strongly influenced by something you have read. You older women will agree with me that the course of your life has been shaped at some time by something you have read. Our national ideals are shaped by our national literature because it embodies what is best in the past and it holds that Canadian standard up before our eyes. What are we reading of Canadian literature to keep us in this mind? We have Canadian magazines that are outstanding in merit. They are well printed, on good paper; they are sane; they are forward looking; they give us pictures of our own country that are authentic. The work is published in them by reasonable sensible people, not merely people who have made their name and are trading on their reputations. We have Canadian authors of repute who are using the English language as it should be used, that is a beautiful and wonderful medium for a permanent record of Canadian life. Now it is the business of the older women here to see that the right sort of reading comes into the home, because although the man may think he is the head of the house, the women know very well who is, and the women decide what reading matter is to come into the house invariably. What are you bringing in for your children? You are very particular about the playmates with whom your children associate. You girls are careful that you don't allow yourselves to be seen in the society of people whose reputations are shady, because you know very well it would affect yourselves. Are you associating with criminals between the covers of a book? Are you associating with people in books whom you would not allow in your home? It is a grave responsibility, that responsibility of the older women to see what comes into the house, to see that the girls exercise the same choice there, that they exercise among their human associates. We cannot have Canadian ideals unless we cherish them. How are we cherishing them? Let us make up our minds more and more from day that the good name of our country shall be cared for as far as we can do it—cared for in this particular way. We can do this, and do it very easily by seeing that the reading matter that is brought into our home is the sort of reading matter that will encourage it.

I ask you, before you purchase American magazines with their American ideal of citizenship; their American ideal of law enforcement, and so forth, to see whether you have provided for the Canadian side of the question before bringing in the American."

This very pertinent topic was presented to Institutes assembled in convention, and individually the Institute members should strive to help provide good Canadian literature for reading in our homes, during the long winter evenings.

MILLBROOK.

Cake frostings came up for discussion at an Institute gathering, the decision to have the replies to the roll-call at the next meeting along this line bringing many new ideas for icing cakes, and for fillings.

What the member contributing it called an "inexpensive frosting" was made thus: One tablespoon butter; three desertspoons cocoa; one tablespoon cornstarch; one cup white sugar; one cup hot water. Method: Mix cocoa, cornstarch, and sugar, and add to melted butter, together with the hot water. Boil slowly until thick; cool before using. This recipe, with the addition of one-half cup sugar, and one more cup hot water, makes a delicious pudding.

Another gave the following: When you find you have not enough icing sugar for your 'quick cake' don't despair, but add nearly half as much cocoa as sugar, a tablespoon of cold coffee, and one of melted butter, and behold you have a lovely chocolate icing, not a bit bitter, and delightfully smooth.

An icing recommended for a layer cake had as ingredients one egg white, three tablespoons water, one cup white sugar, placing all in double boiler, and beating constantly with Dover egg-beater for five minutes over the rapidly-boiling water. Any flavoring may be added.

Gelatine frosting embodied a new idea, two and one-half tablespoons of boiling water, one-half teaspoon gelatine, three-quarters of a cup of confectioner's sugar, and one-half teaspoon of vanilla being required for its making. The method was simple: Dissolve gelatine in boiling water, add the sugar and beat until creamy.

"Marshmallow Flip" was described as 'sounding young and foolish', but recommended highly either as a dessert, or as a filling and icing for cake. Its making is in this fashion: Soak together over night one-half pound of marshmallows in one-half pint cream. In the morning beat until very light, using maraschino cherries as a garnish and serve cold.

Although it was not exactly along the line of the subject for the day, one member's recipe for macaroons was hailed with delight, and copied down; the giver of the information declaring "they get nicer the longer they are kept": Mix together thoroughly one can condensed milk, one pound of cocoanut, one teaspoon cornstarch, and a pinch of salt. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased tin, put a cherry on each one, and make in a moderate oven until brown. The recipe makes six dozen.

An almond icing mentioned as good for Christmas cakes concluded the roll-call for that day as time was up: Two heaping cups yellow sugar; in heaping tablespoon butter; four tablespoons milk. Boil until it hairs well, then add two soda biscuits, rolled fine, one cup chopped almonds, one egg, and flavoring. Spread on cake and when cool cover with a plain white icing made with confectioner's sugar. "This is nice, and keeps well."

AGENCY OPENS TORONTO OFFICE

Vickers and Benson Reg'd Expands Organization to the Queen City.

A. H. MacLauchlan at Head.

In times like these, when fears for the future too frequently cause unnecessary retrenchments, it is a matter of interest to note that one of Montreal's most progressive advertising agencies, Vickers & Benson Reg'd., Keefer Building, have opened a Toronto Office with the view of further servicing the interests of their clients in the Ontario field.

A. H. MacLauchlan, who is well known to the advertising fraternity, has been appointed manager of the Toronto Office, which is situated in the Reford Building, 217 Bay street.

It is a tribute to the aggressiveness of this organization that expansion should be undertaken at this time when the general feeling of timidity is regarding the return of prosperity. It proves, however, that there is still confidence in Canada's ability to return to normal conditions.

New Addition For Roman Meal Plant

It is refreshing these days to learn of business expansion such as is taking place in the factory of Dr. Jackson Food Products Limited, Toronto, whose business in 1930 showed an increase of 110 per cent over 1929—which increase is being steadily maintained. Manufacturing facilities are being increased by 150 per cent, and it is expected that the new premises will be ready for occupancy in a month or five weeks. These greater manufacturing facilities are made necessary by continued increase in Canadian consumption and by constantly increasing exports to the United States. It should also be noted that the Roman Meal people are persistent and continuous advertisers of their products.

VON HINDENBURG 84 YEARS OLD

Has Overshadowed Battlefield Fame by Achievements as President.

STILL HALE AND HEARTY.

BERLIN, Oct. 2. —(AP)— Paul von Hindenburg, who was first in war and is first in peace, was 84 years old today and the fatherland rejoiced.

Thirteen years ago on this very date he saw the hitherto impregnable Hindenburg line waver and collapse under the united assaults of the allied forces under Marshal Foch.

Toda, as President of the first German Republic he is once more the Field Marshal leading the nation in a peace-time war against the onslaughts of economic depression and political dissension.

He is nearing the end of a seven-year term in which Germany rehabilitated herself from the effects of post-war dissillusionment, revolution and monetary inflation only to fall prey to the ravages of world-wide maladjustments.

During the last year he has achieved triumphs as a leader of government which overshadowed even his exploits on the field of battle. When Germany was threatened with virtual bankruptcy in June he personally appealed to President Hoover to extend relief and backed up Chancellor Bruening with a succession of emergency decrees which averted financial and political disaster.

At an age when most men are semi-invalid, his body seems as sturdy, his mind as active and his eye as piercing as when he was a youth. Known as "Der Alt" (the old gentleman), he still is a stickler for military discipline as a veteran of three wars, but a man of kindly disposition recalling the boy who at the age of 11 said, "I always want peace and quiet."

PLANE UPSETS ON LINDBERGHS

Couple and Dr. King Hurled Into Yangtse River Starting Take-Off

BRITISH CREW TO RESCUE

HANKOW, China, Oct. 2 (A.P.)— The monoplane of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh capsized in the Yangtse River here to-day, throwing the famous fliers into the water, but there were rescued quickly by men from the British aircraft carrier Hermes.

The upset occurred while Lindbergh was turning the plane about on the surface of the river preparatory to a take-off on another volunteer flood survey flight. The body and a wing of the plane was damaged.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh had just climbed into the plane and had been lowered from the deck of the Hermes preparatory to making a survey flight to the vicinity of Tungting Lake, 75 miles southwest of here, with Dr. King of the China Famine Commission, as a passenger.

One wing struck the water as the plane turned about, capsizing the craft and throwing the Lindberghs and Dr. King into the river.

The Hermes lowered a lifeboat and pulled the trio out of the water in short order. The plane then was picked up and lifted to the deck of the Hermes.

Buying Wisely

An old and conservatively managed banking institution has issued to its 240,000 depositors a circular message that merits consideration, also by customers of savings banks generally on the North American continent.

This bank points out that hoarding and thrift are not synonymous terms; that, in fact, they are quite as different as courage and fear. The circular therefore gives the following advice:

"Keep on deposit a reasonable reserve against emergency, not a hoard."

"If you have a surplus above all likely need, make careful purchases of things you want for permanent use while prices remain low."

"See that your home is put in good repair. Do not let your automobile or any other property get run down. If you have long needed an added piece of furniture, shop carefully and buy it now."

"Buy clothing and other needs in reasonable quantities. Buy real estate if you are planning for a home of your own."

"Wise spending at the right time is just as essential as preventative measures to insure good health. Wise spending of available money encourages prosperity and corrective measures, good health and enjoyment."

"Every citizen who spends such money in some useful and wise way is contributing to the relief of unemployment and to the return of confidence and prosperity in this city and county."

Babson's Statistical Organization in their Canadian Babson's Chart, points out: "We feel that pessimism has been allowed too free a rein. In our anxiety to get over the world's depression epidemic we sometimes fail to give proper evaluation to existing conditions. The depression is acute, not chronic."

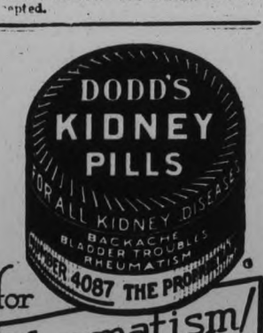
IRISH RAILWAY PEACE

1,800 Men Agree to Take Month's Holiday Without Pay

The threatened dismissal of 600 of the 1,800 men employed in the Inchicore and Broadstone workshops of the Great Southern Railways Co. in Ireland will not take place.

In order to economize to the extent of 24,000 pounds before the expiration of the present year, the company had proposed to reduce its staffs in the Inchicore and Broadstone workshops by 600 men.

The men met the situation by proposing that the 1,800 employees should take a month's holiday without pay before December next. 600 to go on leave at a time for a fortnight, then return for a month, after which they would again remain idle for another fortnight. This would enable the company to make the saving desired. The scheme was accepted.



If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

MOTORISTS FOUND NOT GUILTY OF NEGLIGENCE ON HIGHWAY

could belong to Peterborough. He hoped not.

Orval Ward, the accused 43-year-old battery salesman, of Trenton, called to the witness box, stated that he had been driving for twenty years. He had a chauffeur's license. He was asked to accompany Russell Farmer to bring a car from Peterborough. They picked up Blair C. Brown at Trenton Police Station. Mr. Farmer drove the car four or five miles out of Trenton and then accused took the wheel.

The car was a new car, not to be driven fast.

Accused described stopping at a little store. He did not know where but there was a church across the road from the store. "I was went in and got two boxes of cigarettes and some ice cream cones," he stated.

As to the time the car left Trenton, accused said their man had not come at half-past two, so they decided they would go for him. They did go, and picked up Brown at the police office.

He said the car referred to by the witness, Louis Andrews, as having followed another car at a high rate of speed was not the Buick that he drove. "I did not drive at more than 45 m.p.h," said the accused.

Just as he came over the rise, he said he noticed three cars ahead. The second car in the line was apparently trying to pass an old car which was in front. "It pulled in behind the old car a second time," he testified, before finally pulling out. That was when the crash came. He first applied his brakes when he noticed the car attempt to pull out. When he saw the car pull in again he released the brakes on his car. The left rear wheel of the car locked and caused his car to pull into the centre of the road.

"My car was struck on the left hand rear corner," he stated, adding that the front of his car had apparently got past the front of the Marquette car. Immediately prior to the crash he placed his own speed at 30 to 32 m.p.h.

The first thing he remembered after the crash was regaining consciousness at the hospital at three o'clock on Sunday morning. He was in hospital until the following Monday week.

Accused was closely questioned concerning a written statement he gave to Constable David Silvester who visited him at his bedside on the third day following the accident. Explaining some differences in the story he related of the accident in the statement and in his evidence in the witness box, the accused said he was confused at the time between "the old car" and "the other car."

Russell Farmer salesman at General Motors Salesroom at Trenton was with the accused on the day of the fatality. Witness drove the car for a few miles out of Trenton and then changed places with accused. The deceased man Blair Brown was in the car. They were going to Peterborough to get a prisoner and to bring back a car that the prisoner in question had been driving.

Witness testified that the car had been in the showroom and had run about a thousand miles. He did not remember having followed at the rear of a Hudson Straight Eight referred to by the witness Andrews in evidence the previous afternoon.

Describing the accident witness stated the first he remembered of the accident was coming over a little grade. He saw a series of cars coming; about two or three cars coming towards their car.

Car Pulled Out Twice

"One car, an old one came towards us on its right side of the road. Two other cars were behind, and one of the cars came out to pass the old car. The car that I first saw on our side of the road to pass did pass the old car and went to his rightside of the road. The other car then swung out and caught the right front door of their car. Witness was rendered unconscious as a result of the crash.

The car witness was riding in, had the brakes applied just as soon as it came over the hill and when the occupants saw the other car in their pathway. After the car in front had regained its correct side of the road the brakes were released and witness felt the brake dragging. The dragging of the brake had a tendency to pull them to the middle of the road. Witness would say they were on their own side, close to the centre of the road at the time of the impact.

Witness ducked down behind the back seat. He did not see what Brown did—there was not time. The Buick car was travelling at 40 to 45 miles an hour as it came over the crest of the hill. After the brakes had been released following their first application witness judged the speed would be 40 m.p.h.

In answer to the Crown Prosecutor witness said the distance given by his speedometer from Trenton to Peterborough was 68 miles.

The accident occurred 3 or 4 miles from Peterborough. He agreed the car that afternoon had travelled about 64 miles. It had taken them approximately two hours to get from Trenton to the scene of the crash.

When witness changed places in the car with Ward, the car only stopped for a minute or so. They stopped for two or three minutes also near Bewdley for cigarettes.

Relating again what happened just prior to the accident, witness stated when he came over the brow of the hill the first car he saw was about 100 yards away. The Buick just got over the crest when the brakes were applied lightly. The car had little tendency to swerve at first. The car might have gone momentarily over the centre of the left of the road when the brakes were first applied. He crouched down in the seat when he saw the car at the rear of the Chevrolet turn out in front of them. The car that turned out was a Marquette car.

Cecil Williamson, florist of this city, stated that he went out to the scene of the accident with the previous witness McLaren and McLaren's daughter.

Technical evidence as to the braking mechanism of the Buick car was given by Clifford Cooper, Picton mechanic with 27 years' experience of cars. The brake drum off the right rear wheel of the Buick car was entered in Court as an exhibit, and witness demonstrated with it to the jury. He could not produce the brake drum off the left rear wheel as it was so badly smashed as a result of the impact.

The clearance between the brake drum and the lining, he told the jury, was only ten one-thousandths of an inch. He explained some of the causes of locking. One cause, he said, was if the brake drum was not a perfect circle. The condition was often found on new cars.

The driving wheels of a Buick car worked independently. If one of the rear wheels locked the other wheel would continue to drive.

If a wheel of the Buick car had locked, he said, he did not consider it possible to deduce the speed the car was travelling from the marks on the highway. The fact that the brake locked did not necessarily indicate excessive speed.

Leo Ackford, a Peterborough motor mechanic, was also called. He described the damages to the Buick and the Marquette cars. The centre of impact in relation to the marquette car was at the left front corner. The injury to the Buick car commencing near the left side door to the rear of the car, indicated that the centre of the impact in relation to the Buick car was at the centre of the left side of the body.

Counsel for the defence also demonstrated to the jury with the aid of two model cars. He showed that if the left rear wheel of the car had locked the tendency would be to throw the front of the car to the left.

That concluded the case for the defence.

The Crown's reply was to recall George Adams, driver of the Marquette car. In answer to the Crown Prosecutor he said his car was painted a dark green.

Commenting on the verdict that was returned by the jury, His Lordship remarked, "The case you have been trying was a difficult and complicated one, and you were justified in returning the verdict you did."

Addressing the accused prior to releasing him from custody, the judge stated, "The jury have taken a lenient view of your conduct in this case. No quarrel can be made with their verdict. However, you were in part responsible for the death of this man. Let it be a warning to you for the rest of your life."

The Faiers' Trial

Crown Prosecutor D. G. McIntosh, K.C., outlining the final criminal case on the list in which Harry Faiers of North Monaghan Township stood charged with manslaughter, explained that the accident occurred on August 23 on Lansdowne street, North Monaghan, a short distance from the city. Norman Taylor was proceeding in an easterly direction, riding a bicycle on the extreme right-hand side of the road. A car driven by Thomas Harvey was going west at a moderate speed. As Harvey was driving past the cemetery his attention was directed to the reflection of headlights of another car coming from the rear. Harvey drew over as far as he could to the right side of the road. The car from the rear, driven by the accused, attempted to pass the Harvey car and in doing so struck Taylor. The cyclist was tossed in the air and was killed almost immediately. He had terrific injuries.

The accused was defended by J. A. O'Brien.

Dr. F. O'Reilly said he was called to the scene of the accident at about eleven o'clock. He saw Norman Taylor lying in the ditch at the side of the road. At that time Taylor was alive. He had both legs fractured, his left arm was broken and he was cut about the neck, face and head. The injuries to the head, he would say, were glass cuts. He had a fractured skull to which the doctor attributed death.

John Robinson of Mark street, City, identified photographs that were entered as exhibits. Exhibit 1 was a photograph of Lansdowne street, looking west; No. 2 photograph of a cycle ridden by Taylor and taken after the accident; and No. 3, a photograph of the car driven by the accused.

Taylor was alive when witness arrived at the scene of the accident. Faiers' car was on the south side of the road, facing east. The cycle was about fifteen feet west of the body. It was badly smashed. Charles Storm's house, was nearby, and the accident happened almost opposite the house. The surface of the road was gravel. It was in good condition on the day in question. The road provided ample room for the passing of two cars. Witness found a small piece of glass on the road no larger than a pea. He was not prepared to state whether the glass was from a pair of spectacles or from the broken windshield of accused's car. He found windshield glass on another portion of the road. The windshield of Faiers' car and the left head light was broken. He had a conversation with Faiers. "I asked him how it happened. He said he had been driving home westwards and pulled out to pass another car," the constable testified. The car, he said, was facing east when he arrived and the explanation was that accused had gone on to High street and turned around to pick the injured man up. The accused stated to witness that he was going at 35 m.p.h.

In cross-examination, witness said the larger portion of the windshield had failed inside the car. He agreed the tendency of such an occurrence would be to cause the driver to lose control of his car.

Charles Storm related that he was awakened from sleep by the sound of the crash that occurred outside his house. He went out, and the accused reached the scene of the accident at about the same time as the witness did. He had come from the direction of High street.

Faiers asked him to phone for the police, he said in reply to Mr. O'Brien's cross-questioning. He did so. He did not hear the accused say he would take Taylor to hospital in his car.

Frank Harvey, aged 16, a son of the driver of the other car figuring in the case, was returning home with his parents on the night of the accident.

Witness' father was driving the car. He described the route the car took from the city. The headlights of the car were fair. The speed was from 15 to 20 m.p.h. He was on the back seat and saw the reflection of the lights of a car down at Monaghan road. "We pulled to the right side of the road. The other car passed us and there was a crash," he said.

He would say the speed of the car that passed was 45 m.p.h. Asked how he estimated the speed, he said, "It was going faster than our car."

At the time of the crash the other car was about two car lengths ahead. He could not state whether the car ahead had pulled over to its right side of the road. The dust was thick, but the last time he saw the tail light it indicated the car was on the left side of the road. The other car proceeded on. Witness's mother rendered first aid to the injured man.

Cross-examined, he said, "Mr. Faiers came back to the scene of the accident and wanted to take the injured man to hospital.

Thomas Harvey, father of the previous witness, placed the speed of his own car at 15 to 20 m.p.h. When the car passed him just before the accident, he saw a man on a cycle about 30 yards ahead on the left of witness. The cycle was about 3 feet from the edge of the road. He could see the man on the cycle from Faiers' headlight." The lights were shining up past me," he said. The car travelled past witness about two car lengths; then he saw the crash. He saw something go up in front of the accused's car, and would judge it to be the body of deceased.

"The cyclist had his head down to shade his eyes," he stated.

After witness brought his car to a stop, he and his wife ran back to give aid to the injured man. Witness found a hat in the roadway, and also a tie. His wife sent their boy to phone for the police and a doctor.

Mrs. Mary Hardy, who was riding on the front seat of her husband's automobile. The car was proceeding west on Lansdowne street, when she saw the headlights of a car coming from the rear. She also saw a cyclist proceeding leisurely towards the car on his right side of the road. "Faiers' car was hardly clear of the nose of our car when the cyclist was struck," she affirmed.

Witness was not prepared to state the speed of the car she was in. It was going slowly. Accused's car was travelling quite fast.

When the impact came, witness said the man went right up in the air up above the car—high enough to clear the top of the car. Her husband's car pulled up in about two car lengths ahead of the scene of the accident. From the spot where the impact occurred to the spot where the body of deceased was found, was "the length of this room," said witness. "I knew it was about the length of the room because we ran down the road and I was quite out of breath." She eased the injured man's head up, to allow him to get his breath.

When Faiers came back to the scene of the smash, she told him, "You have killed a man."

As far as witness could judge, the accused did not slacken speed after he struck the deceased man.

Cross-examined, witness said she did not see the man on the cycle make any attempt to avoid the accident. He was coming along with his head down to shield his eyes from the light.

She did not think Faiers had an opportunity of straightening out after passing their car before the crash came.

Harry Faiers, the accused, a butcher, said prior to the accident his speed was 30 to 35 m.p.h. On approaching the Harvey car, he blew his horn and at that time his speed was 20 to 25 m.p.h.

He increased his speed to pass the other car. He received a smashed windshield the first he knew. The smash took place just after passing the Harvey car. The glass came in upon witness and he could not see for a time to stop the car. His eye was cut, and his wife was rendered unconscious. He stopped his car at the mail box; sent his wife home and walked back to the scene of the accident.

At the scene of the accident, he found Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and their son. The deceased was lying at the side of the road. He was badly injured.

The accused said he went back to his own car with the object of taking Taylor to the clinic or hospital. He later stayed at the scene of the accident and was then placed under arrest.

The reason he did not see the man on the bicycle, he said, was that in turning out to pass the other car, his lights must have shone in the ditch. He was on top of the man before he had time to see him. Witness sounded his horn when 20 feet from the Harvey car. He knew deceased prior to the accident, and had known him to wear glasses. The spot where the body was found, he believed indicated the point of impact.

Cross-examined, he said he knew the witness John Robinson. He did not call to see the witness on the night previous or before that time.

George Edward Fraser and Owen Johnson were called by the defence to testify as to whether the deceased man, Taylor, wore glasses, and also as to the nature of the glasses.

His Lordship ruled the evidence out, stating that it had no bearing on the case.

The jury were out for twenty-three minutes. The panel of jurors was as follows: Charles Frendship, George Strain, Charles Flynn, Robert Brookes, Frank Pakenham, Milton Ingram, Hiram Woodbeck, V. Murphy, Frank P. Joyes, Harry Short, William H. Elliott, George Lipsett.

The judge remarked that the verdict of not guilty was very proper, and the only one that could be reached on the evidence.

"SLIM JANNY" GIFTED IN NUMEROUS WAYS

General Smuts Is Soldier, Lawyer, Statesman, Botanist, Philosopher, Peace Advocate and Scrapper

IT isn't every statesman who can go into retirement for a few years and then land on the transatlantic cable with a full column about the "Genetic, Organic, Holistic Universe."

General Jan Christiaan Smuts, dualistic mind of British Imperialism, dubbed the "Happy Warrior" long before Al Smith was so labelled, has been thus honored.

His London address as the new president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science outran the news of banks and chancelleries in the remote corners of the world, the cables clicking, expensively, his observation that "man is the offspring of the stars."

"Slim Janny," so called at home in South Africa, lean, bald, bearded, steely-eyed, is a soldier, lawyer, statesman, peace advocate botanist and philosopher. He fought with Oom Paul Kruger against the British in Queen Victoria's time and he led an army of Boers and British against the Germans in the world war.

In helping frame the Treaty of Versailles and in a pamphlet in which he provided Woodrow Wilson with the suggestion for the League of Nations, his attitude was that of an intelligent libertarian. He was zealous for the rights of Labor. In the pattern of world affairs he was unfailingly Liberal. Later, as premier of South Africa, he was virtually a dictator and his answer to recalcitrant Labor in the Rand was bullet and bayonet, ruthlessly employed. Nationalists and Laborites drove him from power in 1924.

A South African farmer who became an honor graduate of Christ's College, Oxford, he was described by a deep-diving, academic contemporary as "the only great combination of the extravert and introvert," meaning, obviously, that he could both think and act. In his absorption in philosophy and science during his later years he is no "lean and slippered pantaloon, full of wise saws and modern instances." The scientific world respects and honors him. He is one of the most brilliant intellects of the British Empire.

The "Big Chief" was working in a California pick-and-shovel gang this spring for a dollar-a-day, but is now staging a financial come-back by way of the movies

EX-VENDOR OF FRUIT METEOR OF FINANCE

Earthquake Gave Amadeo Giannini Chance to Lay Foundation of Huge Fortune

EXIT cue for Amadeo P. Giannini—as head of the Transamerica Corporation. But not as a potent and interesting figure in finance. While the world's largest holding company—at least it was once—has eased off somewhere around $503,000,000 in the last few years, Mr. Giannini, former Sicilian fruit vendor, departs to his Lucullan estate in California with perhaps more dollars than geraniums, with which his grounds are heavily terraced. Dollars and geraniums have been two of Mr. Giannini's most absorbing life interests.

When A. P. Giannini came to New York to "buy a few bankers," as he put it, he installed a battleship-size piano in the Ritz and played and sang lustily for hours at a time. He is a somewhat leonine personage and his deep baritone voice, earth shaking in volume, joined the roar of the metropolis. Wall Street turned a myopic eye toward the colorful Californian.

"This is impossible," said a frosty New England banker, one of the owning and operating coterie hereabouts. "This son of a Sicilian fruit peddler simply doesn't belong."

"Look him over," said an astute associate of the banker, "and you'll probably conclude that he's a descendant of a Roman emperor."

The kaleidoscopic tale of Amadeo P. Giannini shows Amadeo and his brother Attilio up at 2 o'clock in the morning at the family truck garden near San Mateo, rustling produce to market in San Francisco. Their stepfather, Lorenzo Scatena, helped them start a commission business, which they quickly metamorphosed into a little shoestring bank.

On the morning of the earthquake Amadeo rushed through the flames of the San Francisco fire to the bank, commandeered a horse and wagon and transported all the cash and securities to his home and buried them in the family truck garden. Then, when the embers cooled, he put a desk on the waterfront, with a sign over it, "Bank of Italy." A few days later he moved his bank to the residence of his brother, by this time Dr. Giannini. Then he loaned money liberally to Italians for the rebuilding of their North Beach homes. That was the real start of the Bank of Italy and the subsequent branch banks which spawned like the beans and artichokes in the Giannini truck garden.

The Transamerica Corporation was once in the billion dollar class.

'Knock-out' Schaaf Mother's 'Honey Boy'

TO the boxing writers and the cash customers Ernie Schaaf of Wrentham, Mass., is the blonde Viking. But he's "Honey Boy" to his mother and the girls of the Schaaf family.

In recent months Schaaf has come before the public as a fighting savage. He has won seven consecutive bouts by knockouts and has up-ended such widely-known gentlemen as Jim Maloney, Dick Daniels and Vittorio Campolo, the human May-pole.

But he can't prevent buxom Ma Schaaf from referring to him with the endearing epithet which was wished on him by a nurse at the time of his arrival in the world as an 11¾-pound infant.

Mrs. Schaaf knows about Ernie's fighting ability only from what she has read in the papers. She has never seen him in a fight, does not intend to, and does not even care to listen to radio accounts of his bouts.

"I objected to his fighting at first," she told an interviewer. "It seemed so brutal, and I thought that fighters were tough. Ever since he was a boy he wanted to be a fighter. When he was 13 he used to go to a gymnasium after school and train. I didn't approve of it, but after he joined the navy, when he was at the Panama canal, I sent word to him that he could box if he wanted to, and I prayed for his success, just as other mothers pray for their boys to do well as lawyers or doctors or newspapermen."

So a young sailor drawing $30 a month was sent with a motherly benediction on his way to a fortune.

"He hates to worry me about anything," the mother of the Schaaf brood continued. "On one occasion he said to me, 'Mom, I'm going off for a week and have a good time. Maybe I'll bring a wife back.' And do you know what that boy went and did? He had a serious operation on his nose, which had been injured in a fight. You should have seen his poor nose when he came back. But he wouldn't cause me a minute's worry."

One-Time College Postie Prophet of Big Profit

A PLEA for some scientific gunnery against economic ills has been made to President Hoover by his old friend and colleague, Howard E. Coffin, who was chairman of the U.S. aircraft production board during the war. He standardized aircraft — in fact he has been the John the Baptist of standardization in America, and he has an earnest belief that some way can be found to end the "unrest, indecision and dissatisfaction" of these troubled times.

When Mr. Coffin was the campus postman, as an undergraduate at the University of Michigan, he delivered a highly standardized service. Nobody's mail ever got mixed up. But one sorority disciplined a member because she invited the hard-working postman to a dance.

Then the busy and accurate postman stepped out to make automobiles and aeroplanes, spend $640,000,000 of aircraft money, consort with presidents and, if his mood dictated, to buy himself a few colleges, fraternities, sororities and junior hops.

"DON'T you ever feel you ought to come down and see the sights of London?"

"Na, na, sir; I jist bide at hame till they come up to see us!"

Barrie Gives Formula For Writing Novels

SIR JAMES BARRIE at last has revealed his formula for writing a novel.

"Eight pipes one ounce, two ounces one week, two weeks one chapter, twenty chapters one nib, two nibs one novel," is his cryptic prescription.

Worked out mathematically, it must have taken the author of "Peter and Wendy" just 1,280 pipefuls to compose that work in 1911.

Yielding to his family's importunities, Barrie threw his pipe from a train window one day, only to get off at the next station and trudge back along the rails until he found it again.

The whimsical Scotsman does not reveal how many pipefuls it took him to finish his autobiography, "The Greenwood Hat," which is being printed in a limited edition of twenty copies, first of which will go to Ramsay MacDonald.

The title of the new book is derived from the story of Barrie's first meeting with Frederick Greenwood, editor of one of London's great weeklies when Barrie was a young writer.

When Barrie decided to call upon Greenwood he decided it would be appropriate to buy his first high hat. He did so and presented himself at Greenwood's office wearing the hat. The editor never saw the hat, however, because an officious office boy relieved him of it at the door.

Firestone Could Fix Business' Flat Tire

"IF business ever gets a flat tire, Harvey S. Firestone can fix it," said an enthusiastic writer in a business magazine four years ago. Mr. Firestone, however, never assumed any such responsibility, and now, following his recent return from Europe, predicts that considerable patching on the world's inner tube will be necessary before it starts rolling along again.

As a member of the Ford, Firestone, Edison triumvirate, Mr. Firestone has been one of the most garlanded of the great industrial magnificoes. Bucking the rubber trust, he leased 1,000,000 acres in the Republic of Liberia and started out to spend $100,000,000 developing his own rubber.

His 36-hole golf course for his Akron employees was a bright little grace note in the economic symphony of a few years back. Having made his own career, Mr. Firestone has been generously interested in industrial welfare, and sees industry and labor as partners.

Young Harvey Firestone, Columbiana, Ohio, farm boy, was a renowned horse trader at 15. Then he sold patent medicine, horse liniment, vanilla extract and lotion for chapped hands to small grocers. The business didn't prosper and, selling rubber-tired buggies, he got the idea of making tires himself. He and a friend threw in $1,000 apiece and bought a decrepit Chicago rubber factory for $1,500. They sold $40 tires which cost them $14 to make. That was the start of the Firestone fortune.

CHINA HAS FINE SPOKESMAN

WHEN T. C. Wang was in Yale and the University of Michigan, he was known as an amiable and likeable student, working harder than almost anybody, and even then bending his energies toward a public career. Now he has stepped before the footlights as the Chinese foreign minister who, with skill and dignity, is presenting China's case to the world in the Sino-Japanese embroglio. He has survived the perils and uncertainties of Chinese politics longer than any other man and, in taking China's troubles to the League of Nations, is a gifted, tactful envoy.

"IT is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist." —Calvin Coolidge

BIG CHIEF OF RUGBY IS BACK—IN FILMS

IT is a long time since Jim Thorpe made the front page. The present generation does not know much about his reputation as the greatest football player of all time. Nor can they recall the stir he created when, after the big Indian had cornered Olympic honors for his native United States at Stockholm in 1912, his records and trophies were taken away on charges of professionalism.

But Jim Thorpe is not through, and it will not be long before the great Indian athlete makes himself known to the young folks. And through their own adopted medium—because Jim Thorpe is going into the movies.

Not long ago the moguls of [illegible] heard that the once-great Jim was working as a day laborer on the construction of the Los Angeles county [illegible]. Whether they recalled the Thorpe pictures, they must have recognized from the stir caused by the discovery that here was promising material for exploitation. So Jim Thorpe will appear in a series of educational pictures showing the history of American football from start to finish.

Around the movie lots they are talking now of a new Jim Thorpe. No longer is he the swash-buckling Indian youngster who obscured himself under an assumed name and went into the summer baseball leagues when he knew that discovery meant ruination of Olympic chances. Not that he has lost the touch which made his name so great, for his former stride and power are returning under training. But he has matured into a clear-headed citizen, father of two strapping youngsters and conscious of the responsibilities of life.

Some of the [illegible] will recall the visit Jim Thorpe paid to Canada, playing in the backfield of the Carlisle College football team against the stars of the Canadian game. They will also recall how three-quarters of the points in the game were scored by Jim Thorpe and how his efficiency was equally pronounced in the half of the game which was played under Canadian rules. Smirlie Lawson, the original Big Train in Canada, played for Canada that day.

One of the interesting periods in Thorpe's life was his attempt to crash into big-time baseball. In spite of his supremacy in football, he always preferred baseball and when the New York Giants signed him he realized a lifelong ambition. But all of Thorpe's batting ability was in his tremendous swing. He could never judge a curve ball. So he lasted just until the pitchers learned his weakness.

CAL COOLIDGE "AT HOME"

ONE of the biggest tourist attractions of all New England this season has been Calvin Coolidge, former president of the United States, who has been spending the summer holidays at his little white farm house at Plymouth Notch in Vermont.

On Sundays cars have converged there from every state in the union, from the Canadian provinces and even from Mexico.

The other day Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were sitting on the piazza of their little house when an out-of-state auto stopped on the road in front.

The woman in the car nudged her husband, pointed to the ex-president on the veranda and in a voice shrill with excitement, proclaimed, "That's him!"

"Who cares?" retorted the man.

"Democrats," remarked Mr. Coolidge, and went on with his reading.

When the Coolidges aren't "sitting out," the tourists go back and forth between the general store and post-office, marked by a black-lettered sign reading, "Birthplace of Calvin Coolidge," and the old cheese factory up the road beyond the church, with sidelong looks at the Coolidge house as they pass by.

They invariably buy postcards of the well-known Coolidge poses. The ex-president with milk pail and farmer's boots or dressed in an old-fashioned smock astride a hay-rake are the favorites.

Miss Aurora Pierce, the Coolidge caretaker, does a thriving business in postcards, a business interrupted, necessarily, when the family is there. They went away this summer, spending two weeks in their home at Northampton. The day after they left, all the floors in the house were painted.

"Now," the neighbors said, "there will be once that Miss Aurora can't sell postcards." But an open bay window, with purchasers walking across the Coolidge lawn, solved the problem.

One of the new attractions on the Coolidge farm has been unearthed from the cellar by the ex-president. It is a wooden arrow, whittled out by him when he was a boy. This arrow, set up on a post across the road, pointing toward the homestead, shows now, just as it did when he was a boy, that he is at home. Incidentally, the original intention apparently was to paint this arrow red, white and blue. The white paint went on, and then the blue, but the red has never been applied. Instead, one may read the word "red," written in pencil in a boyish hand. Strange no one has tried to read some political meaning into this.

Of course, one question is uppermost in everybody's mind, when they visit Plymouth.

"Is he going to run for president next year?" they all inquire of Herb Moore, who keeps the traffic from getting too tangled up in front of the little White House; of Miss Cilley in the general store, of the people in the cheese factory, of everybody in sight.

So far, the question is unanswered. Mr. Coolidge himself has given no sign, unless something he said to Mrs. Cassidy, his cook, is the answer. Mrs. Cassidy, looking over her mail one morning, remarked that she had an offer to go back to Washington.

"Well, go ahead," said the ex-president. "I won't go."

Still Herb Moore tells everyone that the man who sits reading on the piazza over there is the next president. He has no doubt about it whatever.

YOU can tell the English tourist,
He is so sedately dressed.
You can tell the Spanish tourist
By the way his pants are pressed;
You can tell the Canadian tourist
By his knickers and the such;
You can tell the American tourist
But you cannot tell him much.

"HOW can I tell if my sweetheart is the right man for me to marry?" asks a correspondent. Put him to the asset test.

Ex-Senator Gillett Just Another 'Beard'

FREDERICK H. GILLETT may have been a distinguished figure on the floor of the Senate at Washington, but in a Hollywood set he was just a bearded extra!

The Massachusetts ex-senator, en route home from Honolulu, was visiting one of the studios, standing on the sidelines watching a scene in an English inn being shot in Ruth Chatterton's "Once a Lady." Scores of extras, including several "beards," were grouped around tables.

Suddenly the former senator was spied by one of the aides to the director.

"Hey, you," he yelled, "didn't you hear me say all 'beards' on the set? Now shake a leg and sit at the table in the corner with those two women!"

The guide rushed hurriedly to the rescue, explaining, to the embarrassment of the assistant, who the "beard" was.

But Mr. Gillett was game; in fact, eager to play his role in the picture. However, when the director didn't see it that way, the former senator and speaker of the House laughed the incident off with the observation to the assistant who had bawled him out: "They ought to give you the job of sergeant-at-arms in Congress!"

Captain Bob o' Brigus Old Ice Buccaneer

CAPTAIN BOB BARTLETT of Newfoundland is no pacifist when it comes to battling icebergs. The knotty old skipper has just returned in the Effie Morrissey after a worse buffeting than Siegfried got when he invaded the realm of the ice king.

Twelve times Captain Bob has been shipwrecked and four times his ships have been crushed, but he always goes back for more.

"I do love the sea as a dog loves its master who clouts it for the discipline of the house," says Captain Bob.

"Uncle Mose" Bartlett, Captain Bob's father, once was asked why his boy so loved to root around icebergs.

"He's a Brigus man, you know," said Uncle Mose—from Brigus, Newfoundland. "We Brigus men always liked to fight ice." That seemed to explain it. "He's a pretty fair sailor," Uncle Mose added, after long meditation.

When Young Bob was 17, Uncle Mose gave him a schooner and he started sealing. In 1905 he went poleward with Peary, but their ship, the Roosevelt, was caught in the ice. In 1908, Peary, again with Captain Bob and the Roosevelt, gained the pole, but Captain Bob was not with him when he planted the flag. A negro named Henson was chosen for the last lap of the dog trip, because he was a better dog driver. Captain Bob's friends roared. "That's all right," he said. "I am a better sailor than Henson, but he is a better dog driver."

Captain Bob, well on into his fifties, keeps on bucking icebergs. He's a born ice buccaneer.

His speech is a delightful blend of Scotch, Irish, Newfoundland and early Elizabethan.

A CORRESPONDENT says he made a Venetian blind by himself. But it's not fair to give foreign friends too much to drink.

Fooled Lady Luck Before Game Ended

LADY LUCK may play the role of gift-giving sycophant or despoiling tyrant, but even she can't keep a good man down.

Witness the case of Osborne Cutler Wood, now adjutant-general for New Mexico and recently in Washington as the representative of the state's governor at the unemployment conference.

Wood is the son of the late Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army and former governor of the Philippines.

As a lieutenant, young Osborne Wood about eight years ago garnered more than a million speculating in the stock market. The demand raised in Congress for an investigation was answered by him with resignation of his commission. He set out to enjoy himself.

Paris, Biarritz, Cannes, Monte Carlo and Athens were his main playgrounds. He won another fortune gambling for high stakes with a Greek syndicate. Then Lady Luck's smile got crossed up somewhere into a frown, and in less than a year he found himself in Spain with "a fortune" of $4.

Nine months after his Wall Street coup he landed from a freighter at Tampa. The Florida real estate boom was in full stride and he was hired as a "front" by a realty concern, but he spent the money he made in Palm Beach fashion and soon again was penniless.

Ill, friendless and virtually destitute, he disappeared, so far as his former haunts and acquaintances were concerned. In the depths of a New Mexico copper mine he slaved as a mucker more than two years and his comeback began. He championed the miner's cause while rising steadily.

Obtaining a commission in the New Mexico national guard, Wood found his military training helping him. Arthur Seligman, the governor now, was a friend who stood by. Wood soon rose to the rank of brigadier-general and now is the state's adjutant-general.

Blew Up 'Coin' Harvey Now Blows to Paris

IN 1895 a big, husky country printer out in Iowa decided to swing on this "Coin" Harvey, who had the corn belt tied in a knot over his free silver heresy. He stoked up his kerosene lamp, put on a night shift, with a stub pencil, and fabricated a pamphlet against Mr. Harvey and his sixteen-to-one thesis. The Republican party snapped up the pamphlet, and its author, George Roberts, was given more credit than any other man for licking William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Roberts was rewarded with money and fame, and ushered swiftly into an illustrious career.

To-day, grasshoppers, sterilized gold, deflation and the like have stirred the free silver germs again and the tall, imposing, white-haired George Roberts, after 36 years, has been dispatched to Paris as the United States representative at the world silver parley. The intervening decades have made Mr. Roberts one of the leading bankers in America. There was no more stooping over a type case for him after he blew up "Coin" Harvey.

In interior decoration the homemaker should study the things she has and know what is the best in her furniture, her silver, china and ornaments, and bring other furnishings up to them.

• • • • • • •

Recently I saw pictures of one of the grand old houses of the early settler days, on Cape Cod.

• • • • • • •

There are beautiful panelings, interesting old fire places, quaint windows in which the lower sash is three panes high, and the upper one but two, and doors and doorways are in fine old style.

• • • • • • •

Into these rooms has been put such a motely of odd furnishings, some choice, some indifferent, and some bad that the mind is bewildered and vexed.

• • • • • • •

There are exquisite pieces such as a swan sofa of the rarest type, a Sheraton sideboard and dining table and a pineapple four-poster bedstead. There is a magnificent carved Chinese desk and a handsomely painted Chinese chair.

• • • • • • •

Everything is a jumble. That the homemaker has taste is evidenced by what she said in an interview, and by some of her furnishings, but she is without discrimination in the practice of interior decoration.

• • • • • • •

Many of her things should have been discarded, and the others lived up to. All the things required sorting and those which belong together should have formed the nucleus for different rooms.

• • • • • • •

If in the living room the swan sofa had been the object lived up to, the decorations would have been Colonial with an English or French trend.

• • • • • • •

The windows with their wooden inside shutters would have been minus shades or hangings. The floor covering would have been keyed to the best in the room, which was the sofa.

• • • • • • •

The carved desk would have been the nucleus for a Chinese writing room. Already there were three fine pieces for it—the desk, and desk chair and the painted arm chair.

• • • • • • •

The Chinese rug would have been excellent for the floor. Both rooms would have had dignified charm.

• • • • • • •

The Sheraton sideboard and dining table should have been supplemented with dining chairs of this same style and with such other pieces as the size of the room warranted and convenience made desirable.

• • • • • • •

Each homemaker has some old or new pieces of furniture for most of the rooms in her house. To scale others to such heirlooms or handsome modern pieces should be her aim.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

LAME BACK.

I often write about lame back or pain in lower part of the back, because it would seem that thousands of people suffer from it.

As you know, this pain is sometimes due to injury, and sometimes to infection of some kind. If due to an injury giving the part rest or supporting it with a brace is the treatment. If due to injury the patient is free from pain if he can get himself into certain positions. If the painful back is due to infection it will often loosen up and be less painful when the patient is up and around, and give more pain at night when he is resting. The treatment here, of course, is to try and locate the cause of the pain, and three times in every four it will be found in the teeth or tonsils. The removal of these will often increase the pain in the back for a short time, as more of the poisons from the teeth or tonsils get into the blood stream and go directly to the lame back.

Letting the body slouch at shoulders and waist is a frequent cause of tired or lame back.

Sometimes it is the weight of a heavy abdomen pulling forward the muscles and joints at small of back that causes lame back. If the individual will learn to draw in abdomen, and try and stand or sit 'tall' all the time ,much of the strain will come off the lower back.

Developing the abdominal muscles will tighten them and prevent the sagging abdomen that pulls on the small of the back. Lying on back, and slowly raising legs (knees straight) almost to the right angle, a number of times, night and morning, is an excellent exercise to give the body the proper posture and prevent lame back.

Bending over, and attempting to touch the toes, with knees straight ten to twenty times, night and morning, will likewise reduce the protruding abdomen and relieve the lame back.

Dr. Frank R. Ober, Boston, tells us that these defects in posture, the way we stand or sit, are best relieved by support and developmental exercises. If there is a naturally large curve in the small of the back (sway back or lordosis) it may be corrected by wearing a lift in the heel of the shoe.

This simple device has relieved many low back aches.

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne:—

After being rushed so that you hardly know whether you are yourself or some other creature, hardly human and suddenly a quiet day when there is not a single "need be" not even an actual "ought to" is it not a relief?

That is my condition to-day and the day is so lovely. The country is lovely. There are the soft tints that sometimes presage the later brilliant tints of autumn. We do not get it every year. The soft mist with the pinkish sky this morning made me wish I could go beechnutting as I did many years ago. That time seems as though it must have been in another world. That old beech wood on level ground—we could stand on one side and see the sunlight beyond and the trunks of the trees between. What would life be without memories of bygone days, as well as the joys of to-day. And is it not strange we forget the unhappy things and the happy things cling? At least so it is with me.

Anne, I trust you had a happy vacation, physical and mental change. You are changing in what you give us. You do manage to give something every day. It must be very, very hard to think up something and then work it up well. My holidays were single day outings. I have been busy, but there has been no monotony. Is not life good, especially when one is blessed with health.

One question Anne, what do you think of so much prize money at our school fairs? I once thought it might be very good. Results as I see them point otherwise.

Sincerely yours,
Quid Est.

Thank you, Quid Est. Yes, I did have a very happy vacation and am glad to know that you have been able to have some vacations. I quite agree with you; one is happy and contented, or should be, when one's health is good, for it is the greatest asset one could have. The giving of prize money is perhaps a good encouragement, Quid Est, and I think it is a good thing, provided that parents see to it that their children spend the money wisely.

PRINCE COLLECTS BOOKS

Is Taking a New Interest in Old Volumes

The Prince of Wales has lately shown a considerable interest in book collecting—choosing, for the most part, old books in fine bindings. One of the last purchases that he made before leaving for his holiday in France was a set of Byron's works in eight volumes.

Most of the members of the royal family are keen book-buyers; but the Duke of Gloucester's taste runs rather to old sporting prints, of which he has a considerable knowledge.

LONDON MAY STAY BRIGHT AT NIGHT

Flood-Lighting for Illumination Congress Made Big Hit

An association has been formed in London with the object of brightening up the metropolis and other cities of England.

It is hoped to continue to some extent the flood-lighting of London which made such a great hit during the Illumination Congress. The proposal is that one night a week be devoted to flood-lighting and other attractive forms of illumination.

It is estimated that the cost would be about £10,000 a year. Flood-lighting has shown that great numbers of people can be attracted by artistic illumination. Transport concerns, restaurants, and other undertakings greatly profited by the influx of big crowds of people into London during the congress.

SENSATIONAL CRASH WHEN CRANE FALLS

London Buildings Shaken as If by an Earthquake

When a big crane, lifting a 35-ton load of girders as a test for insurance purposes, crashed in Cumberland Place, near the Marble Arch, London, where the steel framework of the new Cumberland hotel is being erected, people in nearby buildings said it felt like an earthquake.

The crash was heard far away in Hyde Park. A man half a mile away declared that the ground shook just before he heard the crash.

Mr. F. J. Faulkner, who was in the street, said: "I warned several people to keep clear. A man standing underneath the load of girders replied: 'It doesn't matter to me. I'm insured.' He moved, however, a second before the crash."

Rather miraculously, only one person was injured—one of the men employed in the construction.

14 MULTI-MILLIONAIRES PLEDGE HALF RICHES TO RELIEVE POVERTY

Gen. Butler Outlines Plan Whereby 50,000 Trade Schools Will Be Built.

BUILD STRONGER UNION.

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., October 3 (C.P.)—Fourteen multi-millionaires representing $5,000,000,000, General Smedley Butler asserts, stand ready to contribute half their wealth to relieve poverty and furnish widespread employment. He refuses to name them, but says they have pledged support to a plan he has formulated to educate youth of the nation to build a stronger Union.

In an interview last night Butler outlined his plan whereby between 50,000 and 60,000 trade schools would be built by the Government. No one under 19 years old would be allowed to work, but would be educated in the Federal Schools. Dependents of youths would be supported by the Government.

With building of the schools labor would be necessary, he said, and building material would be needed in large amounts. Thousands of teachers of all types would be employed.

Aviation and other industries would be subsidized, inventions would be expanded and supported by a bureau which would encourage every form of new appliance, machinery, or other inventions of modern science."

Real estate men would be ordered to tear down tenement houses and other crowded living quarters. Homes, modern in every respect, would be built.

LIFFORD LINE.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LIFFORD LINE, Oct. 3.—A large crowd of friends motored to Fleetwood on Wednesday evening to take in the bazaar under the auspices of the Fleetwood Women's Association.

The supper which was bountifully served from 5 o'clock until all were supplied, was daintily laid at the front part of the school house. At the same time a thriving business went on in booths in other parts of the building.

The fish pond caused considerable amusement and pleasure to those patronizing it, and was sold out early in the evening. The candy booth was attractively decorated with gay colors, and with Miss M Werry and I. Shea behind the counter the large supply of appetizing candy was completely disposed of. The long table laden with fancy goods, including aprons, smocks, socks, towels, tray cloths, vanity and buffet sets, and children's suits, held the attention of many generous buyers and brought in the goodly sum of almost thirty dollars.

About eight o'clock all were seated in the near-by church prepared to hear the play, "His Uncle's Niece," put on by young people from Manvers station.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Richard Tate, Esq., a rising young lawyer; Harry Hudson, Francis Felton; the cause of all the trouble, John Payne, Dora Hale—very much attached to the cause; Ilma Shea, Alice Malcolm, a close chum of Dora's; Myrtle Bowins, Mrs. Sarah Ann Mullen, a woman of few words; Laura Shea, Simon Felton, Frank's uncle, who never makes a mistake, William Sloman, Philander Filmore, humble but wise, Duncan Fowler, Timothy Haye, gardener, Fred Sloman; Silas Sicklimore, constable, Lorne Bowins.

This lively play kept the keen attention of the audience from beginning to end, causing much laughter at frequent intervals. It consisted of three acts: Act I. Interior of Francis Felton and Richard Tate's bachelor establishment at Boston. Act II. Same as Act I. afternoon of the same day. Act III. Exterior of Uncle Simon's newly acquired summer home at Happy Valley Junction. Evening, three days later. The time represented was midsummer and the time of playing was two hours.

Rev. Mr. Scott, of Bethany, pastor of the church, acted as the chairman for the evening, introducing the play, and making remarks between acts. With the complete cast of characters appropriately placed on the stage, the entertainment concluded with singing the National Anthem. A large part of the crowd returned to the school to assist in disposing of a super-abundance of cake and pie, as well as a few fancy articles.

When expenses were paid the Association was pleased to announce that the sum cleared was almost seventy dollars.

Warsaw

The Women's Institute members were rather disappointed that so few entries were made in the History of Dummer. As June of this year marked the hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Dummer, or that part embracing Warsaw and north to the lake.

In view of the fact that so many places are taking an especial interest in the history of their townships, and that Dummer has a very interesting history, it was thought to be a very timely subject. Not only did they want the historical facts but the legends, and actual happenings of long ago—little things and big which happened in the lives of the earlier settlers. Some of these are most interesting and should be kept in mind. One notices it more as so many of the old people are dying, and these stories will be forever lost.

One of the activities of the Institute is an attempt to collect and preserve these old stories.

In the present economic condition of the world, it is right that we should know what has been done, and borne, by those who went before.

Unfortunately, in some way, Mr. Nelson did not get word in time to have it put on the prize list. Had it been it is quite likely that several more would have entered. Word was sent to the trustees, but naturally they could not let it be known among the school childen.

BIG LONDON THEATRE PRODUCER BANKRUPT

Charlot, Famous for His Revues, States He Has Practically No Assets

London.—Andre Eugene Maurice Charlot, the internationally known theatrical producer, described of the Prince of Wales Theatre, has just appeared in the London bankruptcy court.

The gross liabilities, according to the debtor's statement of affairs, amount to £60,384, and the assets consist of cash £15, deposited with a solicitor for the costs of the bankruptcy petition, and a bad book debt of £405.

Charlot began as a producer of revues in 1915. He had capital provided by backers, and to begin with his earnings amounted to £3,000 per annum. In 1917 Charlot, Limited, was formed to acquire his business, and he received 98 £1 fully paid shares and £20,000 in bonds for its good-will, and acted as chairman of the company. In November, 1926, the company went into liquidation. Bonds amounting to £9,000 were then outstanding.

In 1917 the debtor acquired the residue of the lease and reversionary 21 years' lease of the Prince of Wales Theatre at a rental of £5,000 per annum, afterwards increased by £1,400 for the rights in a box and eight stalls. The debtor agreed that his obligations in connection with the theatre and another lease amounted to £7,900 per annum, but explained that he expected that it would earn £12,000 per annum. The theatre did not feel the effects of the theatrical slump until last year. Charlot (Limited) received the benefit of everything, and he himself nothing beyond his salary of £60 a week.

60,559 RECEIVE OLD AGE PENSION IN 5 PROVINCES

Total Paid in First Quarter of Current Year is $3,458,386.

AVERAGE $49.04 MONTH.

Of Total Number of Recipients 37,869 Are Canadian Born.

Old age pensions paid in the five provinces of Canada in which the Dominion-Provincial system is effective, during the first quarter of the current fiscal year—April 1 to June 30—amounted to $3,458,386, of which the Dominion Government's share was $1,729,387.

The total number of pensioners as at June 30, was 60,559 of which 38,669 were in Ontario, 6,391 in Saskatchewan, 6,142 in Manitoba, 5,708 in British Columbia, 3,644 in Alberta, and 5 in the Northwest Territories. Ontario's high proportion is somewhat explained by the fact that the percentage of persons over 70 years of age to the total population is 3.48 per cent, none of the other provinces exceeding British Columbia's figure in this respect of 1.84 per cent. In relation to the population over 70 years of age the number of pensioners in Ontario is actually substantially less than in any other province, if the Northwest Territories be excepted, being represented by the percentage of 33.48. Alberta is next with 47.2 per cent, sented by the percentage of 33.48. Alberta is next with 47.2 per cent, while Saskatchewan has the highest rate, 62.22 per cent of persons over 70 being pensioners.

Average $19.04 Per Month.

Average monthly pension throughout the five provinces ranged from $19.04 in Alberta to $19.48 in Manitoba, Saskatchewan having an average of $19.44, British Columbia $19.13, and Ontario, $19.05. In the Northwest Territories the average for the 5 recipients was $19.84.

Analysis by countries of origin of pensioners reveals that of the total of 60,559 in the above named provinces, 37,869 were Canadian-born, the preponderance of this class being common in all provinces. English-born pensioners appear in the next largest number with 9,267, followed by Scottish- and Irish-born, with 2,934 and 2,240 respectively. Pensioners of United States origin totalled 1,806, coming fifth on the list.

Austrians, who figured largest in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, totalled 1,230, at which they were sixth on the list. Poland, which ranks seventh, supplied the third greatest number of Manitoba pensioners. Next in order, all provinces combined, are Germany, Russia, Iceland (402 pensioners out of a total of 475 Icelandic pensioners are in Manitoba), Sweden, Norway and France, there being in all 55 nationalities represented.

Limit is $365 a Year

Under the Old Age Pensions Act a pension is payable to any British subject of 70 years and upward who is not in receipt of an income of as much as $365 a year and who has resided in Canada for the 20 years preceding and has also resided in the province in which the application is made for the five years immediately preceding the granting of the pension. The maximum amount of pension payable under the act is $240 yearly. In cases where pensioners have a private income the amount of their old age pension is subject to a reduction by the amount, if any, that their private income exceeds $125 a year. The administration of old age pensions is entrusted to the authorities appointed by the respective provincial governments.

Under the provisions of the act as it was first passed the Department of Labor paid quarterly to each province one-half of the total amount of the pensions paid by the provincial pension authority during the preceding three months. At the recent session of the Dominion Parliament, however, the act was amended, the amount of the Dominion contribution being increased from fifty per cent to seventy-five per cent of the total expenditure, this amendment becoming effective on July 31, 1931.

In addition to the provinces and territories above mentioned in which the pension system is in effect, the New Brunswick Legislature passed an Old Age Pensions Act at its session last year, to become effective on its proclamation by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council; while in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island acts providing for the participation of these provinces in any federal scheme were passed at the session of 1931, both these acts to take effect on proclamation.

'Pepper' Martin Scores Both Runs for Cardinals

MIGHTY ATHLETICS WILL HAVE TO STRENGTHEN THEIR DEFENSE AND HOLD CARD BASE RUNNERS

Plenty of "Meat" Left for Argument Following Wilson's Bone-head Play.

HALLAHAN IN RARE FORM.

Fans Criticize Mack for Not Substituting Earnshaw With Pinch-hitter.

(By Alan Gould Associated Press Sports Editor)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 3.—Not since Fred Merkle failed to touch second base nor since Gene Tunney took the long count, has the sports world found more to argue about than the strategy, or lack of it, in the second game of the World Series.

If the Athletics had come through to beat Hallahan and the Cardinals, with the bases full in the ninth after Catcher Wilson threw to the wrong base on Jimmy Moore's strikeout the St. Louis backstop would have been nominated for a place with Merkle among the goats of baseball history. But the Cards survived this brain-slip and the second-guessors to-day took none less than the old master Connie Mack, to task for questionable tactics.

Mack made the same mistake twice, many seasoned baseball men declared, when he allowed George Earnshaw to take his turn at bat instead of sending in a pinch-hitter, with the tying run on third base and others in the offing. Connie explained afterward he had confidence in Earnshaw's hitting ability, especially against a left-hander, but the facts were, first that Big George hit into a double play in the fifth with the bases full, and, second, fanned in the seventh with men on first and third. The Cards led only by 1-0 both times. Even a long fly would have tied the score in the fifth and as late as the seventh, with Hallahan in rare form, it looked to many observers as though the batter part of strategy was to nominate a batting replacement.

Was Mack Worried?

What was Mack worried about? asked a veteran manager. He didn't have to save any of his pitchers. They all get two days rest before the next game anyway, and the A's needed one or two runs much more than they needed the distinction of having Earnshaw finish out his assignment. Without any runs it didn't make any difference how good Earnshaw was going. He was already one run behind. But that's the gamble. If Earnshaw had come through, Mack would have had the last laugh.

The Athletics, all hands agree, will have to speed up their control of the Cardinal base-runners, especially "Pepper" Martin, if they are to stop the National Leaguers from galloping away with the series. Right under the noses of the finest defensive club in the American League the Cards yesterday ran wild. Watkins as well as Martin made an extra base on an ordinary single, due to slipshod work in the outfield by Haas and Simmons. On top of that Cochrane's aim was far from its usual accuracy whether or not a perfect throw would have nailed Martin on each occasion he stole a base.

EIGHT HUNDRED SEE ACQUATIC STARS PERFORM

Outstanding Canadian Swimmers Give Exhibition in Y.M.C.A. Pool.

DIVING DISPLAYS.

A large crowd had to be turned away as something like eight hundred crowded the Y.M.C.A. last night to see the aquatic stars from Toronto who performed in the new pool at two shows in connection with the Y.M.C.A. swimming exhibition. The gallery around the pool was taxed to capacity for both shows, about three hundred crowding in at a time. The swimmers had meant to show just once, but rather than disappoint so many, they appeared again.

Tommy Walker, swimming director of the Central "Y" in Toronto brought a number of the outstanding swimmers in Canada down, and their efforts drew repeated outbursts of applause from the crowd which seemed to enjoy thoroughly the different events. Previous to their appearance, the performers dined at the Y.W.C.A., and put on several events there.

Those taking part in the shows last night represented the Parkdale Ladies' Swimming Club, the Central "Y" and the West End "Y," of Toronto. The girls were Dot Prior, Mary Carthy, Peggy Wood, Helen Carthy, Ivy Ball, Betty Batchelor, Eunice Clendinning and Joan Clendinning. The men were Ted Munro, George Burleigh, Ernie Kennett, Vern Page, Bill Lewin and Tommy Walker.

The first event was an exhibition of fancy and scientific swimming put on by a trio of girls from the Parkdale Club, and they made a big hit with the crowd as they performed with the utmost ease and grace. Ted Munro, international "Y" sprint champion, then gave a fine exhibition of speed in the free style. Eunice Clendinning, eight years old, drew applause with her diving and free style aquatic stunts.

A 200-yard free style race was put on next by G. Burleigh and Ernie Kennett, the latter a champion at the British Empire meet, Dot Prior, Olympic star; Mary Carthy, Peggy Wood and Helen Carthy then exhibited some fancy diving that was pretty to watch. Another classy spectacle was the 150-yard medley show by Vernor Page, holder of several Ontario championship. He tried half a dozen different strokes, seeming to be a master of them all. A 40-yard handicap race followed between Betty Batchelor and Joan Clendinning, with them finishing in a dead heat.

Bill Lewin, Ontario junior diving champion, entertained with a number of thrilling dives, and Tommy Walker, who incidentally is the American junior swim champion, followed with a medley of various strokes, including a new and interesting form of back stroke. An exciting mixed relay, in which all the swimmers took part, brought the fine show to a close.

Jimmy Wilson Had Narrow Squeeze From Landing Among Baseball Goats

(C.P.). — Jimmy Wilson, the Cardinal backstop, threw to third base in the hectic ninth inning of the second World Series game because he didn't realize Jimmy Moore, pinch-hitting for Earnshaw, had swung at so bad a delivery for the third strike. That, at least, was the explanation to-day of Manager Gabby Street after a night of argument over one of the most unusual finishes in baseball.

"Wilson, when that pitch was on its way to the plate, was centering his attention on one thing—the base runners," said Street. He saw Foxx and Dykes had broken away from their bases and he was intent only on breaking up a possible double steal. Therefore, as I saw it, Wilson, when he went down to pick that pitch off the ground, did not see Moore strike at the ball. Jimmy apparently thought it was a ball, and so threw to third to try to nail Foxx instead of realizing a throw to first automatically would retire Moore.

Whatever Wilson's reactions were in the situation, baseball men to-day agreed that the retirement of Max Bishop, the last batsman, on Bottomley's fine catch, possibly saved the catcher from being a goat. Hallahan was forced to pitch to the extra batsman after registering a strikeout for what should have been the third and last out of the game.

MISS VAN WIE DEFEATED IN OPEN TOURNEY

Marjory Kirkham of Montreal Eliminated Mrs. Fraser in Close Match.

ON ROSEDALE COURSE.

TORONTO Ont. October 3 (C.P.). — Of the 97 women golfers who teed off on Monday morning in the qualifying round of the 26th Canadian women's open golf championship, two remain in match play, competition to-day for the Dominion title and the Duchess of Connaught Cup. They are Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N.J. the defending champion and Miss Margery Kirkham of Montreal, present holder of the Canadian closed golf championship.

The two champions advanced to the final round to-day by virtue of their victories in the semi-finals yesterday in which Miss Orcutt defeated Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, one up on the home green and Miss Kirkham eliminated Mrs. W. G. Fraser of Ottawa, Ont., two up.

An impressive display of golf was shown over the tricky Rosedale course yesterday when the defending champion fought a see-saw battle with Miss Van Wie over the full 18 holes. Miss Orcutt was rather fortunate in winning the match as she sank a mashie shot on the home green to go one up on her opponent whose approach shot was five feet short of the cup. Playing a mashie shot from a yard off the green the Canadian champion just trickled her ball over the carpet, and it was just strong enough to fall into the cup. Miss Van Wie had a chance to halve the hole but was unfortunate in missing her putt, which was inches short.

In the other match carded on the semi-final round, Miss Kirkham had to show some high calibre golf in eliminating Mrs. W. G. Fraser, who as Alexa Sterling won the Canadian open championship in 1920. Mrs. Fraser, who was slightly off her game on the out round, staged a great comeback on the in course, and at one time led her opponent by a stroke. This was lost, however, and the Canadian closed champion finally won out 2 up on the home green.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, this here is being written Thurs. night after the 1st world's serious clash, and so far the big battle has gone just like me and Mister Connie Mack planned. The A's took the 1st struggle this p.m. behind the throwing of Mister Lefty Grove, and while the beanpole portsider wasn't by any means stingy with his hits, allowing a round doz. during the matinee, only in the 1st frame could Mister Gabby Street's lads bust through his service for runs. And, as Mister Jawn McGraw and a million others has chortled, it ain't the hits that count, it's the runs. This young Mister Charlie Derringer started out as if he was pitching against the firemen at a picnic, and for a while he appeared to have the A's hog-tied and helpless, but the A's stuck in 1 of their typical rallies in the 3rd stanza and bust the game wide open, and Mister Simmons cinched it by crashing a homer into the bleachers in the 7. The Cards pecked away at Mister Grove's delivery and helped their batting averages some, but scoring was something else again, and when it was all over the Athaletics was 6 to 2 to the good. 1 ball game doesn't mean the serious, but it helps, for at the worst the A's won't go back home for the 3rd game of the clash with a deficit.

Mister Charlie Hallat's talent give us quite a evening Mon. nite, Mac, although the curtain-raisers was nothing to get the League of Nations excited. The main bout between 2 lively hombres, Mister Alex. Kasaoboski and Mister Frankie Hart, was, however, good value for any man's money. Them birds moved at top speed all through the battle, and they was nothing in the repertoire of the modern rassler that they didn't uncork at 1 time or another. Mebbe they didn't mean it all, but they sure made it exciting, and they was much joy among the customers in the pews when Mister Hart walked off with the win. He got a brake on the final fall at that, for Mister Kasaboski forgot to get his timer regulated before going into action. The result was when he did a nose dive through the ropes into the floor he misjudged how long it would take him to get back, and he was just trying to get through the ropes when Mister Referee Forbes said the fatal 10. The Kasaboski person put up a mean squawk, but it got him nothing.

Our senior P.C.I. football squad win themselves a smart win in the opening game here Sat. when they flopped the Cobourg lads 25 to 10. It wasn't perfect football for the boys ain't had time to rub all the rough spots off yet, but the Petes uncovered enough to make them look like the team to beat for the Central Ont. title. They got speed and aggressiveness, and Mister Legon should develop them into a hard-hitting machine.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

Former Toronto Boy Drives in His Team's Two Runs at Chicago.

CHICAGO, October 3 — Charley Root stepped into the breach with unbeatable work in the ninth inning to save the Cubs a 2 to 1 victory over the White Sox in the third battle for the Chicago city championship. The victory gave the Cubs two victories in three starts.

The Cubs scored their winning runs in the first inning. English opened the game with a double. Herman walked and Cuyler advanced them a base with a pretty sacrifice. Bell was an easy out, but Barton delivered with a hit through the infield, and both runners scored. The White Sox's run came in the fourth on Watwood's double, Cissell's single, and Jolley's long fly to left field.

Twenty thousand spectators watched the game.

CASUAL COMMENT

Boy, oh boy! what a crowd stormed the Y.M.C.A. last night to see Tommy Walker's gang of swimming stars. They began to gather around seven o'clock, and by eight there was difficulty in deep breathing. The swimmers were doing their stuff down at the Y.W.C.A. so didn't arrive till around 8:30, and all the time the mob of women, men, girls and boys kept coming.

• • • • • • •

And they saw some real swimming, those who weren't turned away. The acquatic stars put on two shows to give everyone a chance, but the place just wouldn't hold the eight hundred or so who tried to get in. Every event drew plenty of applause, those present appreciating the skill displayed and the fine training back of it.

• • • • • • •

The new "Y" pool surprised many including the visiting swimmers, as it compares favorably with those seen in large towns. There is a fair-sized space for onlookers, with several rows of chairs, and the place was taxed to capacity at both shows last night. The clear water looked pretty inviting, and we have a hunch that we weren't the only ones present that would have liked to hop in.

• • • • • • •

The girls' drill at the beginning of the exhibition drew repeated outbursts of applause, and those mermaids could certainly do things in the water. The pin-wheel stunt was a knock-out. Dot Prior can sure cut the surf with that breast-stroke of hers while the diving was the work of experts.

• • • • • • •

Taken all around, it was well worth seeing, and Tommy Walker picked a good bunch for the local "Y" exhibition. Tommy is some swimmer, too, putting on a little medley by himself toward the end. That trick back-stroke of his is something new in this country.

• • • • • • •

We have had several complaints concerning the proposed Thankksgiving Day road race the kick being that the date comes too soon and the runners cannot be in proper shape by that time. Perhaps it would be better to put it back until Remembrance Day, November 11, as in other years.

• • • • • • •

While there has been a number of distance runners working out lately, the majority of those who might run in this classic could not be ready for three or four weeks yet. And, besides, the weather around the middle of November will be more to the athletes' liking than it is right now. One team, and possibly two, from All Saints' Club will enter the relay race provided it takes place at the later date.

• • • • • • •

Of course, it's up to the Y.M.C.A., but we think they'll agree to give the competing teams more time to get in shape, as a much better race will be run off. It's the "Y" that is putting up the prizes.

• • • • • • •

Our friend, Frankie Hart of Toronto, made a big hit with more than two thousand wrestling fans in Hamilton last night, by his victory over Jimmy Sims, tough Hamilton grappler. He crowded Sims so hard and fast that the latter could never rightly get set, and the sympathy of the crowd quickly turned from the home town boy.

With Falconbridge's decision to withdraw from the senior finals because of the expense, the Nickel Belt Baseball Association may not join the O.B.A.A. again next year. The clubs up there feel that having to wait from one to two months for entry in the play-offs is not giving them a fair break, and they propose to thresh it out thoroughly at the next annual league meeting

KING GEORGE AND CENTRAL DRAW

Battle to Two All Decision in Local Soccer School League.

A real snappy soccer game in the school league took place on Thursday afternoon, when the King George and Central boys battled to a two-all decision on Nicholls' Oval. Wardie Wright, Central and Frank Burton, King George were the outstanding players. This drawn game give. Queen Alexander school the lead in the league of Section A.

First Half

From the kick-off, King George had the better of the argument to find the defense of Central permitting no privileges whenever the attacking force got inside the goal area. In fact, repeatedly the East City boys had the goal at their desire, but banged the ball past the post, instead of giving it a gentle tap inside the uprights. Wardie Wright, at center forward, for Central worked like a master-mind throughout every selge and peppered the goal with smart drives that missed by inches. While Burton, King George center forward, broke away time and again to test the ability of B. Mann, custodian, with direct drives on goal. He carried the attack, just before the interval, against Central defense to dribble his way through, but failed to connect at the right time to make a count. No scoring at half time.

Second Half

The customary respite renewed the battle with greater vigor than usual. This was demonstrated emphatically by Central taking the initiative to gain a smart break in front of goal but Jack Legon, grasped the low grounder in time to prevent disaster. The King George half-back department consolidated themselves to defensive methods accompanied by forcible attacking measures to let the outside right, Sedgwich, gain possession and slipping the sphere over to Burton, the latter picked the inside of the far post for the opening counter. A surprise took place a little later when Central equalized when an individual effort by Wright beat the goalie all the way. He went right back again to spring another tally upon them before they realized their predicament. King George reverted back to the aggressive tactics of the early stages to make the game go back on the balance column again through Burton kicking a long shot out of the reach of the custodian. They kept up the pressure until the final whistle. On one occasion, Burton travelled right through the whole team to strike the post with a terrific drive and Sedgwick missing the rebound by inches. King George 2, Central 2.

Scorers—Burton (2) for King George; Wright (2) for Central.

Central—B. Mann, goal; J. Doherty and O. Herrow, full backs; D. Anderson, E. White and J Brown, halves; D. Sedgwick, J. Aurie, W. Wright, E. Copperwaite and R. McGinnis, forwards.

King George—J. Legon, goal; N. Hewitt and O. Gardiner, full backs; A. Carten, G. Bousfield and E. Smith, halves; F. Earl, R. Wood, I. Burton, K. Hope and W. Lee, forwards.

Referee—Fred Sutcliffe.

Bowling Notes

The announcement that last evening's tournament would be the list Friday night tournament of the season brought out a large crowd of bowlers at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, 12 rinks competing for the four sets of prizes. Competition was so keen, the rinks being unusually well matched, only one rink was able to report three wins. Only one point separated each of the next three rinks. The winning rinks and their scores were:

1—G. Sorensen, J. Bennett, V. Tully and H. Dunsford. 3 wins and a plus of 14.

2—J. J. Howden, B. Loftus, G. Earl, and C. Williamson. 2 wins and a plus of 12.

3—G. Coleman Jr., F. Wise, R. Best and J. Mitchell. 2 wins and a plus of 11.

4—J. Harrison, Nelson Routly, J. Penrrose and E. Sackville. 2 wins and a plus of 10.

A special prize—it might not do to say what for—was given the rink of Dr. Allen, Dr. Telford H. Coleman and B. Rogow.

Mixed Tournament To-night

The ladies usually have the last word and they are going to have it to-night on the lawns of the Bowling Club. The directors had decided that the season would close last evening, but the ladies decided differently, and the directors have gracefully and gallantly succumbed. The ladies thought and said that they should have another chance to take part in a mixed tournament and that they would like to play that tournament this evening. That being the case, who could refuse? The result is that absolutely the last playing on the greens of the season will take place this evening when the usual Saturday night tournament will be played. If the weather is as nice as it was last evening a large turn-out should result.

Farmer's Night

About a dozen farmers from Douro township, led by Howard Quinn, were the guests of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club last evening where they had the usual experiences of beginners in trying to solve the waywardness and perverseness of lawn bowls when you try to get them to do what you want them to on the greens. As the visitors were inexperienced at the game they were organized into four rinks, each rink being given an experienced skip from among their hosts. In the first end in one of the these games, the six farmer guests who bowled first, showed their strength of arm and back by putting all twelve of their bowls the full length of the green and into the ditch at the far end. When the two skips came to bowl, there wasn't a bowl on the green so they had to fight it out among themselves on that end. It wan not long, however, before the Douro men began to discover that they must not bowl toward the kitty but out to one side to wherever their skip was standing. They also found that on keen greens the bowls travel faster and without much compulsion. Soon they began to place their bowls closer and closer to the kitty and before the evening was over they were doing some very creditable bowling.

Walter Garbutt by trying to reach a point 40 feet in front of the kitty, on several occasions put his bowl right to the kitty. F. Walsh, who had the distinction of bowling several ends against F. H. Dearborn, the winner of the recent singles tournament in the club, electrified himself and the other players on several ends by holding his own with that outstanding player. Geo Lockington, under the coaching of Dr. Braund, got his bowl right to the kitty on one occasion, only to have the rival skip knock it out into third place. Just a little more practice is all these men require to enable them to produce some really fine rinks.

There was disappointment that the bowlers from Smith Township were not able to put in an appearance. Next season, with an earlier start, it should be possible to organize a number of strong rinks among the farmers in the four townships of Smith, Douro, Otonabee and Monaghan that would hold their own with any in the club.

The rinks and results last evening were:

The rink of F. Fitzgerald, F. Walsh, W. Kennedy and H. B. Cowan won by a few points from the rink of Dr. Roche, F. Kennedy, J. Mahoney and H. Quinn. The rink of Geo. Lockington, Walter Garbutt, F. H. Dearborn and J. T. Braund won from the rink of M. Coughlin, F. Lockington, G. Carlow and A. Brown. The winning and losing rinks then played off, the rink skipped by Mr. Cowan defeating the rink skipped by Mr. Braund, and the rink of Dr. Roche scoring over the rink of A. Brown.

Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of the club, at which the prizes won in the rinks, doubles and singles schedules will be presented and the season brought to a fitting close, will be held Tuesday or Wednesday evening, October 13 or 14 in the club house. Caterers will supply the refreshments and as is usual on these occasions, a big evening will result.

Wherein you'll find is no alloy.
—Farmer Brown's Boy

Little Chief Hare and Mrs. Little Chief were two very busy little people. They worked hard and steadily, for this was a perfect day for haying and they were making the most of it. From the rock slide over to the bit of meadow they ran, cut their little bundles of grasses and other plants brought them back to the rock slide and spread them to dry. Jolly, round bright Mr. Sun poured down his warmest rays to dry the hay properly and so did his part to help these busy little people.

It was hard work, for it was quite a distance from where the hay was cut to where it was spread to dry, and the little bundles were small, for such small mouths as these little haymakers possessed could carry only small bundles. This meant many, many trips, and though each took a turn at keeping watch and so had a chance to rest, there came a time when it seemed to them that they simply couldn't make another trip.

"My legs ache," declared Little Chief.

"Mine too," replied Mrs. Little Chief.

"I don't like to stop now," said Little Chief, spreading the plants he had just brought.

"Neither do I," replied Mrs. Little Chief, "but I think we better. The sensible thing to do is to take a good rest now. We will be able to work all the faster and better after it."

"You are quite right, my dear, as usual," was Little Chief's prompt response. "We were up early this morning and I for one would like a nap. What do you say to going home for a nap and working hard afterward?"

Mrs. Little Chief carefully inspected the dry hay. "The sun is hot," said she, "and it isn't wise to work during the hottest part of the day. We've done a good morning's work and a nap will do both of us good. I wish we had twice as much hay, but we have done pretty well as it is. Come on."

She led the way and Little Chief followed. They disappeared among the rocks of the slide down under which they had their home. It was two hours later when they reappeared. The first thing they did was to hurry to see how the hay was drying. Little Chief led the way. When he came in sight of the place he stopped abruptly with a funny little bark.

"What is it, my dear?" inquired

"I wish it was ours," said she

Mrs. Little Chief anxiously as she hurried up.

"Look!" That was all Little Chief said, but it was enough. Mrs. Little Chief looked and she too, gave a funny little bark of surprise.

"What—what do you make of it? Where did that come from? Whose is it? Who put it there and what did they do it for? The questions tumbled from Mrs. Little Chief so fast that her tongue almost tripped over itself.

There, just to one side of their own carefully spread hay was a big stack of freshly cut hay. That is, it was a big stack to such little people as they. Hastily they looked in all directions, but no one was to be seen. Then cautiously they approached the big stack and walked around it. There was twice as much in it as they had been able to cut with all their work that morning. Their eyes sparkled as they inspected it. Then Mrs. Little Chief sighed.

"I wish it were ours," said she.

"Well, if it isn't ours, whose is it?" demanded Little Chief.

"I wish I knew," replied Mrs. Little Chief. She once more climbed up on a rock for a careful look all around.

"It is the biggest hay-stack I've ever seen," declared Little Chief, continuing to walk around it. "It ought to be spread. It will spoil left like that."

"You better leave it alone," warned Mrs. Little Chief sharply.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2.10 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 7.05 p.m., and from 9.50 p.m. to 11.15 p.m. The danger hours are from 9 a.m. to 11.50 a.m., and from 7.35 p.m. to 9.15 p.m.

A nebulous and confusing atmosphere will prevail, from an astrological viewpoint, on October 3rd. During the early hours, there will be sensed a feeling of listlessness and a spirit of inactivity, which means that only obligatory and routine duties should be carried out. After noon, the air will begin to clear, and stimulating influences will be experienced, especially in all that relates to physical effort.

Children born on this October 3rd will not be very ambitious and they will not scale any great heights. They will be very much interested in themselves, and will strive to create a good impression. Their strained efforts will oftimes defeat the object that they seek. They will be rather selfish and exacting and feel "hard-done-by" if they fail to succeed.

You, if born on October 3rd, are meticulous and ultra-prudent. If you were in charge of a fire engine going to a fire, you would drive with so much care that, although you would avoid all ditches and collisions, you might arrive at the scene of the conflagration when he services of firemen were no longer required. Your horoscope denotes what can be considered a monotonous career, rich in opportunity, but sterile in accomplishment. You are kind and sincere, and extremely sympathetic. You are also psychic and impressionistic.

You have great ability in certain directions, and if genius is the faculty of taking pains, then you can be classified as such. Your many talents, however, do not promise to be exploited, owing to your inability to grasp opportunity or to assert yourself, and owing to the constant fear that your efforts might fail. You are very emotional, and demonstratively affectionate, and capable of a great love. You may be, and are, afraid to take a chance in all that tends to materialize advancement. You are not like this, however, in matters of romance. Here you know what you want, and go after it and get it. Your married life holds out a great prospect of happiness, although the Signs denote that affluence will not come your way.

"LIBRA"

If October 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10.30 a.m. to 1.15 p.m., from 4 p.m. to 5.50 p.m., and from 9 p.m. to 11.10 p.m. The danger hours are from 12.45 p.m. to 3.30 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 7.30 p.m.

The planetary aspects of October 4th indicate propitious influences of a mild nature. Nothing of outstanding importance is scheduled to happen, but there will be sensed a feeling of quiet contentment, unmarred by controversy or bickering. It will be an excellent opportunity for preparing yourself for the struggles of the forthcoming week, which will be rich in surprises and happenings.

The child born on this October 4th will be beset with many physical difficulties in its early years. These, however, will be overcome before the period of adolescence is attained. Mentally, it will be alert, intelligent and analytical. Temperamentally, it will be extremely affectionate and passionate.

You, if born on October 4th, are so endowed with the desire to reason that you often stand in your own light, and lose time in argument when action alone is needed. Once, however, your mind is definitely made up—and this, in your case, takes a long time—you carry forward your plans with energy and considerable ability, and rarely fail in securing their consummation. You can talk well, and express your thoughts with exceptional lucidity. You are more persuasive than forcible.

You have keen, quick perception and ambition. You are not so keen for material rewards for work done, as you are for the glory of achievement. Often, without a murmur of regret, you light the way, and see another, following in your footsteps, earn the prize. This is not a virtue, and you should make every effort to cure yourself of habits which deprive you of that to which you are entitled, as, by an indifference which does no one any good, thos near and dear to you are likely to suffer.

You possess an attractive personality, and are very attractive to the opposite sex. If a woman, you will be very flirtatious. If a man, you will be very susceptible. Neither man nor woman should marry young. By waiting, they will ensure happiness, but by precipitancy, they will invite disaster.

Rare Animals From Borneo

ONLY TWO OF THEIR KIND IN AMERICA

These two rhinoceros guinea-pigs came all the way from Borneo, and are the only animals of their kind on the American continent. Their resemblance to the jungle rhinoceros is accentuated by the small horn-like tuft of hair on the tip of each of their noses. Oh, yes, we forget to introduce them. They are Ben and Bertha. Their guardian is Miss Rowena Boyett of Los Angeles.

Monthly Meeting Is Held Centenery L.A.

CENTENERY, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. Fred Precious entertained the Ladies' Aid at her summer home on Thursday afternoon. There was an extra large meeting of members and many visitors.

The president, Mrs. Thomas Arthur was in charge of the meeting.

Miss Jessie Sherwin, Mrs. N. Lean, Mrs. D. Sherwin were appointed a committee to purchase necessities for the quilting of the autograph quilt, and to have in readiness to quilt at the next meeting.

After the reports were read by the secretary a delightful program was listened to and was as follows, a poem, "My Pilgrim Way," by Mrs. M. Brown; a reading by Miss Alice Wellwood, "Building a Temple," the teaching is to build a temple not seen by man but which shall not fall, the temple of the soul.

Mrs. Ernest Timlin of St. James' W.A. contributed a number on the program entitled "Beware" of being a waster, a slacker, a dreamer only of great things etc.

The wise one says, "I'll find time or make it" read by Mrs. Newman Lean; reading, "One sows another reaps," by Mrs. Bruce Arthur;

"Two fool jackasses" tied together yet pulling separate ways and getting nowhere—like human beings unless we pull together we get nowhere, this poem was read by Miss Ella Linton; reading by Mrs. Dawson Timlin, "Other fish to fry" and a reading by Miss Hilda Arthur entitled, "The man who couldn't save" bringing out advice and a lesson for everyone.

Miss Jessie Smith favored the gathering with a solo accompanied by guitar which she played very softly.

A delicious lunch was served and an enjoyable hour was spent. Mrs. Precious leaves in a few days to her winter home at Cobourg.

Churchill Grain Ship To Be Given Welcome

LONDON, Eng., October 3 (C.P.) — It is expected that an official welcome will be tendered when the steamship Farnworth arrives at the Victoria docks here on Monday after the voyage from Canada's newest seaport, Churchill on the shore of Hudson's Bay, with a cargo of grain.

Representatives of the British Ministry of Agriculture and London representatives of the Canadian Government as well as representatives of the London Port Authority, will probably be on hand to welcome the steamship as it completes its history making journey.

To learn if pupils are interested in their personal appearance, officials of a London school have installed mirrors in the class rooms and halls.

Baseball in France received a government subsidy of $80 this year.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

with Castoria's gentle regulation

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

ALL BRITISH FURNISHINGS

Lovely Creations From Scotland and England, Not Forgetting Canadian Products.

FOR HOUSE CLEANING.

At this season of the year the thoughts of housewives naturally turn to a thorough house cleaning in preparation for the winter months. And house cleaning generally reveals the need of furnishing replacements—curtains, draperies and maybe a whole suite or an odd piece of furniture.

In conformity with such requirements, McBride and Franks, of the people's "Factory-to-Home" store, 224 Charlotte street, have made extensive preparations to respond to the call of home renovators with furniture and furnishings interpreting the newest modes and priced down to a level consistent with present economic conditions.

From now to next Saturday constitutes Drapery and Curtain Week at McBride & Frank's, who are featuring perfectly lovely draperies from Scotland and England, not forgetting our own Canadian products. In texture, in shades, in patterns, these all-British creations have a charm all their own; and shoppers will find no difficulty in selecting drapins and curtains, or even more solid furnishing, to harmonize with the color schmee of any room.

HUNDREDS ADMIRE NEW 'Y' BUILDING

Constant Stream of Visitors Passed Through Structure This Week.

Hundreds of citizens have availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting the new "Y" building this week. A constant stream of visitors have been moving through the various parts of the new building, and flattering comments are made on every side.

The new lobby with its pleasing textured walls and amber lights, fine oak panelling and inviting red leather furniture, creates a favorable impression at once. This impression is strengthened when the wonderful pool is seen, with its pleasing white tile and clear sparkling water.

The new handball and squash court is a mystery to many, especially ladies who may not be familiar with these games. The court is an especially fine one with its twenty foot ceiling and fine ventilation and lighting effects.

Many questions are asked regarding the splendid appointments and equipment of the building. The directors, staff and guides are gratified to tell the friends who view the building that almost all of the work and equipment and furniture was supplied by local firms.

The efficient heating and ventilating system was installed by W. R. Turner; the fine plumbing by John L. P. Smith; swimming pool and filtering plant by P. G. Wallace; electric wiring of the entire building, Miller-Powell Co.; lighting fixtures (C.G.E.), Grant & Thorpe; painting, Guppy and Hall; marble work, Ontario Marble Co.; pannelling and woodwork, E. Wand; cut-stone work, H. Sherwood.

The furnishings contract was divided between A. Comstock & Sons, Canadian Department Stores, D. Belleghem & Sons, McBride & Franks, Peterborough Mattress Co., and Richard Hall Co., Ltd.

Ronald Alexander, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, of 130 Benson avenue, died last night as a result of severe scalds received on Thursday morning, despite the skill and care of two doctors and a special nurse. Mr. Smith is well known in the city, and the sympathy of a wide circle of friends goes out to him and his wife in their bereavement.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. Wm. McDonald, pastor of Knox church, will officiate at the funeral services.

The little boy, the eldest of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, had been placed on the verandah by his mother on Thursday morning, it is stated. The child toddled away to the basement of the house where his mother was preparing a washing machine. A tub of boiling water stood nearby, and unnoticed the child fell into the water. Everything possible was done to save the little life but to no avail.

Thanksgiving Service For St. John's Church

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving service of St. John's church was held last evening with a large congregation, when a very eloquent and forceful sermon was preached by Rev Professor Isherwood, of Wycliffe College, Toronto.

The reverend gentleman took for his text, Ecc. 11:1, "Cast Thy Bread upon the waters for thou shalt find it after many days,"—exemplifying two things, the law of sacrifice and the law of patience.

The church was beautifully decorated with fruit, vegetables, flowers and grain in abundance.

The musical portion of the service was under the very capable leadership of the organist and choirmaster, F. G. Mann, A., Mus., the hymns being "Come Ye Thankful People", "We Plow the Fields and Scatter" and "To Thee O Lord" also the magnificat and Nunc Dimittis by Smart in D and the anthem, "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" by Sir J. Stainer, solo parts being taken by S. Roberts and Eric Quilter, and Gerald Perks, boy soprano.

The lessons were read by Rev. Mr. Hughes, of St. George's church, Rev. E. R. James of St. John's church, and Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, taking the service.

The Thanksgiving services will continue on Sunday.

CHARGE AGAINST MOSS DISMISSED

No Breach of Private Detectives' Act Court Finds.

The charge against A. E. Moss, representative of the Trustee in Bankruptcy of the Norman Sukloff estate, that he did unlawfully represent himself as a private detective contrary to the Private Detective Act in conducting investigations here, was dismissed yesterday afternoon by Magistrate Langley, K.C., following hearing of the evidence.

The magistrate decided that none of the evidence showed that he had represented himself during any of his investigations as a private detective and that he had been accompanied by Provincial Police or a city detective who had conducted most of the investigation. The Magistrate further affirmed that Moss, as representative of the Trustee in Bankruptcy, had a right to inquire into the manner in which the Sukloff business during its closing days had been conducted. Moss had in no way overstepped the provisions of the Act, nor could he while on the business of the Truste, be bound by that Act in making investigations demanded of him by his employer, the Magistrate said.

A. L. Elliott conducted Moss' defence, and W. F. Huycke acted for W. McIntosh, representative of a private detective agency, who laid the information.

SIMCOE ANGLICAN DEANERIES IN FAVOR OF SUFFRAGAN BISHOP

Resolution Urges Jurisdiction be Over All Parts of Diocese Outside Toronto.

RESIDENCE IN TORONTO.

A joint meeting of the Anglican Deaneries of West, South and East Simcoe (Trinity Church Sunday school, Barrie, to discuss the proposal to elect a Suffragan Bishop to relieve the Bishop of Toronto.

Rev. Maurice R. Kingsford, rector of Gore's Landing, pleaded his case very forcibly. A discussion followed which showed the general feeling of the meeting to be that a suffragan Bishop should be appointed, but that he should have jurisdiction of all the parishes outside of Toronto.

There was some difference of opinion as to where the Suffragan Bishop should reside. A number contended that he should not be a resident in Toronto as he would lose the rural attitude towards the problems of the church, and become more or less attached to the city work. The majority favored Toronto, however, because it was easy of access and the diocesan offices were in the city.

Resolution Passed

After very considerable discussion the following resolution submitted by the Rev. Dr. M. Rose of Orillia, seconded by the Rev. A. E. W. Ingram of Midland, was passed:

"That this meeting of clergy and laymen of the deaneries of West, South and East Simcoe, called to discuss the proposal to appoint a Suffragan Bishop to live and work within such part of the diocese of Toronto lying east of the city of Toronto as may hereafter be determined, records the following as its carefully considered opinion, and directs that copies of this resolution be sent to the Executive Committee of the diocese, the Sub-Committee appointed by the Executive Committee to report upon the proposal and to the deaneries of Toronto, Peel, East and West York.

"(1) That if a Suffragan Bishop be appointed, the territory in which he is to exercise jurisdiction should include all those parts of the diocese outside the city of Toronto and its suburbs, which area includes about 80 parishes and missions out of a total of 165 in the diocese, and 35,000 Anglicans out of a total Anglican diocesan population of 128,000. The proposal to appoint a Suffragan Bishop for the territory lying east of Toronto does not afford the relief it is desired to give the Bishop of the diocese including as such area would only about 50 parishes and missions and 22,000 members of the Church.

"(2) That in the event of the appointment of a Bishop Suffragan the interests of the above territory, i.e. those parts of the diocese outside the city of Toronto and its suburbs, and of the diocese as a whole, would be best served by his residence in Toronto, from which every part of the said area is most readily reached, and where the Suffragan would be in close touch with diocesan headquarters."

The chair was occupied by Rev. A. R. Beverley, of Barrie, and the Rev. G. R. Macnachie of Coldwater, acted as secretary. The meeting was thoroughly representative. All the clergy from East Simcoe and a majority of those from South and West Simcoe were present as well as a number of laymen.

Bright sunshine, a clear blue sky and a summer breeze made to-day an ideal setting for the third game of the world series between the champion Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals for the championship of baseball.

First Inning.

Cardinals. — President Hoover threw out the first ball, and Cochrane made a miss of it. Adams popped to Foxx. Roettger grounded out, Bishop to Foxx. Frisch grounded out to Foxx, unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Second Inning.

Cardinals.—Bottomley walked, the fourth ball being wide. Hafey popped to Foxx in foul territory. Martin singled over second base and Bottomley made third. It was the hit-and-run play. Wilson singled to right and Bottomley scored; Martin sped to third. Martin scored on Gelbert's fly to Miller. Grimes hit off Dykes glove for a single into left field, Wilson stopping at second. Adams fanned, swinging at a ball. Two runs, three hits, no errors, two left.

Athletics. — Simmons filed to Martin in deep left centre. Foxx grounded to Gelbert and was out at first. Miller bounced out, Gelbert to Bottomley. No hits, no errors. None left.

Third Inning.

Cardinals.—Roettger bounded out, Williams to Foxx. Frisch bounded to Williams and was out at first on a close play as he slid head first into the bag. Bottomley ground out, Bishop to Foxx on a hard hit ball. No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

Athletics. — Dykes bounded to Frisch and was out at first, Williams to Gelbert, who went into short left for the catch. Grove grounded out to Bottomley unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

Fourth Inning.

Cardinals.—Hafey singled sharply to centre field. Martin drove a long double against the right field wall, sending Hafey to third. It was Martin's seventh hit of the series. Wilson grounded out, Dykes to Foxx and the runners held their bases. Gelbert fanned on a third called trike. Hafey and Martin scored on Grimes' single to right field. Adams filed out to Bishop. Two runs, three hits, no errors. One left.

Grimes got a big cheer as he went to the box. Bishop walked on a fourth wide pitch. Haas filed out to Hafey down the left field line. Cochrane fanned on a third called strike. Simmons grounded out, Frisch to Bottomley. The Athletics were hitless for the fourth straight innings.

No runs, no hits, no errors. One left.

Fifth Inning, Cardinals

Roettge. grounded out, Williams to Foxx. Frisch grounded out, Bishop to Foxx. Bottomley hoisted to Simmons.

No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

Athletics — Foxx walked on the fourth, straight ball. Miller grounded to Adams and forced Foxx at second base, Frisch making the putout. Miller beat the relay to first. Dykes bounded to Gelbert and a double play Gelbert to Frisch to Bottomley. No runs, no hits, no errors. None left.

Sixth Inning.

Cardinals.— Hafey grounded out, Dykes to Foxx. Martin bounded to Williams and was out at first. Wilson hit sharply to right for a single, the ball sailing over Bishop's head. Gelbert flied out to Miller. No runs, one hit, no errors. One left.

Athletics.—The Cardinals substituted Flowers for Adams at third base. The latter's ankle was still weak. Williams fanned, swinging at the third strike. Grove struck out on a third called strike. Bishop flied out to Martin. Grimes was pitching a masterful game, mixing his spitter with a deceptive change of pace. No runs, no hits and no errors.

Seventh Inning.

Cardinals.—Grimes bounded out, Williams to Foxx. Flowers grounded out, Williams to Foxx, on a sharply hit ball. Roettger hit into right centre for two bases. Frisch singled to right, but Roettger stopped at third. Bottomley popped to Bishop. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Athletics.—Haas was out, Grimes to Bottomley, on a high bounder down the first base line. Cochrane grounded out, Gelbert to Bottomley. Simmons grounded out, Gelbert to Bottomley, and it was seven hitless innings in a row for the world champions. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Eighth Inning.

Cardinals.—Dykes speared Hafey's line drive with a sensational diving catch. Martin grounded out, Dykes to Foxx. Wilson bunted down the third base line for a hit. He caught the Athletics flat-footed, and there was no attempt to throw to first. Gelbert singled to left, Wilson stopping at second. Grimes up. The pitcher got a big hand as he came to bat. Grimes filed out to Simmons. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Athletics.—Foxx walked for the second time in a row. The fourth pitch was high. Miller singled to centre field, Foxx holding second. The crowd roared as the champions made their first hit. Grimes and Wilson conferred in the box with Captain Frisch. Catcher Wilson and Umpire Stark argued about dirtying the ball. A new one was thrown in. Simmons came out to give Dykes his orders. Dykes popped to Flowers. Williams filed out to Hafey. Roger Cramer batted for Grove. Frisch made a spectacular catch of Cramer's short drive, falling backward as he grabbed the ball. No runs, one hit, no errors. Two left.

Ninth Inning.

Cardinals.—Mahaffey went to the box in the place of Grove. Flowers walked, the fourth pitch being inside. Roettger bunted to Mahaffey, and Flowers was forced at second. Mahaffey to Williams. Roettger was replaced on first by a pinch runner, Watkins. Frisch hit to Dykes, and was thrown out on a brilliant play by a stride. Watkins scored on Bottomley's double against the score board in right centre. Hafey flied to Simmons. One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

Athletics

Watkins was in right field for the Cardinals. Bishop grounded out to Bottomley unassisted. Haas grounded out, Belbert to Bottomley. Grimes deflected the drive to Gelbert. Grimes' hand apparently was hurt and the Cardinals gathered around him for an inspection of the damage. Frisch worked on the pitcher's fingers, and Burleigh went back to work.

Simmons clouted a homer, scoring McNeir ahead of him. Foxx fanned.

Two runs, one hit, no errors. None left.

SMOOTH SAILING FROM CHURCHILL TO LONDON PORT

Epochal Voyage From Hudson's Bay Harbor Complete Success

FIRST GRAIN CARGO.

Captain Mouat Receives Commemorative Cane From Canadian Gov't.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Oct. 5 (C.P. Cable). — Captain Mouat had an air of quiet satisfaction about him when he was encountered on the bridge of the steamer Farnworth to-day. The Farnworth arrived in London docks yesterday at the conclusion of a history-making voyage of 16 days from Churchill, Canada's newest seaport on the shores of Hudson's Bay, bringing a cargo of 277,000 bushels of grain over the new Hudson's Bay northern route which cuts one thousand miles off the journey from the Prairies to Britain.

In the captain's view it was a most matter-of-fact achievement to navigate from Churchill through the Hudson's Straits. The spare-looking skipper could find very few remarks to make about the voyage simply because it had been like so many others he had made.

"Oh, there was no ice at all to bother anyone," he told the Canadian Press.

"Was there any fog?"

Says Voyage Easy

"Well, we will call it a haze, but it was nothing to worry over," the captain replied. "In fact, I was surprised to find how easy things were. Everything possible had been done for us in advance and the wireless gave us wonderful assistance. Without it we might have encountered some difficulties.

"Churchill is already well fitted with what ships like this need," Captain Mouat said. "The Berthing is capital there already, and I see no reason whatever why this port should not be an excellent business proposition. Of course, this will be my only trip on this route in the present season."

Another steamer is now outward bound from Churchill with another cargo of grain, to an undisclosed destination.

Many at the Docks

A large company of people interested in the great Canadian enterprise made the journey to Victoria Docks to-day to congratulate the skipper and express their good wishes to Canada.

Representatives of the Port of London, the Baltic exchange and other great ocean-carrying interests were present along with Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Prime Minister, who is Under-Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs; Col. G. P. Vanier, secretary of the Canadian High Commissioner's office, and others.

STABBER NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

Mrs. Benoit Recovers Sufficiently to Give Newspapermen Interview.

SERIOUS CHARGE PENDING.

TORONTO, Ont., October 5 (C.P.). — Herman Hunt, Great Neck, L.I., who lies in St. Joseph's Hospital here, facing a charge of attempted murder in connection with the stabbing of Mrs. Anne Priller Benoit, prominent Marathon swimmer was reported this morning by hospital authorities as being in a very critical condition. Hunt is alleged to have drunk a solution of bichloride of mercury and water, after having stabbed Mrs. Benoit in the side, last Saturday. It was reported at the institution that little hope was held for his recovery.

Three stitches were required to close up the gash in Mrs. Benoit's side. She is recovering rapidly from the shock and was able to give an interview to newspapermen yesterday.

Americans All Members of One Family, Green Urges Facing Trials Together

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5.—(CP)—"Americans are all one family, and we must approach the problem in that light," said President Green addressing the American Federation of Labor. "If we consider a family without enough jobs to support all its members, we would not push several of them out in the cold to starve because they haven't jobs. Instead, we would divide the work among all the members, and let each do something. All would sacrifice, but all would live."

Capital must share the burdens of labor, he said, and help apportion the jobs available. Industry, which benefitted by the machine age which increased production, but cost many jobs, must aid by maintaining the American wage standard, allowing shorter working hours, and work assurance.

"It must help through keeping up wages and providing jobs, or it must help by paying taxes," he said.

BABY KILLER AND 4 COMPANIONS ARE ROUNDED UP IN MANHATTEN

Police Commissioner States Gunmen Are All Positively Identified.

TWO WOMEN HELD.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Vincent Coll and four members of his gang arrested in a roundup in Manhattan all have been identified as the gunmen who occupied the automobile from which bullets swept a Harlem street, July 20, killing one child and wounding four others, Inspector John Sullivan announced today.

Part of the gangsters taken at Averill Park resisted arrest with firearms but were subdued without casualties.

Coll, a 23-year-old desperado blamed for many crimes but consistently elusive, offered no resistance when detectives surprised him at a hotel where he was registered under an alias. His brown hair had been dyed black, and he had grown a mustache.

When the formal charge of murdering five-year-old Michael Vengalli last July 28 was read to him at the police station this morning, he denied it. He said he had been out of town all summer, returning only Friday.

No Mistake

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, however, said there was no mistake. Witnesses, he said, had identified Coll positively as one of the men in the automobile from which poured bullets that raked the "Little Italy" street on which children were at play. The Vengalli boy was killed and four of his playmates were wounded. One of them was tumbled from a baby carriage. The gunfire was meant for a man lounging in a doorway. Though 60 shots were fired, the man was unhurt.

Coll had $4,600 in his pocket. Several other members of his gang each had $1,000 or more in currency.

The murder Friday of Joe Mullins—a "Dutch" Schultz gangster—and the bombing of a garage a few hours later provided the clue which snared Coll. The number of the license plates of the car used by Mullins' slayers and on the car used by the garage bombers was obtained. Thus it was discovered that the same machine was used in both crimes.

200 Detectives In Raid.

A policeman saw the car in a garage. Headquarters was notified, and 200 detectives were thrown into the area. A man giving the name Vincent de Lucia called for the car and was arrested. On information obtained from him, other arrests were made, including two women and Dominick "Toughy" Adierno. Commissioner Mulrooney said Adierno was in the car with Coll when the baby murder was done.

Others arrested were Pasquale del Greco, Michael Baisle, Frankie Iorlando (five pistols and silencer were found in his apartment), Betty White and Lottie Kriesberger. Coll's sister, her husband and three others were arrested at Averill Park. Two pistols were found in Coll's hotel room.

Frank Iordiano, who is nearly 10 years older than the gangster leader, actually did the shooting, Inspector Sullivan said.

Iordiano was arrested in an apartment yesterday several hours before Coll and Dominick Odierno were captured with two girls in a West Side hotel.

FIVE LIVES LOST DURING VOTING OVER SANTIAGO

Juan Esteban Montero Succeeds to Presidency of Chilean Republic.

300 ARRESTS MADE.

Newcomer to Politics Takes Post Vacated by Ibanez Last July.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 5 (C.P.).—Juan Esteban Montero, middle-aged newcomer to politics, succeeded today to the Presidency of Chile in an election attended by disorders and marked by at last five deaths.

Montero decisively defeated his radical opponent, Arturo Alessandri, received 183,428 votes to Alessandri's 100,000. This was a plurality of approximately 64 per cent. To be elected, a candidate must receive at least 50 per cent. of the votes.

Two Communist candidates received only 3,785 votes between them.

Official figures showed that five persons were killed in yesterday's election disorders, all in Santiago. Unofficial reports said at least ten lost their lives. Sixty persons were injured in the country-wide rioting, and apparently 300 arrests were made.

President Montero takes up the post vacated by former President Carlos Ibanez, who was overthrown

FIRST NON-STOP JAPAN TO U. S. FLIGHT IS MADE

Pangborn and Herndon Headed for Salt Lake City Land at Wenatchee.

FOG FORCES LANDING.

Japanese Newspaper Representative on Hand With $25,000 Cash Prize

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 5. — Completing the first non-stop airplane flight across the Pacific Ocean, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, United States fliers, landed here to-day.

The plane landed on her "belly," tipped over on her nose and then settled back. She slid along slowly in a cloud of dust. The plane came to rest on its left wing. Its propeller was smashed in the landing. Aviators described it as a "fish tail" landing.

Dump Excess Gas

Before coming down the fliers circled over a few minutes and dumped their excess gasoline in order to prevent any possible outbreak of fire when they hit the ground minus landing gear, which had been dropped shortly after their take-off at Samushiro Beach, Japan.

They had 100 gallons of gas left. They explained it was too foggy for them to go to Salt Lake City.

Their route brought them over Vancouver Island, they said. They circled Mount Rainier three times and passed over Seattle shortly after 3 a.m. The crowd cheered when the plane came down on the runway.

From Samushiro Beach to Wenatchee over the course plotted by the fliers before they started, the distance is approximately 4,565 miles, which falls considerably short of the distance record set last July by Russell Boardman and John Polando in flying from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, 5,011 miles.

Pangborn and Herndon spanned the Pacific in 41 hours.

Pangborn's mother was crying. Both men had left the plane. Herndon had a cut over his left eye.

Pangborn said the only damage was to the propeller.

Aviators here said it was a "wonderful landing."

Herndon's first words were 'Give me a cigarette."

EDISON RALLIES AFTER RELAPSE

Physicians Worried at Condition—Police Guard Wizard's Home.

POPE INQUIRES.

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Oct. 5.—The lamp burned dim for Thomas Alva Edison to-day—but it burned.

Feeble and tired, the wizard rallied this morning after a relapse in which his own physician, Dr. H. S. Howe, admitted, 'I was really worried.'

His condition was described as mentally drowsy, yet he was able last night to take some nourishment with relish and announce, 'I enjoyed my supper.' He slept fairly well.

Throughout the long night a special police detail watched the house. Dr. Howe, after issuing a night bulletin describing Mr Edison's condition as much worse than before, said he looked for no marked change for one or two days.

Many messages and inquiries arrived at the Edison home.

Two cablegrams from the Vatican touched the Edison family deeply. The messages sent by the Papal Secretary of State at Vatican City read: 'Kindly send information regarding the health of Mr. Edison,' and the next message, 'The Holy Father desires further information regarding the health of Mr. Edson. Please ask family direct and inform them of the Holy Father's deep interest.

John Eyre Sloan, Mr Edison's son-in-law, answered the Pope, that Mrs. Edison and family sincerely appreciate the deep interest of the Holy Father.

The inventor is suffering from uremic poisoning, gastric ulcers, diabetes and Bright's disease.

LATIN-AMERICA TO FIGHT TARIFF

Hope By Lining Up Markets to Force U. S. to Lower Duties.

PARLEY IN MEXICO CITY.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5 (A.P.) — Formation of a Latin-American bloc against the tariff policy of the United States is the object of Mexico's business delegation at the pan-American Commercial Conference in Washington, members of the Confederation of Chambers of Commerce said to-day.

The principal object of the opposition, they said, is to line up against United States tariffs such a large consuming market for United States products that the United States will be forced to modify its duties in self protection.

The attitude of the Mexican delegates, it was said, is that if the Latin-American countries save their markets of easy access to United States products, the United States should in reciprocity throw open its market to Latin-American products.

Gold production in South Africa in July totaled $13,475,000.

Exodus of Japanese From Chinese Towns Has Become General

Japanese Admit Situation Grave—Protecting Their Nationals.

NANKING NEAR PANIC.

Chinese Boycott of Japanese is Virtually Economic War.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 5.—(A.P.)—Two Japanese destroyers arrived here to-day and two others were on their way to reinforce Japan's flotilla on the Yangtze river in the face of Japanese officials fears that serious trouble would break out against their nationals in many river ports.

The Japanese exodus from various Chinese cities, developing since trouble started opens two weeks ago with the occupation of Southern Manchuria by Japanese troops, quickened a little to-day.

The Japanese Legation here announced its consulate at Chen Show, Honan Province, had been closed and all its staff and other Japanese residents there had withdrawn to Hankow.

At Chentu, Szechwan province, authorization was given to close the Japanese consulate and withdraw Japanese nationals if advisable. The exodus from smaller Yangtse area cities continued, all Japanese women and children quitting Chungking, Ichang and Changsha. Only a few Japanese men and consular staffs remained in those places.

Near Panic in Nanking.

The dispatch of additional Japanese men-of-war to the Yangtse region was said in private advices from Nanking to have generated pessimism bordering on panic.

Wild rumors were afloat in the Chinese capital, such as that fifty Japanese warships were en route to China and that possibly Nanking itself would be bombarded. The only foundation for this, according to a high Japanese official, was the announcement that the four additional destroyers were coming to China.

This official said Japan was merely taking sensible precautions and that the idea of bombarding the Chinese capital was fantastic. He asserted, however, that the Yangtse Valley situation was grave.

Rigorous Boycott.

He also described the anti-Japanese boycott has spread throughout most of China as more rigorous than any in the past, surpassing even the famous one of 1919 over the Versailles Treaty provision for the Shantung settlement.

"These Chinese people," said the Japanese official, "have declared economic war against Japan. They call it economic war and that is what it is. It is a much more complete severance of economic relations than ever before in history."

The Japanese spokesman denied that his country was encouraging the independence movements in Manchuria which he described as the work of "irresponsible Chinese who dare likely to rule."

He said he saw no reason why Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria, and his lieutenants should not ultimately regain their old power and that Japan was ready to negotiate a settlement with any regime able to maintain peace and order there.

FARMHAND KILLS FOUR IN FAMILY, CONFESSES DEED

Shot Farmer Because He Piled All the Work on Him to Do.

WANTED NO WITNESSES.

Slayer Escapes in Employer's Car to Kenosha, Where Arrest is Made.

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct 5 (CP)—Police held Frank Gray, a 40-year-old farmhand, to-day for the murder of a girl, two men and a little baby.

Gray confessed the killing to Kenosha police, but added:

"I didn't aim to kill the baby."

The murders were done at the Boschert farm house near Burlington, Wis.

Those found dead were:

Frank Obschert, 60, Burlington, his son, Herbert, 30, Herbert's son, Bobby 18 months old, and Miss Celia Kerkman 13, employed on the farm.

The adults had been killed by shotgun slugs and the baby beaten to death with a hammer.

The girl's body was found in an upstairs bedroom used by Gray, police said. The baby's body was beside her. The room showed signs of a terrific struggle.

The elder man was not in the house at the time but Gray said he killed him when he returned from gathering apples. His body was discovered in the basement of the house.

Wife Not Told

Herbert's wife, ill in a Burlington hospital for several weeks, has not yet been told of the killings. The elder Boschert, owner of the farm, lived in Burlington with his wife. He had gone to the farm to visit the son.

The bodies were discovered by Ralph Baunmann, Burlington, who drove to the farm to see Herbert.

Gray fled the Boschert farm in the Boschert automobile. He was arrested when he was found in a soft drink parlor here.

"Sure I done it" he was quoted as saying. "And I ain't sorry. It was Herb. I was after, because he put all the work of the farm on me. I killed the others so there wouldn't be any witnesses.

Find Camp Believed Used By Murderers

HUNTINGTON, N.Y., Oct. 5.—(CP)—Milk bottles, old newspapers and bits of rope gave District Attorney Bale new hope to-day in his search for the slayers of Benjamin P. Collings.

Felix di Martini, private detective retained by Bale, examined the campsite where the bottles and other articles were found yesterday, and declared the place had been used as a camp about three weeks ago.

He said the rope corresponded to the one used in tying up Collings before he was thrown into the Sound the night of Sept. 9.

Poles Give Way Lantern Upsets Barn, House Burn

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 5.—Just as Frank Lindsay, farmer, near Springfield, placed a lantern on a hook in his barn last night preparatory to doing chores, scaffold poles supporting hay in a loft overhead gave way with result that the barn was set on fire. Flames spread to the house and Mr. Lindsay lost practically everything, including season's crop, livestock and furniture. Loss will be about $5,000 partially insured.

BRITISH PREFERENCE "WIPED OUT" BY NEW BENNETT TARIFF CHANGE HIGHEST IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Deliberate Attempt to Cut Off Trade With Britain, King Says

"STARTLING INCREASE."

Public Should Realize Effects States Leader of Opposition.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (C.P.)—Declaring that the result is "a startling increase in the tariff rate against goods from Great Britain," and that the British preference has been practically "wiped out" on products of a class or kind made in Canada Right Hon. Mackenzie King, Opposition Leader, has issued a statement critizing two recent decrees of the Government. The first fixes the rate of exchange in computing values for duty on goods imported from Great Britain at $4.86 2-3 to the pound. The second applies a special or dumping duty to British imports purchased at less than $4.86 2-3 to the pound and of a class or kind made in Canada.

These changes by Order-in-Council, Mr. King asserts, "represent a greater variation in Canadian fiscal policy than has even been adopted by any Canadian Government with the consent of Parliament."

"Special Interests' Dictation."

"They are so drastic," he continues, "as to appear to be either the result of lack of careful consideration for the elementary interests of the Canadian people or a deliberate attempt on the part of the administration at the dictation of special interests, to render trade with Great Britain impossible."

The Liberal Leader predicts that they will aggravate the difficulties of the present situation both in Great Britain and Canada.

Mr. King's statement in part is:

"The changes are so serious that I feel no time should be lost in drawing the attention of the public to their nature and inevitable consequences.

"On Sept. 28 a memorandum from the Department of National Revenue to Collectors of Customs announced that the value for duty purposes of depreciated currency would be arrived at by computation at the rate or average rate of exchange current on the date of shipment.

"On Sept. 29 an Order-in-Council was issued stating that, in computing values for duty on goods imported from Great Britain, the rate of exchange shall be fixed at $4.86 2/3 to the pound sterling—a complete change from the memorandum of the previous day.

"On Sept. 30 it was decreed by Order-in-Council that, if the Canadian importer paid less than $4.86 2/3 to the pound sterling then a special duty equal to the difference between the amount paid and the arbitrary value fixed would be levied and collected.

The result was a startling increase in the tariff rate against goods from Great Britain. It practically wiped out the British preference on products of a class or kind made in Canada. In some cases it even raised the impost abouve the rate charged under the general tariff. It is safe to say that these two Orders-in-Council have raised the average rate of duty to a higher rate than has ever prevailed against Great Britain in any period of Canadian history. Exact figures are difficult to state because of the constant fluctuations of the pound and our own equally unstable dollar, but the changes by Order-in-Council represent greater variation in Canadian fiscal policy than has ever been adopted by any Canadian Government with the consent of Parliament.

PREMIER MAKES FINAL GESTURE FOR TACIT HELP

Macdonald Does Not Hope for Active Support of Lloyd George.

SIMON HEAD GROUP.

Prominent Liberal to Lead Faction in Government's Aid.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(C. and A. P. Cable)—Everything awaits definite announcement of the general election. Events move rapidly towards the climax. Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald went to the Surrey home of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, veteran leader of the Liberal party today and had a two-hour tal with Mr. Lloyd George. It was generally accepted the Prime Minister was make a list effort to secure the Liberal leader's agreement to an early general election.

There was no statement after the conversations. Mr. Lloyd George who is still too ill to come to London and take an active part in developments, has been kept in close touch with the situation by his lieutenants but the Prime Minister today no doubt acquainted him with the trend of discussion behind the scenes.

Afterwards the Prime Minister came back to London for an afternoon meeting of the cabinet. The Labor party gathered in conference at Scarborough and tendered an ovation to Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, who succeeds Prime Minister Macdonald as parliamentary leader of the Laborites. Mr. Henderson tolu the gathering that in absence of a definite date for the election they could only follow the safe policy of being prepared.

Sir John Simon, who broke with his former leader, Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, ni the early summer, still further widened the breach between his few followers and the bulk of the Liberal party by issuance of a manifesto which said that his group in parliament, claimed to number 25 members, was impatient at the attempts to find a common ground on which the Government could appeal to the people. He was forming a new organization to support the Prime Minister on any basis, the statement said.

It was understood Sir John would head a new party to be known as the "National Liberal Party" and would start active campaigning in a few days. In some quarters it was said the Prime Minister might rely on this faction for Liberal representation in a future cabinet if he was unable to reconcile the party's differences over a tariff program.

Liberal headquarters gave out a statement saying the news from the Simon group was viewed with equanimity. Sir John was regarded as a Conservative "trying to keep one foot in the Liberal camp for purposes best known to himself," the statement added.

Prime Minister MacDonald's personal position in the coming fight continued a leading topic of interest. His visit to his constituency of Seaham, Durham, on Friday did not alter the determination of the Seaham Labor executive to repudiate him and elect another Labor candidate in the field.

MINER KILLED IN COAL SLIDE

Companion Rescued After Being Trapped Hour Beneath Tons of Debris.

ROCK SAVES LIFE.

GLACE BAY, N.S., Oct. 5 Ernest Payne is dead and Reuben Wadman is seriously injured as a result of an accident at the Lingan Head yesterday afternoon. Buried beneath sliding coal and rock, the two miners were trapped for more than an hour. Sixteen men worked strenuously with picks and shovels to free the victims and rush them to Glace Bay General Hospital. Payne died shortly afterward. Wadman's condition is critical.

The two men went to Lingan yesterday morning to mine coal. They were working in one of the holes in the cliff there and were unaware of the danger. Without warning a heavy slide occurred, throwing tons of rock and coal into the hole and covering the men. Near-by miners began to clear the fallen rock and in the meantime a telephone call was sent to New Waterford for medical assistance.

Payne, who was nearest the surface, was rescued first, although the men continued to work feverishly they little expected to find Wadman under the heavy load. He was saved from instant death, however, by a large rock which became lodged between the sides of the pit and bore the crushing weight of tons of coal and rock above it.

Canada's apple crops is estimated at 3,627,000 barrels, and is slightly above the average.

ELECTION GOES TO REPUBLICAN

Few Disorders and Arrests as Spain Elects Candidates.

CONTESTS CLOSE.

MADRID, Oct. 5 (C.P.)—Victory for most of their candidates in the interim election to the National Assembly was claimed to-day by Republican factions allied with the Provisional Government.

Seventeen provinces voted Sunday for 23 deputies to fill vacancies created when those winning several seats in the last general election were required to resign all but one. Returns are incomplete, but unofficial reports indicate most of the contests were close.

The voting in Madrid, Barcelona, Valecia and Seville, where there was one vacancy each, was watched intently for signs of opposition to the present regime. Early returns indicated the Left wing candidate, Manuel Cossio, had defeated Jose Antonio Primo de Rivero, son of the late Dictator, who campaigned from Madrid to vindicate his father's policies.

The election was without disorders except for fist-fights. There were a few arrests. Only about 40 per cent. of the electorate in the provinces involved participated as compared with 70 per cent. in the regular election.

Interesting Program for Juniors—Swimming Stunts a Feature.

CLASSES NOW OPEN.

The junior rally of the Y.W.C.A. was held Saturday morning in the gymnasium, with about two hundred children present, all eager to start gym. work, even the tiniest tots being present in their little gym. suits.

The program for juniors was announced by Miss Brownscombe, including junior story hour, junior clubs and junior cooking classes, and Miss Caroline Littlefield announced the program for gym. and dancing classes.

A program of games, drills and dances was entered in with great enthusiasm and much to the children's delight, five fairies and two tap dancers gave two pageant dances. After the program all the children trooped over to the swimming pool where a demonstration of swimming was given by the stunt classes and the junior life-saving classes. The stunt class was composed of M. Kingsbury, L. Comstock, P. Edmonds, L. Long, D. Doukas, F. Fowler. Life-saving class: E. Long, C. White, A. McLeod, G. Bridcott, B. Bradbury, J. Walker, A. SLIGHT FOOD CHANGES AFFECT THE BODY TREMENDOUSLY

My grand niece weighed less at eight months than at birth, due to "Infantile eczema." Was plastered with ointments and unbathed for seven months — entire household exhausted from lack of sleep. I added vegetable juice to each bottle feeding, nothing more. After two days she slept fourteen hours without waking. Ointments then discontinued, baths resumed. No rash, no itching in four years since. Why? Vegetable juice alkalinized her blood, killing the acid-caused eczema. Alkaline Roman Meal has kept her blood alkaline since.

Alkaline Roman Meal also saved my life when the great Osler told me twenty-three years ago I could not live four months. Now at 73 not two per cent. of men 30 have muscles, strength of endurance equal to mine, built up out of alkaline Roman Meal. I'll send you a free booket, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofysub, the new alkaline beverage, if you'll write for them to ROBT. Just Between Us Women

The vogue of crochet is returning with its excellent opportunities for women to make attractive articles in this favorite craft.

* * * * * * *

The work is rapid, which is always an asset in this busy era. Since stitches are innumerable, the style of work varies decidedly from sturdy, durable rugs to filmy lace.

* * * * * * *

The stitchery is, nevertheless, divided into two distinct types, one compact, as in rug craft, the second open as in lace. Between these two extremes of compact and open textures there is a wide range of surface.

* * * * * * *

There has never been a time since crocheting was devised that it has not been in use in some one of these types, but is comes recurrently into especial favor as a pronounced vogue, when both types are required.

* * * * * * *

In some instances the identical pattern for rug craft and lace, such as filet, can be used interchangeably.

* * * * * * *

Filet lace designs, worked in single crochet, becomes compact, firm and minus perforation. When a coarse rug medium is employed, the weight makes a heavy textile suitable for floor covering.

* * * * * * *

The size of the pattern, will be enormously enlarged. It will become bold as is desirable for rug craft instead of dainty as in filet crochet.

* * * * * * *

Should a crochet rug craft design be wrought in filet, with its spaces and posts supplying the network quality, the pattern will be open and delicate.

* * * * * * *

Patterns which work out to form square stitches in any designs can be utilized for first crochet or single crochet stitch. From this, it will be seen that cross-stitch patterns can be developed in filet or single.

* * * * * * *

This is because of the fact that the crafts are those worked by counted stitches. Each space counts as one whether the space in the pattern is open or filled in.

The meeting opened with prayer by Miss Brownscombe.

The election of officers for the year resulted in the following:

Plans for the Girls' Council were discussed. It was decided to have the Council meet as soon as the representatives were appointed and the president of the Girls' Work Board elected these names. The Council will meet then every two months.

The matter of funds was left over until the next meeting.

The Missionary Rally was discussed but arrangements were left to the Girls' Council.

It was moved and seconded that one representative from each group be on the Girls' Council but where groups were large one representative for every ten girls.

THOSE MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES.

Because all four cases of manslaughter arising out of motor killings resulted in acquittals at the Fall Assizes here last week, more than one person has been heard to remark that it was unfortunate that the accused and the state should have been put to unnecessary expense by indictments in these cases.

The Examiner does not share in that opinion.

We believe that the authorities were thoroughly justified in laying charges in these cases, and that in all of them there was enough evidence to warrant action being taken, as the fact that the Grand Jury returned "true bills" in all four cases indicated.

Deaths from motor accidents are increasing to such an extent that such an unbiased official as J. P. Bickell, Registrar of Motor Licenses, has found it necessary to issue a warning to motorists that if the slaughter continues drastic laws will have to be put into effect to deal with the situation.

In the local cases four lives were snuffed out, and while the court in two instances and a jury in two more found the accused not criminally liable, it is impossible to avoid the opinion that more of these accidents needed to have happened if all parties concern—and in that, of course, we include the victims themselves—had exercised ordinary care.

The very fact that charges of manslaughter were laid should have some effect upon drivers generally, many of whom are in need of a warning that will teach them to have some regard for the safety of others.

THAT NEW CAR.

Those members of the City Council who have opposed the purchase of a high-powered new motor car for the fire chief have public opinion with them in their attitude.

The simple truth of the matter is, that a good many people are finding it an uphill climb to pay their taxes just now because of unemployment and economic conditions, and they have a right to demand that wherever possible the public spending bodies shall avoid anything savoring of extravagance.

It would be a difficult proposition to convince them that a high-powered car is a necessity for an official who is supposed to use his machine only within the city limits and who, as one of the aldermen pointed out, could reach any part of the city in any kind of a car in a few minutes.

In fact, unless the condition of the present car is such as to make repairs an expensive proposition many citizens feel that the purchase of a new vehicle might well be deferred.

The time has come when civic spending must be cut down to the limit and when expenditures that in more prosperous periods would be accepted without comment must be rigidly scrutinized, and where not thoroughly justified abandoned for the present.

Many tax-paying citizens find their incomes sadly depleted; they are entitled to all the assistance that can be given them by an economic administration of public affairs.

AN INDIVIDUAL CHALLENGE.

The chief challenge of Fire Prevention Week comes to the individual citizen, or, more accurately, to the householder.

So far as business places are concerned, Fire Chief Gimblett's activities and the systematic inspection carried on by his men have resulted in a most marked improvement in conditions.

There are no longer the fire hazards in cellars and back-yards in the business section that once were a constant fire menace, and for that the fire chief is to be commended; the results of his systematic inspection are obvious.

Manifestly, however, it would be impossible to extend a similar inspection to the homes of the community; if the thing were feasible it would require a small army of firemen to make anything like regular visits.

The householder will have to be his own inspector, and this week he should devote some time to the task, conscientiously endeavor to eliminate fire hazards.

If there is an accumulation of rubbish in the cellar it should be removed; if there are inflammable materials stored under staircases they, too, should be taken away.

Chimneys should be cleaned and stove and furnace pipes relieved of their accumulation of soot, ready for the winter season.

Here Fire Prevention Week can be linked up with the Give-a-man-a-job campaign.

Decide what should be done to make your home safer, and if you are in a position to pay for having the work done, turn the job over to one of the local unemployed.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

This is Fire Prevention Week, set apart by Royal proclamation as a period during which the people of Canada are expected to pay more than usual attention to this matter of unnecessary loss occasioned by fires that for the most part need never to have happened.

That there is occasion for considering that most important question, a statement just issued by Dominion Fire Commissioner J. Grove Smith offers convincing evidence.

Mr. Smith presents official figures to show that in the past ten years there have been 386,000 fires in Canada, which took 3,926 lives, seriously injured 9,858 persons and caused a property damage of $413,000,000.

These statistics alone are enough to prove the absolute necessity for the people of Canada to endeavor to slash this enormous economic waste and to prevent this terrible loss of life.

When it is realized that fires in Canada are responsible for property damage at the rate of $200 for every minute of each year, and that the annual loss capitalized at 5 per cent. represents over two billion dollars, or just a little less than the national debt, the desirability of dealing with this matter should become obvious to every one.

This week should see Peterborough make a determined onslaught on its fire hazards by a systematic clean-up and the removal of everything that may be regarded as a possible fire-breeder.

Sensible people should not sit idly by and watch property being destroyed at the rate of $200 per minute.

HIGHWAY WORK IN THE EAST.

The Peterborough Examiner asks why a decision to undertake additional highway work in Eastern Ontario should not follow the proposal to give employment to from 3,000 to 4,000 men during the winter months upon the construction of a third highway joining the cities of Toronto and Hamilton.

The point is well taken. There will be no objection to the furnishing of work upon the highway in question in order to relieve traffic congestion between the two cities and to provide employment for some of the men who cannot be absorbed on the new highway projects in Northern Ontario. But Central Ontario, populous though it is, has no monopoly of unemployment, and eastern centres will have to deal with perhaps just as pressing conditions during the winter months. Not all of the eastern unemployed by far will be able to take their places in the quotas that are to go north for highway work.

Notwithstanding this, provincial highway construction seems to have come to a virtual end in the eastern part of the Province, and there is as yet no indication that it is to be resumed. This newspaper does not take much stock in the proposal to build another trunk highway connecting the cities of Peterborough and Ottawa, because it considers that Eastern Ontario is already fairly well served with main trunk highways. But it does believe that more branch roads are required, and if weather conditions do not permit the actual laying of improved surfaces during the winter months, at least the less severe periods of weather could be used in the excavation and grading operations which precede the laying of such surfaces.

A short time ago from 75 to 85 men engaged upon the improvement of highway No. 31 in the neighborhood of Newbliss were thrown out of work because it was impossible to secure an extension of the contract for re-surfacing that piece of road. The same condition has arisen at other points along the provincial highway system in this part of the Province. The season's work has come to an end and little or nothing has been arranged to take its place. In consequence, unemployment is being accentuated, and it will continue to exist unless steps are taken to devise substitute employment.

Badly-needed resurfacing operations may not be practicable during the winter months. But preliminary operations could be carried on. And perhaps there will shortly come an announcement from the Department of Public Highways that such work is to be undertaken.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

RUSSIA NOT IMMUNE.

By this time there must be very few persons who still believe that Soviet "dumping" was a Communist conspiracy to demoralize the markets of the world by forcing down prices and so hastening the fall of the capitalist system. The point was soon made that the worst sufferers from a catastrophic decline in commodity prices would be the Soviet Government, which must buy the machines for its ambitious industrialization plans from other countries and can pay for them only by the export of raw materials, chiefly fuel and foodstuffs.

The official figures on Russia's foreign commerce for the fiscal year 1929-1930—up to Oct. 1—have long been in hand. They show that, compared with the preceding fiscal year, the Soviet Government exported 50 per cent. more in volume and received 14 per cent. more in rubles. In other words, falling prices in 1929-30 reduced Russia's buying capacity by 24 per cent. Now a United Press dispatch from Moscow states that in the first six months of the present calendar year exports were 10 per cent. higher than in the corresponding period last year and sold for 21 per cent. less. Again in harmony with the general world trend, the Soviet Government's buying capacity was down by 27 per cent. from a period already severely affected. Apparently, Russian purchasing power, based entirely on raw materials, would be proportionately not much more than 50 per cent. of what it was two years ago.

Such increasing difficulties in buying abroad may be regarded as one of the factors that have compelled the Communist Government to announce that from now on to the end of the Five-Year Plan, and in the other five-year plans that are to follow, it will concentrate more on goods production, instead of giving its entire thought to the building up of industrial plants. Needs must. If it grows increasingly harder to buy foreign machines—and leadership—for the construction of water-power plants, steel plants, tractor plants and the like, common sense suggests that an effort be made by the Soviet Government to try to get some use out of the machines it has already set up. The principal pressure in that direction comes, of course, from the Russian masses, who are beginning to show limits to their capacity for going with short rations and without clothes in expectation of the abundance to come some day.

And, finally, the operation of such Soviet industrial plants as have been completed has been so utterly disappointing that once more common sense would impel the Soviet Government to make an effort to learn how to work the machines in hand before starving the people to buy new ones abroad.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

You can help to make the unemployment problem a little easier by giving a man a job—even if only for a few hours.

If the Toronto newspapers do not stop telling about the menus in the northern work camps, the whole population will be trying to get a job up there.

The condition of Lefty Grove's index finger is the big question to-day in the United States. That's one problem that can't be put up to President Hoover.

The brand of October weather so far this month has made everybody smile but the coal man. His inning is, however, coming.

Oshawa authorities have had to issue a special appeal to citizens of the Motor City to pay their taxes, a development that illustrates how hard Oshawa has been hit by economic conditions.

INSTALMENT 23

That night Lisa remarked to Fabia, I met Dr. Warburton's assistant today."

"You met Dan?"

"Yes. I dropped in on Dr. Warburton to tell him something about the New Wing, and his assistant happened to come into the office while I was waiting."

"Yes?" said Fabia, in a sort of breathless way.

"We had quite a talk, and it ended by my asking him to come to dinner."

"Yes," Fabia repeated, still breathlessly.

"But he said he couldn't."

"I know he wouldn't. What do you think of him?"

"I thought he was very interesting."

"In other words, you didn't like him?"

"Oh, yes, I did!" Lisa made her tone warmer. "I liked him very much. He has ideas, and is not afraid to express them, but—"

"Yes? But what?"

"Well, he isn't exactly—how shall I put it—to the manner born, is he?" she inquired gently.

"In what way?"

"Oh, in little ways. He remained sitting while I stood, contradicted in argument, was not very courteous about my dinner invitation, and was a little provincial in speech. Trifling things, of course. Unimportant in themselves."

Fabia's cheeks were flushing. Lisa observed them. It was cruel, but much better in the long run.

"But Dr. Warburton said some very nice things about him."

"Did he?" murmured Fabia.

"He said he had remarkable ability, and thought it very amazing that he should have sprung from such a mediocre family."

"I told you about Dan's family myself," said Fabia defiantly.

"Yes, I know you did, dear. But you didn't tell me about the girl he intends to marry. Perhaps he didn't tell you about her."

"What girl does he intend to marry?"

"I believe her name is Hearn—Agnes Hearn. Dr. Warburton says she's very attractive. She works on the telephone switch-board at the Hotel Statler."

This was Friday. Fabia wasn't going to see Dan again until next Thursday. Their trip to Newton yesterday had been very successful. They hadn't touched each other, unless the occasional slight grazing of knees could be called touching. Fabia didn't think Dan had been conscious of it. Dan was going to Newton again next Thursday. It had been arranged that she would meet him at twelve o'clock on Charles st., as near Mount Vernon as she could park. Dan had several patients near by. He would see them and run out to Newton between twelve and two. He was due at the office at two.

She arrived at the foot of Mount Vernon st. a few minutes of twelve. Dan might finish early. She was trembling a little when she stopped the engine of her machine. She had spent a terrible five days since her mother's call on Dr. Warburton. Several times she had been on the point of calling up Dan, and making an earlier appointment. She'd ask him about Agnes Hearn the minute he arrived. Five minutes after twelve! He'd be here any minute now.

Over and over again for the last five days Fabia's intellect had tried to persuade her it was perfectly legitimate for Dan to intend to marry the girl at the Statler. Why shouldn't he? He certainly had made it clear that he had no intention of marrying Fabia. But her emotions cried out against the possibility. He had told her she was the only girl he had ever kissed like that. Had he been lying? Did he make appointments with Agnes Hearn, too? Did he keep her waiting, too? It was ten minutes after twelve.

Agnes Hearn was very pretty. It hurt Fabia that she was so pretty. Fabia had never been hurt by another girl's prettiness before. Fabia had been so harried that she had given in finally to the nagging curiosity she couldn't control, and had gone into the Hotel Statler. From a safe distance she had examined the girls at the telephone switch-boards. Miss Hearn was very dark, a decided brunette with glorious brown eyes and long lashes. Fabia had gone out into the early-lit streets with a faint feeling new to her. She simply hated that girl's prettiness! Oh, well, probably she had very little intelligence, and, like Dan, was anything but to the manner born. Her mother was right. It was twenty after twelve!

Twelve-thirty. Twelve-thirty-five. Twelve-forty. What if he did not come at all!

Perhaps he had had an unexpected call from a patient. But unless the patient was dying, he could have sent a message to her. Perhaps he had had an accident.

Fabia waited until two o'clock, and then went into a shop near by and called Dr. Warburton's office. Dan's voice answered her.

"Hello," he said in a serene tone.

Fabia did not reply.

"Hello," he repeated, and, after a pause, "hello."

Still Fabia remained silent.

Dan began signaling Central. "Hello, hello," he repeated patiently at intervals. Fabia had hung up the receiver. Oh, he wasn't worthy of her burning cheeks, aching throat, and tears that would blur her eyes as she guided her car through the congested traffic.

She would have nothing more to do with him. He wasn't a gentleman. He sat while her mother stood. He kept her waiting for two hours on a street corner. And his family were awful! Thank goodness he had kept her waiting. It had brought her to her senses. Thank goodness, too, he had kissed her while he was intending to marry another girl, and showed the cheap stuff he was made of before it was too late. Thank goodness! Thank goodness! She was free of him at last.

She returned home at dark. The moment she entered the house she asked her maid for her telephone messages. None had come from Dan.

All during dinner, all during the evening, every time the telephone bell rang, her heart beat faster. She told herself, when finally she went to bed at eleven-thirty, that Dan had kept her waiting for nearly twelve hours now. It was inexcusable. She would never forgive him.

Fabia left the house before eight-thirty the next morning to escape the torture of more waiting. She didn't return till noon. She found Dan's note upon her desk.

"Dear Fabia," the note said, "I couldn't keep our date yesterday after all. A patient at the hospital detained me. I am very sorry. I hope you weren't much inconvenienced. I'm on my way to an emergency operation. In haste, Dan."

She read it twice, then tore it into tiny bits and stuffed them under the carefully laid logs in her fireplace. Her cheeks were flaming. She sat down at her desk and wrote her first note to Dan.

"Dear Dan: It was inexcusable. I don't want to see you again ever, please. I will have Peter left at your mother's house at an early date. In haste, Fabia."

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them inserted.

DEAR! DEAR!

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Sir:

"Only divine grace can save the world", Mr. Bennett announces. When he gave his sister the fat job at Washington and took the tax off big incomes and put it on (and lots of it) the toiler we all said the same thing, viz.: "Only the divine grace can save such a world at this."

However he inadvertently confesses that he hasn't done it.

J. H. BURNHAM.

AN OPEN LETTER.

J. F. Strickland, Esq., K.C., M.P.P.
Barrister, etc.,
City:
Dear sir:

This morning's newspapers' report is that Premier Henry will assist Hamilton in its $2,000,000.00 civic building program.

There is no reason why Peterborough should not be in the same position as Hamilton and be assisted by the Ontario Government in building a new City Hall, which Peterborough needs badly.

You can be assured, I am satisfied, that Mayor Denne and the Council would do everything to support you in the effort to obtain the assistance of the Ontario Government to relieve unemployment in this city.

In addition to that this morning's papers show that the unemployed cave dwellers of the Don Valley were taken away to the extent of about two hundred to be employed in the work commencing in New Ontario at 30 cents an hour.

Peterborough's unmarried unemployed should be treated at least as well as the men, who were living in the Don Valley, where 100 per cent quota was permitted by the Ontario Government.

At a time like this, when unemployment is so distressing an urgent and united effort should be made to share the Government's assistance, which is being given to other municipalities which are no more entitled to it than Peterborough is.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—Cheese exports to Great Britain last week soarded above the 70,000 box mark to chalk up a new record for a week's shipments over a period of years. The figures were 71,515 boxes, as compared with 56,358 boxes in the preceding week. The previous high mark was 63,618 boxes, shipped out in the week ending Sept. 5, 1931. With each box representing 35 pounds, last week's shipments worked out at 6,078,775 pounds. The value at the current prices would be nearly $1,000,000. Exports for the season of cheese to the United Kingdom have reached 646,669 boxes, which compares with 553,958 boxes during the corresponding period of last year.

Exports of butter from Montreal last week totalled 7,048 boxes, bringing the season's shipments to date to 140,311, compared with the very small total of 163 boxes at this time last year.

No Eggs Exported Last Week

There were no exports of eggs last week. The season's shipments to date are 2,500 cases, against 2,725 cases last year at this time.

Prices on the whole showed an increase here last week. Cheese prices advanced a full cent per pound on the Montreal market, becoming 12¼c to 12½c for Quebec, and 12½c to 12¾c for Ontarios. The advance was carried to the producers, the country board sales on Saturday being one cent higher than on the preceding Saturday.

Butter Slightly Higher

Butter prices advanced fractionally to end the week generally 20c for carlots of Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized. Small lots to retailers sold during the week at 21c to 22c for solids and 22c to 23c for prints.

The egg market advanced during the week 2c a dozen on top grades of fresh eggs. Carlots of Ontario or Prairie Provinces eggs were quoted at 33c to 34c on Saturday for extras, 27c to 28c for firsts and 18c for seconds. British Columbia eggs were 35c for extras, 30c for firsts.

The week's receipts were: Eggs, 4,436 cases; butter, 14,000 boxes; cheese, 34,831 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—Shattering of quotations, both on stocks and sterling broke down buying resistance of grains Saturday, and pitched wheat, corn and oats to fresh bottom levels. May wheat outdid any low price record which that delivery had ever reached before since organized trading began here. The fall in sterling militated especially against wheat, with North American export business in that commodity fading almost to zero.

Wheat closed skittish, 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents lower; corn 1 to 1⅜ down; oats, ½ to ¾ off, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, October 5 — Strong Liverpool cables again boosted the values on the wheat market. Gains were held at the close on Saturday, however, and final figures recorded gains of from ½c to ⅝c over Friday's finish.

October closed at 53, up ½c; November and December, at 53¾c and 53½c, each advanced ⅝c, while May, at 57⅛c to 57½c, was up ½c to ⅝c higher.

An unexpected last-minute rally caused by an unofficial report that Canada had abandoned her gold standard provided the market with an active trading period near the close. The rally was easily accomplished with shorts clamoring for supplies in a pit where offerings had suddenly become scarce and an early decline of ⅜c was soon wiped out.

Cash wheat trading was slow. No. 1 Northern sold at spreads ⅛c better. Coarse grains were indifferent and unchanged.

PILES ALL GONE

Without Salves or Cutting.

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct the cause of piles. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET CLOSE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., October 5 (CP) — World financial markets began the new week in unsettlement to-day, and security prices in New York were marked down severely. Several prominent stocks dropping 3 to more than 7 points. Sales approximated three million shares.

The market was weak all day, but ran into an especially sharp reaction in the late trading. Bonds also weakened.

A report that a large Montreal investment house had suspended reached Wall Street in the last hour when the day's lowest prices were made on the stock exchange.

The rail stocks broke badly. Union Pacific fell below par for the first time since 1904. Santa Fe dropped under par for the first time since 1924. U.S. Steel tumbled about 6 points to a new low since 1915. American Telephone lost about 7 points. American Can., Liggett & Myers, Consolidated Gas, North American, Southern Pacific and New York Central los t4 to 6. Allied Chemical sold off more than 7.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 5.—Assignment by McDougall and Cowans, largest brokerage house in Canada, holding four seats on Montreal Stock Exchange, caused a flood of liquidation on Canadian stocks on the Toronto market in the afternoon and, striking a market which had been weak from theo utset due to Wall Street reaction, broke prices of leading stocks two points and more this afternoon. Several record lows resulted while several other pivotal issues were down to their record lows of previous days.

The late liquidation concentrated in Brazilian, Nickel, B.A. Oil and Dominion Stores, with C.P.R. and Ford of Canada affected, though to lesser extent.

Brazilian broke more than 2 points to a low of 8, where it was just abov eits record low of 7⅞. Nickel carried down through its old low of 8½. Dominion stores went down early 2 points to 15. The stock had dropped to 14 in the spring when a New York House interested in the issue went under.

C.P.R. found a new low at 14; weakness being attributed to New York selling the rails. B.A. Oil equalled its old low of 8. Walkers, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Noranda eased fractionally.

Gold stocks eased in the afternoon but were up on the day.

"Very glad to see you, boys," he said.

Both men wore wool sox, but no shoes. Pangborn said they went nearly to Spokane, but turned arcund and came back. They said they were over Seattle, but there was "plenty of fog there."

"We've been in Japan so long we're still going barefooted," Pangborn said.

The fliers left Samushiro at 5.01 p.m. E.S.T., Saturday and landed to-day at 10.14 a.m. E.S.T.

The Japanese newspaper representative had been in Washington State three months waiting to present the check to some lucky non-stop trans-Pacific birdmen.

Pangborn and Herndon said they would fly to Dallas, Texas, non-stop from here, to win an additional $25,000 prize which they said is offered by a wealthy Texan for the first flight from Japan to that city with only one stop en route.

Barred From Prize.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 5.— Colonel W. E. Easterwood, Jr., Dallas aviation enthusiast, said to-day Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, who successfully completed a flight from Japan to Wenatchee, Wash., could "fly in some other direction" and that they would not be eligible for the $25,000 prize he offered for a Japan-to-Dallas flight.

"They cabled me from Tokyo asking about my offer, while I was attending the American Legion convention in Detroit," he said, "and I replied that Texas will pick its own aviators that we are interested in flights for the advancement of aviation not in stunts. I will have to be judge of the plane and of the aviators in such an attempt."

Anti-British Plot Hatched In Turkey

A report from London states that intrigue to regain for Leon Trotsky his former post as war lord of Russia, to place the former King Amanullah, Khan of Afghanistan, back on the throne and to rally a great Red army to menace British Indian frontiers made a sudden dramatic advance when Amanullah visited Trotsky in the latter's exile home at Prinkipo, Turkey. Above are the principals in the anti-British plot; Leon Trotsky (left), and ex-King Amanullah (right).

ACTS REFLECT HEART'S VISION

"We Hear What is Within Us," Says Rev. J. U. ROBINS.

GEORGE ST. SERMON.

Rev. J. U. Robins of Listowel was the preacher at both morning and evening services at George Street United Church on Sunday. At the morning service a very large congregation listened with rapt attention to his earnest and forceful discourse. His text was the 29th verse of the 12th chapter of St. John. "The people therefore that stood by and heard it said that it was thunder; others said, An angel spake to him."

When the voice from Heaven came saying in reference to the Father's name "I have glorified it and will glorify it again." To some it was nothing but a crash of thunder; to others, angels' voices. This illustrates one of the great principles of life. We hear what is within us. We see what is reflected in our inner mirror, and what is in our hearts is reflected in our acts.

The speaker said, "The difference in vision depends on difference of our inward mirrors. A stranger looking upon an old woman might think her very hideous, but a son would see her beauty. The mirrors in our eyes change the vision.

Some individuals see the world from a selfish standpoint. They only see things for themselves and their families. Others see things far away and lose great possibilities by not seeing the things close at hand. Again, others see things with eyes of uncertainty. They are pulled hither and thither by cross currents so have clouded vision.

The shallow-eyed have not the capacity to see great things. The great difference in vision is within oneself. Did you ever think before passing judgment, that your idea was a reflection from your inner self? Oh, the differences of vision: but Jesus sees and understands our every act and thought.

What is the vision that comes to us to-day? Jesus wants us to have the Christian mirror. If a shadow has fallen on life, it is because we have not hope, faith and love in our hearts. God is trying to speak to use. Like radio, he is trying to tune in: the great God trying to get in touch with us through insignificant things. The result all depends on our desires. If we keep our mind's eye on heavenly things and, as the Psalmist said, "Who will ascend into the high places." eLt us follow him and we will have the Christian mirror and the joy of Christ life.

The choir, under the leadership of Mr. D. Howat, rendered special anthems at both services and Miss Dorothy Sager sang two beautiful solos.

ROTARY STAGES WILD DINNER

Members Dine on Duck and Black Rice at Weekly Luncheon To-day.

A COMING INDUSTRY.

Wm. Packham Deals With the Future of Electric Appliances for the Home.

"We are looking forward to the time when it will supply employment for hundreds of men here," declared Wm. Packham of Toronto, a member of the merchandising staff of the Canadian General Electric Company, in referring to the establishment of an electric refrigerator section at the company's Peterborough plant, in addressing the Rotary Club to-day.

Mr. Packham's subject was "Home Electric Appliances," and he predicted that the manufacture of these would supply that great new industry that was necessary to replace those in which the peak of production had been reached and to supply employment for those rendered workless by over-production in other lines.

Introducted by Rotarian Fred Reed, the speaker pointed out that there was a great field for electric appliances. Only 8 per cent of the wired homes of Canada had electric refrigerators, only 25 per cent. had electric washers, and only 45 per cent. electric radios. Describing the vast amount of research work that was carried on, Mr. Packham predicted that the world would be astonished by new developments that would soon reach the market. Such home appliances as electric refrigerators, irons, washing machines, coal blowers, automatic dampers and many others would be increasingly in demand, and constantly improved.

He reminded his hearers that in electricity they had a magic lamp such as Aladdin never dreamed of.

The thanks of he club were extended by Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin.

Among the visitors to-day was Rotarian T. R. Sparks of Dublin, who brought greetings from his club and reported that Rotary in Ireland was in a flourishing condition.

President Downey gave an interesting report of the visit of sixteen Peterborough Rotarians to Bowmanville on Friday. The speech of Hon. W. G. Martin was greatly enjoyed, he said.

Rotarian Chris. G. Graham supplied a "wild" dinner for his club mates to-day, with roast wild duck and a wild rice pudding as features.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy voiced the appreciation of the members.

It was decided that next week's meeting will be on Tuesday.

Alderville Fair

ALDERVILLE, Oct. 5 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Alderville Indian School Fair was held on Friday afternoon and without a doubt was one of the best of its kind one could find anywhere. There was a fine display of exhibits and a nice variety, taking in all the varieties of any garden. The home cooking was more plentiful this year than last, and all of it was very appetizing, that the judges spent considerable time making their final discussion. It is evident that the teacher Miss Atkinson and her pupils put forth every effort in their work to make the event such a success.

There was a full program for the afternoon, first Miss Atkinson directed the pupils in their exercises and singing after which they marched from the school ground to the council chamber, where an excellent entertainment was given, consisting of songs and readings by the boys and girls and brief addresses were given by Rev. R. W. Paton representing the church, Col. W. J. Odell public school inspector ,who made several pleasing remarks about his coming to visit the Alderville Indian Reserve and felt he was not a stranger in a strange place, but rather brought back memories of past years. He spoke of the beautiful memorial monument which is noted throughout the whole Dominion of Canada and how nicely the grass and flowers look around it. Lastly he complimented the teacher, Miss Atkinson. Speaking of her faithfulness to service, her honesty and commented upon the brilliant success of the school fair which she and her pupils had worked for.

Mr. James Grieve, Indian agent of the Alderville Reserve, acted as chairman and voiced his appreciation to everyone who took part in the fair and those who came to make such a fine gathering which is most pleasing and encouraging to both teacher and pupils.

The judges for the exhibits were Col. J. W. Odell, Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A.; Mr. M. Davey, Mr. J. Grieve, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Misses Mary Mattress and J. Johnston.

SMOOTH SAILING FROM CHURCHILL

worth Mr. MacDonald, representing Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, the Dominions' secretary, extended the congratulations of the home Government. The Farnworth had made history, he declared.

Alluding to Canada's latest seaport, Mr. MacDonald slyly remarked amid laughter that Churchill was not christened after any contemporary British statesman but was named after the great Duke of Marlborough of bygone days, who was president of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The longer sea journey held out little temptation to persons who, like himself, were bad sailors, Mr. MacDonald said, unless fares were reduced to such an extent they would be irresistible to Scotsmen.

Short Cut To Europe.

But the commercial prospects of such a short cut to Europe were very great, Mr. MacDonald added.

"The route is one in which our own industrialists will maintain a very keen interest," he said. There was no doubt the best hopes for economic success lay in having ships carrying full cargoes both ways.

Col. Vanier, in extending the Canadian Government's congratulations to Captain Mouat, presented him with a gold-mounted cane which carried a commemorative inscription.

In acknowledging the gift, the skipper, emphasized his complete satisfaction with the prospects from the seaman's viewpoint, especially recognizing the effective arrangements made at Churchill for the accommodation and guidance of vessels.

One of those attending the ceremony was Sir Frederick Palmer, distinguished engineer, who professionally advised the Canadian Government on the development of the port of Churchill.

Port Of London Busy.

The trade of the port of London as of the country generally may be temporarily in a bad way, but those who made the journey eastward from the city or west-end to-day by motor car to Victoria Docks wondered whether things were so bad as they are described. Considering the congestion on the labyrinth of roads leading to the heart of dockland, it would almost seem an easier job to bring a vessel out of Churchill than to take a motor car to the Victoria Docks.

GREENSHIELDS& CO. FAIL

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 5. — Announcement of the failure of Greenshields and Company, brokers, was made this afternoon. It followed closely on the announcement that McDougall and Cowans had gone into liquidation.

Huckleberry Plants Are Blooming Again

A second crop of huckleberries is possible if the warm weather continues a few weeks longer, residents of Buckhorn contend and to prove the possibility send in a dozen sprays of the huckeberry plant in full bloom. Germany Considers Means to Restrict British Imports—Ruhr Nervous.

SHOE PINCHING FRANCE.

Britain's Pound Action Puzzle—Savings Increase as Depression Deepens.

LONDON Oct 3. (By George Hambleton, C. P staff correspondent, who contributes the third of a series of weekly cabled reviews of the European economic situation.—Perplexed Europe is grappling with the financial problem with greater speed than ever known before. For in the view of many when Britain temporarily abandoned the gold standard she unintentionally precipitated conditions which may well lead to a financial revolution.

In Britain itself the change over from gold to paper has been marked by little excitement. There has been some increase in the price of certain foodstuffs but large stocks on hand prevented any such heavy general increase as was likely to cause disturbance of a serious nature. And the Government is providing prison for the profiteer.

Profound Reaction

But on the continent the reaction is profound. To the continent two things represented the ultimate in security: the British pound and the British navy. The drive from one and the strike in the other all in a few days left the average German and Frenchman wondering whether the end of the world had come. Berlin kept her bourse closed. The Bank of France with a large part of her reserves in sterling, was hit hard. The Scandinavian countries to counteract the sudden, if temporary, check given to their exports to Britain, decided to follow sterling and suspend the gold standard. Italy retained the gold standard but increased her tariffs.

Germany, which only a few weeks ago threatened wholesale dumping of goods in Britain, is now considering means to restrict British imports. The Ruhr, nervous over the impetus given to British coal, has taken counter-measures. Under emergency decrees both the Ruhr mine-owners and employees have been relieved of the obligation to pay unemployment insurance (the German Government is making good the consequent loss to the unemployment fund) and by an arbitrary award the Minister of Labor has reduced miners' wages by seven per cent. By this double assistance such is the idea, the Ruhr mine-owners will be enabled to reduce prices in competitive areas.

Shoe Pinching France.

And in France, despite her hoards of gold, the shoe is beginning to pinch. France, by reason of her command of credit, has become unquestioned financial leader of Europe. The French gold is linked with the French political policy. In Hungary, in Jugo-Slavia, French diplomacy has acquired new activity. The proposed Austro-German Customs union is ended. But France feels the world slump. Her unemployed may be only one-seventh of the British total, but France's imports are substantially exceeding her exports. One-sixth of her merchant fleet is idle. The failure of the Banque Nationale de Credit—suffering both from bear attacks on its securities and depreciations in the shares of concerns in which it was interested—was averted only by the combined action of the French Government and other French banks.

After its early fall the English pound has been slowly climbing again on the foreign markets. And everybody is now wondering what the next step will be. Will Britain remain off the gold standard, or will she—as France did with the franc — stabilize the pound at a point lower than the old value? If she does stabilize it, at what point will it be. And while the pound fluctuates, financial experts argue and expound their proposals. The bimetallist stresses the advantage of the dual standard of gold and silver and this is met with the argument that bimetallists would do nothing to remedy the underlying causes of sterilization of gold. Suggestions of an international currency accompany suggestions that South Africa, Canada and Australia should sell gold only to the Bank of England or the British Treasury and a new gold currency could be established for the British Commonwealth.

Savings Increase.

And in all the welter of argument Britain herself presents a curious phenomenon. While the depression deepens her savings increase. Until three weeks ago every week this year saw heavier purchases of national savings certificates than the corresponding week of a year ago. In the first six months of the year the purchases were nearly $18,750,000 higher than last year, while encashments in the same period increased by only $5,000,000. At the end of the financial year the total of savings certificates sold had the enormous cash value of $4,010,000,000.

FIND TOMBSTONE OF CHAS. DICKENS' DOG

And It Is Discovered That Mrs. Bouncer Was a Pomeranian

The discovery at Higham, near Gravesend, England, of the tombstone erected to the memory of "Mrs. Bouncer", the dog belonging to Charles Dickens, has aroused the interest of Dickensians throughout Britain.

Mr. Edwin Harris, the Rochester historian, has discovered that "Mrs. Bouncer" was a Pomeranian given to Dickens by his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith.

In letters to his daughter Dickens made references to the dog, and in one wrote: "In my mind's eye I behold Mrs. Bouncer still with some traces of her old anxiety on the faithful countenance, balancing herself unequally on her bowed forelegs, twitching up her ears with her head on one side and slightly distending her intellectual nostrils.

"I send my love and respect duly to her."

Mrs. Bouncer was named after the character in "Box and Cox."

REV. DR. LANGFORD SPEAKS AT UNITED CHURCH RE-OPENNG

St. John's Church at Campbellford Re-opened Following Building Renovations.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 5 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Beautiful after the labors of the past few weeks, during which time the congregation has worked ungrudgingly to renovate their church and make several additions, St. John's United Church, Campbellford, started their fall and winter season on Sunday with grand re-opening services and in the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. C. Tait, who is ill in hospital, the Rev. Dr. Frank Langford of Toronto preached at both services.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion and special music under the direction of the organist, A. Hazell, was featured. In the morning, a quartette comprised of Mrs. F. J. Smith, Mrs. F. Jones and Messrs. H. Donald and H. Jones, sang "Love of Jesus"; Miss Emma Meiklejohn, a solo; and the choir an anthem, "My Soul Waiteth."

In the afternoon a special Sunday School Rally was held, at which the guest speaker was Ross Strike of Bowmanville.

Morning Service

At the morning services Dr. Langford preached from verses 8 to 13 of St. Paul's epistle of the Philippians, stressing three points: to think, to do, and the peace of God which comes through thought and action. It has been said he stated that this was a thoughtless age, both with the young people and the older folks. Although he did not agree wholly with this, he urged the necessity of taking the apostle's advice to heart —to think—to use the mind for the purpose it was given for. It was always the business of the Christian church, he stated, to make people think and so lead them to the truth. This was set forth as one of the great fundamentals of the church to-day. This the church had always done and was still doing: calling people to the sacred edifice each week there to make them think on the holy truths of the Bible and the blessed lessons learned from the life of Christ. This was also true of the Sunday School, Young People's Society and every organization which the church embodied. They all had this as part of their function —to find out the truth.

"The study of the truth, declared the preacher, is reflected in the lives of Christians" who pointed out that it would be a great day in the life of the church when every one set themselves to understand the truth as revealed in the love of God.

And then again as St. Paul stated, think on being just and honest, said Dr. Langford. This was not an easy task to-day and yet when we come to the realization that we of the world were all neighbors and that the actions of one influenced the actions of all it was vital that we should think on the matter.

"What was the honest thing to do regarding those who were unemployed" he asked, pointing out that they commanded the consideration of their more fortunate brothers who had work. It was our duty to think on this, honestly and justly.

And then we must think pure, lovely and beautiful thoughts, not letting the smallness of idle gossip creep into our conversation. "We only get satisfaction out of living, the preacher declared when we forget the little things and think only of the big."

"We must lift our house of thoughts were it is high and clean and speak only those things of good report" declared Dr. Langford who deplored the fact that some daily papers did not follow this line of action. "If one hundred families live in peace and harmony for a year, that is not news he stated, but if one family has trouble, that is featured."

And the great challenge comes, the preacher pointed out, when we further follow the command of the apostle and also Christ, to do. After thought must be action for without action thought is useless "No one will ever find the way of Jesus unless he doeth the things he knows a Christian ought to do" he declared. The church will be judged by the actions of Christians the preacher pointed out.

And the peace of God will be with us all, he stated saying that this was the greatest experience that could come to any one of us this side of Heaven.

And in conclusion Dr. Langford said that we could do all things in Christ, pointing out that such men as Luther, Knox, Calvin and Wesley had accomplished the impossible because of God being with them and so we could accomplish if only God was with us.

COURT RULES OUT NEGLIGENCE COUNT

Judge Claims Pulver-Stevens Crash Due to Mistake in Judgment

LINDSAY, Oct. 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — In the County Judge's Criminal Court on Saturday, presided over by His Honor Judge Ruddy, of Whitby, Samuel Pulver, a local junk dealer, was acquitted on the charge of criminal negligence.

The accused, while driving his car on the Lindsay-Whitby Highway, had cut into the front of one driven by W. H. Stevens, of Toronto at the village of Oakwood on Sunday, August 2. It was forced into the ditch, and Mrs. Stevens and her daughter, occupants of the car, were injured. In dismissing the charge, the Court held that a mistake in judgment on the part of Pulver, and not negligence, was the cause of the crash.

A country temperance union in connection with the W.C.T.U. was organized in Lindsay during the week-end. Miss Duff, Provincial Organizer for the W.C.T.U., took charge of the organization meeting. The county officers are: President, Mrs. W. Neman of Woodville (wife of the M.L.A. for North Victoria); Vice-President, Mrs. Glenny, Lindsay; Rec. Sec. Miss E. McKague, of Bexley; Cor. Sec., Mrs. F. S. Lees, Woodville; Treas., Mrs. W. S. Sloan, Little Britain.

Havelock Bowlers Divide Home Play

HAVELOCK, Oct. 5 — (Examiner Correspondence) — Bowlers from Hastings paid a visit to the local greens on Friday evening last and played four games with local rinks. Two rinks, skipped by Lynch and Jones, of Hastings, were defeated in both games by the rink skipped by Simmons. In the two games against Mathison's rink the visitors were the victors. Mathison's boys have been doing first-class work, but on Friday evening were not in their usual good form. However in the forthcoming tournament, to be held on the local greens they will have a chance to once again trot their stuff, and it is predicted that they will stage a comeback.

In a recent bowling tournament held at Madoc, two of the local boys carried home the bacon, in the form of handsome mantel clocks, won by Messrs. Reg. Brennan and J. H. Moore, playing in the Scotch doubles.

Witty and O'Donnell of Stirling, carried off honors in the primary games. Messrs. A. Kempt and Dr. Sutton of Norwood, each were awarded a handsome radio lamp, and D. Cutcliffe and F. Kempt received a miniature set of bridge cards as consolation prizes.

HOME IS BURNED ON CORDOVA ROAD

HAVELOCK, Oct. 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—When fire broke out near the chimney of Frank Varty's house on the Cordova road, at 11.40 a.m. on Friday, only a few of the contents were saved from the flames. When discovered, the fire had made rapid progress, and Mr. Varty had little more than time to get his family out of the burning building. Flames were first noticed near the chimney and it is thought it was caused by overheating.

It is reported that a small amount of insurance was carried on the contents, but the building was not insured.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by members of the Albion Club and their friends, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Aboud on Friday last; progressive euchre being the order of the day. Five tables were played, the prize for highest score going to Miss Gwen Rutherford and Mr. Grant Seeney. The ladies' prize was a handsome cut glass pitcher; the gentleman's a silk four-in-hand tie. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games.

Fishing at Belmont Lake was particularly good in the past week, some really big ones being caught by local anglers. Mr. Wilbert Ashby landed a fine specimen weighing six pounds two ounces not so long ago, and Mr. John King pulled out a four pounder on Thursday last. It is the general opinion of anglers hereabout that fishing in Belmont Lake is hard to beat.

Messrs. Dolman and Spencer of Buffalo were recent visitors at the tourist lodge of Mr. and Mrs. John King at Belmont Lake.

In Agony from Sheer Weakness

Mrs. Spurgeon Dawson firmly believes she would not be here today if she had not taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic)

"When my children were small," writes Mrs. Spurgeon Dawson, Wolverton, Ont., "I was so weak and run down I could not walk across the floor without fainting. Even the slightest exertion was too much. Days were spent in agony from sheer weakness, and nights were made fearful through sleepless hours.

"It seemed as if nothing whatever would help me . . . Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, and after taking twelve boxes I found strength returning and my stomach able to handle food again. I had not known what a meal was for months."

"Found Strength Returning"

What would you give to be able to cast aside your weakness and substitute vigorous physical strength? That is exactly what many men and women have been enabled to do by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic).

The iron and other elements in these tonic pills increase the amount of haemoglobin or oxygen-carrying agent in the blood. The increased supply of oxygen kindles life in all your tissues just as a draft of fresh air kindles a fire. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, restful sleep, and ability to do your work happily.

Get a supply of Dr Williams' Pink Pills. Take them faithfully. Don't look for immediate results. Sometimes the beneficial results come almost at once—but not always. Give this tonic a fair trial and you will be rewarded—just as other Canadian men and women have been rewarded. 50 cents a package. 22

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Held by Unseen Hands

LOCKED JOINTS THAT KRUSCHEN RELEASED

Unseen hands held this woman in her bed. They held her limbs and her joints, so that she was scarcely able to move. They were the hands of the uric acid fiend—and their grip became tighter and tighter every day.

She had almost despaired of ever loosening their hold—when she made what she describes as "a wonderful discovery." She found Kruschen. Read how it helped her:—

"I have suffered terribly for a very long time with rheumatoid arthritis. The pain I've suffered I cannot explain to you! I commenced taking Kruschen six months ago, following directions, and I am thankful to say in less than a week I was able to get a night's rest and sleep. That was something I had not had for a very long time. My joints seemed completely locked and I could not turn in bed for pain. Now I'm able to sleep well, turn with ease, and get about fine, and my joints seem to be quite different. It was one day when I was reading in the newspaper about Kruschen that I decided to try it. And now I shall never be without it. I consider Kruschen is a wonderful discovery."—Mrs. E. L.

The system of the rheumatic subject is a producer of that dangerous body poison known as uric acid, which is composed of knife-edged crystals. It is bred in accumulated waste matter which the organs of elimination have failed to expel. Kruschen is a powerful solvent of these flint-hard crystals. It swiftly dulls their sharp edges, then flushes them out of the system. Your pains ease; swellings subside; knotted joints become loose.

Better still, Kruschen eliminates the root cause of the evil. Taken regularly, it keeps your liver and kidneys in perfect tune, so that these eliminating organs free your inside from all poison-breeding waste products.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

ROCHESTER CAPTURES DOUBLE VICTORIES OVER THE WEEK-END

Red Wings Defeat St. Paul's Largely Through Puccinelli's Hitting.

FINAL COUNTS 2-1, 9-6.

ST. PAUL, Minn., October 5. — George Puccinelli's terrific home run in the ninth inning gave Rochester a 2 to 1 victory over St. Paul yesterday, sending the International League champions ahead in the Little World Series, three games to one.

It was a tough game for the American Association champions' star hurler, "Huck" Betts, to lose. He allowed the Red Wings only five hits and had worked the count to three and two on Puccinelli when the Rochester rightfielder parked the next pitch over the left field wall to win the game.

There was one out when Puccinelli broke up the game and Betts made the next two hitters fly out to Anderson.

The victory gave Rochester an almost insurmountable lead in the series for the Saints must win four of the next five games at Rochester, starting on Tuesday, to win.

Ira Smith was nicked for seven hits, two coming in the fifth inning when St. Paul scored on a walk to Hopkins, Wanninger's double Betts' single and Saltzgaver's walk which forced in Hopkins.

Two Hits Tie Score.

Meanwhile Betts was sailing along in fine shape, setting the Red Wings down without a hit until the third. In the sixth two safe hits were good for one run. With two away, Moore doubled to left centre, Pepper's single to right scoring him. Pepper was caught trying to stretch it into a double.

Yesterday's attendance was 9,163 which netted $11,679. In the four games here 22,068 persons paid $23,924.75 to see the two clubs play. Of that amount, the players will receive $17,354.85, the clubs $7,231.18 and the Little Series Commission $4,338.70.

The International League pennant-winners batted hard against three of the four Saints' pitchers to face them in Saturday's game, flashing two big innings in which they scored three and four runs to regain the lead they relinquished temporarily in the fifth inning. The final score was 9 to 6.

MISS ORCUTT WINS TITLE BY 6 AND 4

Champion Defeats Miss Marjory Kirkham of Montreal in Final.

DEFENDS CANADIAN TITLE.

Loser Fails to Hold 3-hole Lead Gained in Morning Play.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Miss Maureen Orcutt of the White Beach Golf Club, N. J., successfully defended her title as Canadian women's open golf champion on Saturday at the Rosedale Golf Club by 6 and 4 in a 36-hole final. Miss Orcutt defeated Miss Marjory Kirkham of the Forest Hills Golf and Country Club, Montreal.

Going out in the morning with a half in 36 strokes, Miss Kirkham secured a 3-hole lead, but on her way in lost her substantial lead entirely and finished all square to the champion. In the afternoon Miss Orcutt won the third hole and then commenced to forge ahead until she terminated the contest with her six-hole lead at the fourteenth hole. The cards for the match were:

Morning

Miss Orcutt	454	453	554
	444	454	355—77
Miss Kirkham	444	353	454
	545	456	445—78

Afternoon

Miss Orcutt	444	354	464
	354	35°	•••
Miss Kirkham	446	444	564
	655	46°	•••

Miss Orcutt entered on the defense of her title by leading the field of the qualifying round, with a score of 80 and by winning the championship disposed of the argument so frequently heard that a medallist rarely wins the title. Miss Kirkham scored an 82 for the initial test, and played to the game, which she displayed in the first round to reach the final match. Miss Kirkham's consistency was the outstanding feature of the championship. She is a young golfer who, within a year, has won the Canadian closed championship, the Province of Quebec and City of Montreal title. She starts in on the defense of her Canadian title on Monday morning at the Lambton Golf and Country Club, meeting a strong field of Canadian golfers, including Miss Ada Mackenzie, Miss Cecil and Miss Maude Smith, Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Mrs. C. G. Eddis and others from Ontario and Quebec.

NICE TEAM WORK.

Coach Ernie Legon's fast-stepping Peterborough Collegiate gridiron squad took another hurdle in their chase for the Central Ontario interscholastic rugby title at James Stevenson Park on Saturday afternoon when they defeated the powerful Oshawa Collegiate twelve, 8 to 3.

Oshawa teams have always furnished the Garnet and Grey with the stiffest opposition in their own group and the squad fielded by the Motor City school on Saturday was no exception to this long-standing rule. A husky squad of stalwart youths, which outweighed the Petes at every position by fifteen pounds average, they were well-coached and had speed and power in every thrust.

Against this strong array the Garnet and Grey again relied on superior training in the fine points of the game, speed and dash, and a bewildering assortment of well-screened plays.

Pushed back on the defensive during the first quarter by ramming plunges of the heavy Oshawa halves, P.C.I. by tenacious tackling held off a major score and were trailing only 1 to 0 when the second quarter swung around. Settling into their offensive work and crossing up their opposition with the speed and sweep of their attack, they carried the ball deep in Oshawa territory from where Young kicked a pretty field goal for three points. Oshawa booted for another single point, making the half-time count 3 to 2.

Oshawa again loomed dangerous in the third quarter, but secured only another single to tie the score.

Superior Playing.

Opening the game up in the final spasm, P.C.I. had something better than their share of the gains. With five minutes left to play, Armstrong, P.C.I.'s great line plunger, burst through the Oshawa defences and knocking off tacklers ran twenty-five yards, being finally grassed three yards from the Oshawa touchline. Oshawa massed to their defences and successively turned back a plunge and a trick play. Again Armstrong was handed the pigskin and the big fellow plowed through to complete the job for a touchdown, to make the score 8 to 3.

The tight score and the fine brand of rugby displayed by both squads made the game outstanding. Despite the summer heat the players maintained their speed and the fast pace never slackened.

The whole P.C.I. squad shared the victory honors and it was only the combined effort and smoothness of their play that overcome the heavy weight advantage enjoyed by their opponents.

Armstrong's consistent gains on plunges and his tackling was a feature. Gardner and Reynolds proved the important part that a fine pair of hard tackling outsides may take and the latter also made big gains when handed the ball and his snaring of a forward pass was one of the highlights in the contest.

Nice Teamwork.

Young and Richardson teamed nicely on the back field, and Fraser at quarter showed generalship in his selection from Coach Legon's repertoire of plays.

For Oshawa, Conant's long boots was a big factor during the early stages. Hicks, another half, was a big gainer but was forced to retire through injury during the first half. The team relied mostly on plunges, but appeared to be particularly well-trained in the forward pass, in which department they had much better success than the winners. However, the Petes had it over them in the perfection of their line interference, which was one of the main factor in the win.

The teams:

Oshawa Collegiate—Flying wing, Guiltman; halves, Hicks, Stroud and Conant; quarter, Shelenkoff; snap, Brown; insides, Weldon and Bulmer; middles, Myers and Kashul; outsides, Henley and Law; subs, Joliffe, Gibbs, Crothers, Henderson, Young and Shovchink.

Peterborough Collegiate — Flying wing, Dinesen; halves, Richardson, Young and Kirkwood; quarter, Fraser; snap, Marsh; insides, Claytor and Waddell; middles, Armstrong and Breckenridge; outsides, Gardner and Reynolds; subs, Lord, Sloane, Thirnbeck, Jopling and Clark.

Referee—Bobby Armstrong of Toronto; umpire, J. Bond of Oshawa.

Saturday's Play.

A forward pass and a plunge by Oshawa immediately carried play into the P.C.I. end. Armstrong gained yards and then booted to centre, where play swept back and forth.

Following a nice run back of a punt by Young, P.C.I. lost possession on a fumble. After another Oshawa kick another P.C.I. offensive was halted on a fumbled ball. Conant, who had been raising some long punts, was able to kick for a rouge and the first point of the game.

A P.C.I. extend gained yards, but again the Petes lost the ball on a fumble. Conant's kick was run out from behind the P.C.I.'s touchline by Young. Oshawa was offside, giving P.C.I. ten yards An extension play gained yards and Dinesen added five more.

Hicks intercepted a P.C.I. forward pass and in the tackle had his shoulder injured. Oshawa kicked to P.C.I.'s 30-yard line. P.C.I. gained yards three times in succession, Reynolds and Armstrong being prominent in the gains. Armstrong booted to Oshawa's 8-yard line. Conant's kick was short and P.C.I. reopened the offensive which culminated with Young kicking a field goal for three points.

A forward pass, Stroud to Shelenkoff, gained twenty yards for Oshawa and Conant kicked to the deadline for another point.

At the start of the third quarter Oshawa made large gains on plunges by Stroud and Conant and Conant was able to kick for another rouge, tieing the score.

Play remained in P.C.I. territory with Oshawa losing considerable ground on offsides and interference. A P.C.I. kick was blocked but Young recovered it on his own 10-yard line. Dinesen kicked to centre. The quarter ended with P.C.I. on the defensive.

Marsh recovered a P.C.I. blocked kick for a fifteen yard gain and Dinesen kicked to Oshawa's 8-yard line. Following Oshawa's boot, Reynolds took a forward pass thrown by Young for a twenty-yard gain. Kicks were exchanged, which placed P.C.I. in possession on Oshawa's 30-yard line. Armstrong broke through on a plunge and raced two Oshawa's 3-yard line. After two downs he went over for a touchdown. P.C.I. attempted a forward pass for the extra point but it was not completed.

During the remaining few minutes of time play ranged around centre.

Summary:

First Quarter.
Oshawa, 1—Conant's rouge

Second Quarter.
Peterborough, 3—Young's field goal.
Oshawa, 1—Conant's kick to deadline.

Third Quarter.

BEACHES BEAT ARGONAUTS IN DEGRUCHY FINAL

Champions Show Powerful Offensive in Final to Gain Victory.

BRILLIANT DISPLAY.

TORONTO, Oct. 5 —Balmy Beach supplied the answer to the question of where football supremacy in Toronto resides, when they defeated the doughty Argonauts by 5 to 1 at Varsity Stadium on Saturday afternoon in the final game for the city championship and the Reg De Gruchy Memorial Cup. The Beachers are now champions of Canada and Toronto.

Played as the second part of a doubleheader in weather that was too summery for the gridiron sport, the contest was all that could be desired. It savored of midseason football. Six thousand or so fans viewed the struggle, and saw Balmy Beach, outplayed in the first two periods come back with a championship display in the last half that would not be denied. After wasting a chance to take the lead in the third quarter, when the score was tied at one all, and they were within easy range to kick a point, the East Enders kept the Scullers on the defensive all through the final period, and scored a rouge and a goal from placement to gain the decision.

There can be no argument about it. The better team won on the day's play. It was a gruelling struggle that saw two evenly matched teams battling themselves into exhaustion. A tired lot of players dragged themselves off the field when it was all over. Balmy Beach waged a determined offensive in the last half of the game, and played championship football all the way. Argonauts simply had defeat thrust upon them by a team that would accept no other result.

Wheat yields in the famous Peace River district, Northern Alberta, this year averaged 23 bushels to an acre, while barley averaged 30 and oats 52.

BURLEIGH GRIMES WILL LIKELY TAKE UP MOUND DUTY FOR CARDS

But Connie Mack Keeps Up Usual Policy of Silence.

GROVE'S FINGER SORE.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 5. — Champions of the world, the Philadelphia Athletics arrayed themselves in their own stronghold at Shibe Park today to repel the attack of the St. Louis Cardinals in the third game of the world series.

Without advantage after the first pair of skirmishes in St. Louis — victorious in the opening game, subdued in the second—the Athletics tore into the first three games on the eastern front determined to sweep the engagements here and prevent adjournment of the series to St. Louis again for final decision in a sixth, and if necessary seventh game.

Saved from the prospect the experts painted for them—defeat in four straight games—by the brilliant pitching of "Wild Bill" Hallahan, the opportune clouting and reckless base running of young "Pepper" Martin — the Cardinals welcomed increased strength with return of "Sparky" Adams, whose injured leg kept him out of the opening series installment in St. Louis. And High substituted in the opening game for "Sparky", who played the best ball of his career in the regular National League season, and "Jake" Flowers, ordinarily a second baseman took his post in the second. Neither is a hitter or fielder of Adams' ability.

Every indication today was that a capacity crowd of 32,500, among their number the champion good-luck mascot of the Athletics, President Hoover, was destined to see a pitchers' battle that was a hold-over from the 1930 world series in which the A's won their second straight world championship. In five games, two of them world series contests in 1929 and 1930, the chief executive has never seen the Athletics beaten.

Robert Moses Grove, the lanky lefty who warded off twelve Cardinal base hits in the opening game to beat the giant rookie, Paul Derringer, 6 to 2, was the public choice in the face of Connie Mack's proverbial reticence, to face Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitballer, in a game that might well mark the turning point of the series.

Grove bested Grimes last fall, although the Cardinal veteran allowed only five hits, and despite a tender finger on his pitching hand he was eager to battle the pugnacious spitballer again for the game that would give the victor both a psychological and numerical edge in the series. If Connie Mack decided to hold Grove for the healing rest of another day, George Earnshaw, beaten by Hallahan and the Sensational "Pepper" Martin in the second contest, was favored to tangle with Grimes.

CANADIAN PACKERS DEFEATED IN THE TROPHY FINAL 6 TO 3

Ben McMaster Scores Six Tallies—Foster and N. Downer Convert.

DAYNES BRILLIANT.

Packers Fail to Come Up to Standard—Cup is Presented to Winners.

With a non-talented aggregation of players at their disposal, the Canadian General trounced the Canadian Packing by six goals to three in a hectic battle for possession of the Father Phalen trophy in the final game, on Saturday afternoon before a large attendance of spectators, on King Edward Park in ideal weather.

At the beginning of the game, a very pessimistic attitude prevailed in the C.G.E. camp, with the exception of the forward rank, while the Packers felt confident that they would hold the cup for the ensuing year but fate ruled otherwise. Ben McMaster got the six goals for the winners. The Packers' halves and defense failed throughout the whole game. Frick had no chance to save or avert the disaster.

At the conclusion of the game, Fred Cutcliffe presented the cup to Captain Ben McMaster of the C.G.E. The Brinton held the silverware last year.

The Canadian General lost the toss to face the sun. From the kick off, Nicholls' individual effort tested Daynes, C.G.E. goalie with a terrific drive, who had to go down on his knees to clear. Mid-field tactics held sway for a while with the C.P.C. halves being non-effective when a rush was contemplated. Ben McMaster accepted the close passing game with timely passes close on the full backs. They were out-classed in this movement, to continue scrimmage after scrimmage inside the goal-area, until Darling on the left centred the ball across to his pivot man who delivered a rocket drive in below the bar. Then Packers took up the initiative to find the Canadian General custodian unbeatable as they bombarded his charge from all angles. On one occasion he had to leave his goal to clear a mis-kick, by his defense men.

McMaster Scores

Clark transferred the play to the other end, where Darling run wild while in possession of the ball, thereby giving Ben McMaster ample time to evade the over-worked full backs. As the opposing force congregated in front of him, he kicked the sphere off the foot of an opponent into the net, away out of the reach of Frick. Encouraged by their success, the C.G.E. attacking line indulged in combination to keep the play within the Packer's bounds. Awaiting the outcome of a keen tackle on the right by Quinn who landed a perfect centre to the waiting foot of McMaster who connected with a left foot drive that bulged the back of the net. A few minutes later, Frick ran out of goal to pick the ball away from the foot of an opponent. Buchanan forced the issue at the C.G.E. end, where Newt Downer and Ross rapped hot shots at Daynes. He threw himself the whole length of the goal to save a well-earned attempt from Ross on the right. C.G.E. 3, Packers 0.

The change over showed some minor exchanges of positions on the C.P.C., line-up, Nicholls taking up the right half place and Mayette occupying the left wing. Beautiful combination by the Packer's right wing furnished many interesting encounters in front of Daynes' charge. Newt Downer accepted the neat pass of his partner with a lightning drive across the goal-mouth where Daynes fell upon it to keep Evans off the scoring list. A break-away of the C.G.E. right, left Quinn in a favorable position and slipping the ball across to centre, Hakin mis-judged the play to leave McMaster with an open goal to make it four. The next visit resulted in the Packers' defense claiming off-side against McMaster but the referee declared otherwise as he ran the ball into an open goal.

Packers Revive Too Late

With an over-whelming lead against them, the Packers came into the picture through excellent tactics against a supreme defense. Daynes, C.G.E. custodian holding the Packers scoreless until Mayette beat the opposition in the corner and with a left foot cross left Foster to do the scoring as he picked the inside of the post. A spot kick aided them further when Newt Downer converted from the dot. Daynes being a fraction late in getting down to save. He further added to his laurels when he beat three men in a row as he travelled along the wing with the ball at his toe and with all the accuracy of marksmanship he slammed a hot grounder past Daynes to make it 5-3. To add spice to the last minute fervour Ben McMaster tricked the full backs on an individual effort and bulge the rigging with his sixth tally for the day. Canadian General 6, Canadian Packing 3.

Scorers—Ben McMaster (6) for C.G.E. For C.P.C., Foster and N. Downer (2).

Johnny Watwood Is Not Plate Shy

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 5.—(C.P.)—A skull fracture, suffered when he was beaned by Pat Malone of the Cubs, during the 1930 Chicago city series, has not made Johnny Watwood, White Sox outfielder, plate shy.

Watwood was in hospital a month after being struck by one of Malone's fast ones a year ago, but batted .281 for the American League season, and to-day had an average of .391, for five games of the current city title series. He combed Malone for a double and two singles Saturday and yesterday got three singles.

Selwyn Wins 10-8

The last game and by all odds the keenest was the intermediate game between the Business Men and Selwyn. When the last of the seventh open the local were one up and the game was keen till the last man went out. Lakefield really had only one good innings (the sixth) but they piled up the runs till the score was tied. Blewett struck out five and walked one while Northey struck out five with no walks. The fielding of both teams was especially good and more were caught out than struck out on both sides. Messrs. Connor and Forsythe officiated at this game and spent a lively hour with these old rivals.

The line ups:

Selwyn — W. Blewett, p; G. Nicholls, c; J. McConkey, 1b; D. Darling, 2b; D. McConkey, 3b; M. Wilson, r ss; H. Oliver, l ss; C. Fitzgerald, rf; W. Shearer, lf.

CASUAL COMMENTS

An interesting letter appeared recently in the Kingston paper concening senior baseball in that town. It was by Griff Breakel, secretary-treasurer and the financial backer of the Ponies during the summer just past. He points out the tough fight they had to get organized, to get suitable grounds, through their schedule, and the bad breaks given them in the play-offs.

• • • • • • •

But the interesting point to Mr. Breakell's open letter is his suggestion that the team should be built up stronger for next year. In addition to Jamieson, Quinn, Scrutton, Arniel, McQuade, Stone, Teiro, Boyd and Vince he would like to see Ogden of Oshawa, and Gibson, of Belleville, on the Ponies' pitching staff. Foxton, of Sydenham, might be obtained for catching, and Bob Elliott and Mickey Compeau in the infield.

• • • • • • •

That bunch would make a pretty classy senior ball team in any league, in fact they would be too good for either Belleville or the Petes, unless these two outfits did a bit of bolstering too. Of course, it's a long time until we need to start thinking of baseball again, but evidently they are doing it right now in Kingston.

• • • • • • •

One thing that sounds bad, is that crack about trying to get Gibson, the Belleville twirler. If the different teams in a league start making trys for ball players in the same loop, there's sure to be trouble and hard feelings. Besides, it's not worth it as there isn't a player in the Central League to-day that is head and shoulders above the rest.

• • • • • • •

If the senior team in any one of those towns can just get the support of the town, including the intermediate teams, they trot out a first-class team without having to go outside looking for players.

• • • • • • •

At the Machine Gunners' banquet on Saturday night, Col. Lawlie suggested the company should carry on a softball league again this winter, the teams to play for a trophy. It provides sport for the outfits, interest for fans, and keeps the various units of the company together. Something will likely be done about it as it is a good idea, and worked fine last winter.

• • • • • • •

With Duluth thinking of dropping out this year, it looks as if five teams will comprise the American Hockey League this winter, Tulsa, Chicago, Kansas City, Buffalo, and either St. Louis or Minneapolis. The schedule of the loop will be drafted as soon as definite word concerning the Duluth entry has been received.

• • • • • • •

Despite the warm weather on Saturday, fans at Stevenson Park saw a great game of rugby with the shifty P.C.I. crew getting the nod over a much heavier Oshawa team in a real nip-and-tuck battle. Speed and science were the factors that turned back the Motor City threat, and the local gridders appear to be good enough to sweep their series.

• • • • • • •

Armstrong, with a couple of classy plunges in the last five minutes, put the game on ice with a touchdown. Throughout, the contest was fast and close, one of those games that keeps the spectators on their toes. Where the Oshawa huskies played steady rugby, getting regular gains, the P.C.I. took chances and showed more experience on the finer points.

• • • • • • •

The visitors looked better on forward passing which they varied with line plunges most of the time. However, this was offset by tricky, well-executed shifts on the part of the Petes that kept the others worried and on the defensive. It just shows that even in rugby, weight isn't the all-important thing as so many think.

Prep School Team Shows Superiority in Play to Gain Victory.

VICTORS OUTWEIGHED.

Upper Canada College Seaton's House team were defeated by the Lakefield Prep School team on the latter's ground on Saturday last by the score of 43-5. The Lakefield team were slightly lighter than the Toronto Prep team but showed distinctly better rugby throughout the game. Disney and Macrae were outstanding for Lakefield, with Stuart and Wright playing excellently. The kicking for L.P.S. was rather better regulated than that of U.C.C., the wings generally getting their man; both sides caught cleverly, without fumbling. The tackling of U.C.C. was rather loose, while that of the home team was low and deadly. The U.C.C. quarter played an excellent game, until hurt, but the line plays were slow and lacked precision.

BOWLING NOTES

MIXED TOURNAMENT.

The ladies turned out in good numbers on Saturday evening to participate in the last mixed rink tournament of the season on the greens of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, with the result that a number of interesting games were played. One rink that included three women bowlers, had the distinction of securing three wins and a plus of 12, and came out at the top of the list. General regret was expressed that such a pleasant season had been completed for another year. The winning rinks on Saturday evening and their scores were:

J. McDonald, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. R. Hendry, Mrs. Williamson—3 wins plus 12.

G. Sorenson, Mrs. DeLong, H. Dunsford—3 wins plus 10.

J. Kennett, Mrs. Staunton, B. Bolam, Mrs. Northrop—2 wins plus 11.

H. Wood, Mrs. Perry, H. Northrop, Mr. Hepburn—2 wins plus 10.

In recognition of the bowling of a rink composed of R. Hendry, Mrs. Hepburn, H. Moyer, and Mrs. Williams, which put them in a class by themselves, a special prize of a basket of grapes was awarded to each.

District Meeting.

The vice-president and secretary of the Ontario Lawn Bowlers' Association, Messrs. W. B. Cowan and A. A. Langford, of Toronto, will visit Peterborough on Wednesday evening of this week and address a meeting of the District Lawn Bowling Association which will be held in the club house commencing at half-past seven. Representatives from the clubs in this district have been invited to be present. The Toronto speakers are interested in strengthening the Provincial Association and desire to have the Central Ontario Association affiliate with the Provincial Association. All members of the club who are interested are invited to attend the meeting.

Townsend Is After Welterweight Title

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 5 (C.P.). —Out of the Far West this week comes another young welterweight with his eyes turned on the 147-pound crown now held by Jack Thompson, San Francisco negro.

He is Billy Townsend of Vancouver, home town of that other hard punching welterweight, Jimmy McLarnin. Townsend's first eastern appearance will be made in Madison Square Garden Friday night against the slugging Pole, Eddie Ran. This bout, at ten rounds, will serve as the semi-final to the heavyweight struggle between Joe Sekyra of Dayton, O., and Jimmy Braddock of Jersey City.

VARSITY WINS FROM TWIN CITY

Border O. R. F. U. Team Defeated 19 to 1 By Collegians.

AN EASY VICTORY.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—University of Toronto Intercollegians encountered easier opposition than expected from the Kitchener-Waterloo O.R.F.U. seniors in the first part of Saturday's double attraction at Varsity Stadium. The result was a 10 to 1 victory for the Blue and White, the lone point of the visitors coming in the final minute of play.

The Collegians gave a better display than they did the previous Saturday against Balmy Beach. They were considerably stronger on the backfield with Jack Sinclair and Richardson in the line-up, and these two players were a powerful factor in their success.

The Twin City team was making its first start of the season, and it plainly showed lack of condition and perfect familiarity with its line plays. In Peters the Panthers had an excellent punter and a capable backfielder, while the rest of the team gave the impression that it would be much more formidable when it had smoothed out the kinks in its plays from scrimmage and speeded up its attack.

The U. of T. players should have won by a larger margin, considering that the visitors were kept under pressure practically from start to finish. On two occasions the Students bungled easy chances for a touchdown by failure to pick up the ball when they had nobody to beat. Each time two Toronto players had the ball all to themselves, but made a comedy of errors trying to pick it up or dribble it. The first time they did succeed in scoring one point when Peters kicked the ball out of touch behind his own line after repeated efforts of two or three Toronto men to snare the rolling pigskin failed.

Chicago Ball Club Sued for $50,000

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 5.—(C.P.)—A foul ball from the bat of Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, may cost the Chicago Cubs some money.

Miss Elisabeth Klaus of Chicago, has filed a suit for $50,000 against the club, charging that a foul ball by Waner last April 17, struck her and cost the sight of an eye.

AGGIES DEFEAT "ORPHANS" 5-4

Superiority of Guelph Backfield Accounts for Bytowners Victory.

SARNIA ALSO WINS.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 5.—(By the Canadian Press.)—The final week's drive in preparation for the opening of the Eastern Canada football season next Saturday will commence to-night when coaches of senior grid squads throughout the province have called light workouts. A strenuous week's training program will be undertaken by aspirants for places on senior teams in an effort to get into condition for the coming campaign.

Guelph Aggies handed the powerful Varsity Orphans a surprise setback in an exhibition game at Guelph Saturday when they defeated the Toronto aggregation 5 to 4. Both teams showed a powerful line but superiority on the Guelph back field accounted for the by-towners win.

Gaining many yards when they gave a surprising display of the forward pass, the mighty Hamilton "Tigers," "Big Four" champions, piled up an imposing total of 31 points against the University of Western Ontario Mustangs at Hamilton Saturday. The Bengal squad piled up their total before the College team slipped across a single point to prevent a whitewash.

In the first official league game of the Ontario Rugby and Football Union's 1931 schedule the strong Imperial squad of Sarnia handed the Windsor Greyhounds a 16 to 1 reverse. The Border City entry were no match for the Sarnia aggregation and were outplayed throughout the contest.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

THE HAPPY WORKERS
(By Thornton W. Burgess)

In work no labor you will find
If happiness doth fill your mind.
—Old Mother Nature

Never was there such a stack of hay. Little Chief Hare was sure of this. And it was a surprise haystack, for it appeared seemingly from nowhere while he and Mrs. Little Chief took a nap. Only a small amount, the result of many trips and hard work that morning, had been spread out for jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun to dry when they had gone home for that needed rest. Now here was what to them seemed like a great pile freshly cut. Really it was a double armful. And it had appeared as if by magic.

"You better leave it alone," warned Mrs. Little Chief, who is naturally very cautious. "It isn't ours and if you meddle with it you may get us into trouble."

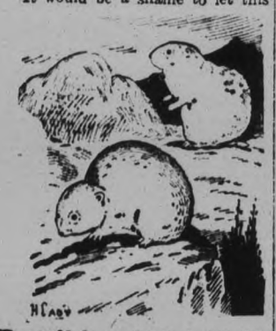
"It will be ours if we take it," declared Little Chief. "We are the only ones living around here. I don't know where this came from but I do know that there is no one else around here who cuts and stores hay. I believe this is intended for us. Anyway if this is left in a pile this way it will spoil. We can spread it out to dry and if by the time it is properly dried no one claims it it certainly will be ours. Perhaps some one left it for us."

"Perhaps, but you know very well no one ever did such a thing before," retorted Mrs. Little Chief.

"There has to be a first time," argued Little Chief. "Anyway it will be just as safe to take this as it will to keep running back and forth across that open space between here and the meadow and a lot less work. Indeed, it will be safer, for here we can always dodge in among the rocks. This is opportunity, and I always did believe in making the most of opportunity."

He began pulling apart the pile of grasses and other plants and spreading them out so that they would dry quickly and properly. Mrs. Little Chief watched him doubtfully for a few minutes and then joined him.

"It would be a shame to let this



"It would be a shame to let this spoil," said she spoil," said she. "Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun doesn't shine like this every day. See how nicely that hay we cut this morning is drying out. It is perfect hay weather."

"Perfect," replied Little Chief, "and if it keeps up we will have one of the finest crops of hay that we ever had put up for the winter. Think how good it will taste when the Great World is buried in snow."

Now the Little Chiefs are workers. Just as does Paddy the Beaver they find happiness in work, in getting something done that really needs to be done. No one knows better than they the need of preparing in times of plenty for the hard times that are bound to come. Like Happy Jack Squirrel and his relatives and some of the Mouse family, they know the value of thrift. They know that no matter how long and severe the winter may be, they will be comfortable and not mind it at all if they have plenty of good food to carry them through until green things once more appear.

Labor is work wherein there is no pleasure. There was no labor in this work. They even ceased to wonder where this bounty had come from. No happier people were to be found in all the Great World that day than these two little Pikas, or Conies, as some people call them. The pile of plants was pulled apart and spread out on the rocks so that every bit would properly dry and so retain its sweetness and goodness.

And watching them from a hiding-place nearby Farmer Brown's Boy chuckled noiselessly, and admired them for their cheerful industry, and wondered just what they were thinking about and what they would do if they should find out that it was he who had cut the hay for them while they were having that nap. It was great fun.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 5th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 11.20 a.m., from 2.25 p.m. to 4.40 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger hours are from noon to 1.45 p.m., and from 5.10 p.m. to 7.15 p.m.

A mixture of influences will cause a certain amount of disturbance on October 5th—so the Stars foretell. Unexpected travel, change of business or of residence, are some of the events that will happen. It will be found quite difficult to settle down to any important task, and nerves will be jumpy, and a sense of dissatisfaction and pessimism will "clog" the day's efforts.

A child born on this October 5th will be very considerate of others—especially of its elders. It will be gentle and sympathetic. Easily influenced by environment, it will adapt itself readily to circumstances. It will possess an affectionate nature, be industrious and painstaking.

You, if born on October 5th, are largely governed by your emotions and sensations, yet affection has a greater hold on you than passion. You are very fond of social life, and never happier than when entertaining your friends or those for whom you care. You derive more pleasure from entertaining than being entertained. Women born on this date make exceptionally good hostesses, and never get rattled when an emergency arises. They dress well, look well and act well, and can fill perfectly any role they may be called upon to play.

As an October 5th person, you are unyielding in your determination, and, at times, are obstinate. No one can force you to do anything. By flattery and kindness, however, you are easily influenced and can be persuaded, with little difficulty, to act contrary to your expressed wishes and desires. Your determination enables you to endure much—both mentally and physically.

You are peculiarly sensitive to your surroundings, and when these are not attuned to your liking, you are disposed to become morbid. You are very jealous in your affections, and this weakness is apt to drive you into unreasoning acts of violent fits of temper. When the storm has spent itself, you are contrite—but, often, your regret comes too late. Your married life will have "high-spots" of passionate love and of fierce anger.

DOLE IS FOREIGN LAMONT OPINION

Not Needed in U. S. Says Morgan Partner.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 5.—The underlying soundness of the American situation was stressed by Thomas W. Lamont, partner of J. P. Morgan and Company, in a speech discussing business and employmen., published Saturday.

"We have clearly in sight the elements of business and industrial recovery," he said. It remains for the community to utilize these elements. Our people must regain confidence in themselves, in the underlying strength of our American institutes."

"The dole," he continued, "may be the method of meeting unemployment in some countries, but iti s not the American way."

Time, he said, will cure some of the ills of the currrent business depressing. Concerning unemployment, he warned that unless through private efforts, we do our share to relieve the situation, we shall inevitably load all the burden upon the State. This, he said, is a situation not to be desired.

As the result of the Mexican Presidential decree extending the city's boundaries, Mexico City has a population of more than 1,000,000.

NEW PLANT MAY OPEN IN MARMORA

Citizens Consider Proposal for Starting Up of Artificial Stone Works.

MARMORA, Oct. 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—A meeting of the citizens of Marmora was held at the town hall on Wednesday evening to consider a proposal for the establishment of an artificial stone works on the Bonter marble property. The firm, which was represented at the meeting, has been manufacturing artificial stone from material shipped from the local quarry. The cost of freight in shipping the material to Kitchener has been quite a handicap and the firm, which wishes to locate in Marmora, feels it would be in a better position to operate if a plant was erected on the property where the quarry is situated. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee composed of Reeve F. N. Marett, Dr. H. Crawford and Messrs G. B. Airhart and S. Bertrand to obtain full information with regard to the proposition.

ANNUAL Y.W.C.A. FALL RALLY PROVES INTERESTING EVENT

Toronto and Local Swimmers Give Real Exhibition—Fancy Dancing.

FINE TALK ON JAPAN.

The annual Fall Rally of the Y4W.C.A. was held Friday evening and was largely attended. High Tea was served from 5.30 to 7 o'clock in the Green Room in cafeteria style under the direction of the ladies of the Social and Swimming Pool committee, with Mrs. L. J. LeClair, Mrs. J. B. Harkness and Mrs. H. Beal in charge, assisted by an energetic corps of workers.

The room was prettily decorated with Autumn leaves and flowers, and the small tables were very attractive with silver baskets of seasonable flowers.

Following tea there was a very interesting game of basketball between the Senior School girls and the Monday elementary Class, with Howie Macdonald acting as referee. This was won by the Senior School Girls.

A fine game of Badminton was played by Mrs. A. W. MacPherson, Miss Mary Hartstone, Miss Sullivan, Miss Alma Dobbin, Miss Lois Stewart, Miss Winnifred Cowan and Miss Edith Young.

Swimming Exhibition

In the swimimng pool a splendid exhibition was given by a group of Toronto swimmers and the stunt and diving class of the Y.W.C.A., under the direction of Miss Caroline Littlefield. Girls taking part were Mary Kingsbury, Leone Comstock, Lily Long, Dora Ducas, Fredrica Fowler, Peggy Edmonds, Hazel Bradley, Elda Bradley, Helen Cole, Beverly Rogers, Betsy Scott and Constance Gibbons.

After the swimming exhibition all gathered in the gymnasium for the program. Miss Leta Brownscome, general secretary, was in charge of the devotional period, stressing the lessons taught by nature and the great out-of-doors during the vacation period.

This was followed by a camp song entitled, "God Who Touches Earth With Beauty," sung by a group of campers. This beautiful song was written by Miss Mary Edgar, the speaker of the evening.

Satisfactory Progress

Mrs. E. E. Harvey, President of the Y.W.C.A. Board, acted as chairman and made a few congratulatory remarks expressing her satisfaction with the year's progress in every department. Finances were not up to the standard, but she urged a generous response to the campaign which would be put on later.

A very beautiful Fairy Dance was given by Myrtle Burns, Grace Cunningham, Sophia Yeotes, Audrey Johnston and Jean Cole; the fairies looking very winsome in white, dotted with silver stars. The colorful note was added when Isobel Duffus and Thelma Buller came in dressed in bright crimson, joining the fairies and giving an exhibition of the Tap Dance.

The Wand Drill was very interesting and well done by Sybil Ecobichon, Margaret Simpson, Mary McFarlane, Kay Peters, Beatrice Curtis, Helen McFarlane, Jean Ball.

Beautiful Japan

Mrs. Harvey then introduced Miss Mary Edgar, leader of Glen Benard Camp, who spoke on Japan.

Miss Edgar, who has a delightful personality and a clear, pleasing voice, expressed her pleasure at being present and said she would give a short glimps of Japan from the viewpoint of a globe trotter.

She had visited many foreign countries but felt Japan exceeded them all in beauty and variety of scenery. Although small, it has all the beauties of America crowded into it, with its beautiful maples and gorgeous 'mums. She described a three-day hike taken to the mountains, with the household science girls of Tokyo, the outdoor scenes, a Japanese inn, and experiences of the trip. Everywhere she met with the greatest kindness and courtesy from the people who are so anxious to adopt western customs and learn to speak the English language.

Y.W.C.A. Doing Fine Work

She stressed the wonderful work done by the Y.W.C.A. in Japan and the beautiful building they have in Tokyo, second to none in Canada. In conclusion, she compared the conditions in Japan with what it was ten years ago, and noted the wonderful progress and improvement of the people, particularly emphasizing the fact that the people were very honest and kindly.

Miss Viola Payton gave a reading entitled "Mary Mahone," and the boys of St. John Ambulance Corps gave an exhibition of first-aid work.

Miss Brownscombe read the program for the Fall and Winter activities and enumerated the advantages the numerous classes gave to girls to pursue their individual hobbies under careful leadership and direction.

There was a fine exhibition of Oriental goods and handicraft in the main hall.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR NO. 97

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Chulk and a half dozen other apes waddled rapidly forward and, following the ape-man's directions, seized both him and Werper and bore them off toward the jungle. The Belgian officer now succeeded in persuading his trembling command to fire a volley after the retreating apes. A ragged, straggling volley it was, but at least one of its bullets found a mark, for as the jungle closed about the hairy rescuers, Chulk, who bore Werper across one broad shoulder, staggered.

Chulk reeled from side to side and at last fell mortally wounded. As he went down he dropped Werper, so that the latter fell face downward with the body of the ape lying half across him. In this position the Belgian felt something resting against his hands, which were still bound at his back—something that was not a part of the hairy body of the ape. Mechanically the man's fingers felt of the object resting almost in their grasp—it was a soft pouch filled with small, hard particles.

Werper gasped in wonderment as recognition filtered through the incredulity of his mind. It was impossible, and yet—it was true! Tarzan, sitting at a short distance away, was busy with the remaining knots of the cords that bound him. Presently he flung aside the last of them and arose. Approaching Werper he knelt beside him. For a moment he examined the ape. "Quite dead," he announced. "Too bad. He was a splendid fellow," and then he turned to the work of liberating the Belgian. When he had freed his hands Werper stayed him.

"I can do the rest with my pocket-knife," he said. Thus he succeeded in ridding himself of the ape-man's attention. A moment later he had cut the thong which fastened the pouch about Chulk's shoulder, and once more he was in possession of the jewels of Opar. Then he arose and approached Tarzan. "Now," said the ape-man, "keep your promise to me. Lead me to the spot where you last saw my wife." The apes trailed after the two white men, but soon their interest lagged and Tarzan bid them rest in a leafy glade while he and Werper continued.

LOCAL GARRISON UNITS GUESTS AT MACHINE GUNNERS' BANQUET

Additional Training for Militia Announced by Col. Harris.

MAJOR DEWART CHAIRMAN.

All units of Peterborough Garrison and each company of the 4th Canadian Machine Gun Battalion were represented for the first time on Saturday evening at the annual dinner of C Comapny Machine Gunners held in the Armouries and presided over by Major J. Dewart, M.C., officer commanding the unit.

The affair was an unqualified success, and the company received a high measure of praise on the results of their training this year, from the officers from Military District No. 3. It was announced that the Government has seen fit to grant a further eight days' training for the Militia to be undertaken within the next few months.

Colonel James Harris, V.D., O.C. of the Machine Gun Battalion announced in reply to a toast, that his tenure of command would shortly expire. He mooted the probability of that command devolving upon Major Dewart, O.C. C Company.

R.S.M. W .R. Piercy.

Congratulations were extended by Major Dewart to W. R. Piercy, who has recently been promoted from Company Sergeant-Major to Battalion Sergeant-Major, and also to Major C. Boyd of Kingston and to Major H. R. Travers, on their recent promotions to the command of the Machine Gun Companies of the Battalion in their respective localities.

Following an excellent repast and the toast to the King, "Our Guests" was proposed by Capt H. Devey. The toast was responded to by Colonel W. Gordon Hall, V.D., O.C. 137th Infantry Brigade, Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, and Colonel D. J. Lawrie, O.C. Artillery.

In the course of his remarks, Colonel Hall said he had watched the progress of the Machine Gun Company since its formation here. He was glad to note that all the officers, N.C.O.'s and men were backing their O.C. so splendidly, and that through their united efforts the camp this year had been a success. He thought the co-operation between the various units of the Garrison was remarkable.

A Man's Game.

Major Hicks-Lyne referred to the relationship of the infantry and machine gunners in warfare, and touched upon the part which the Militia are playing in the making of Canada. He contended that the Militia was a necessity to any country, not for aggression, but to put down aggression. Soldiering, he said, was a man's game, and was a great means of inoculating the benefits of discipline on a young man's life.

Colonel Lawrie hoped that the company would organize a softball league again for the coming winter, "to keep the various units of the Garrison together during the winter months." He suggested the possibility of a trophy being awarded in this connection.

"The Staff" was proposed by Major G. R. Scott, the Battalion M.O. He was speaking for the whole Garrison, he stated, when he expressed his appreciation for the co-operation of the staff. He was sorry that Colonel Anderson could not be present that night.

Company Praised.

Major G. R. Whitelaw, G.S.O., M.D. No 3, in response, said that in spite of the trying year through which the unit had passed, and the fact that the Government had only granted four days' training at the outset, the battalion had the best record for years. "You did well at your work," he said. He also made reference to the success of the camp school.

Captain James Turnbull proposed a toast to "Sister Units." "Without the co-operation of sister units," he said, "we would fail."

Colonel M. H. Park, V.D., O.C. Peterborough Rangers, in reply stated that the co-operation of all units was his pet hobby. He spoke of the members of C Company as a fine lot of fellows, from the O.C. down.

A toast to "The Battalion" was proposed by Lieut. A. E. Webster. Colonel J. Harris, O.C. Battalion replied, in which he pointed out the value of Militia training as a means of instilling into a man the value of discipline. "A man who respects his master," he said, "will in return get respect."

He also mentioned that his tenure of command expires shortly, and intimated that Major Dewart may be promoted to his post.

Major Travers of Ottawa and Major Boyd of Kingston also replied to the toast, while Major C. H. Stuart, second in command of 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons, was also called upon by the chairman.

The final toast was that proposed by S.-M. Edgar Hatcher to "Major Dewart."

The toast list was interspersed with musical numbers and sketches by members of the M.G.C. Entertainers, with vocal solos, etc. John Crane accompanied at the piano.

The program was in charge of Lieut. Dr. R. C. Honey and Captain James Turnbull. Captain S. Whitley had charge of the catering arrangements. Other officers present included Captain G. Monkman, Lieuts. S. M. Ward, L. C. Gliders, C. S. VanAlstyne, and R. Haddow.

PREPARE FARMS FOR BIG MATCH

"Tented City" on the Highway Will Be Lighted.

MACHINERY DISPLAY.

Work commenced on Saturday of laying out the grounds four miles out of the city on the Port Hope Highway, in readiness for one of the biggest events in local history—the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration that opens here on Tuesday October 13 for four days.

J. J. Duffus, chairman of the local committee of the Ontario Plowmen's Association and one of the directors in charge of lands for plowing was seen at the grounds with his coat off and sleeves rolled tackling the manual work with the same vigour and zest that he has displayed in the weeks of organization work in committee. He was not alone in this respect, but was assisted by others too numerous to mention who were all working to the same end—to make the even the same success, if not better than it was at Stratford last year, when it attracted an estimated attendance of 115 000 people.

R. L. Dobbin, chairman of the Light and Water Committee, was observed at the grounds evidently making a preliminary survey in anticipation of the stupendous task of supplying the tented city that will spring up, with water and light.

Barnyard golf, which is to be one of the features throughout the entire four days of the match and demonstration, and for which valuable trophies are being offered, requires standard courts that shall cover an area of level ground at least ten feet in width and fifty fet in length. Art. Moffatt, chairman of the Horseshoe Pitching Committee was busy laying out these courts on Saturday. He picked his ground in the vicinity of the highway, while away up on the slope a team was at work hauling logs for the construction of a ramp for unloading machinery exhibits that will soon begin to pour in here.

Civic Banquet

Plans for the city's reception to the visiting plowmen who will attend the International Plowing Match here during the week of October 12 are nearing completion. A banquet is planned one evening in the hall of the Market Square and the streets will be decorated by the Utilities Commission with colored lights. The plans for the city's part in making the visitors' stay here memorable are in the hands of Alderman Mel Turner and the Reception Committee of the City Council.

ROTARIANS FILMED AT NOON LUNCHEON

Metropolitan Camera Man Has Busy Week's Program.

Peterborough Rotarians, in the act of "consuming eats," was the subject that opened the week's work for the Metropolitan Film Productions camera man to-day, and during the coming week great headway is expected on the production of Peterborough's own movie.

Streets, schools, and many other civic and industrial items of interest will keep the photographing unit actively engaged during this week, and it is expected that by the latter part of next week the entire production will be completed.

Many suggestions have already been received by the Regent Theatre management from people who have scenes in mind that they would like to see incorporated in the production, and every effort will be made to use as many of these suggestions as possible.

PREPAREDNESS IS HENDERSON'S KEY IN SPEECH

New Labor Chieftain Given Great Welcome at Annual Conference.

TARIFFS TERMED FOLLY.

Stanley Hirst Warns Against Dictatorship in British Government.

SCARBOROUGH, England, Oct. 5 (C.P. and A.P. Cables).—A vociferous welcome and acclaim as "a jolly good fellow" was received by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, new Parliamentary chief of the Labor party when he visited the annual conference of the party here to-day.

Mr. Henderson, who came for a brief address at the opening of the conference, declared the party met at a time when one knew the date of the impending general election. "We can only follow the sound and safe policy," he said, "of having our lamps trimmed and ready to step into the fray whenever the election proclamation is issued."

Most of the delegates sprang to their feet, cheering and singing to express their approbation of the former Foreign Secretary who is now the chief Parliamentary opponent of Prime Minister MacDonald, his erstwhile leader.

Hirst Expresses Views

Stanley Hirst, chairman of the National Labor executive, warned against dictatorship in the British Government. The present Government forces were aware that if they could smash Labor there would be no effective force in Parliament to oppose their purposes," and a dictatorship clothed in the raiments of Parliamentary democracy could be established.

He advocated public control of banking, one of the leading planks in Labor's election platform, declaring: "It is for this party to take up the fight to insure the nation shall be definitely safeguarded through the effective public control of the banking system."

He termed the imposition of protective tariffs "folly and unthinkable."

IN MEMORIAM.

COPPERTHWAITE. — In loving memory of Joseph F. Copperthwaite, who passed away five years ago to-day.

Beside your grave we often stand,
With hearts both crushed and sore;
But in the gloom the sweet words come,
"Not lost, but gone before"
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of a parting with no farewell.

—Sadly missed by Grandmother and Parents.

WARREN PAVING COMPANY GIVEN ASPHALT WORK

Brennan Company Withdrew its Tender Before Council Meeting.

NEW PRICE HIGHER.

Will Begin Surfacing of Streets in Ashburnham at Once.

The Warren Bituminous Paving Company's tender for laying the top sheet of asphalt upon the cement base put down on certain streets in Ashburnham by day labor under the city's unemployment relief program was last night accepted by the City Council.

The Warren Company's tender was $1.72 per square yard and the Brennan Paving Company's tender, the lowest of the six received, was $1.42, but the Brennan Paving Company, for some unknown reason, withdrew its tender by telegram today, leaving the Council no alternative but to accept the Warren Company's tender.

The work will commence as soon as the paving company can get its machinery set up here. Local trucks and teams will be used, and the company was restricted in the agreement to employ only ten non-residents of the city as key-men.

Smoke Nuisance

To safeguard any possible smoke and dust nuisance from the paving plant, Alderman Turner introduced a further clause in the contract causing the company to select a site for the plant approved by City Engineer Parsons.

J. F. Strickland, K.C., M.P.P., briefly addressed the Council promising his fullest support to any matters the city desired to set before the Provincial Government. Mr. Strickland hinted that the Government, following a visit of inspection here recently by Hon. Leopold Macauley, Minister of Highways, was giving serious consideration to the project of erecting a new bridge where the old Lock street bridge now stands.

Remembrance Day

The City Council will unite with the local branch of the British Empire League to make Remembrance Day or Armistice Day this year a memorable one in the history of the city. Alderman McNabb pointed out the desire of the veterans to have a service of remembrance at 11 a.m. that day in front of the war memorial in Confederation Square in which the older school children, veterans and citizens would take part.

President A. E. Everett, of the Canadia.. Legion, said that the main purpose of the service would be to recall the sacrifices made in the war and make an object lesson upon the younger generation, whom he declared needed a lesson in the true significance of the war memorial.

The Reception Committee with Alderman Turner as chairman was designated to work in co-operation with a committee appointed by the Legion in drawing up plans for the service at the war memorial and secure suitable speakers.

Request Trust to Build

A by-law was passed requesting the City Trust to build a rest room in the cit . This matter has already been decided between the Council and the City Trust and the plans are now being prepared by the architect, who will submit them to the Council for approval before the work of construction is started.

When the Brennan Paving Company's telegram informing the Council of the withdrawal of its tender, Alderman Tuggey said, "There's something in the wood pile. Why did they withdraw their tender?" He moved that the tender of the Brennan Paving Company be accepted.

Brennan Tender Out

Alderman Turner explained that upon receipt of the telegram the Brennan Company's tender did not exist. Alderman Macdonald took the same, which was sustained by City Solicitor J. R. Corkery, and Alderman Macdonald maintained that the company had not treated the city fair in not explaining why their tender had been withdrawn.

Alderman Turner suggested that the company had merely found an error in their tender and to save loss had withdrawn the tender.

Local Labor

The matter of local labor then arose when it became evident that the Council must award the contract to the Warren Paving Company After du. consideration on motion of Aldermen Stocker and Tuggey the number of outside men that may be employed on the job was fixed at ten.

U.S. GOV'T HEADS CALLED IN RUSH TO WASHINGTON

Object of Hoover's Sudden Summons is Carefully Guarded Secret.

MUCH SPECULATION.

Re-arrangement of Credit Support of Banks is One Theory Suggested.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—(By Ken Clark, C.P. Staff Writer.)—Unlike Stephen Leacock's magician, President Herbert Hoover has something up his sleeve. Last night night and to-day leaders in the House of Representatives and Senate were speeding to Washington by train and government airplane to meet with Mr. Hoover at 9.30 to-night.

Washington unexpectedly confronted (a hot afternoon last June with the President's declaration of a year's moratorium on inter-governmental debts is filled with rumor.

The facts are these: For the past few days experts from the treasury political leaders adept in finance have been visiting Mr. Hoover. The economic position of the United States has shown negligible signs of improvement.

Plans Kept Secret.

Whatever the President has in mind is a carefully guarded secret. Speculation is as follows:

The President is considering some move which he has not the power to make without consent of Congress or certainly in which he desires the assent of the legislators.

The move is said in some quarters to be entirely domestic. Some re-arrangement of creditor support of banks is suggested.

Again emphasis is continually laid by those close to the administration upon linking disarmament and debts suggests an international deal which would obviously require congressional concurrence.

Possibly less related to reality is the theory the President considers the situation grave as to warrant a definite move in the direction of what would in effect a national government such as has just been lately instituted in Great Britain.

JOBLESS STIR MORE TROUBLE

Paraders Hurl Firecrackers. Stampeding Horses of Mounted Policemen.

LEADERS ARRESTED.

LONDON Oct. 6. (AP)—Disturbances broke out against to-day among the unemployed when a band of several hundred jobless men threw firecrackers into the ranks of mounted police stationed to keep order.

The horses stampeded, there was a near panic in the great crowd watching the parade, but the police formed their ranks again, drew their clubs and charged.

The parade was broken up and several of the leaders were arrested. When these disturbers had been removed the marchers were permitted to assemble against and to go to Hyde Park where they had an outdoor meeting.

A Peterborough entry, Mrs. H. S. Sootheran, won her match in the first flight of Canadian Ladies' Closed Golf Tournament at the Lambton Course in Toront this afternoon. Mrs. Sootheran defeated her opponent, Mrs. R. F. Davidson, of Toronto, 3 and 2.

London Unshocked By Wilde's 'Salome' Banned 40 Years

LONDON, Oct. 6 (C.P. Cable).—Oscar Wilde's play, 'Salome,' received its first public performance at the Savoy last night, after being banned by the censor for forty years. Apparently it is just 40 years too late for there are no expressions of anything shocking about it. Professional critics indeed vote the play boring. Wilde, however, wrote the play without any idea of its being staged. The production is on ambitious lines and the chief honors are awarded Robert Farquharson as Herod; while Joan Maude makes a strenuous effort to make Salome a thrilling character.

PHILIP SNOWDEN TO BECOME PEER

Honor Will Ensure His Continued Help From Upper House.

WILL NOT RUN AGAIN.

LONDON, Oct. 6 (C.P.)—The Canadian Press learned this afternoon that Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has decided to accept a peerage.

Reports the frail but stout-hearted Chancellor would be elevated to the peerage have been current a number of times, but it has always been added that Mr. Snowden, a staunch Socialist, would not accept the honor.

Mr. Snowden has announced he will not seek re-election in the coming general election. Elevation to the peerage, however, would enable him to render continued valuable help to the National Government, from the Upper House, if it is successful at the polls.

MURDER CHARGE CLIMAXES FIGHT

Boston Man is Claimed to Have Hit Companion With Wooden Leg.

CAR CAUGHT FIRE.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Oct. 6 —(CP)—Clarence H. Ellis, 44, of 118 Broadway South Boston, to-day was charged with the murder of Thomas A. Marsland, 55, commander of Andrews-Cahill post, veterans of foreign wars, New Bedford who was found unconscious on a road Sunday night. Marsland died during last night in a New Bedford hospital.

James J. Tirrell, 31, of 250 Arborway, Jamaica Plain, companion of Marsland and Ellis in an automobile trip from Brocton to New Bedford, was held as a material witness.

State police to-day alleged that Ellis, who has a wooden leg, felled Marsland with a blow of his fist in an altercation over damage done to the upholstery of their automobile when it caught fire from a cigaret. When Marsland fell, the police said Ellis struck him on the head twice with the wooden leg, causing fractures of the skull and jaw.

Lindbergh Delays Decision On Route

SHANGHAI, October 6 (C.P.).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A Lindbergh disembarked from the British aircraft carrier Hermes at Woosung late to-day after having received word of the death of the latter's father, Senator Dwight W. Morrow, and immediately motored 18 miles to the United States Consulate-General here.

Asked whether he planned to continue his present aerial tour, Lindbergh said:

"Under the circumstances I would rather wait a little while before making any announcement."

Contrasting sharply with the receptions given them, this one was marked by grief. Mrs. Lindbergh, showing evidence of shock, was accompanied to a waiting limousine by Mrs. Cunningham.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS TO VISIT CANADA

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 6—Hon. Arthur Barnes, secretary of state, and S William Coaker, minister without portfolio, in the Newfoundland Government, sailed from here Saturday for Canada. The purpose of their visit was not disclosed.

JULIUS CURTIUS HAS RESIGNED CABINET POST

Foreign Minister of Germany Asks Release From Office.

WAS STORM CENTRE.

Failure of Austro-German Customs Treaty a Factor.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, whose policies have been the center of repeated political storms, today submitted his resignation to Chancellor Bruening Official circles understood it would be accepted.

In his letter to the chancellor, he said: "In a conversation we had the day after my return from Geneva I made clear to you that without regard for the parliamentary situation I wanted to resign from the government I now deem it in every way imperative that the question of my retirement be cleared up. I therefore beg you to recommend to the Reich president my discharge."

His withdrawal was considered as a removal of one of the difficult obstacles facing Chancellor Bruening in obtaining the parliamentary support the government will need when the Reichstag convenes Oct. 13.

Embarrassed Cabinet

With the social democrats restless over wage reductions, the continual outbursts of dissatisfaction with Curtius from parties supporting the government made the cabinet's position acutely embarrassing.

Herr Curtius's successor is at present problematical, although Baron von Neurath, ambassador to London, has been prominently mentioned.

The ill-fated Austro-German customs treaty was regarded as having contributed more than any other on thing to the situation leading to his resignation. His rightist enemies assailed him from the first as too meek in representing the country's interests and when the pact was publicly surrendered at Geneva the storm broke against him from all sides.

Two Years In Office

Herr Curtius succeeded the late Gustave Stressmann, his political father, as foreign minister in the cabinet of Herman Mueller in October of 1929. When that ministry resigned in March, 1930, he was again selected to guide Germany's foreign affairs. He was chancellor for a brief period in 1927.

He has been subjected recently to criticism over the abandonment of the Austro-German customs pact and to subsequent disapproval by the world court. National Socialists and Nationalists particularly have agitated against his policy of re-approchement with France.

22 Simon Liberals Will Lend Support To National Gov't

MacDonald Wins Struggle to Keep Forces Together and Ministry Will Appeal to People as Unit in a Campaign Short But Snappy.

LLOYD GEORGIAN SECTION BACKS LABORITES IN OPPOSITION TO ANY PROTECTIVE TARIFFS

Uncertainty Rife as to Course Gov't Will Take in Platform Until Premier Issues Manifesto, Which is Expected To-day or Wednesday.

LONDON Oct. 6.—(C. P. Cable)—Clouds of uncertainty were rolled away today with the official announcement from Buckingham Palace that the general election would be held on Oct. 27, when the British people will vote on issues of national importance.

The National Government will appeal to the people as a unit, Prime Minister Macdonald at last having won his struggle to keep Conservatives and the National Government Liberals together under his leadership. He also has the assistance of 22 Liberal Members of Parliament under Sir John Simon, who have pledged their support to the Prime Minister in any course he follows.

On the other side of the battle front are the Laborites, minus some of their old leaders, and the portion of the Liberal party headed by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. The Liberal party, decimated by succeeding general elections, is today split more widely than ever before. The Lloyd Georgian section remains agreed with the old guard of Labor in opposition to any protective tariffs.

But the situation remains complex The National Government's platform will be outlined in a manifesto to be issued by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. This was expected to-day, but it is more likely now that it will be issued tomorrow or perhaps on Thursday. The House is expected to prorogue tomorrow and afterwards dissolve. A speech from the Throne will outline the reasons for a general election at this critical period.

Short, Snappy Campaign

Mr. MacDonald has found the general election necessary at last. But the campaign will be short and snappy. Three weeks from tomorrow the people will go to the polls. In 1929, when the Conservative Government was defeated and the second Labor Government came into power, polling also came only three weeks after dissolution, but that battle had been long expected and the campaign was under way a considerable time before dissolution.

What, exactly, will be the National Government's platform? Just what part will tariffs play in it? It has been understood since the political crisis arose the Government would appeal on a broad program of national reconstruction in which tariffs would figure. But until the manifesto is issued, there remains uncertainty as to how far the Prime Minister is prepared to go with the Conservative demand for tariffs, a demand that of late has been put in the background for the sake of unity in the Cabinet.

And how will the National Government's different political entities solve the problem of co-operation in the constituencies? Agreement must be reached, if the National Government candidates are not to be defeated by themselves while Labor fights as a unit.

Tariffs Important

Labor is taking it for granted that protective tariffs will play an important part in the National Government's appeal. In annual conference at Scarborough a gathering cut shot and ending on Wednesday to permit Laborites to go to the constituencies, Labor is drafting a complete platform. To-day Labor added government control of the country's banking and credit system to the planks of the platform it is rapidly fashioning. Other important planks are opposition to tariffs, a reversal of the National Government's unemployment policy and policy of cutting social services, condemnation of any attempt to restore the gold standard cancellation of inter-allied war debts, and public ownership or control of mines and basic industries such as power, transport iron and steel.

This is how the parties stand in the present house:

National-Labor	14
Labor	263
Conservative	253
Simon Liberals	22
Liberals	38
New Party	4
Independent	9
Vacant	1

The Cabinet unanimously decided last night to carry its troubles to the people at once on a platform to be framed by the Prime Minister, and announcing of the date of polling followed a visit by Mr. MacDonald to the King at Buckingham Palace this morning. Mr. MacDonald spent half an hour with His Majesty and then returned to Downing

Edison Becomes Semi-Conscious; End Draws Near

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Oct. 6—Thomas A. Edison was in a semi-conscious condition to-day and his death is but a matter of days, his personal physician announced this morning. The physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said that the aged inventor's condition was lethargic.

Dr. Howe's daily morning bulletin read: "Mr. Edison had a fair night and there has been but little change in his condition in the past 24 hours."

The aged inventor has reduced his food consumption about 50 per cent in the past four days, and this has brought about a condition which Dr. Rowe said was "very bad."

CAPONE SURE OF ACQUITTAL

Express Every Confidence—if He is Given Fair Trial.

LIABLE TO 32 YEARS.

CHICAGO, Ill., October 6 (C.P.).—Alphonse Capone's challenge to the Federal Government to try to convict him as an income tax evader reached the show-down stage to-day, with the gang chief expressing confidence of acquittal if as he put it, he is given a fair trial.

And by fair trial I mean that jurors receive the evidence with open mind and reserve their judgment of my guilt or innocence until all the facts are in, the gang lord said on the eve of his trial in which the prosecution alleges he failed to pay $215,087 on a six-year income of $1,038,654.

Capone said he pleaded guilty to the income tax charge two months ago because of the expense of a trial and because it was the easiest way out. He later changed it to not guilty when it became certain Judge James H. Wilkerson would not be bound by any agreement between the prosecution and Capone for a short sentence in consideration for his admission of guilt.

Should the jury in the present trial convict him on all counts of the indictment he will be liable to a maximum sentence of 32 years and a fine of $30,000

NEED OF NEW CHEMONG BRIDGE URGED AT ENNISMORE MEETING

Appeal Proposed to be Made Through County Council.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Attended by over two hundred men representative of the townships of Ennismore, Smith, Harvey, and Emily, a meeting was held on Monday night at St Martin's Hall, Ennismore, as a result of which the Ennismore Bridge question is now a live issue. The meeting was presided over by Reeve Cavanagh.

It was decided that special meetings should be called of Ennismore and Harvey Township Councils with a view to meeting the County Council on the matter in the near future. It is probable that after the Township Council meetings some definite proposals will be put forward for consideration by the County Council along with a suggestion that an engineer should be consulted regarding the construction of a new bridge.

Among those present and who spoke at the meeting were William and J. Charlton of Lakefield J. J. Duffus of Peterborough, and T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., of Havelock

The meeting was unanimous in its desire for a new bridge across Chemong Lake. The bridge was a necessity and would provide work for the unemployed, it was contended.

Many citizens of Ennismore said they would be agreeable to put in stone at $2.00 a cord to fill in the lake for a distance of half a mile from the Ennismore shore. The half-mile filling could be done it was estimated, at a cost of $37,000

WORLD LEADERS PAY MORROW HIGHEST PRAISE

Much Speculation as to Effect Senator's Death Will Have on Politics.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY.

Rule He Followed in Life Was "Don't Take Yourself Too Seriously."

ENGLEWOOD, N.J., October 6 (C.P.). — There was speculation to-day as to what effect his passing would have upon politics and there was world-wide appraisal of his accomplishments in finance and statecraft; but dominating all else here was the stunning realization that Dwight W. Morrow, who but a day before had appeared in excellent health, was suddenly dead.

From everywhere, leaders of nations, of industries, arts, finance, and religion sent expressions of their grief at news of his death, which occurred yesterday.

In Mexico City, where his most notable diplomatic services were performed as United States Ambassador, in Englewood, where his home has been for 30 years; in New York, where he built his fortune with the Morgan interests; and in China and Japan where his daughter Anne, and her husband, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, are vacationing, there were equal manifestations of grief.

Greater Things in Store.

A United States Senator from New Jersey, a man believed by many to have been on the threshold of even greater political distinction than already had come to him, Dwight W. Morrow died in his sleep at 1.52 p.m. yesterday. A cerebral remorrhage was the cause of death. He was 58 years old.

He had retired in good spirits, although over the week-end he had complained somewhat of being tired. Three physicians and members of his immediate family were at his bedside when death came. His secretary had become alarmed two hours earlier when efforts to arouse Mr Morrow failed. He never regained consciousness.

His rule in life, from the time he attended Amherst College as a classmate of Calvin Coolidge, to the time of his death, when he had already achieved fame, riches, position, honor and the regard of his countrymen, was 'Don't take yourself too darned seriously.' That was his answer to friends urging him for the Presidency.

Hoover's Comment.

President Hoover, attending the world series game at Philadelphia, was not told of Senator Morrow's death until he was about to return to Washington. Later the President said:

"The country has suffered a great loss. His loyal and generous character as a neighbor and a friend, his public spirit as a citizen; his services during the war; his accomplishments as Ambassador to Mexico; his unique contribution to the success of the London Naval Conference, are the record of that sort of a citizen who makes our country great."

Thousands of messages of condolence came to the Morrow home on the outskirts of this city. Many hundreds of friends journeyed to the home to express personally their grief.

A police guard was posted about the Morrow estate last night as the crush of visitors continued to grow. Funeral services will take place to-morrow at 3 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, of which the Rev. Dr. Carl H. Elmore, a personal friend of the Morrows, is pastor.

PLANE MISSING NEAR HALIFAX

Crash and Explosion Heard by Keeper of Lighthouse.

SEARCH THIS MORNING.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 6. (CP)—A plane believed to be the New York, bound for New York from the trans-Atlantic liner Bremen, crashed on Cobequid Bay early this morning, according to William Faulkner, lightkeeper at Bur Coat, who organized a search party and proceeded in the direction from which shouts came but could find no trace of plane or flier.

The Lufthansa seaplane was catapulted from the Bremen yesterday morning about 800 miles at sea. In an effort to break existing records for landing trans-Atlantic mails at New York. Pilot Fritz Simon pushed on for the American metropolis after refuelling at Sydney, N.S., early last night.

About 3.30 this morning lightkeeper Faulkner heard a crash on Cobequid Bay. The crash was followed by an explosion. Shouts echoed over the bay for some time as he endeavored to get a boat off. It was low water in the muddy bay and it was impossible to get a boat over the mud flats for more than an hour. About 5.30, with assistance of men he had aroused in Neol, Hans county, he got a boat off and proceeded in the direction from which shouts were still coming. They could not see the plane. Then all was quiet. There were no more shouts, and although they rowed around in the bay until after daylight they found neither plane nor fliers. Other boats are out on the bay now but at 9.30 no trace of a plane had been found.

WAR ACTIVITIES SPREAD ALARM IN NANKING CITY

British, U. S. Consuls Confer With Japanese Consuls Over Safety Measures.

FEAR SERIOUS BREAK.

All Japanese to be Evacuated to Avoid Clash if Possible.

NANKING, Oct. 6 (C.P.)—A tense feeling between Japanese and Chinese over the Manchurian situation to-day led British and United States Consular authorities to confer with the Japanese Consul-General about measures for the safety of their nationals in the event of a serious outbreak.

British Consul-General Moss and United States Consul-General Peck produced newspaper reports that the Shanghai Japanese Chamber of Commerce had demanded positive action by Tokyo to combat the anti-Japanese boycott in effect throughout most of China.

Peck and Moss inquired as to what was likely to happen in Nanking. The Japanese Consul-General replied that if necessary he would evacuate all Japanese, including the Consular staff here, to avoid a possible clash in the Chinese capital.

The anti-Japanese boycott has been described by Japanese officials as the most intensive of its kind in history, amounting to economic war.

FINANCE BILL SIGNED BY KING

Immediate Objective of National Government is Accomplished.

BUDGET BALANCED.

LONDON, Oct. 6 (Canadian Press Cable).—The National Government's program for balancing the budget was completed yesterday afternoon when the finance bill was passed through its stages in the House of Lords and received the royal assent.

The finance bill is the measure putting into effect Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden's supplementary budget," 3 increasing the income tax and duties on beer, tobacco and gasoline, as well as raising additional revenue in other directions.

The national economy bill, which provides for the government's reductions in expenditures, and other corollary measures were enacted into the law last week, so it might be said the immediate task for which the national government was formed—balancing the budget—has been completed.

LODGE ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY THE CAMPBELLFORD MASONS

D.D.G.M. John McCamus, of Peterborough District, is Guest of Honor

HOLD JOLLY BANQUET.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Celebrating the seventy-first year of its inception Golden Rule Lodge A.F. and A.M., No. 126 G.R.C., Campbellford, was host last evening to the visiting D.D.G.M. of the Peterborough District, Rt. W. Bro. McCamus, who participated in a splendid banquet provided by the lodge, afterward performing his official duties in the lodge room.

Covers were laid for over eighty brethren and guests which did not meet the requirements of the large attendance. During the serving of the meal an orchestra under the direction of Bro. A. Hazell provided music. The chair was taken by the Worshipful Master of Golden Rule Lodge, W. Bro. T. E. Hall, who also acted as toastmaster.

Bro. N. Alex MacColl proposed the toast to Grand Lodge and in a very able manner outlined the history of the Order in Canada from the time when the Rt. W. Bro. Jarvis was appointed as Grand Master of Canada by the Mother Grand Lodge in England. This was in 1792 and there were then five lodges under his jurisdiction. This was known as the Provincial Grand Lodge and was merely an outpost from the Mother Country. In 1817 Rt. W. Bro. Jarvis died, and then it was that trouble occurred in the lodges in Canada, with the result that in 1852 Canada asked for their independence, with the power to elect their own Grand Master and control their finances. This was refused, however, with the result that in 1855 an informal meeting was held at Niagara Falls and the Grand Lodge of Canada was formed. Two years later the Provincial Grand Lodge demanded their complete freedom from the jurisdiction of the Mother Lodge, which opened the way to union, calling themselves the Ancient Grand Lodge of Canada. In 1858, when the Mother Lodge was prepared to recognize the freedom of the Canadian Order, the two Grand Lodges united, thus forming the Grand Lodge as we have it to-day.

Guest of Honor.

Replying to this toast, the guest of honor, Rt. W. Bro. McCamus voiced his pleasure at the royal reception he had received both on his own behalf and for the Grand Lodge. The atmosphere of Grand Lodge, he said, was one thing that had always attracted his attention, possessing as it does a spirit of friendliness and giving one a sense of being at home in one's own lodge. Also the kindness and consideration of the officers could not be surpassed. He was also impressed with the report on complaints and violations of laws, declaring that every brother was given a fair chance when in fault to state his claim. Grand Lodge was also strict to the letter of the law, he stated. He also said that the Past Masters' Association of the Peterborough

FLEET TO START ATLANTIC CRUISE

Will Return to Scotland With Crews Apparently Satisfied.

TWO REDS HELD.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 6.—(AP) — The Atlantic fleet of the British navy was ordered yesterday to proceed to sea next Thursday to resume the cruise from which it was recalled in the recent protest over reductions in pay.

The fleet will return to Scottish waters with the men apparently satisfied with pay concessions granted by the admiralty last Saturday.

Vigorous steps are being taken to round up Communist agitators who were reported to have attempted to foment trouble among the sailors. Two alleged Communists are under arrest at Portsmouth charged with inciting naval men to mutiny.

Mail Plane Down On Way To New York

HALIFAX, N.S., October 6 (C.P.). — The mail plane from the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, which refuelled at Sydney last night and continued its journey for New York, was forced down on Cobequid Bay early this morning. Residents of Noel, Hants County, heard calls from the bay and went out in a boat, but could find no trace of the fliers.

CROSS BORDER TO BUY FARES

U. S. Residents Save Money on Tickets Despite the Surcharges.

MONEY SHIPPED OVER.

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Oct. 6. — Discounting of the Canadian dollar in United States has brought about a number of interesting situations along the border and has acted as stimulas to business on the Canadian side.

Railroad stations here report a tremendous increase in passenger business while the dollar has been fluctuating. Long distance travellers from Buffalo have been buying their tickets on this side to take advantage of the depreciated Canadian currency and are routing their trips as far as possible over Canadian lines.

An instance was reported by a local agent today whereby an American bought four tickets to California at a local railway station and even with $24 surcharge on the tickets he was still $52 ahead on the transaction. He had converted his American funds into Canadian before making the purchase.

Buffalo firms accepting Canadian money are depositing funds in local banks until such time as the dollar goes back to par and the money is brought over here in armored trucks. The crews of these trucks are armed and a situation has arisen which is puzzling customs and police officers. Although these crews have permits to carry arms in United States, they are aliens and cannot do so on this side. However, as a gesture of courtesy, they are permitted to proceed to banks while efforts are being made to secure a special firearms permit from the Attorney-General.

Buffalo stores who wouldn't touch Canadian money at all a week ago have now changed their tactics preferring to take the money rather than lose the lucrative Canadian trade. Following the lead of several chain store companies, most of the business houses are now accepting Canadian funds at par on purchases and only in the smaller shops are they refused as currency.

Edison's Strength Is Slowly Ebbing

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 6.—A complication of diseases continued today to drain the strength of Thomas Alva Edison, whose 1,300 inventions have won him the title of Wizard of Menlo Park.

His personal physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, held little or no hope that the 84-year-old inventor would fight off the effects of diabetes, Bright's disease, uremic poisoning and a stomach ailment believed to be gastric ulcers, none of which, the doctor said, had caused Mr. Edison pain.

The physician said he did not believe Mr. Edison's condition was immediately critical but disclosed that his strength was ebbing slowly before the advance of uremic poisoning.

The oldest golf club in America was organized in 1873 at Montreal and in the following year the second oldest was established at Quebec.

WORKMAN HURT IN FALL FROM ROOF

Charles Courtney Suffers Broken Shoulder—Rugby Player Breaks Arm.

LINDSAY, October 6 (Special to The Examiner). — While shingling a roof in the North Ward on Saturday, Charles Courtney slipped and fell from a ladder, breaking his left shoulder and sustaining a bad shaking up.

Teddy Grozelle, son of J. Grozelle, turnkey at the local jail, broke his arm on the Collegiate campus on Friday while practising for a position on the local rugby team. Last summer he broke the same arm in the same place.

Mrs. E. A. Bradburn, of Janetville, while leading one of the horses out of the stable on her husband's farm a few days ago had the misfortune to break her arm. The tie rope became entangled around her ankle, throwing her to the ground. She was admitted to Dr. Hall's Hospital at Little Britain for treatment.

Warren Hill, of Mariposa, is lying in an unconscious condition in the Ross Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries received while working on the roof of a barn in that township. He missed his footing and fell to the ground, sustaining a fractured skull, fractured right arm, and severe body bruises.

Urge Gov't Control For Banking System

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., Oct. 6.—(A.P.)- The Labor Party's annual conference, shaping its policies for the general election, unanimously adopted to-day a resoltuion urging that the country's banking and credit system be placed under government control.

The ponsor of the resolution, Pethick Lawrence, said during the debate that an amendment had been accepted providing for public ownership of the banking system as well as control. The resolution would have been regarded as a pious one not long ago, he said, but to-day it's a battle cry and a call to action. When we get control of the government this will be the policy immediately put into effect.

PRINCE PRESENTS BARKING CHARTER

Suburb of Greater London Rich in Historical Incidents.

LONDON, Oct. 6 (C.P. Cable)—Prince George went to Barking, Essex yesterday for the ceremonial handing over of the town's charter of incorporation as an independent borough.

Barking is really a limb of greater London. It has almost doubled its population in the last ten years and in another five will probably approach 100,000.

Suburban London is notoriously heedless of its own civic life but the new borough's inaugural festivities betokened proper pride in its historic foundations.

Less than fifty years after the crucifixion the Roman Emperor Claudius established a camp at Barking. Thirteen hundred years ago Saint Ethelgurga and her nuns of Barking Abbey were forced to flee from the Danish invaders.

Sixteen years ago the people of this low-lying Essex county had become well used to the nightly visitation of aircraft, and bore the trials with as much fortitude as their ancestors of old.

To-day the Lord Mayor of London, Alderman Sir William Phens

No Split Likely

Predictions the Cabinet would split over the tariff issue were dispelled by the unanimous nature of the Cabinet's decision, indicating that Conservative and Liberal wings alike had agreed to support the Prime Minister in his demand for a doctor's mandate to prescribe as he sees fit, for the country's economic ailments.

"Everything is straightforward," the Prime Minister himself said as he left the Cabinet meeting late last night.

And, as election talk became the sole topic, great interest centered on Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, veteran Liberal Leader, who yesterday —by all accounts—expressed to the Prime Minister his unyielding opposition to an election. Some reports said Mr. Lloyd George, characterizing an election as a perilous adventure, threatened to run his loyal supporters—he controls only 36 in the House now—as Independent, opposed to the National Government.

If the aged Liberal chieftain stands by the threat, the contest would be transformed into a three-sided contest, and Mr. Lloyd George remains a redoubtable campaigner, But there is more support for the prediction that he will remain on the sidelines.

RECREATION CONGRESS OPENS

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6 (C.P.)—The provision of work for the jobless in park and playground developments and the extension of recreation programs to meet the heavily increased demand for free activities from the unemployed, hold first place among topics to be discussed at the eighteenth national recreation congress which opens here today under the auspices of the National Recreation Association, for a five day session.

Neal, will go to Barking from where more than one of his early predecessors originated.

UNTIL yesterday, this girl's husband had lovingly encouraged her small extravagances and boasted laughingly that his income was ample and growing.

He worked with might and main to "gather the fruits of success for his fair trinity at home"—and was succeeding.

But death, without warning, cut down his guard, and the three he loved more than his own life were now at bay to the world—alone.

Her faith was strong. Her husband she knew, would not leave her with the children to face a financial situation for which there was no solution. Yet when she tried to calculate the income she would receive from the savings he had left, a panic of fear overcame her.

The greatest and hardest of her duties now was the one she knew the least about."

If she had come to you for advice—that would have been her story.

Perhaps someone depending on you is destined some day to be left alone—at bay to the world. This is a situation so appalling that its very contemplation makes thinking men turn cold with apprehension.

That is why we have written a little work called "Her Way Out"—to make you realize how serious is the situation which may overtake those for whom you believe no sacrifice or effort is too great.

In addition it provides the one sensible solution for such a tragic problem. Would you like to have a copy? We will be pleased indeed to send you one.

HAVELOCK COUNCIL PREPARES FINAL PLANS FOR RELIEF WORK

Gov't Gives No Decision on $10,000 Request for Unemployment Schemes.

POST OFFICE IS URGED.

HAVELOCK, Oct 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — Further steps were taken to provide work for local unemployed at the regular meeting of the town council held here last evening in the town hall. Already three men have been engaged to make the necessary tile for the drainage work that is included in the relief program. The cement mixer and all the other equipment required for the rebuilding of sidewalks, etc., was arranged for and the council will pay a certain amount per hour for the use of these.

When the meeting got under way the first letter of any importance was one from J. A. Ellis secretary in charge of unemployed relief for the province. It acknowledged the report of the local registering of jobless, also the requisition for help in a proposed $10,000 expenditure in the interest of unemployed. The committee had not yet held a meeting to determine the amount that this village would receive, but that as soon as the amount was made known the clerk would be notified. He also said that it was not necessary to submit the names on the list, since they have those of towns in the northern part of the province, who will be used first.

Regarding the manhole covers for the drainage work, the secretary was instructed to write the different foundries and get their prices for same. The council was of the opinion these could be obtained for less money than they paid for those used last winter. Bert Wannamaker has been engaged to make tile and will have a good supply on hand when the men are ready to start the drainage work. Some of the walks and drains proposed were discussed but will be gone over more fully when the council knows the extent of the relief grants.

Councillors Gordon, Howe and Spencer were appointed a committee to go ahead with the work of building a new entrance to the basement of the town hall. The ladies of the Women's Institute waited on the council at the last regular meeting and asked that an outside entrance be built on the north side of the hall. At that time the council was not prepared to say whether or not they could proceed with the work at once. Present indications are that it will be done immediately. The council will pay for the work and the ladies to reimburse them at a later date.

Mrs. Will Rose was granted a $1 rebate on dog tax because her dog was poisoned shortly after the tag was bought. The council thought it would be better to employ two foremen and pay them the extra ten cents an hour than to have only one. Two foremen can look after the men to see that they do the work and will be placed, one on the sidewalks and the other on the drains.

Post Office

Reeve Sanderson and clerk Fennell reported on the delegation that went to Bancroft to see Dr. Embury, M.P., with regard to having a new Post Office here. The delegation was composed of Messrs. A. Leeson, Fred Fleming, Reeve Sanderson and Clerk Fennell. The matter will be taken up with the Postmaster General and Dr. Embury will do all in his power to have a new office built.

Apparently local pool players and smokers have gone on strike, or something, such is the inference that might be gained from a blank sheet for licenses sales this year. A number of local citizens have failed to obtain various permits or licenses and will be given two weeks to pay or the council will take means to enforce the by-laws regarding them. The notice will appear in two editions of the local paper.

The following accounts were ordered paid: Provincial Secretary, 5 marriage licenses $20; C. Dewey, fire hall and caretaking, $8.40; F. McAdam, sanitation work for town hall, $4; Mrs. Hogan, re Foley estate, $5; E. Fennell trip to Bancroft for delegation, $15 Clarence Spencer, 4 hours' work with truck, $4.

The meeting then adjourned until November 2nd, or at the call of the reeve.

KINGSFORD-SMITH CONTINUES FLIGHT.

ATHENS, October 6 (C.P.). — Wing-Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, forced down on a record-breaking attempt from Australia to England, took off to-day for Rome on his way to London. He has been under the care of a specialist since he came down at Milas last Thursday.

HARVEST MEETING CENTREVILLE W.M.

Members of St. Paul's Society, Peterborough, Are Special Speakers.

The Women's Missionary Society of Centreville Presbyterian Church held its special annual thank offering meeting on Wednesday afternoon Sept. 30 in the Sunday school hall.

Mrs. D. N. Dodds, president of the society presided at the meeting. The opening hymn was "O God Our Help In Ages Past," followed with prayer by Rev. H. R. Williams. The scripture lesson, Psalm 27, was read by Mrs. Robert Deyell. A duet by Mrs. F. Wood and Miss A. Berry was much enjoyed as was also the instrumental by Miss Grace Johnson.

Ladies from the W.M.S. of St. Paul's Church, Peterborough were guest speakers for the afternoon. The report of the provincial council held at Windsor, which was too lengthy to be given at Colborne last spring, was given by Mrs. Rowen of St. Paul's. Mrs. Turner from St. Paul's spoke on systematic giving while Mrs. Morgan, the Presbyterial treasurer, addressing the meeting on the organization of a Young Women's Society and invited the young ladies to attend a rally in St. Paul's Church, Peterborough on October 10 to encourage the formation of such a society throughout the Presbytery. Many helpful ideas were left with the ladies through these inspiring addresses.

A large number of ladies from the W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook accepted the invitation extended to them by the Centreville Auxiliary and attended the meeting.

The social side of the meeting took the form of an afternoon tea served by the Centreville ladies. Small tables temptingly laid and containing small vases of autumn flowers made the room very attractive.

Mrs. Levi Byers, on behalf of the Centreville W.M.S. moved a vote of thanks to the Peterborough ladies for their kind help.

Mrs. Seaton, president of Millbrook W.M.S. and Mrs. Paul, also of Millbrook, thanked the Centreville ladies for their kind hospitality.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

TRENT RIVER

The fine warm weather over the week-end brought a number of cottagers from the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Taylor, Miss Ilene, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scully, of Toronto arrived Saturday to spend a few days at the former's summer home "Idlewood."

Mr. Charlie McNichol has returned to Toronto after spending a month at "Sum-er-in" with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael McNichol.

Mr. H. F. McNichol has returned to his home at Milton having enjoyed his two week's holidays with Mrs. McNichol, at their summer home.

The choir of the United Church are holding special rehearsals for the anniversary services which are being held Sunday, October 11.

Mr. Bert Davidson, of Wellington, was a recent visitor with his cousin, Mr. Fran Davidson and family.

Mr. C. F. Ward is erecting two new cottages on his property.

Rush Point

A number of neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Buchanan gathered at the home of Mr. Harry Petherick on Friday night, October 2, and presented the young couple with some beautiful and useful gifts, including chairs, a clock, bedding, table linen, dishes and kitchen utensils.

The music for the dancing was furnished by Mr. Harry Anderson and Mr. Frank Voyer of Havelock, assisted by Mr. Archie McMillan and Mr. Carl Barton of Rush Point.

HAVELOCK W.I. ARRANGES DANCE

Matter of Building New Entrance to Town Hall is Shelved for Present.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of Havelock Women's Institute was held in the council chamber on Monday afternoon, Oct. 5, with a goodly attendance of the members. Meeting opened with the President, Mrs. Clarence Hubel in the chair.

The chief business in hand was making arrangements for the Hallowe'en masquerade dance, to be held on Friday evening, October 30. Committees were appointed to see about the music, to buy prizes and to look after the refreshments. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Jamieson will look after music for the occasion; Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Hoffman will procure prizes, and Mrs. Hagerman and Mrs. Robert McCutcheon were appointed to act on the refreshment committee. A meeting of these committees and the executive will be held at the home of the president to make all further arrangements.

A letter from the Department of Agriculture, re relief, read in part as follows: "Women's organizations in some of the cities of the province are co-operating in putting up for winter use large quantities of canned fruits and vegetables, to be utilized in cases of emergency during the coming winter. We are pleased to note that Women's Institutes in some localities are co-operating along similar lines, expecting that the call for relief will be greater than usual during the coming winter. In view of these activities we think it well to remind individual members of the Institute that a few additional jars put up by the housekeeper, or quantities put up through the co-operation of members of a branch, at the community hall or other centre, will be much appreciated by the needy next winter."

Clothing Wanted

A letter was also read from the inspector of public schools in Haliburton and East Muskoka, asking the assistance of the members in providing warm clothing for children from five to fifteen years, of either sex. Any articles whatever will be appreciated provided they are clean, sanitary and warm. Adult clothing is not solicited, as those in charge of the work are not prepared to undertake the work of altering, but quilts will be thankfully received.

The teacher appointed as storekeeper this year is Miss Margaret Hanthorne, Gelert P.O., who will acknowledge receipts of all parcels. All articles sent Miss Hanthorn will be paid for at her end of the line, and will be gratefully received. Articles suggested are: boots, stockings, rubbers, underclothing, for both boys and girls, caps, overcoats, dresses, shirts, mitts and scarfs.

The case of a mentally deficient child in the community was again discussed, and the committee in charge reported that the child is to be looked after, and if deemed necessary will be placed in an institution for treatment.

The alteration to the front of the town hall to include a basement entrance was discussed. The council is in favor of the improvement but is not in a position to undertake the cost, as the amount alloted for relief measures is no as great as was expected. It is thought that Mr. Spencer's estimate of $75 for the work and material is most reasonable, but the members decided to leave the matter over until the next meeting ,when iti s expected there will be more funds available for the work.

The library fee for balance of the year will be 25c, to give local readers who had not yet patronized the library a chance to do so at a small cost. The plot in front of the hall has been graded, planted with shrubs and perennials, and looks very promising at present.

The Blind

Mr. Trennear was present and addressed the meeting on behalf of the Institute for the Blind. Mr. Trennear was for a time organist and choir leader in St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, and later in Oshawa, but gave up his work in that capacity to work on behalf of the helpless blind. He said he was not there to speak for the successful blind, but for those who are as yet unable to help themselves. The work of educating those who do not see involves a great deal of time and expense, and the Institute is dependent largely on the generosity of voluntary contributions. He suggested that since there was a Children's Aid tag day contemplated for the near future, perhaps the best way of raising funds to help in this work would be a concert. He said if this concert could be held in one of the churches where there is a pipe organ he will give an illustrated lecture, on the work of helping the blind to help themselves, and also an organ recital together with vocal numbers which could be made very interesting. He suggested that it might be better in view of the numerous activities now under way, to leave the matter until after the new year, when a good attendance might be looked for. The second week in January was decided upon as suitable for the concert, and further arrangements will be made later on.

The health talk by Mrs. Lancaster will be given at the next meeting, as the unexpected visit of Mr. Trennear, with the extensive business in connection with the Hallowe'en dance took up a great deal of the allotted time. Mrs. Hagerman gave a demonstration of putting tailored pockets in boys' pants, which proved very interesting to mothers of young boys, some of whom had come especially for this demonstration.

By special request Mr. Trennear sang "The Holy City" and for encore played a piano solo entitled "The Gondolier," both of which were greatly appreciated. The meeting was brought to a close by singing "The National Anthem" and afterwards a light lunch was served.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Jamieson, Yuill, Dafoe, Hagerman and Miss Wright.

DEANERY REPORT READ AT BETHANY

St. Paul's W. A. Meets at the Home of Mrs. James McKinnon.

BETHANY, Oct. 5 — (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church held their monthly meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. James McKinnon, with the president in the chair.

There was an attendance of twelve members and two visitors Mrs. Percy of Bowmanville and Miss Nettie Fallis, R.N., of Toronto, guests of Mrs. J. J. Hamilton and Mrs. Ernest Fallis.

Mrs. J. M. Sisson read a report of the recent Deanery meeting held at Bobcaygeon. Envelopes were distributed among the members for an appeal sent out for money to help the needy in far off lands.

Discussion took place on how to make the study book more interesting and work was commenced on the various articles which are yet unfinished, the work continuing for about an hour.

A the close of the meeting the hostess, assisted by her two daughters, Frances and Evelyn, and Mrs. Fallis served a dainty lunch.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Hamilton.

ROTARY CONVENTION DELEGATE SPEAKS AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON

Mackenzie Robertson Tells Campbellford Rotarians of Visit to Vienna, Austria.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 6 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Representing by proxy the Campbellford Rotary Club at the Rotary International Convention held in Vienna, Austria, this year, Mackenzie Robertson of Belleville visited the local club on Monday and was the guest speaker at their weekly luncheon, briefly describing his visit to the convention and his travels through the different countries en route. A pleasing feature of this luncheon and one that came as a surprise to the guest of honor was the presentation by the chairman, Vice-president H. N. Carr to Mr. Robertson of a pen bearing the Rotary emblem as a token to him of the appreciation of the Campbellford club for his kindness in the past.

Mr. Robertson sailed from Montreal on the Duchess of York, travelling to Brussels and Coblenz, the party being made up of Rotarians from Districts 27 and 28 with their ladies. From Coblenz, a wonderful steamer trip was taken up the Rhine which impressed the speaker, not only with the beauty of scenery but with the neatness of the villages and towns and with the large volume of river traffic, both freight and passenger. Frankfort was the next place of call after which came Munich, at which point the party was shown a splendid war memorial to 13,000 men of the city killed in the Great War.

From there Mr. Robertson described the wonderful scenery through the Bavarian Alps on the way to Vienna. He was impressed, he stated, with the neatness of the farming operations and activity of the farmers with every foot of land cultivated and no sign of weeds.

Of the convention at Vienna, he stated that the Austrian nation as a whole were very grateful and proud that Rotary International had chosen their country for their convention, and showed this in many ways.

On the first day of the convention registrations were in order with representatives from 76 Rotary Districts seventy district governors present and fifty nations represented. On the second day President Nicholas of the Austrian Republic officially welcomed the guests as also did the Burgomaster and the president of the Vienna Rotary club. The affair was staged in the Concert House loaned by the city for the purpose.

Elaborate Entertainment

The entertainments of the guests were more than elaborate declared Mr. Robertson who described a formal reception in the former Royal Palace at which over 4000 were present and a reception tendered by the British Ambassador at which was gathered people from all over the British Empire. Another high light was the production, for the benefit of the Rotarians, of Franz Lehar's opera, "The Merry Widow", with the composer himself conducting. This was featured by the galleries of the theater being packed with Lehar's pupils who gave him a tremendous ovation after the performance.

One of the things, the speaker said, that was noticeable was that everyone spoke English, even to the Boy Scouts who were on Rotary service during the week of the convention. In regard to the period of depression he stated that it was hard to make these people realize that it was affecting the whole world as they believed it to be only affecting those nations that lost in the World War.

From Vienna Mr. Robertson went to Prague and then onto Berlin, arriving in London on July 1, when he attended the Dominion Day reception a Canada House. From England he went over to Paris and then on to Lucerne, greatly appreciating the motor trip over the Swiss Alps. Milan, Italy was the next stop and from there onto Florence, Venice and Rome. In Italy he said, ther was wonderful improvement under the dictator. The people were gaining self respect and were working hard to improve their industries. He returned home on the Italian steamship "Roma."

LODGE ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED

District was an excellent institution.

"It would be a queer old world if people would not visit," asserted W. Bro. G. A. Kingston, giving the toast to the Visiting Brethren, pointing out that contact with each other alters the whole aspect and actions of a person. Mingling with others, he said, makes the little conventionalities we have all also alters our outlook and viewpoint. A good visitor, companion, and fellow gives one a better view of life.

It also broadens the vision, Wor. Bro. Kingston stated this being seen in a national sense as well as individually. In short, visiting gives to all the spirit of brotherly love and kindness which creates friendships and makes for happiness. That is why, he said, we welcome our visitors to-night.

Replying to the toast, W. Bro. Brown of Keene expressed the pleasure of the visitors at the welcome they had received congratulating the Lodge on progressiveness over so many years.

Contributing to the musical portion of the program the Ionic Quartette composed of Bros. K. M. Bygett, A. Hazell, W. Henson and H. O. Richardson, rendered two numbers, and Bros. Hazell and J. Storie sang vocal olos. Bro. E. C. Dolman accompanied the performers.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1931

MAKE THIS WEEK COUNT.

Fire Prevention Week will mean just nothing at all so far as Peterborough is concerned if it does not reach into the dwelling houses of the community and bring about the removal of major fire hazards.

We come back to this point again to-day because unless there is action by individuals the object of this annual educational campaign will be completely lost.

Cleanliness is one of the most helpful auxiliaries in fire prevention.

When premises are kept free of accumulations of inflammable materials and where chimneys and pipes are cleaned periodically the fire fiend is baffled.

On the contrary, a reverse of these conditions means a constant menace.

Peterborough householders are asked this week to decide in which class their home should be listed, and if the answer is unfavorable, to take steps to remedy the situation.

The removal of fire hazards from the home is the big job for Peterborough this week; if carried out on a general scale Saturday night will find this a much safer city from a fire viewpoint.

AGAIN THE REVOLVER.

Within recent weeks the deadly revolver has been prominent in a number of tragedies, the double murder at Thorold being the latest example.

It is worthy of note that a jury at Kitchener, deliberating a murder charge, added a rider urging that immigration authorities make a much more careful search of newcomers to prevent them from bringing dangerous weapons into the country.

Undoubtedly the revolver should be outlawed.

The ease with which it can be secured, the facility with which it can be concealed and its deadliness in action combine to make this weapon a menace to public safety that should be swept into the discard.

Newcomers should be educated to the fact that there is no need in this country of carrying a revolver, and every effort should be made to keep such a deadly firearm out of the hands of those who desire to use it for illegal purposes.

Not only is a revolver not a necessity but it is a source of potential trouble, and public opinion should demand its abolition, because so long as these weapons can be received just about as readily as groceries there is bound to be trouble.

AUTOMOBILE REVENUE AND ROAD COSTS.

The Citizens' Research Institute has just made public a survey of highway expenditure and motor vehicle taxation in the three Prairie Provinces.

The figures given show that in Manitoba the net current revenue from motor vehicle licenses and gas tax has exceeded the current expenditures on highways, including debt charges since 1922, although in the year ended March 31, 1930, these amounts almost balanced.

The comparatively large sums spent on capital account for highways in recent years in Manitoba, however, and the establishment of a sinking fund in connection with highway debt would seem to indicate that revenue from automobile sources will not be greatly in excess of current expenditures.

In Saskatchewan net current revenues from motor vehicles and gas tax exceeded current expenditures on highways, including debt charges, in the year ended April 30, 1928. In 1929, owing to the large increase in current expenditure for maintenance, these amounts were about equal, and in 1930, due mainly to decreased revenue, such highway revenue was but 83.2 per cent. of current highway expenditure, and the large increase in capital highway expenditure in 1930 would seem to indicate a further decrease in the ratio.

In Alberta, net current revenue from motor vehicles and gas tax has exceeded current highway expenditure since 1927, although the increase in maintenance charges for the year ended March 31, 1930, decreased the ratio to some extent. Annual capital highway expenditures have remained fairly constant since 1925 so that debt charges in future years will tend to bring current highway expenditures up to the level of net highway revenues.

SEES BENEFITS FOR CANADA.

In an interesting analysis of the results of Britain's abandonment of the gold standard, K. R. Townsend, the advertising manager of the Canadian Westinghouse Company, sees great benefits for Canada.

He predicts that the exports and imports of this country with Great Britain will be stimulated at the expense of the United States, and that the money released by exports of our agricultural products to Great Britain will stimulate Canadian internal trade.

As domestic trade picks up through a greater demand, Mr. Towsend declares, the result of increased buying power, we may expect to see prices stiffen. Once prices indicate advancement the prevalent buyers' market will begin to give way to the sellers' market.

In the course of another three months we anticipate this situation will be manifest to buyers of all commodities, hence the result of Britain's action will be beneficial to Canadian business conditions.

It will readily be seen that the depreciation of the Canadian dollar in New York will have a decided tendency to reduce the import by Canada of American goods, and likewise increase the export of Canadian products to the United States.

With a growing favorable trade balance with the United States, the greater the depreciation of Canadian funds in the U. S. the greater will be the tendency for export business to the United States and the less tendency to buy from the United States

Though several weeks may elapse before international currencies finally reach a definite level, the tendency will persist of the Canadian dollar to remain relatively higher than the American dollar in relation to the British pound.

Under the circumstances both Canadian international and domestic trade is certain of stimulation, and our Canadian selling organizations should make greater efforts than ever—secure in the knowledge that business revival in Canada is already at hand.

Though the improvement will be gradual, it must be borne in mind that improvement will first be felt in retail lines rather than in the larger industrial projects.

As retail business picks up, increased production will necessitate increased employment. Increased employment will provide increased buying power with the result that business momentum will be accelerated to an appreciable extent before another six months rolls round.

TORONTO SUBURBAN ISSUE.

The Dominion Government may as well realize that the matter of Toronto Suburban Railway securities, rendered virtually valueless by discontinuance of operations on the line, is not going to sink into oblivion, but is a live issue. There may be perfectly good ground for the argument that neither the Canadian National nor the Government has any responsibility to shareholders. If so, that ground should be stated publicly and in detail.

As already pointed out in these columns, the federal legislation of 1919 included as part of the act a list of subsidiary companies, of which the Toronto Suburban was one. The bill set forth that "whereas His Majesty on behalf of the Dominion of Canada has acquried control of the Canadian Northern Railway and various constituent and subsidiary companies comprising the Canadian Northern system," etc. It has been represented that the securities of Toronto Suburban were not guaranteed, but the name appears in a list of companies, the securities of which were classified as guaranteed. In any event, the Canadian National three years ago saw fit to pay off certain Canadian Northern bonds at 94, and in 1920 took up Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto securities at par, neither of these being guaranteed. Those debenture-holders got their money.

It is surely not without significance that a large Canadian insurance company purchased a block of Toronto Suburban debentures. That would scarcely be without approval of the superintendent of insurance, who in such case must have been convinced that the securities were backed by the Canadian National and the Government.

This newspaper has ventured to suggest that the radial line between Toronto and Guelph was kept in operation so long more for the purpose of controlling competition with the Canadian National line through the same territory than with any expectation of building up traffic or making a profit. If that is true to any extent whatever, the C.N.R. benefited and there is a moral obligation to private holders of the securities.

Technically, the line is not abandoned, though dropped by the Canadian National. That is, the trustee could operate it, as far as legal right goes That, of course, has no practical value to security-holders, whatever defence it may provide the Canadian National.

According to information received by an interested party in this country, the Canadian National and the Government have yet another defence, in that no order-in-Council consummating acquisition of the Toronto Suburban was ever issued. Whether that was an oversight or a shrewd move with an eye on the future is not explained. Technicalities are of small interest to private investors who put their money into securities so widely understood to be Government-guaranteed that reputable financial journals unhesitatingly made the statement, and bond salesman had no reason to doubt it. If the contrary is now so easily proven, why was a wrong impression allowed to persist for years? The Government has something to clear up here, and a statement will come with better grace now than under pressure at next session of the House of Commons. —Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Mail and Empire suggests that Toronto's far from immaculate river might be called the Kaye Don. Its appearance, however, suggests it might be more appropriately named after another famous racing boat driver.

Hon. Gordon Scott, twice defeated in Quebec elections, has decided to withdraw from active politics, which will be the first intimation to many people that Mr. Scott had ever succeeded in getting into politics.

As Eddie Cantor remarked over the radio the other night, if this is not a depression it's the smallest boom we've had in years.

Canada is to remain on the gold standard, Mr. Bennett repeats, despite a very strong current of opinion that attempts to peg the Canadian dollar will be found to be a serious mistake.

American border cities are beginning to fear that they have been too hasty in their attitude toward Canadian currency. The loss of Canadian trade is making itself felt.

She sealed and stamped the envelope, then ran swiftly to the mail box located at the entrance of the driveway, and dropped her letter into it. There! That was over! There was a dance tonight. She would have a gorgeous time!

The morning after the dance Fabia was awakened at nine o'clock from a deep sleep by Jennie.

"There's a young gentleman on the telephone, Miss Fabia. I told him you weren't downstairs yet. He said it was very important."

Something stronger than her indignation drew her to the waiting receiver. "Hello."

"Hello, Fabia. It's Dan. Your note has just come. I don't understand it."

"I thought I made it clear."

"Will you be at home for the next hour?"

"I'm afraid I shan't."

"I'll be out as soon as I can get there."

"I'm sorry, but I shan't be here."

"All right, don't be there. I'm coming out, anyway." And he hung up the receiver before Fabia could say another word.

"What's it all about, Fabia?" burst out Dan after Fabia's cool "Good morning."

Fabia replied briefly, "You had an engagement with me and broke it."

"But I explained in my note why I broke it. I couldn't help it."

"Why couldn't you help it?"

"I explained. A patient needed me."

"Was the patient dying?"

"No, but she required my attention. Surely you wouldn't want me to neglect a patient for anything of a social nature."

"Wasn't it possible for you to have written a brief line of explanation and to have sent it to me by a messenger boy?"

"Why, I suppose it was possible, but I never even thought of such a thing. I wrote you a note later. I thought that sufficient. I didn't know you'd take it so seriously."

"A gentleman would know."

Dan's color deepened. She could see she was hurting him. Well, he had hurt her. Still festering in her consciousness was Agnes Hearn. Jealousy can do awful things.

"What did you do last evening?" she inquired.

"I was called to the hospital to fix up a man who'd been in a bad smashup at seven. Later I went to a movie."

"Did you go with your friend from the Statler?"

"What did you say?"

"You heard me. With Agnes Hearn. Dr. Warburton told my mother about her."

"Well, what if I did go to a movie with Agnes Hearn?" flashed Dan. He was angry now. "Is there any reason I shouldn't?"

"No. No reason in the world! I'm glad you did go with her! But there is reason why you shouldn't have kissed me like that, Dan, when you were engaged to be married to another girl. I call that worse than ungentlemanly. I call it cheap."

Dan went up to her close. "Look here," he said, "you'd better take that back."

Both were standing up. Their faces were within six inches of each other.

"Do you hate me, Fabia?" asked Dan.

"Yes, I hate you!" Fabia replied.

"No, you don't! That's a lie. You love me. And I love you, too! God, you drive me to it!" he exclaimed, under his breath, and a moment later she was in his arms, and he was kissing her again.

"I wasn't at the movies with Agnes Hearn"—five minutes later, tenderly, gently he was assuring Fabia. "I was alone. I'm not engaged to Agnes Hearn. I've never spoken to her about marriage. I've never made a sign of love to her."

"Forgive me, Dan. I'm perfectly horrible," murmured Fabia. She was wiping her eyes now with a little wad of a handkerchief. "Don't take your arm away." They were seated on a sofa. "I didn't mean all those awful things I said to you. I was just awfully hurt. Please forgive me, Dan. None of those awful things I said is true."

"Yes, some of them are, Fabia. They're good for me, too. Nobody else in the world would talk to me like that—show me up for what I am. And I wouldn't take it from anybody else. I won't ever keep you waiting again. I'm learning. You'll make a gentleman out of me yet."

"You are one, Dan—the most wonderful one I know. Oh, Dan, isn't this awful? We've done it again!"

"Done what?"

"This." She pressed his arm that encircled her waist against her side and glanced up. Their eyes met. Their lips, too, a moment later.

INSTALMENT 24

It was after eleven o'clock when Dan drove out of the Vales' driveway and turned his car toward Boston. As he approached the city, a deep frown settled between his brows. He had been vaguely aware that time had been slipping away very fast while he had been with Fabia. Time always did when he was with Fabia, but he hadn't sufficient will-power to tear himself away from her, or to interrupt, even by glancing at his watch, the sweetness of their reconciliation.

He had an appointment at the Massachusetts General at eleven o'clock with Dr. Warburton and several other doctors at a consultation.

It was twelve o'clock before Dan entered the hospital. The consultation was over.

"Too bad," said Dr. Warburton. "Sorry! I wanted you to do that job. We decided to operate immediately. We've given the job to Dawes. He's already scrubbing up. Go on in and look on. I think it's going to be an interesting situation. Sorry you're not dealing with it."

All during the operation Dan, covered from chin to knee with a surgeon's gown, stood in the small, white-enameled gallery just above the operating-table, with his arms folded, his idle hands tightly clenched, looking down upon the hands of another man performing the dexterous task that might have been his, observing the skill and judgment of a contemporary and competitor reaping the triumph that he had just missed.

There was a keenly interested group of nurses and internes gathered about the table. Just as young Dawes leaned to apply his first knife the group opened to admit Dr. Mortimer. Dr. Mortimer was a professor at the Harvard Medical School, and a very influential member of the faculty. The badge of honor Dan desired above all others was an appointment at the Harvard Medical School. The goal he secretly hoped to reach some day was a full professorship there.

After the operation he shed his white gown and cap as soon as possible.

Dawes would now probably be offered the position open next fall in Dr. Mortimer's department at the Harvard Medical School. It was the rottenest luck! If he had any idea that Dr. Mortimer was to be present, he wouldn't have been so blinded, drugged, hypnotized—whatever it was Fabia had done to him.

Dawes wanted the appointment. Dan wanted it. Many a young man wanted it. It was excellent training for a surgeon. But Dan didn't want it for the training chiefly. Dan wanted it because it would open portals that had always been closed to him. Every time Dan passed the white marble pillars of the Harvard Medical School, it rankled a little that he hadn't emerged from behind them into the field of medicine. He wished that he had been one of its selected body of students. Dan couldn't enter its doors except as a visitor. Society's closed doors had never aroused resentment in Dan. Professional closed doors were different. He had early become imbued with an ambition to pass through all professional closed doors, whatever the handicaps—to force them open by sheer skill and ability.

Dawes had just done an excellent job. Dan himself couldn't have done it better. A little faster, perhaps.

Dawes didn't need the appointment as he did. Dawes was not only Harvard Medical School, but Harvard also, M.G.H., and belonged to a family of well-known surgeons. His very name carried prestige in the Boston medical world.

Damn it! It seemed as if some men got everything.

That afternoon Dan told Dr. Warburton that it was a girl who had made him late to the consultation.

"A girl? An emergency case?"

Dan shook his head. "She wasn't a patient."

"Oh!"

"I've missed the opportunity of showing Dr. Mortimer what I could do," Dan went on grimly, "because I was seated with the girl in her parlor ten miles out of town, at the very moment I was due at the hospital. I hadn't strength of character enough even to look at my watch. I was aware of the consultation. I didn't forget it. I just let it go. Even if I'd got there in time to perform the operation, my hand wouldn't have been any too steady."

Dr. Warburton took several silent puffs from his pipe, and said nothing. After a long pause Dan remarked, as if to himself, "She's got an awful grip on me. I've simply got to give her up entirely, I suppose."

"Who is the girl, Dan?"

"Fabia Vale."

"But I thought we had it all out, Dan, that she wasn't the girl for you."

"Yes, I know we did, but it isn't so easy, Dr. Warburton," said Dan; and, rising, shoving both hands into his trousers pockets, he strode down the room.

"Dan," said Dr. Warburton to his back, "come back here. Sit down in that chair."

Dan obeyed.

"Dan," Dr. Warburton went on, "you aren't thinking of becoming involved with Fabia Vale, are you?"

"I don't know. I don't know what I'm thinking," replied Dan dejectedly. "When I talked with you last it was perfectly clear. Of course, I can't go on like this—seeing her, and knowing it can come to nothing. It's ruining me. But why can't it come to something? If we both care enough? Do you still think it impossible, Dr. Warburton?"

There was a pleading note in Dan's voice. Dr. Warburton ignored it. Always before he had only to wave before Dan the flag of success to incite him to any course of action.

"Dan," he replied, "you can go as far in your profession here in Boston as you have the ability to go—and the personality. But don't attempt to break through the social barriers."

"I never wanted to break through them," retorted Dan, his combative instinct instantly aroused. "There's never been a thing inside Boston's social barriers I ever wanted. You know that very well, sir. Until," he added, "I met Fabia Vale. I do want her."

Dr. Warburton, looking sharply at Dan, drew in his breath and let it out audibly, shaking his head.

"Too bad, too bad, my boy, but that's my opinion. You two haven't the right set-ups for the best good of either one of you. You might as well try to mix oil and water."

"But Fabia doesn't like her environment. She is seeing through this coming-out business just for her mother's sake. She hates conventions. She might care enough to leave her environment, and try mine."

"It wouldn't work, Dan, within a stone's throw of her old environment. Society girls do sometimes marry cowboys, I've heard, and are happy. But you don't think a cowboy could make a Back Bay society girl happy very long, do you, if his ranch was within sight of the dome of the Boston State House?"

"How do you think it would work if I should try to fit into Fabia's environment?"

"I wouldn't advise it."

"I'm not — well — I'm not quite enough of a natural gentleman for that, I suppose." Fabia's sting was still smarting.

"Nonsense! What's got into you? Of course you are! Dan, I believe you could fit into any environment you wanted to, if you were alone, unattached. Or if you were willing to shed your old environment, like an old coat, and bury it. But you're proud of your family, Dan. I can't quite picture you looking down on your mother and father, and trying to conceal Uncle Jim, and the rest of your relatives, from your wife's friends and family."

Dan sat up. "That's right, you can't picture it, and, by gosh, I'll never be such a cad either! Why, I wouldn't be high enough up to be able to look down on my father and mother, unless they'd slaved and saved every red penny they could to boost me up onto my high horse."

"That is splendid, Dan, but Fabia's people won't feel that way about them. They'll just feel ashamed because Fabia has married into a family which they consider very much beneath her. If they should meet any of your family anywhere, they'd ignore them if possible. Probably your children would do the same. Children are likely to be damned little snobs. Probably I sound brutal, Dan, but I want to save you from a mistake if I can."

"I guess you're accomplishing it all right."

But Dr. Warburton didn't consider he had completed his task yet.

"The Vales are very wealthy, you know. I want to see you make good on your own, if possible, Dan."

"That's what I want to do."

"In our profession, if a man marries a rich girl and succeeds, the rest of us are likely to say, "Oh, well, why not? He married money. He could afford the unpaid appointments and honorary posts!" I've got a lot of respect, Dan, for the men of unrecognized ability in this city who couldn't accept honorary positions when they were young because the grocery bills had to be paid. But, Dan, I believe you're one in a thousand! I believe you can accept the appointments and pay the grocery bills, too. Don't marry a rich girl if you can help it. A wife with money has been the cause of ruining the career of many a promising young doctor. She can see no reason for his sacrificing so much of his time and her pleasure, if it isn't necessary in order to support the family properly. I've no doubt if you should marry Fabia Vale, the first year wouldn't be over before she'd be requiring a good excuse for every time you were late to a dinner-party or failed to keep an appointment with her. Rich wives are apt to be high-handed and domineering. It was Nature's intention that men should be the providers, and I feel mighty sorry for the poor devils deprived of the right. Keep clear of a woman who can support you, Dan. She'll devour you, too. I don't believe Fabia Vale is the right girl for you, my boy."

"I don't believe so either."

"What's the matter with Agnes Hearn?"

"Nothing, I guess."

"Nice family, hasn't she?"

"There's only her mother. Her father died in a railroad accident when she was a kid. He was a traveling salesman. Her mother had been a teacher before she was married, so she took it up again. She teaches the third grade in the Lynn Public Schools now. Agnes graduated from the Lynn High School with high honors."

"She's better adapted, Dan."

"I guess so. She seems to like me and she's crazy about my mother and the rest of the folks. The only trouble is ——"

"Yes?"

"I don't seem to be in love with her."

"Oh, well, give yourself time, Dan. Give yourself time. You haven't spoken to Fabia Vale—proposed to her, I mean—have you?"

"Oh, no, sir. We both agreed we're not suited."

"Well, then, everything's all right. You're master of your own fate, Dan. You mustn't see her any more. That's all."

"You're right. I won't. I'll tell her to-night."

"Better not see her. Wiser to write—kinder, too. Besides, I think I won't go out tonight. Pain again in this left ankle. That patient at the Deaconess will sleep a lot better if he has a new dressing tonight. And I've several calls at the Phillips House for you this evening. You'll feel better not to let a girl interfere with your job any more today, Dan."

"MONTE CARLO" OPERATORS

A comment on the above appeared on your paper over the name of "E. N. McDonald."

It appears he was so busy filling his silos and threshing his grain that he could only spare a short time to attend the exhibition.

He refers (practically) to Monte Carlos as the only thing he saw when there a few hours.

He does not mention the days and days and long evenings the Directorate spent in bringing about the best Agricultural Fair from Ottawa to Toronto. Those who attended to view the object lessons on all agricultural stock and products, bordering on a state of perfection came away with words of appreciation. Those who attended to try out the "Monte Carlos" and expect to obtain dollars for nothing learned that the other fellow succeeded. Those who attended and did not participate but spent the greater part of their time looking on had a better chance to observe than the busy directorate who were looking after the exhibits and fair visitors.

There was less than one per cent of the visitors who appeared interested in "Monte Carlo."

The directorate practically eliminated a midway on a former year which elicited complaints from the general public and as a result made provision for a midway this year. True the undesirable "Monte Carlo" man got hig work in with the succeptible weak visitor but experience will fortify the directorate and you may rest assured that the weak and curious will not have temptation in their way next year.

We wish success to the fair and look forward for a repetition of the great object lessons that are so conducive to the advantage of the boys of the farm who attended with full intention to witness such and were not attracted for any reason to waste their time in the company of "Monte Carlos."

Yours truly,
COUNTY CITIZEN.

WALL STREET CLOSE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., October 6 (C.P.). — A sweeping advance, among the swiftest in stock exchange history, greeted the news of constructive efforts in Washington to deal with the powers of depression today. Gains ranged from 3 to more than 15 points in prominent shares. The turnover exceeded four million shares.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6 (C.P.)— Toronto Stock Exchange market today staged a recovery which was even sharper than had been the decline of Monday. Stocks were up 1 and 2 points from their lows of the day and fractions to more than one point above where they had letf off last night.

The recovery was preceded by an initial wave of liquidation, carryover from Monday consequent upon failure of two large Eastern brokage houses. At the outset such pivotal issues as Brazilian, C.P.R., Dominion Stores, Ford of Canada, Nickel, Noranda, B.A. Oil, Walkers equalled and exceeded their previous low levels, with some issues off a point from last night. The recovery which followed was rapid.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6 (C.P.). — Higher-priced golds, base metals and oils staged a substantial rally on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day all three groups closing with gains ranging from 25c to over $1. Balance of the list participated in the improvement but owing to inactivity showed only minor advances on end.

Noranda and International Nickel recorded the outstanding recoveries, both closing around $1.25 above last night's finals. Hudson Bay eased 10 in light trading and Nipissing sold down 13 in a few sales.

Among the gold producers Lake Shore was up 75 and Teck-Hughes, Dome and Hollinger firmed from 15 to 25 cents each. McIntyre turned over in odd lots at an advance of $1.

Imperial Oil, British American and International Pete were up from 50 to $1 each.

INTERLISTED STOCKS ACTIVE AT MONTREAL

Buoyant Tone Evident Despite Failure of Three Member Firms.

TRADING HEAVY.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 6.— (C.P.)— Interlisted securities moved upward during this morning's session of the Montreal Stock Exchange despite the failures of three member firms, two yesterday and one to-day. Trading was heavy, and confined mostly to interlisted issues.

Brazilian was strong from the outset and around noon had climbed to 9 where it registered a gain of a full point over yesterday's final price. Nickel was also buoyant, rising sharply to 9¼ for a gain of 1⅛ on the morning's trading.

Canadian Pacific Railway failed to share the optimism of the other stocks. The carrier stock dropped to another new low at 13, off a full point, just after the opening, morning to 13½, where it was a and then recovered later in the half point below yesterday's close.

McGILL PLANNING GREAT RE-UNION

Special Convocation for Honorary Degrees to Mark Graduates' Re-union.

Graduates of McGill University will assemble from far and near for the third quinquennial reunion which will be held from October 14th to 17th. As a ceremony of welcome a special convocation will be held in Moyse Hall on the afternoon of Wednesday, 14th, when several honorary degrees will be conferred on graduates whose names have not yet been announced; and the convocation address will be delivered by Sir Arthur Currie, principal of the university.

Every effort is being made to have a great variety of college events arranged to take place during the few days in which the alumni will be reassembled. The committee in charge has evolved a program of unusual interest, including meetings, class dinners, demonstrations, and clinics, and a large reunion banquet. The opening of the new wing of the Royal Victoria College is expected to prove of unusual interest.

In the field of sport there will be ample entertainment, for three of the annual intercollegiate athletic contests will take place during the reunion. The track meet will be held on Friday afternoon, when it is expected that McGill will repeat in winning the intercollegiate championship. The most spectacular event, the relay race, will be run on the following day during half-time period of the football game. This game, taking place on Saturday afternoon, will mark the first appearance of the McGill team on its home grounds in an intercollegiate game this year, when they will have as their opponents their old rivals, the University of Toronto. In this game many graduates will have their first view of the forward pass, which is expected to make the Canadian game a more open one, with great possibilities of surprise. Later that afternoon will be held the annual rowing race between Toronto Varsity and McGill at the Lachine canal.

Indications point to a large number of graduates from out-of-town attending the reunion. From Ottawa it is expected that upwards of 250 McGill alumni will return to visit their Alma Mater, while groups are being organized in New York, Toronto and Quebec. Individual past students from all parts of Canada and the United States are expected to arrive for this important event.

Bankers Open Attack Economic Problems

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Oct. 6.— (CP)—Bankers of United States today launched an assault on the nation's economic problems.

Criticising critics of the banking structure and pleading for a perspective picture of a serious situation, the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' Association presented its report to the first general session of the association's convention.

The report is not voted on by the convention, but bankers take it to represent the views of financial men and regard it as particularly important at this time.

In common with the rest of the world our country is being forced to face many serious problems, but United States credit is still strong the report said.

We hold in this country a large part of the world's monetary gold. It is still fundamentally true that where the gold is, the strength lies.

The overtures were rejected by the Conservative leader, Col. Fawcett Taylor. They were favorably considered by the Liberal leader, Dr Murdoch MacKay. Whether the Labor leader, John Queen, was directly approached has not been learned, but Mr. Queen stated today that Labor could not consider taking place in a government that would be formed to cut wages and mothers' allowances.

Premier Bracken refused to make any comment or statement on the negotiations or on the emergency conditions which were the basis of his invitation to the parties to get together.

Col. Taylor said it had become public property that the invitation had been issued, but he did not feel free to disclose the nature of it.

It is understood the nature of the proposals made by Mr. Bracken was: Two Conservatives, including Mr Taylor, were to enter the Government, and one Liberal and one Labor representative along with three or four representatives of the Government Party. Further Measures To Curtail "Wave"

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 6 (C.P.) —The New York Stock Exchange took further measures designed drastically to curtail short selling today.

The committee on business conduct informed members that their floor brokers must be notified with each selling order whether it is a real or "long" sale, or whether it is a short sale.

While official comment from the exchange is lacking, it is understood that no short sales are being permitted that will depress the price of the stock.

Montreal Brokers Enter Bankruptcy

MONTREAL, Que. October 6 (C.P.) — The suspension of the firm of Watson & Chambers from the Montreal Stock Exchange as a result of a petition in bankruptcy was an early development in the local financial situation to-day.

Following the failures of McDougall & Cowans and such another strong firm as Greenshields & Company, the crash of Watson & Chambers this morning did not cause much of a flurry on the market.

Watson & Chambers were petitioned in bankruptcy by Thomas G. Stanlius for the sum of $1 348 a nominal amount. The petition was granted through consent of the firm. G. S. Currie was appointed custodian.

WEINER ROAST

Bailieboro Y.P.S. Open Season's Sessions With Outing at Barnard's Landing.

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 5 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Young People's Society of the United Church held their opening meeting on Tuesday evening in the form of a weiner roast at Barnard's landing.

About thirty-five of the young people were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

The president, F. Barnard, was master of ceremonies, conducting games and a sing-song around the bonfire.

Misses E. Lang, M. Barnard and R. Dawson were in charge of the refreshments and prepared an abundance of buns, weiners and lemonade.

At the conclusion of the program, the young people joined hands around the fire and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," followed by the Mispah Benediction.

The weekly meetings will commence in the church next Tuesday evening, when a missionary from the United Church mission fields will address the young people.

IT AGONIZED her to look back on the days of their courtship. War days, in a Paris empty of gaiety and laughter, bombarded by screaming shells—or those happy, carefree times after the Armistice, when Paul-Louis had worshipped his beautiful Gladys, blindly, madly, with all the fervour of the Latin versed in love.

Her childhood sweetheart had gone to Italy to fight—Major Leonard Howarden—and she had done her share in a library for convalescent soldiers—cheering and helping those poor maimed men who ached to forget the horror and degradation of battle. There she had met Paul-Louis, and in the wild peril and terror of bombardment they had confessed their love—the sweeter for so much common suffering.

She had sacrificed all to marry him—her citizenship—her property—content only to be his—to have his love. But he was a gentleman of France. His faithless kisses—his honeyed words outraged her—and yet she forgave again and again. Hating his wayward habits, she loved him still. How could she—how could any woman endure such torture and still go on?

She left him, taking the child which the Law declared was his. He followed across the sea to take it back. Her mother heart grew cold and stern with a terrible purpose—to keep her boy at the cost of her husband's life. And then the violent climax came that wrung her soul and changed her life—told in NOVEMBER TRUE STORY MAGAZINE as only this suffering woman can tell it. TRACK AND FIELD CONTESTS AT LAKEFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

TWO GIRLS TIED.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 6.—The annual Field Day of the Lakefield High School was held on Friday afternoon. The weather was ideal, a great deal warmer than the average October day and with a fair attendance of parents and friends Mr. Harvey and his staff ran off the programme in good times, each event having a goodly number of entries and the competition was very keen.

In the senior boys' class while Dominick White won the sports cup for having the greatest number of points, nevertheless, Hugh Morrison was a good runner up and though eligible for the junior class he entered only the senior events. Hugh won the premier event of the afternoon—the mile race for the MacKenzie Cup, donated in 1930 by Dr. MacKenzie of "The Grove."

In the junior boys' class Douglas Smith was the outstanding figure with Charlie Tanner and Joe Blewett taking second and third places.

The senior girls who headed the list were Josephine White and Phyllis Charlton, who ran neck and neck in points. Lilian Mason was third in the list. Assunta White led the junior girls with Ethel Brooks a runner up to be reckoned with and Kay Wannamaker a good third

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.— Egg and butter prices advanced while cheese and potato quotations held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of fresh Ontario or prairie eggs were mainly higher, extras gaining one to two cents at 34c to 35c and firsts advancing a cent to 28c, while seconds were unchanged at 18c a dozen. British Columbia fresh extras, in carlots, were up two cents at 37c, while fresh pullet extras made their first appearance here this season, being quoted at 30c a doze... To retailers, quotations of fresh eggs, in cartons, were generally higher. Specials at 42c, extras at 39c, and firsts at 34c were all up two cents, while seconds declined a cent at 24c a dozen. Storage extras at 33c, firsts a 28c and seconds at 24c a dozen were all unchanged. Receipts were 1,116 cases.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized butter, in carlots, was up a quarter of a cent at 20c to 20¼c a pound. To retailers, solids at 21c to 22c and prints at 22c to 23c were both unchanged. Receipts were 699 boxes.

Ontario cheese at 12¾ to 12 c, and Quebec cheese at 12¼c to 12¼c a pound were both unchanged. Receipts totalled 1,258 boxes.

Montreal potatoes held steady at 40c to 50c per 80-lb. bag, and New Brunswick cobblers were also unchanged at 50c to 60c per 80-lb. bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 6—New all-time low-price records for all future deliveries of wheat resulted yesterday from stop-loss selling associated with persistent unsettlement of securities. All the corn, oats and rye futures simultaneously broke the season's previous bottom quotations. Liquidating sales were the order of the day, holders continually throwing wheat and other grains overboard, with the crumbling of stock values the paramount influence, reducing grain market buying power to a minimum.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅞c to 1¼c lower; corn ¼c to ⅝c down; oats, ⅜c to ½c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c setback.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, October 6. — Fractionally lower at the opening, the wheat market here yesterday continued to ease throughout the session to show losses of from 1¼c to ⅝c at the close. Trade was extremely light. October closed at 52c, down 1½c; November at 52½c, down ⅝c; December closed at 52½c, down 1c; while May closed ⅞c to ⅝c lower at 56½c to 56¼c split.

Substantial hedging sales of wheat were absorbed early in the session, and the market tried stubbornly to assert independent strength. It was eventually outweighed, however, by continued weakness in stocks, money exchange and a declining Chicago grain market.

Export trade over the week-end was small. There was encouragement in the statistical situation, however, which showed that more than 20,000,000 bushels of imported wheat disappeared in world shipments last week. Low prices are stimulating consumption appreciably.

Cash wheat trading was without feature, with spreads practically unchanged. No coarse grain sales were reported.

RALLY OF W.M.S. AT LAKEFIELD

Auxiliaries of the District Meet at Knox Church.

SPECIAL SPEAKERS.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 6.—A sectional rally of the W.M.S. auxiliaries of the United Church was held in Knox Church, Lakefield, on Friday afternoon with a large attendance, representative of the district, present. The meeting was held in the school room of Knox Church, with Mrs. F. J. Burgess of Knox Church and a vice-president of Peterborough Presbyterial in the chair.

The branches represented were Knox and Regent Street, Lakefield, Bridgenorth and Warsaw.

Mrs. George Taylor of Warsaw read the Bible lesson and Mrs. (Rev.) W. R. Archer and Mrs. J. A. Porter led in prayer. The dedicatory prayer after the offertory was given by Mrs. W. W. Yale. Mrs. G. C. Bell's beautiful voice was heard to great advantage in a solo, "The Whole Wide World For Jesus." Brief reports of the year's activities were given by Mrs Edwards of Warsaw and Miss Udy of Bridgenorth.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard of Regent street church, who is Presbyterial secretary for the Missionary Monthly gave a short talk on the value of that magazine and the reason why every member should be a subscriber, bespeaking greater co-operation.

The special speakers were Mrs. A. I. Brown, Peterborough, president of the Peterborough Presbyterial, and Mrs. B. M. Purdy, a trained nurse on furlough after six year's work in the Grenfell Mission in Labrador. Mrs. Brown was a delegate to the Board meeting held in Toronto and gave a most interesting account of that event which had inspired her to even greater effort in the cause of mission work. Mrs. Purdy's address was of great interest as she told of the medical work done by Dr Grenfell and his helpers on the stormy shores of Labrador.

Altogether a very impressive and worth while gathering was brought to a close by a social hour over afternoon tea served by the ladies of Knox Church branch.

Anniversary Services

The anniversary services in Regent Street United Church will be held following the custom of many years standing, on the Sunday immediately preceding Thanksgiving day, which is being held a month earlier than usual this year. Therefore on Sunday, October the eleventh, the services will be held with a former pastor, Rev. C. S. Reddick, now of Bloomfield, as the guest preacher. The annual thanksgiving dinner will be held on Monday (Thanksgiving) evening with a splendid program to follow.

The anniversary services of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will be held on Sunday, October 18th. The corner stone was laid on October 16th of last year.

The anniversary services in Knox United Church will be held on Sunday, October 25th.

Junior Institute.

The members of the Junior Institute held a very successful and delightful weiner roast in the miniature park at the foot of Smith street on Wednesday evening. There was a good attendance and a very delightful time was spent in games and singing. The young ladies entertained a number of their "boy friends" who were delighted at the opportunity of joining in such a very jolly gathering.

AMATEURS PRESENT PLAY AT MILLBROOK

Fair Night's Attraction Directed By Mrs. Bingham.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 6.—When a wilful young lady, Patricia Grayson daughter of the Governor of the State, decided to add variety to life by the purchase of a filling-station, with an adjoining orchard, and later to change again from Miss Hammond to Shirley Wade niece of a peppery old uncle, Adam Wade, she 'started something', the intriguing story being cleverly told by the amateur cast of local players who presented the three-act comedy, "Here Comes Patricia," in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on the two nights of the annual fall fair, Thursday and Friday, October 1 and 2, before audiences that voiced their appreciation by frequent outbursts of hearty applause.

The entertainment throughout was under the capable direction of Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, the play being presented by the Guild of St. Thomas' Anglican church and under the patronage of the Millbrook Agricultural Society. Mrs. L. H. Winslow was the pianist of the evening, and the program opened with the appropriate song, locally written, "We're Putting on a Drammer in the Old Town Hall," by Clare Winslow and Tom McCamus, the verses introducing the names of the several members of the cast, with jovial emphasis on any peculiarities which the character impersonation demanded.

The stage setting was very attractive showing the comfortable living room in the home at Fern Lawn, of the 'pleasant motherly widow,' Mrs. Carrol (Mrs. W. H. Hilton) where the entire scene of the play took place.

The exacting demands of the title role were well taken care of by Mrs. E. G. Britton, who looked her part whether she appeared in mechanic's overalls and cap as "that Ammond girl" as peppery Adam Wade (R Stone) insisted on calling her demanding that she be driven out of town, while Mrs. Smith-Porter (Mrs. E H. Barnes) the community aristocrat, snubbed her smartly; or as Shirley Wade winning the heart of Jimmy Clarke (Ivan L. H. Gray), a new arrival in Fern Lawn and under Mr. Wade's orders; or in the final climax when she announced her actual identity as the Governor's daughter, her lovely evening gown of black georgette with evening wrap of black velvet collared in ermine, exactly fitting the occasion.

The secondardy love story carried on between Bud Flannigan (Piercey Pitt), a young man evidently Irish and Angelina Knoop (Margaret Russell), with Minnie Knoop (Mary Nattress), Angelina's cousin, continually 'butting in,' which developed as the varied, complicated, and humorous situations of the play were unfolded kept the audience interested and amused. The appearance of Elsie Crowder (Mrs. H R. Scott) a pretty young neighbor of Mrs. Carroll's, was always welcomed by the onlooker her part, both in costuming and acting, being exceptionally well played, as was also that of Tim Hooper (R. I. Fallis) the town bad example, especially when he realized his ambition and came in wearing a Prince Albert coat, top hat, and carrying a cane all ready for the parade in honor of the Governor.

W. E. Bonneville's portrayal of the character of Elbert Hastings, a much abused member of the Governor's staff, could hardly have been excelled, the vagaries of Miss Patricia keeping him constantly in hot water, the repetition of his pet phrase, "Anothah fight", that fittingly expressed his troubled experiences, being invariably the signal for a good laugh from the audience.

Two songs, "All the Little Chickens in the Garden" and "Going to Market" made up the rustic sketch between Acts I and II. Tom McCamus as a typical old-timer farmer singing the verses of the first-named with Clare Winslow and Mrs. Bingham assisting, the latter looking a very attractive country maiden with her old-fashioned dress, pink-flounced skirt over crinoline and lace-edged pantalettes showing below its hem, wide silk laced girdle over the low cut bodice, and in the second song carrying her market basket wearing a dainty bonnet of lace and pink satin ribbons, and receiving coyly the attentions of her lover, Clare Winslow, who appeared in tennis flannels the three doing a quaint dance during the chorus.

Between the last two acts Tom McCamus, appropriately costumed, sang as a historical burlesque, "I'm Henry the Eighth, I Am," Clare joining him costumed as the court jester, for the recall. "The End of the Road." Reeve P. Stinson, as chairman for the evening, introduced the artists.

Warsaw

The sale of machinery and stock of the late Alf. Dunford on Thursday was fairly well attended but prices were low on all. A good sow went for $13; milk cows which had been bought for $100 two and three years ago brought only $25 and $30. A good colt brought $32; one horse $32, and one $10.

The junior and senior Women's Institutes will meet in the Institute rooms on Thursday, October 8. Mrs. McQuaig will give news on relief work.

Rev. J. W. Wilkinson accompanied by Messrs. George Garbutt and Arthur Edwards motored to Toronto on Thursday morning to attend the three-day missionary conference.

The evangelistic services in St. Mark's church closed on Tuesday with Holy Communion service at half past nine o'clock a.m. and a public service in the evening.

The ladies from Warsaw who attended the sectional W.M.S. meeting in Lakefield on Friday afternoon were Mesdames George Taylor, Arthur Edwards, John Sargent, James Hawthorne, O. B. McIlvena, Charlotte Cooper.

WOLF IS KILLED BY APSLEY MAN

Roland Tucker Saw Four on Shore of Serpentine Lake.

REV. W. H. TAYLOR ILL.

APSLEY, Oct. 6.—Roland Tucker last week had the good fortune to secure a fine wolf. Paddling with a companion on Serpentine Lake to gather cranberries, he saw four wolves on the shore. His first shot brought down one, but his second shot missed, due to his companion rocking the canoe in his excitement at the proximity of the animals. The pelt of the one shot was exhibited in the village, and was a fine one in splendid condition.

The Rev. W. H. Taylor, minister of the United Church, suffered a slight stroke last week and was unable to conduct services on Sunday. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery. The harvest thanksgiving at Grace church, Lasswade, was to have been held there on Sunday morning and a large congregation, unaware of his illness, attended chuch.

Harvest Thanksgiving

St. George's Church was filled to capacity on Friday evening on the occasion of the annual harvest thanksgiving when the organist and choir of St. Luke's church, Peterborough, provided the musical part of the service which was fully choral. The Rev. G. Bousfield, Rural Dean, intoned the service and the Rev. C. A. G. Spence read the lessons. The Rev. E. C. Moore of Young's Point preached a fine forceful sermon. Simper's inspiring anthem, "Break Forth into Joy" was excellently sung by the choir and provided a fitting climax to a service that will be long remembered by the congregation. The church was beautifully decorated, a road scene of grain, creepers, and berries being particularly striking.

After the service the visitors were entertained at the rectory by the W.A. who provided refreshments.

Seymour Exhibitors Campbellford Fair

BURNBRAE, Oct. 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—Seymour East was well represented by exhibitors at the Campbellford Fair and carried off a fair share of the prize money.

Among those showing horses were Alex Hume and sons, Jack Rannie, Stanley Nelson, Matthew brothers, Roy Fry, Thomas Fry, Victor Irwin, Alfred Bennett.

The Hume herd of Ayrshires just returned from a successful trip to Peterborough, Lindsay and other western fairs, scored heavily in the red and white classes while Garnet Kerr's jerseys having been on much the same tour were also strong contenders. J. C. Nelson and sons had a strong lineup in the Holstein division and W. S. Milne and sons showed Holsteins and grade cattle. Matthew's brothers had a pair of their Guernsey heifers on exhibition.

As usual the Seymour East ladies more than held their own in the home cooking competitions and carried off a large share of the spoils.

LAKEFIELD FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Campaign to Reduce Loss by Fire — Many Interested.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 6.—October 4th till October 11th is Fire Prevention Week and year by year all the forces in the Dominion are organized in a campaign to reduce the fire loss of Canada and to make a new and favorable record. Locally the municipal council, the staff of both high and public schools, the local clergy and every citizen worth while is solid behind this endeavor and are co-operating with the fire chief and the fire brigade in trying to make this year's campaign stronger and more effective than any previous year. A couple of years ago Lakefield's fire loss of only $5 for the entire year was quoted in the press from coast to coast as a minimum loss and as a record to be proud of. Let everyone try to repeat it or even better to cut to less than $5. Considering that a very large percentage of fires are caused by carelessness a strong community effort would reduce the number of preventable fires by a very large number.

Rev. J. J. Garvey has removed into the new St. Paul's rectory on the north side of Reid street, a very handsome and roomy two story dwelling built of cream brick and having all modern conveniences. The situation is beautiful as there is a splendid view of the river and the park and the parishoners of St. Paul's are very proud of the rectory for which they have worked faithfully with their parish priest, Father Garvey.

Previous to her marriage last week, Mrs George H. Graham (nee Leona Kingdon) was presented with a very handsome clock by the Westclox Girls' Softball team, of which she was catcher and a valued member. She was also presented with an electric toaster, electric iron, clothes hamper and ironing board by the girls of her department at the Westclox plant.

STIRLING

Rev. A. S. Payne and Mrs. Payne (former Marion Moore, of Stirling) were warmly welcomed at the parish house, Belleville on Wednesday evening. The reception was given under auspices of the Women's Guild an Mrs. J. Thompson received with Mr and Mrs. Payne. John Elliott as chairman, conveyed the welcome of the parishioners to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Payne and sons. Rev. Mr. Payn expressed appreciation in his reply.

The table was artistically arranged and decorated with roses. Mrs A. Thompson and Mrs. E. Geen presided over the refreshment tables.

UNDER THE SURFACE

GOLD

At this very moment, under the surface of Canadian business and economic conditions, many millions of hidden dollars lie buried by uncertainty and over-cautiousness.

Of Canada's ten millions of people nine millions decimal something-very-considerable—are still "on the job", steadily at work, drawing regular wages, or supported by those who are at work.

And spending less than they can well afford to spend.

This reluctance to buy was initiated by want of confidence and born through the "my job may go next" idea. This complex, multiplied by millions, has become a most formidable habit that is now being broken in the slowly gaining fight to reach anew our national prosperity.

This is the time—with gradual improvement evidencing a fuller and more reasonable measure of national confidence—to dig out and put back into useful circulation these hidden hoards of Canadian buying power.

Spirit

The Daily Newspapers are more powerful today than ever to eat through the outer crust of consumer resistance and reach the buying public which represents 90% of all our people.

Most Canadians are at work. They read their newspapers today with keener interest than ever before. Reach them by placing your message in that atmosphere of vitality which the Daily Newspaper brings as no other medium can do.

Harvest Festival In Anglican Church

Harvest festival services were held in St. George's church on Thursday and Sunday last. The preacher on Thursday was Rev. A. J. Goldring of Lindsay, who spoke from the words, "He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal." (St. John 4, verse 36.)

The morning service on Sunday was that of Holy Communion, and was in charge of the rector, Rev. J. L. Hughes. The subject of his sermon was based on the text, "And now behold, I have brought the first fruits of the land which thou, O Lord hast given me. And thou shalt set it before the Lord thy God, and worship before the Lord thy God." (Deut. 26, v. 10).

Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' church, occupied the pulpit on Sunday evening, and gave a helpful sermon from the sermon on the Mount, the words of the text being, "Take no thought what ye shall eat, or what we shall drink or where withal shall ye be clothed." (St. Matth. 6, v. 31).

The church was appropriately decorated with fruit, vegetables, grain, flowers, etc., and suitable harvest music was rendered with Mrs. R. King at the organ.

MORE LEARNING HOW TO PLAY

Unemployment Turns People to Recreation Grounds— Better Fields Needed.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6.—(C.P.) Unemployment has taught large numbers of people how to really play once more, rather than pay to be amused, William Bowie, executive secre ary of the Montreal Parks Playgrounds Association, said today to the recreation congress of the United States and Canada, meeting here under the auspices of the National Recreation Association. He raised the question, with the return of normal times, what are we going to do to keep this carries a challenge to recreation interest sustained? The situation workers. We need more and better equipped playing fields for the teen age and for adult groups.

The attendance at the summer recreation centres in Montreal increased sixty per cent during this year of economic hardship, Mr. Bowie stated.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted.

"I was heartsick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

If you want to have a fancy main dish for party refreshments, and have it cost little, serve meat or fish aspic.

• • • • • • •

Or if not so hearty a dish is wanted, a vegetable salad aspic is recommended. Aspic signifies a savory jelly in which meat, fish, eggs or other ingredients are held in suspension.

• • • • • • •

Veal aspic jelly is made from the water in which a knuckle of veal has been cooked. In boiling, the water should be well seasoned with salt, pepper, onions, celery, parsley and such other sweet herbs as will blend well with the particular kind of solid ingredients it is to be combined with.

• • • • • • •

The water must be cooked down enough for the liquid to jelly when cold. Or a little gelatine can be added.

• • • • • • •

Chicken aspic is considered one of the finest kinds. Veal is a good substitute, however,. The meat from the knuckle if carefully stripped of all gristle, bone and fat can be used satisfactorily.

• • • • • • •

Or it can be used to increase the amount of cold chicken. Cold boiled, or roated fresh pork, treated as the veal, can be successfully used also, especially if with chicken.

• • • • • • •

Sliced hard boiled eggs, capers, sliced stuffed olives, tiny cooked carrot cubes, shreds of fresh parsley, cubes or slivers of green string beans, and occasional green peas with chicken, veal and pork combine to make an attractive aspic.

• • • • • • •

Since many of the ingredients are inexpensive and the quantity is considerable for the amount of meat, it diminishes the cost per person to very little.

• • • • • • •

The important matter is to have the ingredients so held in suspension that a design appears when the aspic is unmolded. Individual portions are advised.

• • • • • • •

The mold is partly filled with the jelly which is allowed to harden before a centre slice of egg is paced on it. This may be surrounded with a ring of capers, or wee springs of parsley, or slices of stuffed olives, or green peas.

• • • • • • •

Over this comes a layer of aspic. The next layers should have meat and whatever vegetable ingredients are used. It is interesting if a circle of the peas or carrot cubes or both used alternately comes next the aspic around the outer edge.

• • • • • • •

Fill the mold with alternate layers of aspic and solid ingredients. Pour the aspic in gently and it will cover the solid portions without disturbing their arrangement.

• • • • • • •

Allow the aspic to harden after each time it is poured in. To hasten the filling of the moles, they should be set in cracked ice.

FRENCH PICKLE

1 peck green tomatoes, medium size.
8 medium sized onions.

Slice the onions and tomatoes, crosswise, in layers in a crock, using one cup of salt and sprinkling each layer.

Let stand over night, drain well and place in kettle; pour over it one quart of weak vinegar, simmer for ten minutes. Stir and drain and cover with good vinegar in which has been mixed one pound of white sugar; one ounce of curry powder; one tablespoon of cinnamon, all spice, and turmeric; 2 level teaspoons of ground cloves and a grate of nutmeg.

Let boil slowly for fifteen minutes, and stir, for it will burn easily. Put in crock and cover with plate and regular crock cover. A few thicknesses of paper tied over the crock, does as well as a crock cover.

When cold, a few slices, of horseradish placed on top of the pickle, is an improvemnet.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

WHY NOISE IS A MENACE TO HEALTH.

Just as the effects of other harmful objects on the body have been discovered and actually measured, so also are our research workers able to estimate the amount or degree of harm caused by noise.

They admit that there are many individuals, particularly the hale and hearty, that can accustom themselves to living or working in a noisy environment, but in general noise has a harmful effect. The evil was increased in the case of mental workers, young children, the nervous, the fatigued and the sick.

Noises can now be measured by an instrument which might conveniently be called a noise thermometer, or noise meter. The complete range from the softest sound to one so loud that it pains the ear can be measured by this instrument. New York traffic noises appeared to be 10 degrees louder than those of London.

Now you and I are not interested in noises that pain the ear; we are concerned with the everyday noises that are round about us—street cars, trucks, auto horns, machinery, typewriters, phonographs, radios, outside store doors—on verandahs, or by open windows, factory and locomotive whistles and so forth.

Even if we are 'hale and hearty individuals' there are times when we are tired, or need sleep, and every effort should be made by everybody to aid the New York, London, and other Noise Abatement commission in their efforts to get rid of all the noise that can possibly be avoided.

We have all just so much strength or physical energy. We need this to do our work, particularly any and every kind of mental work.

How does noise affect us?

The noise enters the ears and is carried to the brain. The brain is thus made conscious of the noise and sends out impulses to all parts of the body, tensing all the muscles, increasing the heart rate, making the breathing more rapid, and so forth.

Now you can see that this is all unnecessary work, work that requires energy, and leaves just that much less strength or energy for our ordinary work. The brain can't think as clearly or for as long a period where there is much noise.

I speak of harmful effects of noise fairly often, as it is really a great deal more than a nuisance; it uses up our strength unnecessarily, and is a menace to health.

George Earnshaw Looked Upon as Last Remaining Hope for Mack.

(By Edward J. Neil, A. P. Sports Writer.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 6.—For the first time in five years, the National League, represented by the St. Louis Cardinals, held a world series advantage today over the champions of the American League.

In as many ways as the situation could be diagnosed, these surprising Red Birds of Missouri had the Philadelphia Athletics, world champions for two straight years, on the run. They lead in the series, two games to one, the first time a National League club has done that since the Cards of 1926 took two of the first three games from the New York Yankees and finally won the series four games to three. They have beaten Connie Mack's great pitching duo, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw in successive games. They have all the better of pitching strength, strategic position, psychology and greatest of all winning impetus.

Mack Desperate

Today the veteran pilot, Connie Mack, seeking his third straight world championship and the fifth series title in a row for the American League, faced a situation that was truly desperate.

The ancient Mack, silent as ever, and showing more and more of his 68 years as he watches the break down of the machine the baseball world hailed as invincible only a week ago, was faced today with the problem of making quick and drastic repairs before it was all together too late. Silent as ever, Mack had nothing to say of his pitching prospects for the fourth game today. It might be that he had decided to gamble all on Earnshaw. The critics thought he had. But there was also a basis to the prediction that Rube Walberg, the southpaw who won 20 games for Connie through the past American League season would try his luck against the clouting Cards today with Earnshaw held in reserve for a final do-or-die effort if it is necessary tomorrow. There was reports today that Connie had decided to replace his regular centerfielder, Mule Haas, with Roger Cramer, a young substitute. The Mule, hampered by inactivity and a wrist that was injured late in the season has not been hitting. But if Connie were to Yank the members of his club who had quit getting base hits he would have to send nine substitutes against the Cardinals in the fourth game of the series here today.

The Macks got to Burleigh for two hits yesterday, one of them Al Simmons towering home run with two out and one man on in the ninth inning, as the Cards belted Robert Moses for 11 hits and 4 runs before Mahaffey came in, to win 5 to 2.

For seven innings the veteran whose hair is thinning on the top faked spitballs at the helpless A's and baffled them with his curve and control. Inning after inning he went along, backed by brilliant fielding when an occasional base on balls put a man on base, turning them back without a semblance of a hit, even a hard hit ball.

There were visions of a no-hit game, and gradually the crowd of 32,000 that last year yelled for his heart's blood as he injected everything but fisticuffs into his two bitter duels with the A's, swung to the side of the gallant warrior. They wanted a no-hit game, something never before accomplished in World Series history, and by the time the eighth inning started they wanted it as badly as though Burleigh were pitching for the Athletics.

But the right-hand master of the dead art, the spit-ball, passed Jimmy Foxx to start the eighth and was faced with the problem of sacrificing personal glory for the good of the team. Rather than take a chance on a rally, he pitched to Bing Miller to make him hit, following the strategy that with one out, a ball to an infielder might mean a double play. Burleigh gave Bing a pitch just a trifle too good and the right fielder banged it on a line to centre for a clean single.

Had Equalled Record

The tension tightened. Grimes had equalled the World Series' record of the New York Yankee southpaw, Herb Pennock, who went seven innings without allowing the Pittsburgh Pirates a hit in 1926, and now had only the record of one hit in a full nine inning game set by Ed Eeulbach of the Chicago White Sox against the Chicago Cubs in the series of 1906 to shoot at. He got the next three men on flies.

Grimes, who had been ill late in the season and was not considered well enough to start the opening game, had to have a crick pulled out of his neck before he could come out to pitch the ninth. He got two men on grounders and then passed Mickey Cochrane. A few seconds later Al Simmons reached across the plate for a high ball on the outside and slugged it over the right field wall.

Burleigh's shutout went with that soaring ball and so did his vision of a one-hit game, but the two hits he did allow placed him in the choice company of six great hurlers who have performed that feat in a World Series game.

Grimes helped himself to two of the flock of hits made off Grove and drove in two runs, but again it was the spark and slugging power of the rookie sensation, "Pepper" Martin, that touched off the attack. After Jim Bottomley walked in the second, Pepper faced Grove again for the first time since he nicked him for three safeties in St. Louis. He promptly singled, drove Bottomley to third, and after Jim scored on Jimmy Wilson's single, rode home on Charley Gelbert's long fly to right field. Again in the fourth after Chick Hafey singled, Martin blasted a double to deep right centre and they both rode home on Grimes' single. Bottomley's double Watins walk scored the final run off Mahaffey in the ninth. This Martin, brand new to World Series play and a major leaguer for the first time this year, is hitting a stout .363 for the Series.

Gabby Street, a recent convert to Connie Mack's theory of silence, would not name his starting pitcher to-day, but he can afford to gamble. Either Sylvester Johnson or Jim Lindsey, both right handers who have done fine relief work over the past two Series, are favored for the call.

SCARCITY OF JEWS IN SPORT ATTRIBUTED TO RACE PREJUDICE

Rabbi Says Hebrew Athletes Have Been Held Back for Centuries.

ALSO EAT TOO MUCH.

(By Ben Goldberg)

Why are there so few Jewish athletes prominent in major sporting activities to-day? A survey of different branches of sport shows very few Hebrew names, although almost every other nationality is represented. This is particularly true of professional sport. In the amateur field, Jewish paluers are more or less prominent in some games, but as a rule they have their own leagues and championships.

Racial Prejudice

Opinions of various authorities consulted about this subject differ. Rabbi Maurice E. Eisendrath, of Holy Blossom Synagogue, Toronto, believes that racial prejudice is the first and foremost reason there are so few Jewish athletes in major sport.

"It leads back," he said, "to the earliest days when Jews were not allowed to participate in athletics, and, as a result, their activities were mainly confined to the commercial field. Therefore from generation to generation although the Jew participated in athletics to a somewhat greater extent, they were always known as a race for their mental rather than physical ability."

Parents Responsible

Lou Brower, Jewish shortstop with the Toronto Baseball team, and one of the few Hebrew players in professional baseball says: "I think parents are mainly responsible. As a general rule, they want their children to follow in their father's footsteps."

The same opinion is held by Alex Levinsky, star defence player with the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club and the only Jewish player in the National Hockey League.

"As a rule Jewish parents do not encourage sports," he said. Peculiarly enough, Jewish athletes seem to confine themselves to sports of minor interest such as basketball. Why this is I cannot say. Perhaps it has something to do with race prejudice, maybe the parents are responsible, although they have been anything else in my case."

Mr. David Levinne, president of the Toronto Y.M.H.A. for the past six years, agrees with Rabbi Eisendrath on the subject of Jewish athletes. "A Jewish lad does not get the same opportunity as the other fellow," he said. "In the colleges where athletes are usually developed, particularly, for big league ball the Jew is up against strong odds, simply because he has to be twice as good as the other fellow."

"I don't think the parents are responsible for not encouraging sports because they have little knowledge in that field. They don't realize that an athlete needs a few years of developing."

"I can't see any reason why there are not more Jews in professional sport," remarked the principal of a high school collegiate, where Jewish students are greatly in the majority. In fact it surprises me that there are so few. Here in school the Jewish students take a great interest in sports and the percentage participating is at least as high or even higher, especially in baseball than Christians, he concluded.

Eats Too Much

Bob Abate, well-known coach of Jewish athletes who has probably won more baseball and rugby championships than any other coach in Canada, says, "The big reason for the scarcity of Jewish athletes in professional ranks is because they eat too much. This is of course, more when the boy is in his late 'teens. Younger Jewish lads are very sincere in their sports and play with all their heart. With the coming generation I hope to see a greater number of Hebrews in major sport activities because many of the parents will have been athletes in their youth and will encourage their children.

DOCTOR BEATS "SEAL" HARRIS

Clever Display by Buffalo Heavyweight—George Wins from Jaderberg.

IN TORONTO ARENA.

TORONTO, October 6. — Joe Doctor, promising young Buffalo heavyweight, gave a convincing demonstration of how a clever boxer can overcome seemingly unsurmountable obstacles when he earned the decision over "Seal" Harris, big colored puncher from Memphis, in the eight-round main bout of Shamrock Club show at Arena Gardens last evening. Harris appeared to tower over his intrepid opponent, had several inches the better of the comparison in the matter of reach and outweighed Doctor by 48¼ pounds. Expressions of sympathy for the comparatively slight Bison City youngster were heard as the men advanced toward one another at the sound of the opening gong, but, as events proved, Doctor was well able to look after his own interests. He showed to even better advantage than when he stopped Elzear Roux, for he was opposing a man who was dangerous at all times, a terrific puncher against whom he could afford to make no mistakes.

In the semi-final, also an eight-rounder, Pete George, another young Buffalo mitt man, gave a pleasing display to win the decision over "Red" Jaderberg, rugged Swiss light heavyweight from Jamestown, New York. His improvement since he beat Cy Pook at the Princess Theatre here last winter is remarkable. He is decidedly faster and boxes better.

WINGS CONFIDENT OF BEATING SAINTS

Little World Series to be Resumed in Rochester To-day.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 6.—(C.P.)—The shortest little world series since 1928 was in prospect today as the Rochester Red Wings, champions of the International League, and St. Paul, American Association pennant winners, prepared for the fifth game of the series.

The Red Wings needed only two more victories to clinch the series, and their chances looked particularly bright in view of the tremendous batting punch they showed in winning three of the first four games in St. Paul.

Billy Southworth planned to send Carmen Hill, bespectacled veteran, to the mound for Rochester for the fifth game, while Lefty Leifield, of St. Paul, wavered between young Johnny Murphy and Russell Van Atta. Advance ticket sales indicated a crowd of 15,000.

SENIORS MEET TRI-COLOR ON SATURDAY NEXT

Orphun Squad Open Fall Campaign in Balmy Beach Battle on Monday.

STRENUOUS WEEK-END.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6 (C.P.)—A week of hard and intensive training prior to the opening of the Eastern Canadian rugby season next Saturday is on the program of senior grid squads throughout the Province, during the coming week. Following last night's light workouts conducted by all coaches, the real training of the week will commence to-night when all clubs will hold heavy uniform workouts.

Following Saturday's exhibition game against Balmy Beach, Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four cut their squad to thirty players, Coach McKenna announced following last night's practice. The Scullers will go through a stiff workout to-night in preparation for the opening of the Big Four season in Hamilton Saturday, when the Toronto entry engage the champion Hamilton Tigers. Several Argo regulars were absent from yesterday's practice, but a full turnout is expected to-day.

At University of Toronto, Coach Harry Hobbs is grooming his Intercollegiates for one of the severest tests they will undergo this year, in the game with Queen's, of Kingston, here Saturday. The Orphun squad, or second team of the University, do not open their league schedule until Thanksgiving Day when they tackle Alex Ponton's Balmy Beach aggregation.

Although the Beaches emerged victorious from Saturday's conflict with Argos, in a city championship tussle for the Leo DeGruchy Memorial Trophy, Coach Ponton is preparing his team for the strenuous week-end that faces the squad when they tackle Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers on Saturday and then return to Toronto to meet Varsity Orphuns on Monday (Thanksgiving Day).

Beano Wright, Ray Boadway and Ken Walker, three Tiger regulars who did not get into action Saturday against University of Western Ontario, reported for practice last night, and with every other member of the squad began preparation for the Argonaut game Saturday. Coach Hughes has called work-outs for every night this week with the exception of Friday, which will be used as a rest day for the game Saturday.

BUD GRATTAN BREAKS RECORD.

MARKHAM, Oct. 6.—Bud Grattan, owned by J. T. Payette, of Penetang, and driven by Clifford Chapman, won the free-for-all at Markham Fair and lowered the track record from 2.14¼ to 2.11½. Grattan Bars, Jr., owned by Victor Rowntree, of Weston, was second.

In the 2.20 pace Goldie Peters, owned by Neely brothers, of Sarnia, was first and Vernon McKinney, owned by Mr. Payne, of Toronto, was second.

The weather was perfect and the crowd one of the largest that ever attended.

ERROR IN NINTH HELPS CUBS WIN

Double for Two Runs by Grimm Follows Misplay—Grube Runs Riot.

BARTON AGAIN STARS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6—Johnny Kerr's error in the ninth inning on a made-to-order double play enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat the White Sox yesterday, 3 to 2 and even the city series at three games each.

Going into the ninth inning the Sox held a 2-to-1 lead. Kerr tossed out Bell to start the Cubs half, but Barton singled to centre. Danny Taylor dribbled one to Kerr, who had an easy double play, but threw wild to Cissell, and both runners were safe. Charley Grimm then won the game with a double to centre, scoring Barton and Taylor.

The Cubs scored first when Danny Taylor drove a home run into the right field stand in the second inning.

The Sox took the lead in the fifth, when Watwood doubled and went to third on Cissel's sacrifice. Jolley was purposely passed, while Fonseca singled to left, scoring Watwood and putting Jolley on second.

Blue forced Fonseca, Grimm to English, and Bush, covering first trying to complete a double play, was spiked. He went to the clubhouse for repairs and tried to continue pitching, but was wild. He passed Sullivan to fill the bases, and then walked Kerr to force in what almost proved to be the winning run. May went to the mound at this period and tossed out Tate to retire the side.

The proceedings were greatly enlivened in the second inning when Catcher Frank Grub of the Sox started a one-man riot. Umpire Hildebrand had called a fourth ball on Guy Bush and Grube blew up. He gave the umpire a violent shove and when his team-mates attempted to pacify him he started battling with them. Coach Mike Kelley carried him halfway to the dugout, when Grube finally threw him to the ground. Regaining his feet, Grube tore into Manager Bush. He swung the little pilot around several times before he was finally carried bodily into the dugout by Fonseca, Cissell, Fraser, Kelley and Donie Bush.

Brazil expects to adopt an eight-hour day and 48 hour week.

CASUAL COMMENT

The annual road race here will not be run on Thanksgiving Day, but is put back to Remembrance Day, November 11th. With the former holiday almost upon us, the athletes had very little time to be in shape, but now with the date more than a month off, there will be no trouble getting plenty of entries.

• • • • • • •

The open relay race will be a ten-mile jaunt, that is two and a half miles for each runner on the team. If enough entries from junior runners can be obtained within the next couple or three weeks, a six-mile junior relay race also will be staged with the "Y" putting up the prizes there, too. At six miles, each young fellow would do a mile and a half.

• • • • • • •

We understand there will be a pro boxing and wrestling show staged here around the middle of the month, during the week of the ploughing contests. Nothing definite has been heard of it yet but Charlie Hallat intimated as much on a recent trip to Peterborough. He promised to have a few names on the next card that will surprise local fans

• • • • • • •

Well, we're glad to hear there is to be some boxing in this coming show as we've been getting a straight diet of grappling to the exclusion of fighting lately, and while the mat tussles have been good, somehow we go for the slam - bang two-fisted belting of prize-fighters. There's always a kayo lurking in one of the gloves, and when it's suddenly hung on an unprotected jaw—well, maybe we're brutal, but there's a real kick in that.

• • • • • • •

The big horseshoe tournament here starts next Tuesday and runs for four days. For the first two days, it will be confined to a doubles tourney for teams from the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland, and there promises to be an unusually large entry list in these matches.

• • • • • • •

An open singles match will be run off on Thursday, and the open doubles is billed for the following day. An open singles for ladies will take place also on Friday afternoon. J. B. Nelson is secretary, and the contests are sponsored by the local Kiwanis and the Royal Winter Fair.

• • • • • • •

The nominal entry fee of twenty-five cents will be turned back in prize, along with medals offered by the Royal Winter Fair, and the pitching sets to be presented by the Diamond Calk Horseshoe Company.

• • • • • • •

The courts are laid out right where the ploughing match is being held, about three miles out the Port Hope Highway. Shoes may be obtained from the Royal Winter Fair's "highway pullman" on the grounds, which will be there the four days. It promises to be a great tournament, one of the biggest in the Province this year.

• • • • • • •

A bunch of home-town hockey players from Stratford are trying to enter a senior team in the Twin City Hockey League this year, saying that as Stratford has imported so many stars there is no room for home talent. The team would include at least five former junior O.H.A. players, so their request may be granted if the loop is agreeable.

• • • • • • •

But the point is that there is something pretty unfair about the system that drives local players out of a town because their places are taken by imports. Of course, the O.H.A. knows about these things and is constantly combatting them, but with indifferent success. Well, that sort of hockey trouble isn't apparent here, anyway.

• • • • • • •

"Dolly" Dolson, Bernie Brophy, "Shrimp" McPherson and three others are on the auction block at Detroit now as the Ottawa stars join the Dynamic City club. Manager Jack Adams will have no dearth of high-class material this winter to round out a team. Jack may be remembered by old-timers here having played for a winter in Peterborough some time back coming from back north.

• • • • • • •

The local lacrossers journey to Kingston next Monday for an exhibition game, and they'll be hard at it the rest of the week getting in shape. They're due to practise this evening and Thursday night at 5.15 at the Exhibition Grounds, and again on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

PASSING OF OTTAWA SENATORS DECIDED LOSS TO PRO HOCKEY

Colorful Team Lost to N.H.L. in Disbanding of Capital Team.

QUAKERS NO LOSS.

(By The Falcon)

TORONTO, Oct. 6. (Special to The Examiner)—Ottawa, home of champions and Stanley cup winners, has had to withdraw from major league hockey. Philadelphia, after one years' trial in the big loop, has also tossed in the sponge. To those hockey lovers who really love to see the game prosper, this failure of two of the N.H.L. cities is something in the nature of a calamity.

Ottawa, lacking the population of the other entrants in the Calder league has had so many wonderful teams composed largely of home brew that it is really difficult to conceive how the fans could have lost interest in the Senators. This club always had a good sprinkling of Irish players in the line-up, and in every engagement fought for victory with the abandon of a junior O.H.A. team.

Possibly the citizens of the capital have gone high hat and decided to cast in their lot with rulers at Parliament Hill. Despite the fact that Ottawa had a way of defeating Toronto with alarming regularity, Maple Leaf officials are sincerely sorry to see the Senators out of the league.

No Regret Here

Philadelphia is an entirely different proposition. Connie Mack's home town after a year in the big show has yet to see its first major league hockey game. True enough the Quakers were a fast skating, scrappy and game crew, but with the few hundred fans that turned out to see the contests, most of them being entirely new to the game the sport was doomed from the first. Benny Leonard, that great little piece of fighting humanity, a master of ring generalship, at his own game, absolutely refused to take the advice of well meaning and experienced friends, and with his inexperienced crew of players was something of a push-over in many of his club's engagements.

The Quakers lost barrels of money last winter and rumor has it that William V. Dwyer, owner of the New York Americans, was the sugar daddy who held the bag.

Mr. Dwyer has long been regarded as one of the "squarest shooters" in the game. When the Quakers, late last season, handed the New York Americans the reverse which kept the star spangled club out of the play-offs, Mr. Dwyer's friends saw just another instance of how this sportsman prizes his ideals of fair play even when it means a considerable personal loss to himself. Philadelphia could easily have lost to the Yanks as they had done so many times to other clubs, but the official records tell another story and the Maroons went on to contest the issue with the Rangers. Perhaps at a later date Philadelphia will take another whirl at big league hockey. If they do let us hope that a different team will be gathered to represent the Quaker City.

Other Strengthened

Ottawa's and Philadelphia's loss will be the gain of the other cities in the circuit. Barring Canadiens all the teams have been strengthened by the addition of Senator and Quaker players. The fans who make the turnstiles click will, of course, be the chief beneficiaries by this turn of events. But what of the poor managers and coaches in whose hands rests the responsibility of handling the teams.

Canadiens as has been said did not make a draw. This is rather surprising as the Habitants could do with a sturdy rightwinger. At that with two Stanley Cups under their kilt the Canadiens are really justified in doing their own planning. There is some talk of another new defence man being added to the Canuck's roster. At one time last season Cecil Hart was said to be sour on Marty Burke, his battling Irishman from Perth Square. Marty's playing in the finals was so high class that it's a cinch his berth alongside of Sylvio is now snug and secure as of yore. The Canucks like players of Latin extraction, but high class Irishmen are welcome anywhere.

Incidentally Eddie Burke of Boston Tigers, a cousin of the Canadian star, may get a trial with the Bruins this year, and the word is out that on last year's form he will just about catch on.

His Lipton Cup

C. Mulford Scull, of Atlantic City, N.J., holding the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy which he has just won for the second time in four years by capturing two out of three heats for amateurs in the outboard motorboat races held on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia. If Sir Thomas isn't so good at winning cups, he certainly knows ho wto create them for others.

TEAMS ENGAGED TO PULL PLOWS

Sixty Tractors Also Available for Plowing Match Contestants.

PLANS COMPLETE.

That everything is on schedule, in some cases away ahead of schedule in anticipation of the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration—the big four-day event that opens here on Tuesday next and which is expected to attract hitherto unprecedented crowds to this district—was the encouraging information reported at a recent meeting to J. J. Duffus, chairman of the local committee of the Ontario Plowmen's Association.

The meeting was very largely attended by plowing enthusiasts from all over this county and adjoining counties.

J. A. Gillespie, chairman of the teams committee, stated that already he had offers of almost one hundred teams. A similar report was given by Charles Cummer, chairman of the tractor committee, who had over sixty tractors offered.

"The supplying of horses and tractors for the use of plowmen from a distance was one of the biggest problems that confronted the committee, and it is gratifying to see things in this connection moving along so smoothly," remarked Mr. Duffus.

V. Eastwood, chairman of the finance committee, was also optimistic in his report to the committee, and stated that of all the donations that had been promised nearly all were paid, and more were coming in fast.

One and a-half miles of 2-inch piping will be required at the grounds, stated Mr. Waterhouse of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company for piping water required in the tented city that is now rapidly assuming shape, out on the Port Hope Highway.

Yesterday afternoon the Peterborough Utilities Commission commenced the task of stringing the main thoroughfare of the city with colored electric lights, that are to blaze forth a real Peterborough welcome to visiting plowmen.

"PEPPER" MARTIN, CARDINAL'S WORLD SERIES HERO

OUTFIELDER'S EFFORTS WIN SECOND GAME FOR ST. LOUIS.

The above picture shows "Pepper" Martin, St. Louis outfielder, who literally "stole" the game from the Athletics on Friday, October 2, reaching second on his two-bagger off Earnshaw. He made a clean steal to third on the next pitch, and scored a moment later on a long fly. This run was enough to win the game as it turned out, but Martin tallied another on a hit and pilfer in the closing stages of the contest.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

THE GOOD GIANT

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

Think ill of others when you must.
But cling to faith and hold to trust.
—Farmer Brown's Boy

It was two days before Farmer Brown's Boy had another chance to visit the rock slide where the Pikas lived. Those had been busy days for Little Chief and Mrs. Little Chief, busy but happy days. They were sunny days, the very best kind of days for making hay, and these little people had made the most of the opportunity. So when Farmer Brown's Boy got back there again there was no longer a lot of green grass and other plants spread out on the rocks to dry.

"I wonder what they have done with it," said he, and started to search among the rocks. Presently he found a big mound of hay carefully stacked against a big rock. It wouldn't have seemed a big stack to you perhaps, but when you consider the small size of the little haymakers it really was a big stack. He examined it carefully.

"It is good hay," said he. "Those little folks know their business. It is well cured and unless it gets wet through it will not sour or spoil in any way. I wonder if they will leave it here or will store it away somewhere. Hello, it looks as if there is going to be a shower. It is a good thing that I brought a rubber coat along."

He put the coat on and then found a sheltered place under a shelf of rock as the first raindrops came pattering down. The shower lasted about half an hour, and it poured. Then the sun came out again. Farmer Brown's Boy went over near the stack of hay and spreading his coat on a flat rock, sat down to see what would happen. He didn't have to wait long. A funny little bleating bark came from close by and then another.

"Little Chief and his mate have discovered me," thought Farmer Brown's Boy

They were repeated and in them was a worried anxious note.

"Little Chief and his mate have discovered me," thought Farmer Brown's Boy, "and are worried. They are anxious about their hay and they are afraid of me. I'll sit perfectly still and see what will happen."

Presently Little Chief appeared and after him Mrs. Little Chief. They looked more anxiously at Farmer Brown's Boy than at their pile of hay.

"What do you suppose that giant is doing here?" asked Little Chief.

"I don't know, but if he don't go away our hay will spoil and all our hard work will go for nothing," replied Mrs. Little Chief.

"He doesn't move," said Little Chief. "As you say, my dear, that hay must be attended to. Perhaps he means no harm."

For some time they watched Farmer Brown's Boy, and not once did he move. Little Chief ventured a few steps nearer. Nothing happened. He went a little nearer and then hastily ran back. A third time he tried it and this time he held his ground. Then Mrs. Little Chief got up courage enough to join him. Finally they reached the haystack, and at once they seemed to forget the giant was so near. That hay was wet, and it needed to be spread and dried at once. There was no doubt about it.

So they went to work pulling that stack apart and spreading the wet hay on the rocks in the sun. They knew it would take only a little while for it to dry, and they worked fast. This was their winter food and they couldn't afford to take any chances with it. Every now and then they glanced at Farmer Brown's Boy, and as he didn't move, they gained confidence. Not until they had all the hay spread did Farmer Brown's Boy move, and then very slowly and carefully.

But the Pikas saw it and vanished. However, it was only a moment before they were peeking at him from among the rocks, and presently they were back, inspecting their work. So, by patience and care Farmer Brown's Boy won their trust. They made up their minds that this was a good giant and forgot to be afraid. They even ventured close to him. Such is faith.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 11.20 a.m., from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 11.30 a.m. to 1.20 p.m., and from 4.50 p.m. to 6.10 p.m.

October 6th, according to astrological indications, will be excellent for all social and personal occasions, but not overfavorable for business. Most engagements and marriages will run along smoothly, and many who have not met their fate will become happily entangled in affairs of the heart. Business interests will drag, and unexpected monetary difficulties will arise.

Children born on this October 6th will be fearless, self-confident and ambitious, possessing more than average ability. They will be more blunt than diplomatic, and more emphatic than suave. They will seek opportunity for travel. Their dispositions will be affectionate, but their love will not, until later in life, devolve on one person.

You, if born on October 6th, have a great measure of ability, but only use a small fraction of it. The trouble is that, whilst you can work, you do not care to exert yourself. If you really hit on something that is interesting, then you show the stuff of which you are made. Above all things, and in order to attain any degree of success, you must choose yourself the job you like. Working just to supply your needs in a position which makes no special appeal to you, will only land you in the crowd of "ruttera."

Your character, especially if you are a woman, is not a very strong one, and you are easily influenced and led by those around you. If your companions are desirable ones, such association will benefit you. If on the other hand, they are undesirable, the connection will leave its mark on you.

You are, in your tastes, musical and artistic. You are fond of all the good things—including the gaieties—of life. There is a good deal of the Bohemian about you; inclined to be quick-tempered, you estrange many by impulsive speech and action. Marriage may straighten out matters, especially if you are mated with one whom you really love, and who really loves you.

FALSE TEETH ARE A GREAT INVENTION BUT KEEP YOUR OWN AS LONG AS YOU CAN

Who knows how serious pyorrhea can become?

ALMOST everyone, at some time in life, is threatened with pyorrhea, dread disease of the gums which comes to four people out of five past the age of forty.

But only those who needlessly wear false teeth today can fully appreciate how serious this infection can become when neglected.

As it progresses, it softens the gums, spreads poisons throughout the body, loosens teeth in their sockets until your very health demands their extraction.

Don't wait for the dread symptoms—start using Forhan's at once.

A dentists' dentifrice for scientific care of teeth

The minute tender or bleeding gums serve warning of pyorrhea, go to your dentist for treatment and start the daily use of Forhan's at once. Better still, play safe by the regular use of Forhan's even if you are not threatened.

For safety use Forhan's

Forhan's is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., who for 26 years specialized in the treatment of pyorrhea. It is unique in that it contains Forhan's Astringent, an ethical preparation widely used by dentists in the treatment of this dread disease.

In addition to cleaning and restoring the natural beauty and whiteness of your teeth, Forhan's protects against dangerous infections, and reduces or prevents inflammation. It contains no harmful abrasives to damage the enamel. With the daily use of Forhan's comes a delightful glow of health to your gums and all the tissues of the mouth. It also causes loose teeth to tighten by its astringent action on spongy tissue.

Start using Forhan's today. Your teeth and gums can have no finer protection. Forhan's Limited, Montreal.

False teeth often follow pyorrhea, which comes to four people out of five past the age of 40

Will Contest 2 Of 11 Tory Seats In Quebec

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 5 (C.P.).—At least two of the eleven seats won by the Conservatives in last August's general Provincial elections will be contested. Major C. G Power, M.P., chief Liberal organizer for the Quebec district, announced to-day that proceedings asking for the annulment of the elections of Maurice Duplessis, Three Rivers, and Pierre Bertrand, St. Sauveur, would be taken in the Superior Court to-day on the grounds of irregularities.

FOUR CONVENTIONS OF R.E.C. ARRANGED

Plans Are Laid by Centre Hastings Committee at Meet in Stirling.

BONARLAW, Ont., Oct. 5, (Examiner Correspondence)—At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Center Hastings Religious Education Council held at Stirling, Ont., it was decided to hold the four Township Conventions as follows:

Oct. 20—Tweed and Hungerford township R.E.C., at Actinolite.

Oct. 21—Madoc and Elzevir township R.E.C., at Cooper church.

Oct. 22—Huntingdon township R.E.C., at Beulah church.

Oct. 23—Stirling, Rawdon and Marmora township R.E.C., at Bethel church.

A provincial representative from the O.R.E.C., Toronto, will be sent to speak at the four conventions. There will no doubt be both afternoon and evening sessions at all places.

The date for the county convention was set for Nov. 4, Wednesday. This meeting will be at Tweed in the United Church. A very interesting program has been arranged. At the afternoon session which opens at 2.30 p.m. in addition to the usual reports of County Department Superintendents, discussion led by Provincial representative etc., there will be a demonstration of an opening devotional exercise by Wilber S. Gordon, of Tweed.

The report of the secretary-treasurer this year will be in the evening followed by installation of officers and the Provincial representative's address. Special music will be furnished by the Tweed choir, etc.

All Sunday schools in the county are asked to send delegates and the public are cordially invited to attend both sessions.

Cavan

On Monday, September 28, Mr. and Mrs. Will Douglas, of Cavanville, quietly celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong attended the funeral of the late Mrs. George Falls of Hamilton township on Tuesday.

Mrs. M. G. Matchett, Miss Frances Hunter and Mrs. Ray Syer visited Mrs. Vincent Fee, Emily, on Wednesday.

Mrs. James Paul has returned after spending a week with Mrs. James Gimms and other friends in Cartwright, motoring up with Mr. Paul. While there she visited in Blackstock.

Cavan Dramatic Club are preparing another play.

Mr. and Mrs. Byng, Port Colborne, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Reynolds.

The Rev. George Hartwell, of China, will speak at a missionary rally in Cavan Church on Monday evening.

Anniversary services will be held in Cavan United Church on Sunday, October 11, when the Rev. George W. McCall, of Toronto, will preach at eleven and seven. Mr. McCall is an old Cavan township boy, and this, combined with the fact that these anniversary services are to be held on Thanksgiving Sunday, when the pioneers of the township are to be especially remembered, should be a great stimulus towards the presence of overflowing congregations at this historic church in Cavan.

Cavan circuit is preparing its quota to add to the relief train load. All contributions are to be at the parsonage, Cavanville, on Monday, Oct. 5, and arrangements are made to convey them by trucks to the station in Peterborough.

Mr. Paul motored from Cartwright on Thursday evening for Millbrook fair on Friday.

Bales of food and boxes of canned fruit are being packed for shipping to the West by the members of the United Church under the superintendence of the Emergency Relief Committee.

Australia's 1931-32 wool clip is estimated at 2,942,500 bales.

COUNTY IMPOSES FEE ON STUDENTS

Protest to Premier Henry By Wentworth Deputation.

TORONTO, Ont., October 5 (C. P.). — A deputation headed by T. Mahoney, M.P.P., South Wentworth, and including members of the Township of Barton Council and the Bartonville School Board today protested to Premier Henry, Minister of Education, against the Wentorth County Council imposing a $5.00 monthly fee on pupils in the county attending Hamilton Collegiate. The fee applies to 175 pupils in the Townships of Ancaster, Barton and Binbrook, who are now attending collegiates in Hamilton.

Up to the present year, the county has paid the entire tuition fee amounting to about $175 for each pupil annually.

Premier Henry promised Mahoney to inquire into the question.

Rumania now has 9,545 square miles of beach forests.

In The Automotive World

WEEK-BY-WEEK

Sir Malcolm Campbell, when not attempting to break world's speed records, is, among other things, a motor columnist which goes to prove that Britishers have got a sense of humor. However, be that as it may the point is that the speed king has been passing out a few hints to beginners at driving and no one will question his qualifications in that respect. If you are a new driver, Sir Malcolm advises you to "learn as soon as you can to change gears faultlessly. Keep spare lamp bulbs in the car if you are driving at night. A complete spare set costs less than a police court fine for driving without lights. Never start your engine with the electric starter when all the lamps are alight. It is placing an unfair strain on the battery. Test the battery once a week. Keep the windshield clean. It makes driving, especially at night much easier."

Among other things, Sir Malcolm Campbell considers a spotlight, "A very useful accessory which should be purchased by every motorist.

"I made up my mind many years ago." Sir Malcolm continues, "that no car was complete unless a fire extinguisher was carried on board, for although, fortunately, this is seldom needed, it is there in case of eventualities."

"I consider one is absolutely necessary, especially if the gasoline tank is fitted beneath the bonnet of your car.

"I often wonder why the majority of manufacturers send out their cars with the electric horn fitted inside the bonnet. The only correct position for this is in front of the radiator, where the full note can be he heard and is not restricted as in the case when it is closed in."

Free wheeling, synchromesh transmission, and other types of continuous or automatic change gears designed to do away with the noise and inconvenience of gear shifting have caused the Society of Automotive Engineers to begin the study of motor vehicle transmission anew. Coupled with their desire to improve American cars, activity abroad, particularly in Germany and France, has accelerated this work. Inventions are coming from all parts of the country. Two engineers came from Texas last week with plans for a new device which they claim will eliminate the present gear shift box. It is not unlikely that within the next five years additional marked improvements will be seen in transmissions.

Addressing a convention of salesmen in Hamilton, Ontario, W. C. Herring, General Sales Manager of General Motors of Canada, recently gave expression to some optimistic statements about improved business conditions in certain lines of cars in Canada. Referring to a very definite increase in sales, he said that 25 per cent more buyers had paid cash for their cars this year than during the previous year.

Retaining natural highway attractiveness is a government problem in many provinces, and progress of a definite nature is reported from some. For instance, the campaign instituted by Ontario Department of Highways to protect the scenic beauties of the province from too many advertising signs is bearing fruit and it is the intention of the department to carry on this endeavor until the majority of these signs are removed, according to R. M. Smith, deputy Minister of Highways. Advertising companies were informed some time ago that the number of placards, signs and other methods of advertising trade articles would have to be considerably reduced. In many instances departments officials themselves removed the offending signs, after informing the advertising company concerned.

South Africa was Canada's best customer for automobiles during the month of July, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of Statistics. In both freight and passenger cars she purchased more than any other country, although British India came a close second. South Africa's purchases totalled $117,160.

As with many other so-called innovations the advent of the rear-engined automobile is not so new as it seems. In the beginning of the industry, the engine was frequently put in the rear of the car or under the back seat. In the early roadsters it was made readily accessible by the mere lifting of the rear deck or the opening of the body tail gate. Single cylinder engines were mounted this way so that the spark plug and carburetor could be easily reached. Then came the double-opposed engine, the rear cylinder occupying the usual position while the opposing cylinder stretched forward horizontally under the body.

In those days of the curved dash and the slanting hood, the radiator was mounted low down in front of the body or set up only slightly into the hood in a way that would not interfere with the sloping line which in those days was considered a mark of beauty. Finally, in the evolution of the racing car, where the engine had to be accessible and the radiator occupied a prominent place in the rapid cooling of the mechanism, the idea of the under-car or rear-mounting was given up and the entire powerplant mounted frankly and fully in front of the driver. At that time the protest of the public was as great as the change from front to rear engine mounting would seem to be now, say the veterans. It took four years to convince the public that the side-entrance car was more beautiful and convenient that the rear entrance tonneau and that high doors in front as well as in back would be fully as safe as the open front entrance cars of two decades ago.

When car windows are hard to raise or lower, a preparation of graphite and graffin will make them work easily. Mix, by weight, equal parts of melted paraffin and powdered graphite and form the mixture into a stick by pouring it into a tube made by wrapping paper around a lead pencil. When hardened, rub the stick over the felt window channels, and you will find a decided improvement.

* * *

Fine wires, imbedded in a windshield of special plate glass, are connected to the car's battery and thereby heated so that they melt snow and sleet, and the wiper has nothing but water to remove, even in the coldest storms. In addition to this safety feature the glass is of a non-shatterable kind that does not endanger car occupants with flying fragments.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR NO. 98
(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The apes sought comfortable couches beneath the forest shade and soon were as unforgettable of the recent events as though they had never happened. The two men had gone but a short distance beyond the glade where the apes were, when the roaring of lions in the distance fell upon their ears. The ape-man paid no attention to the familiar sounds until the crack of a rifle came faintly from the same direction. When this was followed by the shrill neighing of horses and an almost continuous fusillade of shots, he stopped short.

Now came the increased and savage roaring of a large troop of lions. "Someone is having trouble over there," Tarzan said, turning to Werper. "I'll have to go to them—they may be friends." "Your wife might be among them," suggested the Belgian, for since he had again come into possession of the jewels of Opar, he had constantly revolved in his mind some plan to elude this giant Englishman. At the suggestion Tarzan started as though struck with a whip. "God," he cried, "she might be and the lions are attacking them."

Copyright, 1931, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

"Stay here, man—I will come back for you. I must first go to them,' and swinging into a tree the lithe figure sped rapidly away. For a moment Werper watched the disappearing ape-man. Then a cunning smile crossed his lips —"Stay here?" he asked himself. "Stay here and wait until you return to find and take these jewels from me? Not I! my friend, not I," and turning abruptly eastward Albert Werper passed through the foliage of a hanging vine and out of the sight of his fellow men—forever.

As Tarzan of the Apes hurtled through the trees, the discordant sounds of the battle between the Abyssinians and the lions smote more and more distinctly upon his sensitive ears. It told him the conflict was critical, indeed. At last the glare of the camp fire shone plainly through the intervening trees and a moment later the giant figure of the ape-man paused upon an overhanging bough to look down upon the bloody scene of carnage below. His quick eye took it all in and stopped upon the figure of a woman standing facing a great lion.

PREMIER STICKS TO OLD RIDING

Will Run in Seaham, Durham, Despite Repudiation by Labor Executive.

Branches Pledge Backing.

LONDON, Oct. 6 (C.P. Cable) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has decided to seek re-election in the coming general elections in his old seat of Seaham, Durham, the Canadian Press learned on definite authority this afternoon.

Prime Minister MacDonald was repudiated by the Labor executive of Seaham some time ago, and when he visited the constituency last Friday the local executive did not change its decision, although since then two independent branches of the Labor Party in the constituency have pledged him their support.

In the 1929 general elections, Mr. MacDonald had an overwhelming majority, the vote being: MacDonald, Labor, 36,615; Fearnley-Whittingstall, Cons., 6,821; Haslam, Liberal, 5,266; Pollitt, Communist, 1,431.

Will Have Free Field.

Conservative and Liberal leaders have indicated they will probably not nominate candidates in the Seaham constituency, which would give Mr. MacDonald a free field to run as a Labor candidate, as he has said he will do. Possibly, however, he would be opposed by a Labor candidate selected by the local executive, who have threatened this action.

Besides campaigning in that district Mr. MacDonald intends to make a number of speeches at Derby in support of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, who will be the only colleague of the old Labor Cabinet campaigning alongside him. Rt. Hon. Phillip Snowden is retiring.

Mr. MacDonald is also expected to campaign on behalf of his son Malcolm, who is a member of the National Ministry, and probably for others of his friends.

CANADIAN DOLLAR FIRM

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 6 (C.P.) —The Canadian dollar strengthened fractionally this morning during the early session on local foreign exchanges to-day. Traders at noon quoted the dollar at 88¼ cents in United States funds, a discount of 11¾ per cent. The Dominion's currency opened this morning at 88, after closing yesterday at 87¾.

PACIFIC FLIERS COLLECT CASH

Pangborn and Hernon Landed Without a Cent.

GET SPENDING MONEY.

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 6—Out of the terrors of their historic nonstop flight across the Pacific came affluence, praise and rest to-day for Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Junior.

Wenatchee and the State of Washington in general went to heretofore unheard-of pains to shower two aviators with comfort. Townspeople forgot about the depression and raised a purse of $500 to provide the fliers spending money.

Pangborn and Herndon were without a cent when they landed here yesterday morning to complete their 4,877 mile flight from Samushiro, Japan. Before the first cheers had died away a representative of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi handed them an order entitling them to $25,000—prize money which long had been posted by that periodical for the first non-stop airplane flight between Japan and the United States.

But the $25,000 order didn't provide any immediate spending money and the collection was taken up to take care of that situation.

This morning the fliers were allowed to sleep late, but were called upon to go to a neighboring town for a luncheon and a community banquet.

FENELON PIERS BEING REMOVED

Government Dredge, Scow and Tug-boat Has Been at Work for Two Weeks.

EIGHT MEN EMPLOYED.

FENELON FALLS, Oct. 5.—Under the direction of Mr. McMann, of Peterborough, the government dredge, Auburn, is located here removing old pier bottoms which have been for years a menace to navigation, especially so when the water is low.

The piers were built of logs filled in with stones and were constructed, some of them fifty years ago, for the use of sawmills that used to be located along the shores of the lake.

The outfit for removing the piers consists of a dredge 120 feet long and 30 feet wide. On this is mounted a powerful crane, 60 feet long, which picks up the stones and logs. The stones are dropped on a dump scow, built on the same principle as a hoosier wagon, and are then dumped in the lake, while the logs are towed to the shore. A supply scow carrying wood and coal, a cook-house and a small but powerful tug-boat complete the outfit. The crew is made up of eight men, a tug crew of three, a dredge crew of four and the cook.

The crew has been at the Cataract village for the past two weeks. When the work is completed here it is understood the outfit is to proceed to Lindsay River, which is to be cleaned out.

U.S. Wants Banker Deported For Them

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 6.—Federal authorities said to-day that they plan to institute deportation proceedings against William Borthwick, former branch bank teller, who was arrested in Toronto last Saturday on a charge of embezzling $50.

Borthwick is one of eight former officials and employees of the American State Bank who have been arrested in connection with shortage of funds in the closed institution.

Immigration authorities claim Borthwick, a native of Scotland, but a resident of Canada for 18 years, entered the United States illegally four years ago.

RATEPAYERS OF ASHBURNHAM ORGANIZE CIVIC ASSOCIATION

Kindling Deeper Interest in Eastern Community Affairs.

DESIRE TO GROW.

To guard the interests of ratepayers in that section of the city a new organization was given birth at a meeting held in the town hall at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets last evening, to be known as Ashburnham Ratepayers' Association.

Harry Morgan, a former member of the City Council, was in the chair, and in common with various other speakers made it quite clear that organization of ratepayers was not sought to embarrass the City Council, but rather to help and assist the aldermen representing that ward. "We have no quarrel with the City Council. The idea is to help them and to assist the aldermen here," said the chairman at the outset.

The result of the meeting, attended by some forty ratepayers, was a resolution moved by James E. Ellis, that the association be formed, seconded by W. Tinker. The motion was put to a standing vote and carried unanimously.

Following that, an executive committee was nominated, and T. Hendry was appointed secretary. The committee was nominated as follows: D. Davidson, J. T. O'Connell, C. H. Rogers, James Matthews, J. S. Mason, D. Carlyle, James E. Ellis, W. Tinker, T. Hendry, H. Choate, H. Morgan, V. O'Dette, and Roy H. Parsons.

Committees Appointed

After the meeting adjourned a meeting of the executive was held, when various sub-committees were appointed with instructions to report back at another meeting of the association to be held on Monday, October 19.

In opening the meeting, the chairman said he had been asked by a number of ratepayers to act in that capacity. The idea of the meeting, he explained, had a beginning some time ago when certain of the ratepayers came to the conclusion that an association was needed to look after the interests "over here."

Mr. Rogers, who was called upon by the chairman, stated that he endorsed all the chairman had said about the City Council. "They are doing well and our representative is working in our interests, and during the last few years we have had a lot of improvements."

He continued to point out the advantages of an association, citing as a case in point the work that had been accomplished by a similar organization in Toronto. He had always thought that East City had been overlooked in the matter of industries. "Perhaps that is our own fault," he remarked.

Residential Section

He also stressed the fact that Ashburnham is one of the best residential districts in the city. He enumerated all the points of advantage including Nicholl's Oval, James Stevenson Park, the picturesque beauty of the canal side, and the golf course—one of the finest in Ontario. "Yet somehow we do not seem to grow."

"About 15 per cent of the population of the city live in Ashburnham, and we have to sell the idea of East City as a residential section," he exclaimed.

One matter that is to be taken up with the council is that concerning the gravel pits in East City, which it was contended are absolutely destroying lots.

Comments on the "holes" that are being made in East City were also made by James Ellis. He was also of the opinion that no better factory sites exist than those along the C.P.R. and C.N.R. railway lines running to the south of the village.

He believed that an association was one of the best means of awakening in ratepayers, a new interest in municipal and community affairs.

Rev. Dean O'Sullivan, in the course of a few remarks paid tribute to the ladies of Ashburnham, who had done so much to improve Armour Hill, and who were also instrumental in having the hall renovated.

James Matthews remarked that he had located his factory in East City because the location offered such ideal means of central distribution. He believed that certain advantages of East City should be placed before prospective manufacturers.

A suggestion that the old brewery might be offered to some pickle manufacturer was also mooted by Mr. Rogers. He also thought that a factory which used to belong to the Woollen Company might be obtained with a view to offering the plant to some other prospective manufacturer.

Membership in the association is open to all ratepayers in Ashburnham. A ratepayer has been defined by the executive as one who is a property owner or who pays rent.

Miss Smith maintained a one stroke advantage on the incoming nine holes.

ST. PETER'S BAZAAR OPENS WEDNESDAY

Will Be Held in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum.

St. Peter's Bazaar opens to-morrow evening with a fowl supper at five o'clock in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum. The ladies of the parish have been preparing for the bazaar for the past three weeks, and it promises to be one of the finest of the winter. The proceeds will go toward improvements at the Cathedral, and preparations have been made to entertain large crowds both days, Wednesday and Thursday. A delicious fowl supper both evenings will be on, starting at five until all are served.

Bingo games, wheel of fortune, fish pond, booths of all descriptions will be some of the attractions offered the public, with Mrs. Gus White being the general convenor. A fine general booth selling home cooking, candy, cigars, soft drinks, etc., will be run by the Sodality Ladies of St. Peter's on both evenings, and numerous other attractions for old and young should make it an outstanding success. The large hall at the Lyceum has been fittingly decorated for the occasion, the women in charge of the supper are experienced in serving huge crowds, and once again St. Peter's Bazaar promises to be up to the standard of past years.

ENGINEERS MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

Dr. Sutton to Lecture at First Meeting of Season.

"Water supply and Sewage Disposal from a Medical Viewpoint" is the subject of a paper to be delivered by Dr. N. H. Sutton, District Officer of Health at a meeting of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada at Paragon Tea Rooms at eight o'clock on Thursday evening.

The meeting will constitute the first of a series of bi-monthly papers and lectures to be delivered by specialists in their respective lines, throughout the winter months. These twice monthly gatherings of the engineers in previous winter seasons, have been well attended and very educational and instructive. They are open meetings and a welcome is extended to all interested in them to attend.

Dr. Sutton's paper will cover the medical viewpoint of the subject and will form a very acceptable complementary paper to those which were delivered last season on the design and construction of Water Supply and Sewage Disposal Works.

Illness Costs Woman Commuting Privilege

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 6—Because Miss Florence Mitchell, of Windsor, Ont., was ill on April 1, 1927, she cannot take advantage of a recent Federal Court ruling holding she was deprived of her commuting privilege under a misinterpretation of U. S. immigration regulations.

The particular regulation gave to all commuters as of that date the right to continue working in the United States, and Judge Charles G. Simons ruled on Sept. 24 that the fact she did not commute continuously did not deprive her of her rights. He granted her a writ of habeas corpus, forbidding immigration officers from barring her at the border.

In a re-hearing yesterday, Judge Simons ruled that since she was not commuting because of illness when the regulation became effective, she was not now entitled to the privilege. He also held since she was not detained by officers, no writ of habeas corpus should issue.

Lord Bledisloe Asks Further Wage Cut

This makes a total voluntary reduction in the Governor-General's salary and allowances, of twenty percent.

Prime Minister G. W. Forbes paid warm tribute to Lord Bledisloe's generous action.

TRAINED WOMEN LEADERS ARE NEEDED FOR GIRLS' SPORTS

Wholesome Development of Girl Must Be Administered as Educational Procedure.

N.R.A. CONVENTION.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6 (C.P.) —Trends in Athletics for girls were the subject of lively discussion in a meeting to-day of the Recreation Congress of the United States and Canada, in a session here under the auspices of the National Recreation Association. Leaders of amateur sport from both countries presented their views on the publicity, costumes, awards and rules for women atheletes.

"Men's athletics present a sorry spectacle of over-emphasis, and women's athletics will go the same way if they are not safeguarded by intelligent leaders," declared Anne Frances Hodgkins of New York, Field Secretary of the Women's Division, National Amateur Athletic Federation. "As long as men handle girls' sports, we shall have a men's system of athletics. Trained women leaders are needed to perfect and establish sport for girls on lines which are fitted for all girls. She stated that schools must take their choice between providing an adequate athletic program for all girls or a program for super-athletes. With their present limited athletic staffs, she said, they cannot do both.

Jessie S. Herriot, Physical Director for Women at McGill University, Montreal, who presided at the meeting, pointed out the program which lays claim to the wholesome development of the girl must be administered as an educational procedure for the benefit of the player and not as a commercial enterprise.

She cited the case of five girl players who fainted from the sheer excitemen of the contest after a championship basketball game. The hysterics and crying which follow keen inter-competition are undoubtedly due to an overtax of the nervous system, she said, presenting the case of more intra-competition rather than competition with outside teams.

HON. J. H. THOMAS IS CONFIDENT COALITION WILL BE SUSTAINED

British People Behind National Government Says Minister.

SEVERE ECONOMICS.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Oct. 6. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—"I was never more confident of anything in my life than of the result this election will produce," declared Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, when seen by the Canadian Press this afternoon.

"At the same time," Mr. Thomas continued, "frankly I am somewhat afraid of the impression which may be held in certain foreign places and perhaps to some extent in certain far parts of the Empire, as to the exact position prevailing here. This is one reason I favored an early election.

"I am convinced the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country is behind the National Government and will support it even though its policy of economy may be severe. That of itself will convince the whole world of the stability of this country."

Mr. Thomas, like Prime Minister MacDonald, forfeited the support of the Labor Party when he remained with the National Government. Mr. Thomas also lost the general secretaryship of the National Union of Railwaymen. A number of local bodes of railwaymen have since condemned the attitude of the national executive so far as Mr. Thomas is concerned.

The Secretary of State for the Dominions is one of the two members for Derby, the great railway centre. The voting there in the last election was: Thomas, Labor, 39,688; Raynes Labor, 36,237; Luce, Conservative, 24,553; Alton Conservative, 20,443; Peach, Liberal, 11,317.

Mr. Thomas remarked the cohesion of Canada and South Africa to the gold standard was entirely a matter for themselves because it affected each in their own special way. Unquestionably Canada must in the very nature of things be affected by the position of the United States, and he would not attempt to say now what should be done eventually, he added.

Mr. Thomas mentioned that only this morning he had received a contribution of $25,000 towards the national emergency from an Indian Sultan.

DAVIS ASSUMES SOLICITOR ROLE IN COURT TRIAL

Youth Charged With Robbing Till at Service Station.

QUERIES WITNESSES.

Case Remanded Until Thursday to Present His Defense.

Charged with the theft on September 10 of $3.60 from the cash register of the Red Indian service station, opposite the Y.M.C.A. on George street, Ralph Davis, following several remands, appeared this morning before Police Magistrate Langley, K.C., for trial.

Standing in the box, Davis dug from his pockets at the start of the trial several sheets of paper which he perused carefully. Davis meant to conduct his own defence, and it was soon clear that the papers bore many carefully prepared questions. Davis shot these questions at the Crown witnesses with speed and some display of cleverness. It was the best-conducted defence by a prisoner seen in the local court in many years.

Heard Bell Ring

David Tucker, proprietor of the service station, stated that it was about 1.10 noon on September 10 that $3.60 had been stolen from his till. He heard the bell on the till ring, and burst into the station to see the robber bent over the cash register. The robber fled with Tucker in hot pursuit. The chase led across Confederation Square and behind the Collegiate, where Tucker lost the trail.

Tucker had not seen the robber's face, but stated that he was carrying a dark coat over his arm and wore a dark shirt. He stated that Davis answered in every particular his remembrance of the man's appearance, and especially the manner of his walk coincided with that of the escaped robber.

Just My Swing

"You didn't see his face, did you?" asked Davis of Tucker. "No," was the reply.

"You identified me as the man at the police station the morning after I was arrested; how did you do that?" continued Davis.

"By the swing in your walk; you swing exactly the same."

"Ho! so it's my swing, eh?"

Another witness who said he had gone to school with Davis stated that he had seen Tucker chasing a man along the north side of the school. He said his impression of the man fitted Davis, but he would not say definitely that it had been Davis. He, after some pressure, admitted telling detectives the next day that it was Davis.

Identifies Davis

William Chambers, employee at Fitzgerald's service station on McDonnel street, said that he had seen a man coming out of the station yard at about 1.15 noon September 10. The man carried his coat on his arm. He said it would be easy for a man to cut across from behind the Collegiate, between the houses, out on to Aylmer street, and then cut between the houses on the west side of Aylmer street and into the station's yard. He had not seen the man enter the yards by the front way.

Answering Davis' question, Chambers described the man's appearance.

Davis: "Would you know him again?"

"Yes."

Davis: "Is he here in court?"

"Yes."

After Davis had finished his cross examination, Magistrate Langley said to the witness: "You said he is here in court. Which is he "

Chambers: "He's in the box. He is the accused, Davis."

Standing at Corner

Constable Gordon Puffer said that he had seen Davis standing at the corner of Brock and George streets at five minutes to one on September 10. Making investigations along the laneways on Aylmer street, he had found the place in the fence on the west side of Aylmer street where the escaping robber had got into the Fitzgerald service station yard. He had found footprints running through the garden.

Following some brief evidence by Chief Newhall, the case was adjourned, the Crown's evidence being completed, until to-morrow morning, when Davis will be given an opportunity to enter his defence.

$800 Left in Cleveland Police Station As Safe Spot, Vanishes Mysteriously

CLEVELAND, October 7. — Between $800 and $850 was stolen over the week-end from a safe in the Eleventh Precinct Police Station, it was learned yesterday when William L. Moore, principal of John Hay High School, called at the police station for the money he had left there on Friday night.

Police Chief George J. Matowitz called the officers of the Precinct into conference when the money was found missing, but after a five-hour session announced that the mystery of the disappearance of the cash had not been solved.

J. A. Pierce, supervising director of Evening Schools, explained that there was no burglar-proof safe in the Hay School and recalled that a few years ago burglars entered several schools and escaped with considerable money.

Mr. Moore accordingly took the night school tuition receipts to the police station, obtaining a receipt for it from Lieutenant Clayton Johnson, who put the money in the safe near his desk.

TWO NEW DEPARTMENTS ADDED CITY'S NIGHT SCHOOL CLASSES

Boat Building and Telephony Included in Vocational Classes.

TRUSTEES MEET.

Announcement was made at a meeting of the Board of Education last night by James Dutton, chairman of the Advisory Vocational Committee, that two new departments had been added at the night school classes at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, namely a boat building class in conjunction with the woodworking classes and telephone class. The former has been commenced by arrangement with the Peterborough Canoe Company and the latter through negotiation with the Bell Telephone Company.

Prior to the commencement of regular business, the board under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. R. Morris, heard two delegations, one from the Home and School Association, under the leadership of Mrs. Spicer of Prince of Wales' Home and School Association, and the other from the Canadian Legion, with President Arnold E. Everett and Alderman Jack McNabb as spokesmen.

A request was granted The Home and School Association for the use of school rooms during the winter months for the raising of funds for relief purposes. The proposition brought forward by the Legion that senior school children should be permitted to co-operate with the Legion, military units and fraternal organizations in an Armistice Day commemoration service at the War Memorial and a parade were referred to Inspector Mowat and the principals of the various schools to work out details of the arrangements.

It was expressed by the delegation that a need existed for impressing upon children the sacrifices that were made in the Great War, and of the reverence and respect that should at all times be accorded to the War Memorial.

Committee Supervision

The following reports of the supervision committee tendered by Dr. A. Moir were adopted:

"Your supervision committee beg to report that after carefully considering Dr. Phair's report on the School Health Service in the Peterborough Public Schools, and after further consultation with him on the matter, would respectfully recommend:

First. That this Board authorize and instruct the Public School Inspector to supervise the duties of the School Medical Staff and the School Dental Staff; that he shall see that they perform these duties as defined by the regulations of the Education Department and by the rules of this Board; and that he shall report on the same at monthly intervals to this committee.

Second. That sub-section 2, section 7 of the regulations of the Education Department (duties of School Medical Officer staffs) be strictly complied with as recommended by Dr. Phair.

This sub-section reads as follows: "The School Medical Officer shall supply each principal with a copy of the time-table mutually agreed upon for each school, and when the School Medical Officer finds it impossible to be present at the time fixed by this time-table, he shall Archbishop Williams was found dead in bed, according to the information received here.

The death of Archbishop Williams removes one of the leaders of Anglican church life in Canada. Although in poor health and sorely in need of rest Dr. Williams was active until the end.

He had returned from confirmation service at Southampton, arriving in London at seven o'clock last night. He retired at about 10:30 apparently in the best of spirits.

He arose at 9:30, but very soon returned to bed where he was found dead by his daughter, Gweno. The funeral service will be held in St. Paul's cathedral at 2:30 on Saturday afternoon.

The interment will be in Woodland cemetery. Preceding the cathedral service a short service will be held at two in "Bishop Stowe."

He is survived by three sons, D. H. Williams of Halifax, N. S., B. I. Williams, of London; A. R. Williams of Detroit, and three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Smith of Byron, Mrs. G. H. Noyes of London and Gweno Williams, who has been keeping house for him and who first learned of his death.

MEN RUSH FROM CHURCH SOCIAL TO FIGHT BLAZE

John Clydesdale's Barn and Crops in Dummer Destroyed

COLT UPSETS LANTERN.

Telephone Girls Give the Alarm at Church Dinner

(Examiner Correspondence)

WARSAW Oct. 7.—An overturned lantern set on fire the large barn of John Clydesdale, two miles east of Wersaw, at 8 o'clock last evening and despite the efforts of neighbors the structure with the season's crop was totally destroyed. the quick wit of two telephone operators, Rhoda and Dorcas Lloyd, who rallied the men of the neighborhood to aid in fighting the blaze, saved an adjacent barn from the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Clydesdale were absent from home and the evening chores were left in charge of Allan Clydesdale their son. While feeding the horses in the barn, the boy had hung a lantern on a hook. A playful colt ran against the lantern knocking it to the floor. Kerosene spilt from the broken lantern and straw was immediately ablaze.

Girls Give Alarm

The fire spread rapidly and all the boy's efforts could not stop the flames from spreading to every corner of the barn. He telephoned to central at Warsaw. Rhoda Lloyd was on duty. Nearly all the residents of the village and many of the farmers were at the United Church social. Without a moment's hesitation, Rhoada despatched her sister, Dorcas, to the church.

The girl burst into the midst of the church supper, shouting "John Clydesdale's barn is in flames." The men left their half-finished suppers, piled into cars, and speeded to the fire.

Pumped Well Dry

The old large barn and hen house was beyond saving when they arrived, but they immediately set about the task of saving the barn closeby from the flames. The well pumped dry as the men poured water on the threatened building, the roof of which was on fire in places. A pipe line was hastily constructed and the work of saving the second building went on to a successively conclusion.

Entire Crop Gone

The barn destroyed was a comparatively new building 58 feet by 64 feet and it was one of the finest dairy barns in the district. The season's crop from 200 acres was destroyed in the flames along with a new milking machine. No farm machinery or stock was lost.

The loss will run into several thousands, part of which is covered by insurance.

American Car Hits Big London Truck

No Horses Drink At $25,000 Troughs

ROSLYN, L. I., Oct. 7. — Probably the only public drinking trough for horses which has been established on Long Island in many years, recently has been completed in Roslyn Memorial Park and so far, according to those who live in the vicinity, no horse has been led there to drink.

The will of Benjamin D. Hicks, president of the Bowery Savings Bank in New York, and of his widow, Alice M. Hicks, gave $25,000 to erect horse troughs on Long Island highways.

Mr. Hicks was a friend of Henry Berg, founder of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and in the day of the two men, thirsty horses frequented the thoroughfares of Roslyn.

LONDON, Oct. 7. — (AP) — Sir Thomas Lipton left £80,000 sterling, to the poor mothers and children of Glasgow, his native town, it was revealed today when the will was read. It is estimated that the total estate will exceed £1,000,000 ($3,885,000.

The Lipton country home at Ossidge is to be reserved as a home for nurses with an endowment of £20,000 (more than $75,000.)

After payment of legacies to friends, employees and servants, the remainder of the estate is to be divided among hospitals and charitable institutions in Glasgow, the town of Cambuslang, five miles from Glasgow, London and Middlesex.

Charitable bequests will consume most of the estate, for it is estimated that they will total more than £1,000,000.

Three Occupants of Automobile Almost Instantly Killed.

FOURTH MAY DIE.

Skidded Into Truck's Path After Trying to Pass Another.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Oct. 7. (CP) David Slaven and H. Behrenson of Omaha Nebraska, and a third person, whose identity had not been established early this afternoon, were killed when the motor car Behrenson was driving skidded and crashed practically head-on into a large transport truck on the Hamilton highway east of here to-day.

There were five occupants of the Nebraska car. Two were killed instantly and the third died of his injuries shortly afterwards. The two survivors are in hospital and one of them is in a critical condition.

Skidded "Cutting In"

According to the authorities, the Nebraska car was travelling about 45 miles an hour when the driver seeing the transport truck approaching, cut in behind a motor-car driven by Leo Haley of Brantford. The Nebraska car, however, skidded, struck the rear of Haley's car and rebounded to the other side of the road where it was struck by the approaching truck driven by David Law of Toronto, despite Law's efforts to make room for it. The heavy truck practically demolished the motorcar.

An ambulance was shortly on the scene from Brantford but two of the Nebraska car's occupants were dead and the third died shortly after its arrival. One of those taken to hospital was a two-year-old boy who said he came from Brantford.

The driver of the truck going west was Clark Cookman, Toronto, his mechanic being Cecil Thorne, Toronto.

David Law, Toronto was the driver of the truck going east into which the Nebraska car careened with such fatal results.

Local police are still endeavoring to clear up the identity of the other three occupants of the Nebraska car. The scene of the accident was near the White Swann Inn, about ten miles east of here, where a number of fatal accidents have happened.

First Suggested By Canadian

President Hoover's announcement of a new credit structure to put idle capital at work for economic recovery is regarded as one of the most important developments since the financial crisis gripped the world.

Briefly Mr. Hoover proposes the creation of a $500,000,000 corporation to be known as the emergency credit corporation, authorized to lend at discretion to any financial institution.

It is a matter of some interest to know that the course the United States intends to follow was suggested almost a year ago by a well-known Canadian, T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company who in an interview appearing in the Wall Street Journal outlined a policy practically identical with that now announced by Mr. Hoover.

Pointing out that the world was suffering from excessive deflation, Mr. Macaulay argued that what was required was to increase the nation's banking resources.

"The gradual purchase by the Federal Reserve Bank of even $500,000,000 bonds would have a beneficial influence vastly greater than would appear at first," said the Sun Life President. "A prominent banker recently outlined to me what would happen. Whether bought from the banks or from others, these purchases would add that amount to the currency or cash reserves carried by the commercial banks on the books of the central bank and these deposits are the equivalent of circulation and at any time can be converted into actual outstanding circulation. This would increase the lending capacity of the commercial banks not by $500,000,000 alone but by several billions. The first result of this expansion would be heavy purchasing of high grade bonds by the banks themselves. The bond market would steadily improve and besides re-establishing American business conditions it would then become possible again for foreign countries to finance their requirements in the United States. This would increase the purchasing power of the entire world and to the extent that purchases were made in America would be further helpful to American industry."

BRITAIN PLUNGES IN CAMPAIGN WITH MOST CONFUSED LINE-UP OF ISSUES IN OVER GENERATION

Govt's Aim to Avoid Conflict Between Supporters be Seen Nomination Day.

BALDWIN OPENS FRAY.

Labor Party Finds Way Paved for Introduction of More Socialistic Aims

LONDON, Oct. 7. (C. and A.P. Cable).—Great Britain plunged into a turbulent general election campaign to-day with the most confused line-up of issues and candidates in a generation.

Nominations on Oct. 16 will reveal the success or failure of the the National Government's desire to avoid conflict between different parties who are supporting it.

The polling on Oct. 27 will determine the fate of a Government led by a Labor Prime Minister without a party, supported by a temporary coalition of Conservatives and Liberals thrown together by emergency, backed up by a handful of "right wingers" of the old Labor party.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will seek re-election in his present constituency, Seaham, Durham where the local Labor party has already rejected him. His platform will be the seeking of a free hand to deal with the nation's problems. The Conservative and Liberal leaders will issue their own manifestos, within the general terms of the Prime Ministers' appeal to be made this evening.

Baldwin to Open Fray

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, received a vote of confidence from his followers last night. He will be the first of the Government big guns to campaign, going to Birmingham on Friday.

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, the veteran Liberal chieftain, continues his opposition to the election. But he sees his party slowly drifting away from his control. Liberal leadership for the moment anyway is divided between Sir Herbert Samuel, leading the Government faction, and Sir John Simon who has rallied 22 Liberal members of Parliament in support of the Prime Minister.

But the Labor Party finds itself more solidly united than for a long time. The elimination of such leaders as Mr MacDonald, Rt Hon Philip Snowden, and Rt. Hon J. T. Thomas paved the way for the adoption of more Socialistic aims than formerly. Labor will fight the National Government, and fight it bitterly, on a platform calling for public control of banking and industries, and land, ancellation of war debts, reduction in armaments, and reversal of the Government's economy cut proposals.

The National Government's platform remains rather vague as to detail. The nation awaits the speech by Mr. MacDonald to-night. And the chief eagerness is to see what exact position the tariff plank will occupy in the Government platform.

"A Mad Election"

The Liberal Manchester Guardian agrees with Mr. Lloyd George in denouncing an election at this time. While the party machines were working overtime and observers were estimating the election would cost $10,000,000, The Guardian called it "An extravaganza of an election —a mad election."

"The National Government sounded well," The Manchester Guardian said. "The title 'National' implied the arrogant assumption the Labor Party were somehow outside the pale and were anti-national. To speak or think of this same government being national when it has just advertised to all the world its complete inability to agree even upon a face-saving formula, is to misuse the language.

"The election is simply a device to enable the Tories to tie the country to a permanent system of high tariffs." The Manchester Guardian concluded ruefully with the reflection that had the Liberal Party kept its independence when the Labor Government was in power it could have played a very useful part in the stormy days that were to come. "But it is to be feared that its position will soon be found to have been compromised by its being an integral part of a predominantly-Tory coalition," The Guardian added.

The Daily News, the only other prominent newspaper that is definitely Liberal, is less despondent for Liberalism. It splashes a declaration that five million Liberals—the popular Liberal vote in 1929 was 5,301,000—hold the key to the situation. "In the new Parliament the Liberals should be in sufficient strength to safeguard the nation from dangerous extremism, either of the right or the left," The Daily News said.

HEAD OF SPAIN WOULD RESIGN

Party Leaders Persuade Zamora to Return to Office for Short Time.

TROUBLES DIVIDE CABINET.

MADRID Oct. 7. —(AP)— Niceto Alcala Zamora's attempt to resign was regarded as presaging the most critical period for the provisional government in view of impending debate over religious clauses in the constitution.

He submitted his resignation to the National Assembly last night on the grounds that he lacked the confidence of Socialist and Radical Socialis deputies, but withdrew it when party leaders prevailed on him to remain until the constitution was further advanced.

"I wish to resign," he said, his face white and trembling, "but the difficult, of forming a new government now makes it imperative for me to continue indefinitely. However, the hour has arrived when you gentlemen must begin to think of my successor."

The cabinet was said to be sorely divided on the question of religious freedom, family-life and education all of which are included in the scope of the projected constitution and the President is said to have lost prestige among his colleagues He has been in office since the foundation of the republic but his retirement has frequently been predicted in favor of Foreign Minister Allejandro Lerroux.

Half Billion Fund To Promote Buying

Congressional Leaders Approve Principle of Hoover Relief Program.

FEAR UNWARRANTED.

Scheme to Make Resources of Country Available and Fluid.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 7 (A.P.) — A momentous six-point program for marshalling the nation's latent buying power into commercial channels to-day was laid before the people with the unified endorsement of President Hoover and political captains.

It included liberalization of the Government's own rediscount restrictions to permit acceptance of certain classes of industrial securities now ineligible; creation of a $500,000,000 corporation by private bankers to handle the "frozen paper" of insolvent banks and supply some cash soon to hard-pressed depositors; and expansion of the Federal land bank system to provide more adequate credit accommodations for agriculture.

Placed before a colorful bi-partisan conference of Congressional leaders last night at the White House, the administration's domestic plan won their support in principle. While Congressional action will be required eventually to carry the program to completion, no special session is contemplated.

Discuss Moratorium

The President failed, however, to gain sanction for him to discuss with Premier Laval of France, on the latter's visit to Washington this month, extension beyond next June of the inter-Governmental debt moratorium. In one of the flurries of opposition which gave the chief executive an insight into Congression floor debate, he was told that any discussions of this kind with the French Premier would be on his own responsibility.

Full support of the people for the program was asked by Mr. Hoover.

In making public after midnight the proposals which had brought the Democratic and Republican leaders hurrying from all parts of the country, he said "foolish alarm" was delaying the return of better times.

Unjustified Fears.

"The prolongation of the depression by the succession of events in Europe," he said, "affecting as they have both commodity and security prices, has produced in some localities in the United States an apprehension wholly unjustified in view of the thousand-fold resources which we have for meeting any demand.

"Foolish alarm in these sections has been accomplished by wholly unjustifiable withdrawal of currency from the banks.

"There is no justification for any such situation in view of the strength of our banking system, and the strong position of our Federal Reserve system.

"Our difficulty is a diffusion of resources and the primary need is to mobilize them in such a way as to restore in a number of localities the confidence of the banker in his ability to continue normal business and to dispel any conceivable doubt in the mind of those who do business with him."

O.A.C. STUDENTS DISLIKE RULES

Claim at Indignation Meeting College Functions, Dances Are Cut Down.

PROTEST TO PRINCIPAL.

GUELPH, Oct. 7.—Chafing under restrictions imposed upon them by the college authorities, the Ontario Agricultural College and Macdonald Institute student bodies held indignation meetings last night in protest against what they term the unfair treatment accorded them. There has been considerable dissatisfaction among the O.A.C. students, whose social activities have been greatly curtailed as the result of an edict confining college functions to one night, Friday, in place of two nights a week, and limiting the number of dances.

At a mass meeting of the male students, which was attended by all years except the freshmen, a conference was held with the Students' Council, who will, at the representation of the students, place before Dr. George I. Christie, President of the O.A.C., a request that they be permitted the same privileges as last year.

Under present regulations, which have prevailed since Oct. 1, the O.A.C. boys are not permitted to attend social functions with the girls of Macdonald Institute, with the exception of Friday nights, and these functions must be held at the college. The regulations as they affect the girls are even more drastic. They are not allowed out of residence after 8 o'clock, with the one exception, Friday night.

While no restrictions have been placed on the movements of O.A.C. students, so far as leaving residence at night is concerned, they are incensed over the fact that the new regulations pertaining to the girls indirectly affect them.

Four coaching classes held the latter part of August in various parts of the county, as wellas publicity given this competition by the Department of Agriculture, Port Hope, no doubt, accounts for this most gratifying list of entries.

LIQUOR POLICY HEAVILY SCORED

W.C.T.U. Head Claims $200,000,000 Spent in Year, $20,000,000 Voted for Relief.

SEEKS TOTAL ABSTINENCE

SUTTON, Que., Oct. 7.—(C. P.)—In a year in which it was necessary to vote twenty million dollars for relief of unemployment, the people of Canada spent two hundred million dollars for liquor, Mrs. Henry Wilson, Athelstan, Que., President of the Quebec Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union stated last night. She addressed the 47th annual convention of the organization here.

The aim of the union was reaffirmed by the President as total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state. Prohibition had never made any country bankrupt, Mrs. Wilson said. The less money spent on drink the more there would be for the necessities of life.

Government control had not solved the liquor problem, Mrs. Wilson said. It had served to increase drinking and had multiplied distilleries and breweries, she charged. Science could find no place for the moderate drinker but declared the habit to be harmful, the president stated. The great work of the union was in the education of the young.

At the opening of the convention the delegates stood in silence for two minutes in memory of two leaders who died during the past year, Mrs. Gordon Wright, Ottawa and Mrs. Louise McKinney, Claresholm, Alta.

STRIKE TENSION SNAPS IN WEST MINERS RETURN

Work Starts Thursday Under Temporary Agreement Drawn Up.

4 WEEKS' CONTEST.

Operators and Employees Draw Up Series of Eight Concessions.

ESTEVAN, Sask., October 7. — The strike tension which has held the South-east Saskatchewan coalfields locked in its grip for four weeks snapped yesterday afternoon, as mine operators and their employees struck a temporary agreement whereby the men will return to work on Thursday morning.

Several of the grievances aired during the initial session on Monday of the Royal Commission inquiry into the situation are covered by concessions in the terms of the truce, which follow:

"We, the mine operators and employees, in conference at the Court House, Estevan, this sixth day of October, 1931, hereby agree that the mines be opened immediately and the men return to work on the following conditions, viz.:

"1—That this be considered a temporary arrangement pending the findings of the Wylie Royal Commission and the possible drafting of a working agreement between the operators and the men

"2—That committees of employees for each mine be a recognized organization in each mine.

"3—That the provisions of the Mines Act be observed in relation to check-weighers.

"4—That all water in the roadways and working face be removed by the company and that such places be kept as dry as possible.

"5—That the terms of any schedule or agreement finally reached between the operators and the men be made retroactive to the date of recommencement of work by them.

"6—That there shall be no victimization or discrimination against men on account of the strike particularly in reference to men on the payrolls as at September 7 last.

"7—That contract men be employed on an eight-hour basis, face to face, and the company men work nine hours a day.

"8—That because of working conditions in the various mines, the removal of slack and questions of overweight be left to negotiations between the operators and the committees of employees."

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES HELD AT WEST HUNTINGDON CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Seymour of Belleville Delivers Splendid Sermons.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

STIRLING, Oct. 7.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Rev. Dr. Seymour of Belleville was the presiding minister at West Huntingdon for their anniversary services. In the evening he spoke from Luke 14-23, the parable wherein although guests were invited to the feast they would not come.

This was compared to the position of the church at the present day. In fact this interesting parable has stronge modern applications.

In all lands the churches are ready from the modest building to the beautiful architecture of the cathedral.

"The church is ready with its feast of inspiration. It is beautiful and majestic, wonderfully equipped with every attachment of spiritual need.

"In years gone by a minister made his pulpit his throne. We had men such as Parker, White, Beecher and Spurgeon.

"Some would suggest that we interpret the gospel in terms of this modern age. One reason that church attendance is poor is that church members do not realize their moral and spiritual responsibility. We have left our church too much to laws and reforms. History teems with illustrations of this Egypt depended on her laws. Israel's mode of government depended on the will of God. Israel has lived. Only as we live as Israel shall we have good citizenship."

St. Andrew's choir, of Stirling, furnished the music in the evening. An anthem was given "Now the Day is Over" and a solo by Arthur Duncan, "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

Springbrook W.I.

Misses McComb and Webb Give Reports of Trip to Ottawa and Toronto Fairs.

SPRINGBROOK, Oct. 7—(Examiner Correspondence).—The September meeting of the Springbrook W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. John McKeown with an attendance of over thirty members and several visitors present.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "O Canada" and the "Opening Ode" followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The roll call "If you could have just one more labor saving device what would it be? And why?" was well responded to and caused some amusement.

The business part of the program was then discussed. The report of the school fair booth receipts was given, showing a balance of $22, after expenses were paid which was considered very good. It was decided to purchase lumber for the school fair booth. This was moved by Mrs. J. F. Baker and seconded by Mrs. George Bailey. It was moved by Mrs Bristol and seconded by Mrs. M Neal that Mrs William Stiles be appointed to go as delegate to the Belleville convention in November.

A donation of two dollars was voted to Kathleen McComb, she being one of the girls on the Hastings County judging team at the C.N.E. competition.

Miss McComb then gave a report of her trip to Toronto.

Nellie Webb gave a report of her trip to the Ottawa judging competition.

Community singing was then enjoyed by all, the selection chosen being "Love's Old Sweet Song."

An interesting demonstration of a fireless cooker was put on by Mrs. J. F. Baker.

This was followed by a paper on "The Hows and Whys of Cooking," which was very ably given by Mrs. George Eastwood.

Another interesting paper which could not be given at a previous meeting on "Rose Culture" was given by Mrs. J. B. Baker, which was certainly very educational. A menu contest was put on by Mrs. George Eastwood. Suitable prizes being awarded the winners.

Some more community singing was entered into by all followed by the National Anthem.

A tasty lunch was then served by the hostess and a social half hour enjoyed, bringing a very interesting meeting to a close.

Missionary Talk

Dr. Koffman Explains Conditions in West at Session in Cavan.

CAVAN, Oct. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Monday evening in Cavan United Church Dr. Koffman, missionary from Saskatchewan gave a very interesting talk on home missions and the condition prevailing in the West.

Dr. Koffman who is a Hungarian by birth and speaks several languages is a very pleasing speaker. His talk was particularly appreciated as just now all church societies are working on bales of clothing to send to the stricken area in the West. It was very interesting to have the need explained by one so very familiar with the country.

The ladies served supper and the information given by Dr. Koffman, informally, at the tea hour was much enjoyed.

During his stay in Cavan, he was a guest at the parsonage of the Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Witham, going from there to Fraserville to speak on Tuesday evening.

Seymour Councillors Approve Of Grant

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — A grant of fifteen dollars was given to the Seymour Trustees and Ratepayers' Association by the Seymour Township Council, at their regular meeting yesterday, after H. B. Wood had addressed the meeting requesting this assistance. The money will be applied to the oratorical contest staged in the township this fall and which last year proved a very satisfactory event.

The council which was presided over by Reeve R. Innes, had a light session. A request by A. Scea to have the weeds and brush cleared on the Belmont boundary was referred to the Roads Superintendent for action, who also was asked to look into the matter of grading which was needed near the properties of Messrs. McAdams and McConnell.

The school report was preesnted by G. W. Anderson, and the accounts amounting to $2,132.02 were presented and passed.

RUPERT GLIDDON IS RE-ENGAGED

Will Conduct Lindsay Citizens' Band for Another Year.

(Special to Examiner).

LINDSAY, October 7. — At last Monday night's meeting of the town council a resolution was adopted re-engaging Professor Rupert Gliddon as bandmaster of the Citizens' Band for another year. Reeve James Begg and Alderman Pogue, who opposed the motion, claimed that the council had no right to engage a leader who was not a resident of Lindsay.

The death occurred at the Ross Hospital on Monday night of John Dixon, a well known local fur dealer. The deceased who was widely known throughout the district was admitted to the hospital a few days ago, and his death came as a shock to his friends.

The funeral took place on Monday morning of an old resident of Ops township in the person of Jas. O'Connell. The deceased was a relative of the late "King O'Connell, the first resident of Ops Township, coming up from Peterborough with the remnant of the Robinson emigration in 1836.

Only married men and single men with dependants, will be engaged on local unemployment relief activities. This was the decision reached by the council at their last meeting. Three days' employment a week will be given.

PUT INDUSTRIES ON QUOTA BASIS

British Cotton Spinners See Moral in Sugar and Tin.

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 7.—The sugar and tin industries have pointed a moral for Britain's unhealthy cotton industry, in the opinion of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Association.

In a plan for reorganizing the industry the federation proposes to ration out the actual production, as the demand occurs, among the 57,000,000 spindles according to definitely allotted quotas. These quotas would be fixed by a governing council.

Registered mill owners spinning more than their allotted amount would be required to pay fines of a shilling (24 cents) per 1,000 spindle hours run in excess. Owners spinning less than quota would be paid seven pence (14 cents) perr 1,000 spindle hours under quota.

The committee which proposed the plan found that "there is abundant evidence all over the world that producers are being compelled by economic considerations, if for no other reasons, to adopt measures, whether by means of legislation or otherwise, for the control of production and competition."

They cited the coal industry, the sugar pact, and the tin agreement, among others.

SPLENDID CAUSE NEEDS YOUR AID

Calls Grow More Numerous Daily on Health Association Nurse.

GIVE GENEROUSLY

Riches do not count where the lives of little children are at stake. The mother bending over the wash tub feels the loss of her little one just as keenly, sorrows just as sincerely as any more wealthy mother who too mourns the loss of her little child. In the latter case the pain may not even be as poignant, because the mother knows that everything medical science and nourishing food could do to save the little life was done. The mother in poorer circumstances might think with a bitter feeling and a sharper pang, that her little one might still be with her if she could have afforded to give it some of the things that were lacking.

It is in the more humble homes that the Health Association does its work, it is there that it ministers to the sick and suffering. It is in such homes that the mother with tears in her eyes implores the nurse to not let her little one be taken away. Many a little form tosses restlessly upon a narrow bed, many a little a face drawn with suffering is turned anxiously toward the door, waiting the arrival of the nurse whose coming means so much. To whom could they turn or what would they do if it were not for this nurse whose visit is the one ray of sunshine throughout the entire day.

The calls are becoming more and more frequent, from now on they will increase rather than grow less. The work goes on week after week throughout the winter. It must not cease through lack of funds. Please send your contributions to The Examiner or the Bank of Toronto.

notify the principal of the school affected." The principal shall then notify the nurse concerned.

No Physical Examination

Third. That this Board agrees with its School Medical Officer that a complete physical examination (as defined by the regulations of the Education Department) of all pupils is not practical, but in the case of a child having a serious defect, this Board would recommend that steps be taken by the School Medical Staff to invite one of the parents of such child to be present at a careful physical examination given it, and in any case, that the parents be notified in writing of the defects discovered, and that follow-up steps be taken to ensure correction of the defects.

Fourth. That the recomendation of Dr. Phair regarding the use of the standard record form (A.D.P. card) be complied with an that the use of a second form be discontinued.

The following is Dr. Phair's reccommendation: "In reference to the use of the physical record form which I understood was to be discarded in favour of the standard record card, I might say that, if the Department grant is to be continued, only the recognized form shall be used. Arrangements should immediately be made for the transfer of any information contained on the previously used forms and their prompt discontinuance."

Fifth. That other suggestions and recommendations made to Dr. Phair be given careful consideration by the School Medical Staff, and that a copy of this report be forwarded to Dr. McPherson and Mr. Mowat, Public School Inspector."

Your supervision committee beg to report and recommend that the request of the "Brownie Pak" (Junior section of the Canadian Girl Guide Association) for the use of a room in the Central school for the purpose of holding their meetings, be not granted.

Regarding the accounts of Dr. McPherson for medical attention to two of the pupils of the Collegiate and Vocational School, which were referred back to this committee, we beg to report that after investigating these cases we find that every precaution was taken by the instructors for the protection of the students and the committee is therefore of the opinion that the Board is in no way responsible, and recommend that no action be taken.

The following report submitted by chairman of the committee, I. P. McNabb, was also adopted.

Teacher Appointed

Your committee on appointments beg to report and recommend that Miss Jean Russell of Bailleboro, be appointed to the staff of the Academic Department of the Collegiate and Vocational School, at an initial salary of $2,000.00 with increase according to schedule and duties to commence 1st October, 1931.

A request made by E. F. Reid on behalf of All Saints' Church Athletic Club for the use of a room at South Central School for four to six weeks, while the Parish Hall was undergoing repairs, was sanctioned by the Board on the motion of Dr. J. J. Craig.

A report on the Playgrounds was received from J. Abraham, which drew forth the observation from E. F. Reid that the expenditure on playgrounds was not warranted in view of the attendance. Inspector Mowat also spoke on the question and said that he had noticed a decline in attendance over the past three years at the supervised playgrounds.

The report was received and Mr. Abraham is to be asked by the secretary if he has any suggestions to offer for increasing attendance in future years.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES SHAW ARE FIFTY YEARS MARRIED TO-DAY

Campbellford Couple Will Celebrate Their Wedding Anniversary at Home To-day.

MARRIED IN WARKWORTH.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 7.—Today Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding at their home in Campbellford and to mark the occasion will be at home this afternoon to family, relatives and friends who will take the opportunity of showering good wishes upon two of the towns most respected citizens.

Although advanced in years, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw carry their age lightly. Keen of intellect and still possessing their faculties they face the future with a smile and the wisdom of the past which is sometimes lacking in the present generation.

James Shaw was born in East Lothian, Scotland on Dec. 14, 1853, coming to Canada in 1857 and to Seymour and district in 1879, having resided near and in Campbellford ever since.

His wife, who was Margaret Cochrane, was born in Seymour township on Feb. 10, 1855 on the farm now owned by Chas. Craighead in Seymour West. She has lived all her life in the township.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were married on October 7, 1881 at Warkworth by the Rev. D. Sutherland. Of their union, which has been a happy one, there are five sons and three daughters. The girls are: Mrs. Bessie Jones, Mrs. Wilbert Reid and Mrs. Walter Blake, all of Campbellford and the sons are, William Charles and Harold of Campbellford, George of Tweed and Jack of Cardina.

District Churches

WARSAW UNITED CHURCH.

WARSAW, Oct. 6.—(Examiner Corespondence).—Rev. Mr. Archer of Lakefield Regent Street United Church conducted the Warsaw United Church services on Sunday morning and evening. The morning prayer was one of thanksgiving The text was from Hebrews III. verse 4: "For every house is builded by some man, but He that built all things is God."

He spoke of having heard a minister describe many beautiful places, and say: "God did not reserve that for His own home."—but He did reserve man's heart. "God has shown wonderful love in preparing the world for men, but we have not thought enough about Him. The highways are thronged with people, but are they going to church? Do the majority ever think to thank God for safe transit? Do we thank God as we should."

He spoke of Dr. Kajawa's work and asked how many had been studying the kingdom of God movement.

"We are to build character, and remember a building presupposes and architect, and God must be an architect, if character is to be pure, holy and true."

The choir gave "Praise Ye the Lord" and the male voice quartette "Holy, Holy, Holy."

The church was decorated with plants and flowers.

In the evening the choir rendered the anthems, "It Is A Good Thing To Give Thanks," and "Rock of Ages." Mr. Henry Batten sang "Open the Gates of the Temple." Rev. Mr. Archer's text was from John ,xiii., verse 32.

"And I, if lifted up will draw all men unto me." He gave illustrations, well known of the power of gravitation, attraction, Jesus lifted on the cross draws humanity. People are drawn to the house of God, as the magnet to the pole. Lives of the great men of the Bible, all point to God. Lives of great men of history point Godward. As there was life for a look at the serpent of brass which Moses lifted up in the wilderness, so there is life for a look at Jesus, but there must be the look, and the look must not fail. There is no other name. The substance of the sermon seemed to be a strong appeal to look to Jesus, live in Him, work for Him.

AT CENTRETON CHURCH

CENTRETON, Oct. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The anniversary services of Centreton United Church were held on Sunday, with large congregations at both services.

The altar was beautifully decorated with many autumn flowers.

The congregation listened with rapt attention to the splendid sermons given by Rev. J. N. Lovelace. The Merpal Quartette, of Toronto, gave two numbers and Mrs. Warner and Miss Smith of Toronto sang a duet at the morning service, the local choir assisting in the singing of the hymns.

At the evening service the Merpal Quartette sang the beautiful hymns, "Nearer My God To Thee" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Mrs. Warner sang a solo, "Have You Counted the Cost."

GIVE BOYS GOLD IS CHIEF'S VIEW

Mining Association Serves Notice of Intention to Claim "Find."

QUOTES GOV'T RULING.

WINDSOR, Oct. 7.—Four boys who found a hidden cache of gold in the woods near Sandwich last week will receive full benefit of their 'strike" if Chief Proctor of the Sandwic. Police Force has his way. The value of the gold has been placed at about $4,000, and it is believed to have been stolen from the mill of some mine in Northern Ontario. Today the Chief received a letter from G. C. Bateman, Secretary of the Ontario Mining Association, indicated he would claim the gold. He declared that, under an arrangement with the Government, unidentified gold seized by the police was to be turned over to that body. Chief Proctor, however, declares he must have a more definite ruling than that to deprive the boys of their "find," adding that he has not yet established the point that the gold was mined in Canada.

C. W. L. ANNUAL CONVENTION AT CAMPBELLFORD

National President Mrs. MacIntyre Delivers Splendid Address to Delegates.

REPORTS READ.

Increased Membership and Expansion of Mission Work in West Seen in Review

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 7. — (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The annual convention of the Peterborough Diocesan subdivision, Catholic Woman's League was held at Campbellford yesterday when delegates from all parts of the Peterborough Diocese were present to render the yearly reports, elect officers and listen to inspiring addresses given by the National President, Mrs. W. J. MacIntyre of Charlottetown, P.E.I. The president, Mrs. Bruce Law of Peterborough occupied the chair.

The diocesan officers elected for the current year were as follows: President, Mrs. G. O'Sullivan, Campbellford; 1st vice-president, Miss D. Piggott, Downeyville; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. Walsh, Norwood; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. J. J. Walsh, Lindsay; treasurer, Mrs Meta Fitzsimmons, Lindsay; recording secretary, Miss N. Shevlin, Peterborough; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. A. Walsh, Hastings; delegate to the National Convention at Victoria B.C. in June, 1932 Mr. G. O'Sullivan, alternate, Mrs. M. Henry, Peterborough.

The session opened with a Convention Mass in St. Mary's Church at which the pastor, Rev. Father C. J. Phelan was the celebrant His Excellency Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough was the guest speaker delivering a splendid sermon, stressing the social side of the Christian life. The convention was called to order after service with prayer and an address of welcome by Father Phelan and greetings from Miss M. Anderson, president of the Campbellford subdivision, D. J. Lynch representing the Campbellford Board of Education and Mr. G. O'Sullivan for the C.M.B.A.

Mrs. Bruce Law, Peterborough Diocesan President gave the presidential address and Mrs. Owen Hoey, M.A., of Campbellford spoke on "Our Boys and Girls." The following reports were also received: Diocesan corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. J. Spratt, Lindsay; diocesan treasurer, Mrs. M. Fitzsimmons, Lindsay; diocesan recording secretary, Miss E. Kennedy, Lakefield. An election committee was also appointed.

Luncheon Speakers

At noon a delightful luncheon was served in the St. Lawrence hotel at which the guest speakers were the Rev. Father P. J. Kelly of London and the National President, Mrs. MacIntyre. Community singing was also enjoyed and a reading was given by Mrs. James Black.

In the afternoon the convention opened with the report of the National Convention held at Charlottetown, P. E. I., given by Mrs. Bruce Law. In this she drew attention to the high ideal which were making the Catholic Woman's League a power and influence in Canada. Quoting from His Excellence Bishop O'Sullivan she stated that he had appealed for more obedience to God and the State, to the church and Canada. The guiding principles in the life of the C. W. L. she said was the high ideal which was being maintained and this was being exemplified especially in the social program being carried out by the League.

During the past year Mrs. Law stated that the League had raised $224,500.15, only three per cent of which had been used by the National Convention, the remainder being left for the parish work.

"The foundation of the world, the speaker said, was laid in the hearts of the mothers," who stressed the importance of the early years of the children's lives. The two great works of the C. W. L. she declared were the scholarships and the Sisters of Service, the latter organization being formed for social service work at the Canadian ports of entry and among the settlers on the prairies.

Essay Winners

Speaking on the report of the Ontario Committee which had voiced its opinion regarding the unfair distribution of school taxes, Mrs. Law distributed prizes from the Peterborough Diocese to the seven winners of the essay contest, these being: Miss Helen Birk, Peterborough; Miss O. Donoghue, Miss Louise Hickey, Peterborough; Miss L. Spratt, Lindsay; Miss Catherine Colman, Cobourg; Bernard McCarthy, Hastings and Miss Margaret Corkery, Peterborough.

The following reports were given: Organization and membership, Miss D. Piggott; education, Mrs. G. O'Sullivan; social service, Mrs. J. J. Walsh; Sisters of Service, Mrs. T. A. Walsh; magazine, Miss M. R. Baker; child welfare, Mrs. Crough; juniors, Miss N. Chevlin; Girl Guides, Mrs. T. J. Spratt.

Guest Speaker.

"We are organized to help only the church and so our country," declared the National President, Mrs. MacIntyre, in addressing the convention on the work of the League from the national standpoint emphasizing the fact that the work in the sub-divisions should be carried on directly under the supervision of the parish priest, declaring that she wanted all to understand that. "We are the only nationally organized Catholic women in Canada to-day serving under a charter, and it was always to be remembered that the first principle was obedience. When this was accomplished then the work could spread and help could be given to Catholics in other parts of the country where it was urgently needed. The Catholic Church," the speaker said, "was struggling to hold its own aganst the missionary efforts of others who were serving where there was no Catholic supervision. To help the church in this matter the Sisters of Service had been organized to assist with the work at the ports and on the Prairie where efforts were being made, not so much to influence the grown-ups as the children. When the Holy Father had been assured that the Catholic women of Canada would support this work he had sanctioned it.

"This work," said Mrs. MacIntyre, "cost the C.W.L. from three to five thousand dollars a year to support the convent in Toronto where the sisters are trained for service. Hostels were established in every large centre in Canada where Catholic immigrants were looked after, and which had become community centres for many Catholic girls. This work was prospering, but the work of following up after entry into Canada was a difficult one, and the sisterhood had now followed the lead of the Anglican Church and established social service vans which would be homes for the sisters while working in the scattered and isolated communities of the West.

"His holiness the Pope had issued an appeal to the Catholics of the world," th espeaker said, "to be more charitable and to help, assist, and provide for others in this period of depression, pointing out that the Holy Father had asked in the name of Almighty God to help the desperate and poor children and the unemployed, and declared, "surely we will answer this call as we did the call to help during the stress of the Great War."

Educational Question

Referring to the educational question the speaker stated "We vow and pledge ourselves to help the church in its educational program wherever the C. W. L. exists," stressing the fact that it was a duty to support their schools and convents even in the face of provincial legislation which was regarded unfair. She also praised the work of the juniors saying that she would like to see the organization in every parish.

Of the National finances Mrs. McIntyre declared they were in good shape saving that the budget system would be continued and asking for support, especially with the scholarships, four girls at the present time being educated at college at a cost of $2000 a year.

Reports from the delegates from the subdivisions were as follows: Downeyville Mrs. G. O'Donnell; Ennismore, Mrs. Ed. Donoghue; Hastings, Mrs. T. A. Walsh, who stressed the fact that for the past seven years that league had sent bails of clothing to the west; Peterborough, Mrs. Gus White, who featured the fact that membership at that place had increased by 420 during the past year; Lakefield Mrs. J. Sabitino; Lindsay, Miss Trainer.

Mrs. Chas. Black reported for the Campbellford league giving the membership at 92. There had been 75 sick calls made she stated and at all meetings the educational side of the work had been stressed. Seven euchre parties and one euchre and bridge had been staged which had netted $237.15. There was a balance on hand of $72.52. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the presentation to Mrs. Bruce Law for the past two years Diocesan president of a token of esteem from the convention, this being made by Mrs. G. O'Sullivan of Campbellford. Miss H. Lynch of Belleville, past president of the Kingston Diocese, also briefly addressed the meeting.

The Campbellford subdivision hostesses were: President, Miss M. Anderson; past president, Mrs. G. O'Sullivan; 1st. vice-president, Mrs. Duncan Kerr; 2nd vice-president Mrs. Frank Lee; 3rd vice-president Mrs. R. Dunlay; recording secretary, Mrs. Chas. Black; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Vincent Farrell; treasurer, Miss Gertrude Callaghan; councillors, Mrs. E. Brunelle, Mrs. J. Black Mrs. R. Cooke, Jr., Mrs. N. O'Keefe, Miss M. Gorham and Miss A. Gurry.

Interjected into the business sessions Miss Marie Crosson sang a delightful olo and Mrs. J. Black gave a humorous reading.

800 ENCAMPED READY TO WORK

Many Discover First Day on Pick and Shovel Not Too Pleasant.

SEEK BLISTER REMEDIES.

DEUX RIVIERES, Oct. 7.—Eight hundred men, more than half of whom are from Southern Ontario, were encamped last night in various newly constructed villages of their own along the east division of the trans-Canada highway. For most, yesterday was the first labor they had indulged in for many a month, and last night there was a regular procession from the cabins to the superintendent's office, men looking for medical remedies for blisters, sore backs and aching joints. In almost every case, however, they were disappointed, for a yet the medical kits have not arrived. With philosophical calm the tired workers returned to their cabins, did what they could for relief wit hot water and turned in The medical kits are expected any day now, however. Tonight Rev. Charles Reid of Mattawa intends to hold a service in the Little Log Church here. The building, over forty years old, holds only fifty-odd persons, and it is expected to be filled with road workers.

GOOD PROGRAM AT MUSIC CLUB

Joyce Hornyansky and Mary Endicott Manning Are Pleasing Artists.

IN CONSERVATORY HALL.

The Women's Music Club met for the first time this season on Friday afternoon in the studio rooms of the Conservatory of Music when the artist was Joyce Hornyansky, of Toronto 'cellist, with Mary Endicott Manning at the piano.

For those who were fortunate enough to be present, Madame Hornyansky gave a program of sheer beauty and exquisite musical understanding, while those who were absent missed hearing one of the most outstanding artists who have visited Peterborough in a long time.

Striking in appearance, Madame Hornyansky played with a large and lustrous tone and proved herself to be an outstanding 'cellist, each interpretation being remarkable through her deep feeling, very clear musical phrasing and her artistic quality of intonation.

Mrs. Manning at the piano proved herself a finished and sympathetic accompanist throughout the program.

Madame Hornyansky's numbers included Sonata in G Minor for 'Cello and Piano—Handel, and the First Movement from Sonata in A Minor—Greig.

CASE SETTLED AFTER 39 YEARS

Illegal Seizure of Steamer by U. S. Cutter Nets Claimants $59,000.

INTEREST TOTALS $11,000.

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 7. (CP)—Litigation, covering a period of 39 years, was concluded in the Exchequer Court of Canada here yesterday when Mr. Justice A. K. MacLean, P.C. K.C., approved of an order to pay out of court the sum of $59,000 to claimants over the seizure of the steamer "Coquitlam" in the North Pacific waters in 1892.

The case of the "Coquitlam" has been the subject of numerous courts actions in Canada and the United States. Only two of the original claimants are living. Early in June of 1892, the steamer Coquitlam," owned by the Union Steamship Company, was chartered by Victoria interests to meet the sealing fleet in the Bering Sea and there take over the seal skins and provide the fleet with supplies to carry on their work for the balance of the season. On June 22, 1892, the Coquitlam was seized near the Aleutian Islands by the United States cutter Corbin for an alleged infraction of American customs regulations.

In the circuit court of San Francisco the act of seizure was declared illegal and in 1913 agents of the British Government and the United States conferred on the amount of damages to be awarded. That arbitration awarded $48,000.

Following the award of the arbitration board, the United States Government paid over to the Canadian Government in 1926 the sum of $60,000 which was the original $48,000 plus interest from the date of the award. The Government of Canada has since deducted the amount due it, leaving the balance in court at $59,000 which amount is to be distributed to the claimants.

THREE GLUTTONS BARRED ON CRUISES

Heavy Eaters Amuse Passengers, But Not Ship Line Officials.

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 7—A new "racket" was exposed here last Sunday with the arrival of the cruise liner Mauretania, and three persons whose names were withheld were barred forever from travelling on the cruise ships to Halifax. According to the story told by ship's officers, the trio made a habit of visiting Halifax weekly on cruise ships, paying the minimum fare and balancing their accounts by devouring everything on the liner's menus. Such were their appetites, the story goes, that they actually ate food to the value of much more than their fares.

Adding insult to injury the gluttons sat for two hours at a stretch each meal, four times a day, which included midnight suppers. They also made their appearance between meals for "something to tide them over,"—ice cream, cake and so on.

Three pots of caviar consumed by the trio on one cruise cost $60. In the end it was said they became a feature of the cruises and other passengers made it a habit of watching them at their meals, wondering when they would end. Bets were made and pools were organized on the outcome of the feasts, stakes going to the one who drew the name of the diner who arose last.

Cruise officials, however, would not see the humor and as a result future tourists on Halifax cruise ships will be denied this novel form of entertainment.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1931

A RATEPAYERS' ASSOCIATION.

The organization of a ratepayers' association in Ashburnham is a step in the right direction.

There would be keener interest in civic affairs and a better informed expression of public opinion at election times were there similar organizations in other sections of Peterborough.

These ratepayers' associations are a good thing in any community; they serve, if not allowed to develop into mere "kickers' clubs," as an auxiliary to the civic government, they produce constructive ideas that should be of service in solving municipal problems, and they serve as an accurate guide as to what the people are thinking on matters of public importance.

In addition, of course, they ensure for their own particular neighborhood a fair share of the attention of the municipal authorities, and are a guarantee that their own needs will not be neglected.

The spirit shown by Ashburnham citizens in deciding upon the formation of an association is worthy of note.

"We have no quarrel with the City Council. The idea is to help them and to assist the aldermen," the chairman declared, and the same note of co-operation was in evidence throughout the meeting.

The new association should mean something not only to Ashburnham but to the whole community.

MAKE IT CLEAR; THEN ENFORCE IT.

In discharging a farmer who was charged with not having a light on his wagon on the King's highway half an hour after sun-down, the St. Thomas magistrate declared that the Ontario law in regard to lights on horse-drawn vehicles is not clear on the point of when these lights must be carried.

If this opinion is sound steps should be taken at the next session of the Legislature to amend the law so that there will be no possibility of misunderstanding its meaning.

This is a very important measure, and if it is vaguely expressed, cetrainly in the interest of public safety it is desirable that it should be revised.

Unlighted horse-drawn vehicles have been prominent factors in many highway accidents; they constitute a menace that should be removed by the strict enforcement of the regulations.

The present law has been on the statute books for some years, and so far as The Examiner knows, this is the first occasion on which any doubt has been raised as to its interpretation.

The doubt should be removed as soon as possible, and then there should be a more rigid enforcement of the measure; there has been too much evidence, as supplied by a long string of accidents, of laxity in the administration of this most desirable law.

THE FLAG TOO GOOD FOR REDS.

Mayor Davison of Calgary was entirely justified when he declared the other day that he would not insult the Union Jack by insisting that the flag must be carried at the head of a Communist parade.

He could see, much more clearly than the deputation which waited upon him to urge that such a course should be followed, that there was nothing to be gained by compelling the Reds to carry an emblem for which they have not the slightest bit of respect.

These Communists, make no mistake about it, are bitterly opposed to the form of government and to the institutions of this country; their only ambition is to tear them down and replace them with the Soviet system.

For the flag which stands for those things that we Canadians hold most dear these misguided Reds have nothing but contempt; if they were forced to march behind a Union Jack nothing is more certain than that their hatred of the national emblem would be increased.

The Union Jack is much too good for fanatics who seek to drag it in the dirt; there should be no question of permitting them to carry it so long as they continue to show themselves unworthy to be regarded as Canadian citizens.

As for Red processions in general, the only parade the people of this country are anxious to see is a parade of Communists up the gangway of a steamer about to sail away from Canadian shores.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES?

A timely editorial in the Sault Ste. Marie Star, dealing with the Canadian railway situation, vigorously assails the suggestion of higher freight rates, and with its views on the subject The Examiner is thoroughly in accord.

It is undenied, of course, that the railways of Canada are in the midst of great troubles; their revenues are rapidly shrinking, and while there have been some reductions in the operating costs, they have not kept pace with the drop in receipts from freight and passenger business.

But the way out is not to be found in the direction of higher freight rates, nor is there any economic soundness in the proposal that "the principle of freight rate incidence should be drastically changed."

A departure from the essentially just basis of considering the cost of service in arranging rates and an attempt to substitute the principle of all the traffic will bear would be a serious mistake.

Briefly, the suggestion is that the competition from trucks should be met by reducing short-haul rates, while the long-haul rates would be increased.

Says the Star:

"The larger centres, such as Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton, as well as other manufacturing cities, such as Windsor, London, Kingston, Brantford, Kitchener, Stratford, Peterborough, St. Catharines, Welland and others, where truck competition is keenest will not gain under the proposal as the railways do not propose to publish rates on any lower basis than they are now obtaining from the trucks, and those cities must bear their proportion of the increased cost of assembly and distribution of products brought from or sent to distant points under the increased rates proposed for long hauls.

"In our opinion, the railways by this proposal would be merely passing the buck to the shipping public."

AUTO-INTOXICATION.

The Los Angeles Times discusses a prevalent highway disorder:

Auto-intoxication may sound like a pun, but it is a menace. Many think that it means eating too much, poisoning the system; but we have discovered that it clogs both systems and streets and makes the driver dizzy.

It turns corners at dangerous speeds and jeopardizes citizens unaware of its approach. It is the hit-and-run artist that maims and sends to the hospital and morgue. Lanes on the highway are always in its way, and it weaves in and out at a 60-mile gait and threat.

Travelling too close to the car in front, it turns bumpers into fantastic shapes and furnishes most of the business for the shop and the auto insurance company. It scatters grief every foot of its way.

When it backs out of its driveway, it never looks around. A parking place is its favorite nest to hatch out its plots. Darting out without signal, it strikes without even a rattlesnake's advance notice of attack. Even if others take the greatest care, they hardly have enough prescience to escape.

The surgeon or hangman seems to be its only cure!

GOODBYE, HOCKEY!

Ottawa, cradle of hockey, home of the famous "Silver Seven," and spot where the Stanley Cup tarnished over many a season, passes from the professional hockey picture. The old gladiators who in days gone by broke like red, black and white waves upon the goal of the foe until the blast of the last whistle, they must be turning in their graves. For Ottawa without a professional hockey team won't be Ottawa. Something, something of tradition and ancient glory will seem to have passed from the town.

Yet the going was inevitable. It was inevitable as soon as professional hockey passed from what it was in the old days to Big Business, passed to United States magnates to whom the traditions of the game meant little and the receipts of the cash-register everything. The old brave spirit of the game, community pride in local heroes, friendly rivalry between Canadian cities, the legends and the exploits of the great teams and stars of the past—these things were taken from hockey. What took its place were aggregations of Canadian players hired by United States business men to play the game in American cities for American audiences, simply as a spectacle. Many of these audiences never understood hockey, never imbibed its real spirit, but these things didn't matter. If money and ballyhoo could get crowded auditoriums in cities like New York and Chicago and Boston, with consequent rich dividends to promoters, what mattered hockey spirit and tradition? It was money, and only money, that talked.

Ottawa could never compete in the arrangement with New York and Boston and Chicago. The average Ottawa fan, with hockey in his bone and marrow, could never get excited over some native of Saskatoon playing for New York in a uniform covered with stars and bars, and neither could he be brought to believe that when an Ottawa team was pitted against a lot of Canadian lads got together from between Halifax and Vancouver, it was really playing Chicago. He had been brought up on a different sort of game.

So hockey in Ottawa languished. This city's hockey enthusiasm had to be fed something different from those things which drew crowds to Madison Square Garden; we couldn't compete with United States financiers in fabulous prices for stars; and our hockey supporters couldn't get excited over a lot of Canadians playing for a retired prize-fighter and calling themselves Philadelphia. The old dyed-in-the-wool hockey fan, the man who cheered himself hoarse when the old Ottawa teams stormed the goal of Wanderers, or strove desperately to stop the drive of Montreal's Flying Frenchmen—this man stayed at home and turned on his radio.

This, plus some minor factors, is what killed hockey in Ottawa. The game became Big Business, concerned chiefly with dividends. On the day that the old Canadian National Hockey League was swallowed up by becoming to the United States in winter what baseball is in summer, with players bartered about like so many commodities, its doom in this city was sounded. Local patriotism, and pride, had been taken from it.

Those in Ottawa who continued to stand behind it, and who worked to the end to sustain it, did their best. But their best was not good enough, and could never be good enough, to recapture the interest that was lost; American cities and American business had stolen our winter game.

It is all a great pity. Hockey is a noble game, and Canadian to the core, and that it should pass, even in its professional sphere, from the city and valley that gave it its greatest exponents to centres that are foreign to its traditions and its real appeal, must bring more than passing regret.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Great Britain continues to make new speed records. She's going to conduct a general election in three weeks.

The railways get one break out of the world's series. It looks as if the teams will have to go back to St. Louis to finish.

INSTALMENT 25

Fabia had remained alone in the little reception room for at least ten minutes after Dan had left her in the morning. She didn't go out into the hall with him.

"Please leave me here," she whispered, when finally, kissing both her hands, he gently put her from him to say good-bye.

When finally she went out into the hall, her cheeks were flushed, her hair tossed. She must escape to the refuge of her own room. She wanted to be alone with this new strange joy of hers. She loved him! He loved her!

Before she reached the stairs, she heard her name called, "Fabia," gently, by her mother, who was in the living room. Lisa was seated by the window. She must have seen Dan go. Possibly she had seen him come.

"What do you want?" asked Fabia.

"Wasn't that Dan Regan?" Lisa said quietly.

"Yes, it was."

"How unconventional to arrive before nine-thirty when making a first call on a girl! But how like my impression of him!"

"Mother, don't say anything against Dan!" burst out Fabia, in a voice to match her flushed cheeks.

"Why, Fabia, how sensitive you are!"

"Well, I don't think you like Dan."

"Must I like all your callers and proteges?" She laughed.

"He isn't my protege. I can't bear to have you call him that."

"Well, what shall I call him? With such a totally different background and bringing-up, what can he be but your protege?"

Fabia crossed the room to her mother. She was breathing with difficulty.

"He can be the man I love," she said in a low voice. "And he is! He is the man I love! I love him, mother. He loves me! We love each other!"

For a moment Lisa observed Fabia in silence—a surprised, stunned silence at first. Then a kind, comprehending silence.

"Sit down, dear."

"No, I don't want to. I love Dan, and I won't let you try to persuade me that I don't. I don't want to talk about it."

"I agree with you this isn't the time to talk about it. You're too excited."

"Mother, don't think you can change me. I love Dan, and I'm going to marry him." She was still tense still flushed, still quivering.

"Please, Fabia, let's not talk about it now," insisted Lisa. "I'll be home at half past five this afternoon. We can talk then."

At five-thirty, when Fabia entered her mother's room, her cheeks were no longer flushed, the burning brightness of her eyes had disappeared, her voice was less tense, but there was no less conviction in the statement she repeated before she had been with her mother ten minutes. "I love Dan, and I'm going to marry him."

"Has he asked you?"

"No; we didn't think we could ever be married because our circumstances are so different. But I'm going to tell him that we can—that we must. I'm going to tell him when he comes tonight. I can hardly wait to tell him there's just one thing for us to do."

"How simple life would be if there was always just one thing to do when a man and a woman love each other!" commented Lisa meditatively.

"I believe there is just one thing to do," affirmed Fabia. "If they love each other enough. You don't understand, mother. You didn't marry for love. Not for love alone, anyway. You married probably because it was a wise, intelligent thing to do, and everybody approved of it. You don't know what it is to love somebody you think you oughtn't to marry because there are obstacles. It makes you love him all the more, and for himself alone. If your love is big enough, it sweeps the obstacles all away."

"No, Fabia, it only blinds you to them, temporarily."

Fabia stood up with a gesture of impatience. "Oh, mother, you don't understand," she repeated. "You never loved anybody like that. If you're ashamed to have Dan one of our family, and all of you are going to be horrid to him, then I'll be one of his family. I've been to his home. I know what it's like. I'd just love to live with Dan in a little bungalow on the wrong side of Boston somewhere, and do everything I can to help him succeed. I'd adore to be free from all this slavery to society and family, and traditions."

"You might adore it for a little while, but not for a lifetime. You simply can't escape the Vale traditions, Fabia, living in the shadow of them, and ——"

"I don't care," she broke in. "Oh, mother, don't try to make my life like Aunt Charlotte's! Don't try to frighten me out of daring to love Dan. Not that you could. Nobody could. I can't explain, mother, but it seems to me just like murdering something alive and something very beautiful, for you to try to poison my love for Dan." Her voice was at the breaking-point.

"Well, we won't talk about it any more, dear. See Dan tonight as you have planned. I may be wrong. All I ask of you, Fabia, is not to act hastily."

"All right. I'll promise you that."

At quarter-past eight Fabia, seated in the living-room with the family, was going through the motions of reading a magazine, turning a page now and then, and trying to keep her eyes from wandering to the clock. Across the hall the library was waiting for Dan's arrival—red curtains drawn, fire burning. Fabia had lit it herself, five minutes ago, in case Dan came a little early.

If he was as impatient and eager as she, he would come a little early. A man's work, of course, must come first, especially if his work is to relieve suffering. Oh, she would learn in time how to become a perfect doctor's wife! With Dan's arms around her, she would learn to become anything he wanted. His arms would be around her again in a little while.

She glanced at the clock. Not twenty minutes after yet. How time crawled!

Finally the long, slender finger of the clock was pointing to two minutes before half-past eight.

Oh! There was a bell! He had come early! He had come early! But no, it wasn't the front doorbell after all. It was only the crystal clock in the reception room, across the hall, striking the half-hour.

At twenty minutes of nine she rose and left the room. She had better put a fresh log on the fire in the library. She wanted the room to be alight with dancing flames when Dan came. Also she wanted to get a drink of water. It wasn't quite nine yet.

Ah! A bell at last! The telephone. Dan tellin her he was on his way.

"Mr. Vale is wanted on the telephone," said Jennie. "Chicago is calling."

"Oh, yes!" exclaimed Rupert, rising. "It's a business call. I'll take it in my study," he told Jennie, and left the room.

Five minutes later, Dan, in a telephone booth at the Phillips House, informed by Central that the line was busy. Still another five minutes later. Information reported the line was still busy. Dan had another patient to see in a hospital in Brookline—a good twenty minutes away. He hastened out to his waiting car.

Dan had tried to reach Fabia earlier. Dr. Warburton had given him four patients to see. At twenty-five minutes after eight, Dan had descended to the first floor of the Phillips House to speak to Fabia in the privacy of a booth. But the booth had been occupied. While waiting, he decided to make another call on a patient. He didn't think he would be gone over five minutes. But it had been nearer twenty-five.

Rupert talked with Chicago for over fifteen minutes, then called a business associate in Dedham. It was after half-past nine when he returned to the living-room. Fabia was sitting with her hands tightly grasping the magazine, and her teeth clenched together to keep them from chattering.

Oh! again the telephone! At last! His voice! Everything was all right after all! How foolish she had been! It was all right! All right! She'd show him what kind of doctor's helpmate she could be! If he couldn't come to her till ten, or ten-thirty, it would be all right. Or even eleven. Anytime up to midnight would be all right.

"Is that you, Fabia? I've been trying to get you for a long while. Your line has been busy."

"I know. Father's been talking to Chicago. It's all right. I understand, Dan."

"I've been trying to get you to tell you I couldn't get out tonight."

"What did you say?"

"I've had patients to see. I can't get out."

"You mean you're not coming out at all tonight?"

"No. I've still another patient to see."

"Well, it's only a little after half-past nine."

"I know, but I—I don't think I can make it." There was a long pause. "I'm sorry. I hope you haven't given up anything for me."

"Oh, no. Not at all." Her voice had become as cold as ice.

"I'll explain later," said Dan. "I can't here. I'm not in a booth."

"It doesn't matter. It's perfectly all right."

"I'm very sorry."

"Oh, don't mention it. Hurry or a patient may wonder what's delaying you."

There was another long pause.

"Well, good-bye," said Dan finally.

"Good-bye," Fabia replied.

She went back to the living-room. "I think I'll go up to bed now, mother," she said from the doorway. "I've just had a telephone message. He isn't coming." Her voice didn't tremble. A merciful numbness had thrown shielding arms about her for a moment.

Lisa glanced up at Fabia, trying not to let her compassion show in either her eyes or her voice.

"That's an excellent idea. Get a good night's sleep when you can. Good-night."

It was late afternoon when Dan's letter arrived.

"Dear Fabia," it said,

"I think it's better that we don't see each other any more. That's why I didn't come out tonight. I've got my work to do, and I simply can't do it—and keep on seeing you. And it isn't good for you to keep on seeing me, if it can never amount to anything. With our different backgrounds, and different ways of looking at things, it never can amount to anything.

"I could tell tonight I had made you angry with me again, by offering a patient as an excuse for not coming out. You see there would always be my patients conflicting with my obligations to you. I get your point of view perfectly, but I chose my job before I met you, and I've got to be faithful to it, and see it through.

"You're the only girl I've ever cared for, and it seems to me now you're the only girl I ever will care for. I've written you three letters tonight trying to explain. I don't know how to do it. I never had an operation to perform as difficult as this. But then I never operated on myself before.

"Good-bye,

"DAN."

Fabia read the letter through three times. Then she went to her mother's room.

"I've been turned down," she announced with a shrug, and the bitterest laugh Lisa had ever heard escaped her lips. "Read that, and don't ever mention Dan Regan to me again, please. Which dress would you wear tonight, my emerald green or the new flame velvet?"

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Large shipments of strictly fresh eggs to the local market were very few yesterday, and with the good demand continuing, prices were again advanced on grade lots, ungraded and to the retailers in general. Brokers were quoting ordinary supplies at 32c to 33c for extras, 28c to 29c for firsts, and 18c for seconds, graded, and in free cases, and there was talk of 36c for extras. Country shippers were offered more money for the top grades at 30c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 14c to 15c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Retailers were quoted, extras, in cartons, at 39c to 40c; extras, loose, at 37c to 38c; firsts, loose, at 32c; and seconds, loose, at 19c to 20c per dozen.

Butter

Prices for butter were about steady with previous quotations, but trade was slow. Creamery solids were offered by brokers at 20c to 20¼c for No. 1, and 19c to 19¼c for No. 2, and some choice Western receipts were sold at the 20¼c basis. There was not much action on the part of buyers, even the finest offerings not arousing any great interest.

Cheese

Brokers' prices for new cheese were a little stiffer at 11¾c to 12c for large, 12c to 12¼c for twins, and 12¼c to 12½c for triplets.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Butter and egg prices were slightly higher, and Quebec cheese was off, while potato quotations held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized butter, in carlots, was unchanged at 20c to 20¼c a pound, and Western butter was quoted at 20½c a pound. To retailers, solids and print both gained a cent at 22c and 23c a pound, respectively. Receipts were only 82 boxes.

On the egg market fresh Ontario or Prairie extras, in carlots, gained a cent at 35c to 36c a dozen, while firsts were unchanged at 28c, and seconds at 18c a dozen. British Columbia fresh extras held steady at 37c, and fresh pullet extras were unchanged at 30c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged and receipts totalled 2,519 cases.

Quebec cheese lost a quarter of a cent, at 12¾c a pound, while Ontario cheese was unchanged at 12¾c to 12¾c a pound. Receipts were 6,62 boxes.

Montreal potatoes held unchanged at 40c to 50c per 80-pound bag, as did New Brunswick Cobblers per 80-pound bag at 50c to 60c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Robust upturns in grain prices yesterday kept pace with a spirited advance of securities. Much of the augmented buying which accompanied the rise of wheat especially was associated with general expectance that some important constructive action would follow a conference at the White House tonight to consider the present business situation. An upswing of British exchange rates and a reported complete stoppage of winter wheat seeding in Western Kansas counted also as an incentive to buyers.

Wheat closed firm, 2c to 2½c higher; corn, 1½c to 1¾c up; oats, ⅞ to 1⅛ advanced, and provisions varying from 10c decline to 15c gain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, October 7. — Wheat prices moved substantially higher on the Winnipeg Grain Market yesterday, prices closing from 1¼c to 1⅝c higher. October was 1⅜c higher at 53⅜c; November, 1¼c to 1⅜c higher at 93¾c, split to 93⅞c December, 1¼c to 1⅝c higher at 53⅜c to 53⅞c; and May, 1⅜c higher at 57⅜c to 57⅞c split.

ANNIVERSARY HELD AT HART'S CHURCH

Chicken Supper and Fine Program Draw Large Crowd.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Stephens United Church, Hoards, celebrated their anniversary on Sunday last, and with large congregations both in the morning and eevning listened to two inspiring sermons preached by the guest minister, the Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., of Roseneath. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers creating an atmosphere of beauty and thanksgiving in tone with the occasion. Special music was rendered by the choir.

A very satisfactory result of the anniversary was the raising of the $200.00 asked for; this amount being increased considerably when pledges are in. The Rev. F. G. MacTavish, the pastor, conducted anniversary services in Fairmount Church, Prince Edward County, on that date.

CANADIAN JUNGLES

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—It was to be expected that people begin to find fault with our governments for delay in relief. What are they to do?

Trade has shrunk by over seven hundred millions this last year; exports by 4 hundred millions. Domestic trade upon which so much stress was laid is so far gone back that great shops and factories are closing and jungles are arising. It is absolutely intolerable that such a state of affairs should continue and if a National or Union government will help us out for God's sake and the sake of the jobless junglers, let us have it.

J. H. Burnham.

A THOUGHT.

A LEADER.

In the old days there were angels who came and took men by the hand and led them away from the City of Destruction. We see no white-winged angels now. But yet men are led away from threatening destruction; a hand is put into theirs which leads them forth gently towards a calm and bright land, so that they look no more backwards; and the hand may be a little child's.—George Eliot.

LADIES' FINAL AT ROSEDALE EXHIBITION OF SOUND GOLF

Miss Orcutt's Style Compared to Mac Smith and Miss Kirkham to Sarazen.

HIT LONG BALLS.

(By John C. Porter.)

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, October 7. — Maureen Orcutt of New Jersey and Margery Kirkham of Montreal, shot some luscious golf before the former was installed as the Canadian Ladies' Open Golf champion for the second successive time at the Rosedale Golf Club last week.

No often is such brilliant play seen in a final round of match golf. Rosedale's first nine, while not as exacting to score over as its last is nevertheless a good test of golf. Both Miss Orcutt and Miss Kirkham were over that outward route in 37 and 36 respectively during the last day.

Miss Kirkham has a remarkably good style, more sound even than that of the winner herself. The way she follows through after hitting out at the ball, the punch she gets into her swing just at the impact, indicates that she will be a dangerous contender from now on in any women's championship.

Miss Orcutt gets impressive distance with both wood and iron but her swing is much more angular than Miss Kirkham's. She swings with the utmost ease until the last foot or two, and, like Bobby Jones, gives the ball everything at the last minute, even rising up on her toes to do it.

Superb Timing.

Miss Orcutt's timing is superb, and while she hits her irons with less ferocity than she hits her woods she gets ample distance because of her remarkable accuracy at the impact.

Miss Kirkham is more of the "hitter" type of golfer. Miss Orcutt more the swinger. The former's style patterned along the lines of Sarazen, the latter playing not unlike Macdonald Smith.

In the final round it was a case of steady golf finding a winning level over a brilliant start and a rather disappointing finish.

Miss Kirkham certainly looked to have a magnificent margin at the turn in the morning round, which she finished three up and it looked as though the title would return to Canada after an absence of some five years.

Then Miss Orcutt began whittling down the lead until she had squared the match at the end of the first eighteen.

Now if the final had been over 18 holes instead of 36 Miss Orcutt would have won on the 21st hole.

But since such was not the case, Miss Orcutt playing splendidly went on to a more overwhelming victory, six and four to play.

It was really not until the tenth hole that Miss Kirkham seemed definitely out of the picture. In fact at the ninth she was a bit unlucky not to have snatched a win. Miss Orcutt topped her second but since the hole is one of those that asks no penalty for such a shot the ball rolled gaily on to the green and stopped within reasonable putting distance, enabling Miss Orcutt to get her half.

Slipped Badly.

At the tenth Miss Kirkham's game slipped really badly for the first time. It was here that the steady pace of the New Jersey girl began to tell. Miss Kirkham found traps and Miss Orcutt found a nice break when she holed a long downhill putt just off the green for a fine birdie three.

After that there was no denying her and she just played par to the finish, which came quite casually at the 14th.

Miss Kirkham's game is greatly improved over what it was a few years ago, when she first became a factor in Canadian ladies' tournaments.

Her game now has a soundness and steadiness which it lacked up until a season or so ago. She should go far in future tilts among the golfing greats.

Miss Orcutt of course has already made an international reputation. She ranks next to Mrs. Glenna Collect Ware and Miss Helen Hicks on this side of the water and her playing in the Canadian championship last week adds fuel to her golfing trophies.

Both the finalists are rugged in physique. The majority of the leading women golfers are. Yet it does not seem to be that fact alone that gives them such astounding distance. Women apparently make more use of their strength than men, that is, they don't seem to hit as hard and yet get remarkable results, especially with their irons. They seem to play the game with more ease their timing being unusually good.

MONTREAL LIST MUCH FIRMER

Interlisted Stocks Register Gains Ranging Up to Two Points.

C.P.R. RECOVERS

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 7.—(C.P.)—Prices continued to strengthen on the Montreal stock exchange this morning in sympathy with the buoyancy of markets in other centres. The inter-listed stocks led in the trading and showed gains ranging up to two points. The pegged stocks showed little change from yesterday's levels.

Brazilian Traction was strong from the opening of trading, the first sale coming out at 9¾, a gain of 1⅛. Later Brazilian climbed to a high of 10⅜, again of 2⅛. Around noon the price eased back to 10⅛, a net advance of 1⅜ from yesterday's closing price.

International Nickel of Canada was also heavily bought, and registered an early advance of ½ at 10. At noon the price dropped back to 9¼, unchanged.

Canadian Pacific Railway stock showed signs of recovery from its current slump. After striking a number of successive new lows during the past week, the railway stock moved forward again and reached a high of 15⅛ around the noon hour, which was ⅝ above yesterday's final price.

MARKET CLOSING ON EXCHANGES

about 3, while Bethlehem, Dupont and New York Central lost a couple of points. Foods and tobaccos, on the other hand, were strong, and there were gains of 2 to 3 in National Biscuit, National Dairy, American Tobacco B, Liggett & Myers B, and Proctor and Gamble.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 7.—(C.P.)—Early advances were reduced and in some instances wiped out by afternoon selling on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market to-day. Opening strong, the list quietened around mid-day and turned somewhat easier as buying dried up, with higher-priced golds showing little change from last night on end.

Lake Shore, which sold just below $26 for a time, was unchanged around $25 at the close. Teck-Hughes and Nipissing managed to hold gains of a few cents each; other gold producers were just steady.

TORONTO EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., October 7 (C.P.). — In quieter trading, Toronto Stock Exchange market to-day came down from its best, finishing the day with the tone generally soft.

The opening had been higher all around, stocks came out fractions to more than one point above last night. Trading was brisk right at the opening, but volume dwindled after the overnight buying orders had been cleared. Thereafter the market held even, retaining its gains but failing to add anything to its initial advantage. In the afternoon prices softened.

Deputation Opposes Abandoning Rail Line

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Oct. 7 (C.P. Cable, via Reuters). — Travelling by special train and steamer, a deputation unique in the history of New Zealand, visited Parliament House to-day. The deputation, 500 in number, marched to Parliament House headed by a band and laid before the National Government a strong protest against abandonment of the construction of the main trunk railway through the South Island. Abandonment of this construction was among the economy measures advocated by the Government Railway Board. New Zealand's railways are practically all Government-owned.

Seaplane Wreckage Sighted In Ocean

MAITLAND, N.S., October 7 (C.P.). — The seaplane New York, which crashed on Cobequid Bay early on Tuesday morning carrying two German mail fliers to their deaths, was sighted off Economy Point this afternoon by Lieut. Louis Leight from his Maritime and Newfoundland Airways plane The tug Almac, which had been searching for the New York not far from where the gas tank was found yesterday, is on the way to Economy Point.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 7 (C.P.). — Grain prices showed an early upward trend to-day, influenced by stock market advances and by results of last night's White House conference. Profit-taking sales on bulges, however, checked the advance, and notice was taken that Liverpool wheat quotations were up less than expected, opening to 1¼ cents higher. The Chicago wheat market afterward held near the initial limit.

Was Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud Creditors—Found Not Guilty.

JUDGE HUYCKE'S COURT.

Norman Sukloff was yesterday afternoon acquitted of a charge of conspiring to defraud his creditors by His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke in County Judge's Criminal Court.

"Construing the indictment as it is here" said His Honor in delivering judgment, "there is not a shadow of evidence that Atkins had been guilty of any conspiracy. In this case as well as in other criminal cases it is incumbent on the Crown to prove guilt beyond reasonable doubt, before the Crown can ask me to commit Norman Sukloff on this serious charge."

"Only a few days ago I heard a similar charge involving almost the same facts as are to-day given here." Continuing the judge remarked that the transaction between Fine and Sukloff was a perfectly legitimate transaction, and that no evidence had been made out that goods were taken surreptitiously out of the rear of the store. Even if that had been proved, there was nothing to show conspiracy between Norman and William Sukloff.

Referring to the account at the Toronto Loan and Savings Company, the judge said there may have been an offence against the wording of the Bankruptcy Act and other acts in so much as a wrong payment was made to one of the preferred creditors or the other, and it was the only case where Norman Sukloff, the accused came in at all.

"There is no evidence of any conversation or negotiation between these two men to defraud their creditors. The charge is not proved and I find the accused not guilty."

R. R. Hall, K.C., was counsel for the accused, who had pleaded not guilty to the charge at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

Opening yesterday morning at the Court House the prosecution conducted by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., had concluded their evidence before the lunch adjournment. The witnesses called by the Crown, gave similar evidence to that heard in the trial of William Sukloff on Monday and Tuesday of last week, and which also resulted in the acquittal of William Sukloff on a similar charge. The witnesses for the Crown in this case were: G. F. Glatt, chartered accountant of Toronto, trustee in bankruptcy of Norman Sukloff; Nathan Fine, George street merchant; Mrs. W. J. Watson, Chamberlain street and representatives of various banking houses in the city.

In Peterborough 22 Years

Norman Sukloff, the accused in the witness box, stated that he was taken ill on the last Friday in February of this year. He had been in business in Peterborough for twenty-two years and had been in Canada for thirty years.

Describing his illness, which was diagnosed as a heart attack, the accused said he was in Nicholl's Hospital for six weeks, after which he went to his home above the store for two weeks. He was not in the stored during the ten-day sale. He was in bed, he stated.

In reply to his counsel, he remarked that Fine had bought goods from him for a number of years. He bought those goods at cost price, which included the price of laying the goods down in his own store.

The accused identified a cheque he had received from Fine in payment of goods, and said he cashed it at the bank himself. He afterwards went to Jackson's Point for five weeks to recuperate and then went to Toronto to live with his son.

"I did not take part in the business from the time I was taken ill, until the time I left the store" he said.

Mr. Hall—Do you know what became of $4,000 worth of goods purchased by you in January.

"They were sold I should imagine" replied the accused.

"Did you get any goods and secrete or store them".—"No sir, I did not" was the reply.

"Did anyone do so on your behalf?"—"No sir."

Did Not Keep Books

In cross-examination the accused was closely questioned with regard to the keeping of records. "Did you keep books or did you not" demanded the Crown Attorney.—"I had no system. I kept a few notes", was the reply. The accused could not state whether he had records of the transactions between himself and Fine.

Questioned concerning his bank account, the accused said he knew shortly after May 2 that William had deposited $300 in the Toronto Savings and Loan office. He would not allow the account to stand in William's name, and the day the account was transferred to him there was another $200 deposited to the account.

Crown Attorney—There was a time when $1,100 was deposited to your credit.

"I did not know exactly then the amount that was deposited" accused replied. He admitted that he knew the money in that account came out of the business.

Re-examined by Mr. Hall the accused was asked, "what became of your invoices"—"They were all in the store" he replied but he seldom made invoice entries in a receiving book.

Recorded His Debts

"You kept records of debts you owed creditors?"—"Yes. I kept that at the store." The records should be at the store now" he remarked.

The accused was in the witness box for over one hour.

Frank Sukloff was the only other witness for the defence. He stated definitely that no goods had been taken out of the store, nor sold except in the ordinary course of business. He did not know of goods having been taken from the store as described by the witness, Mrs. Watson.

The witness related that Mrs. Watson had been discharged from their employ by William. He was closely questioned concerning the details of the dismissal by the Crown Attorney.

ALIBI ACCEPTED IN HOOTCH TRIAL

Four Witnesses Contradict Provincial Constable.

An alibi which was sworn to by four witnesses yesterdeay afternoon secured the dismissal of a charge under the Inland Revenue Act brought against William Henderson, of Somerville township, Victoria county. But as Henderson was walking from the court room freed of the charge, he was re-arrested by Detective Sergeant Zaneth, of R.C.M.P., on another charge of selling "swamp" whiskey.

Taken to Lindsay to stand trial before Magistrate Jordan this morning this second charge was adjourned until October 17.

The charge tried here yesterday against Henderson was that on August 24, 1930, he did sell illicit liquor in Galway township. Sergeant Zaneth, only witness for the Crown, said that following a conversation with Joseph Bryne, he on the morning of August 24, 1930, motored out the Swamp Lake road.

He met Henderson, who was motoring along the road. Henderson asked the detective, "Are you the party." A jug of whiskey, which the officer said, he had purchased from Henderson for $10 was produced in court.

The accused declared that on August 24 1930, he was on a fishing expedition to Burnt River and at no time during the day was he on the Swamp Lake road. Three others, Ray Henderson, accused's brother, Joseph Byrne and Nobel Young, swore that they were on the fishing expedition with Henderson and that he could not possibly have figured in the liquor transaction with the detective.

Mosom Young also testified that Henderson's car was out of commission on August 24, 1930, and could not have been driven by the accused on the Swamp Lake road.

Magistrate Langley dismissed the case. J. A. O'Brien conducted Henderson's defense and will also act for him at his trial in Lindsay while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the prosecution.

'MESSIAH' SUNG FIRST TO IRISH

Handel Dedicated His Oratono To The Irish People.

THE FAMOUS CHORUS

The life of Handel was packed with work and projects too vast for one man to realize. That he deferred to London populace and wrote down to them at first is true; but the greatness of the man is seen in this—he never deceived himself. He knew just what he was doing, and in his heart was ever a shrine to the ideal . . . .

Handel set out for Dublin with a hundred musicians, there to present "The Messiah," written for and dedicated to the Irish people. The oratorio had been turn off in just twenty-one days, in one of those titanic bursts of power of which the man was capable. Its production was a feat worthy of the Frohman at their best. The performance was to be for charity—to give freedom to those languishing in debtors' prisons at Dublin. What finer than that "The Messiah" should give deliverance?

The Irish heart was touched. A fierce scramble ensued for seats . . . . The price of seats was a guinea each Handel's carriage was drawn through the streets by two hundred students. He was crowned with shamrock and given the freedom of the city in a gold box. Freedom even then in Ireland was a word to conjure with. Long before the performance notices that no more tickets would be sold were posted. The doors of the debtors' prison were thrown open and the prisoners given seats so they could hear the music—thus overdoing the matter in true Irish style.

The performance was the supreme crowning event in the life of Handel, up to that time.

Couriers were dispatched to London to convey the news of Handel's triumph to the newspapers; bulletins were posted at the clubs—the infection caught! On the master's return a welcome was given him such as he had never before known—Dublin should not outdo London! When "The Messiah" was given in London, the scene of furore in Dublin was repeated. The tumult at times drowned the orchestra, and when the Hallelujah Chorus was sung, the audience rose as one man and joined in the song of praise. And from that day the custom has continued: whenever in England "The Messiah" is given, the audience arises and sings in the Chorus, as its privilege and right. Elbert Hubbard, in "Little Journeys to the Homes of Great Musicians." (1901).

Beaudry Leaman States Majority of Montreal Exchanges Are in Excellent Position.

NO EXCUSE FOR PANIC

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 7—Reassuring statements as to the stability of Canadian banks and the soundness of the majority of stock exchange houses were voiced by leading Montreal banking and financial authorities yesterday.

"To my certain knowledge the great majority of Montreal stock exchange houses are in an excellent position, and are fully able to protect the interests of their clients," said Beaudry Leman, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Mr. Leman pointed out that there was now no excuse for anything like panic. "Never, in all my experience of banking," he said, "have I know a time when brokers' loans were so small as at present. The danger is not great now."

"What the public does not realize," he continued, "is that the liquidation has already taken place. What they now witness is only the end, the final shake-up. The public should realize that the real danger was in 1929. There is danger in loaning on wheat at $2.50, but there is no danger in lending on wheat at 50 cents. It is the same with stocks."

Worst Is Over

In Mr. Leman's view, the worst has already occurred, and the public should not be blamed because it sees the result of what has already taken place. The worst of the danger is well past.

W. E. J. Luther, chairman of the Montreal Stock Exchange, said:

"We know that the great majority of stock firms are in a perfectly sound position. We regard these unfortunate failures as clearing the air.

"The sympathy of the entire stock exchange goes to the two or three firms who, through misfortune, have been temporarily unable to meet their commitments, and we hope and believe that they will be able to reorganize and resume business shortly."

Sir Charles Gordon, president of the bank of Montreal, preferred not to discuss the stock exchange position, leaving that to Mr. Luther, but emphatically stated that the position of Canadian banks was sound, and quite unaffected in fundamentals by the recent stock exchange failures.

COUNTY COUNCIL A FIFTH WHEEL?

"Bowmanville Statesman" Criticizes Council After Getting Pavement.

ECONOMY NEEDED

"Cobourg started something when it agitated and voted to separate from the counties. Port Hope and Orillia are now up in arms and are carrying on a campaign of secession from their respective counties. We hope many more towns tethered to that honorable and antiquated fifth wheel of the municipal apple cart, known as the county council, will kick over the traces and eventually drive by popular demand the over-estimated, self-opinionated and extravagant local senate into oblivion."—Bowmanville Statesman.

The "Statesman," however, well knows that it was due to that "honorable and antiquated fifth wheel of the municipal apple cart known as the county council" that construction work started on that $240,000 pavement from Bowmanville north to nowhere; and was very wise in refraining from hurling impolite names at the Counties Council until the pavement was under way, if not nearly completed.

It is quite true that we could get on without a counties council very well—or at least do with a much smaller body of representatives — but it must not be forgotten that the colossal road program entered into by the counties was not entirely due to township representatives. Town representatives were just as keen for the work as anybody else and towns, in fact, were first to set the example of huge paving contracts—not only for streets, but, as soon as they were paved, they begin on the creek beds! What next? Truly we hope the Counties Council does not follow this last example. Heaven help us if they do!

The greatest enemy of the ratepayer to-day is not the Counties Council in itself, but rather the mad desire that seems to intoxicate beyond even the smallest pretence or common sense all municipal representatives, town or county, to lavishly spend the people's money on the most extravagant scale for roads and pavements and anything else that comes along, in spite of the fact that taxes have gone beyond almost the bearing point, business conditions never worse in the history of the country, farm products never lower and money tighter than bark on a tree.

It would not be a bad idea to reduce the number of county councillors to one-third or less, but the first thing to do is to elect representatives in every municipal body who are prepared to chop down expenses in real earnest.

It is quite true that we may be over-governed; but we are ten times as badly over-taxed, and the public is far more desirous of having our enormous tax rates hurled into "oblivion" than it is the various legislative bodies, except in so far as the latter may be necessary to accomplish the former. — Port Hope Guide.

LAKEFIELD.

On Saturday afternoon Hanlon Payne fell six feet to a threshing floor in Dummer, dislocating his left shoulder and tearing the ligaments. Mr. Payne had medical attendance at once, and while progressing as favorably as can be expected, is suffering a good deal of pain.

The tie in the girls' senior championship of the Lakefield High School was decided on Monday when a special needle-threading competition was held, in which Phyllis Charlton defeated Josephine White by a small margin. The championship of the Lakefield High School athletic meet is as follows: Senior girl, Phyllis Charlton; senior boy, Dominick White; junior girl, Assunta White; junior boy, Douglas Smith.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM HUTCHINSON

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Hutchinson, of Bailieboro was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Simpson, rector of Cavan, and burial was made in Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough.

The late Mrs. Hutchinson, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Johnston, was born in Hope Township where she spent her girlhood days, and until the time of her marriage, June 27, 1899, living later with her husband in South Monaghan. In November, 1926, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson moved to Bailieboro. She was of a kind and loving disposition and will be greatly missed in the community.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband and five brothers, W. A. Johnston, of Bailieboro; Dr. T. Johnston, Peterborough; Dr. T. W. Johnston, of Port Hope; Robert Johnston, of Peterborough and Samuel Johnston of Hope Township.

JOHN F. BAKER

The death occurred in Iola Hospital, Rochester, on Saturday, of John Francis Baker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker, of Dartford, Ont. aged 27 years.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two small children, Marilyn and Jack; also two brothers, Thomas P. of Spokane, Wash., Hugh of Kingston and one sister, Mrs. Redmond Walsh, of Hastings.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, Oct. 6, from his late residence 122 West Elm street, Rochester to Sacred Heart Church and thence to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, for burial.

CHARLOTTE M. PAYNE.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from her late residence, Regent street, of Charlotte M. A. Taylor, relict of the late George Payne, after a long illness. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends gathered to pay their tribute to one who was held in the highest regard in the community.

Rev. W. R. Archer officiated and took his text from the Scripture lesson which was taken from the 11th and 12th chapters of St. Paul's epistle to the Hebrews. "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight."

The great crowd of witnesses which is so rapidly growing is a strong link between the life here and in the hereafter, as each recruit to that great army binds more people to the saints who stand in glory singing the praises of their Lord and King.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John Botterill, Walter Hamblin, Alfred Payne, Roy Robinson, George Spence and Allan Taylor. Interment was made in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Mrs. Payne was born in Dummer Township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Warren Taylor. There she married the late George Payne. The family moved to Lakefield about twenty-five years ago, and have resided here since.

Mrs. Payne was a fine type of woman and inspired universal respect in the whole community. She was a faithful and devout member of Regent Street United Church, and until ill-health prevented, was regular in her attendance.

Mrs. Payne is survived by her daughter, Myrtle, who is a valued member of the Public School staff, and a son, Warren, also of the village. Her husband predeceased her about eleven years ago, also a daughter, Edna (Mrs. Roy Robinson).

Mr. Albert Kating, Vienna, Ontario, says he had Asthma since he was 3 years old. Couldn't lie down for 4 or 5 weeks at a time. Sat up wheezing, choking, struggling for breath. Several years ago he tried RAZ-MAH.

"RAZ-MAH worked like a charm," he declares. "It enabled me to have a good night's sleep every night. My attacks are less frequent and less severe."

You'll be able to sleep well and work in comfort once you start taking Templeton's RAZ-MAH. No more battling for breath, wheezing, choking. No harmful drugs. No bad reaction afterward. Capsules. Clean. Easy to take. Good for Chronic Bronchitis, Head and Bronchial colds. 50c and $1 everywhere. 198

Safe Robber Caught Through Milk Bottle

Finger Print Identifies Him

A series of safe robberies in a number of factories had baffled the police for months. The robbers were experts. They never left a trace. They were adepts in avoiding patrolmen, and burglar alarms.

Then they made a slip—they always do. One night the safe in a suburban factory was blown open and $4,700 in cash and securities stolen. There were no clues. No finger prints were found on the safe.

However, a stenographer noticed that a bottle of milk on an outside platform was minus its cream. A finger print expert "dusted" the bottle and sure enough—a set of five finger prints showed up. One of the robbers had helped himself. At police headquarters the finger prints speedily established his identity. He was soon behind bars awaiting trial.

Your Finger Prints on Food Dangerous to You

This crook knew his finger prints were dangerous to him. He avoided touching anything with bare fingers—until one time he forgot and the penalty for him was arrest and imprisonment. Your finger prints will not send you to prison because you do not commit crimes but they are dangerous to you if you forget that they may be laden with disease germs.

Germs are all about us. We cannot escape them. You clasp hands with people. You touch things that other hands have touched—a door knob, a telephone. Those other hands may have checked a cough or a sneeze and become charged with germs.

How to be Safe

The germs your hands have picked up will get on foods you eat—a candy, a fruit, a biscuit and so into your system, to cause you illness. Colds and flu are most commonly spread this way. Life Extension Institute says germs of 27 diseases may be communicated through the hands.

What can we do to be safe? Wash many times a day and always before a meal with the right soap. No ordinary soap will do. It should be Lifebuoy. It contains a germicide. Laboratory tests have proved that it kills deadly disease germs where other soaps fail.

A Beauty Soap Too

Blended from two wonderful palm oils, Lifebuoy is a beauty soap as well as a germicide. It is a true aid to skin health and to complexion beauty. You too will want to enjoy Lifebuoy every day. Millions do, the world over.

There is no perfume in this luxurious and protective soap—just a safety scent you will learn to like. It vanishes after use. A bath with Lifebuoy's rich, penetrating lather will keep you safe for many hours against body odour.

Children particularly need Lifebuoy's germ-protection. The Lifebuoy bath guards them against infection which may be present in scratches and bruises.

Keep Lifebuoy handy for the family to use. It pays. Get a supply from your dealer today.

"The Pease Economy Furnace is giving good satisfaction. This is the warmest house I have ever been in. I have several roomers, and they are pleased with the warmth of their rooms. This furnace gives an even and steady heat. It burns every bit of coal thoroughly. I certainly would recommend the Economy Furnace to all."

ARTICLES OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER

THIS IS POSTIVELY LAST CALL FOR PLANTING OUTDOOR BULBS

For Indoor Bloom Select Tulips of Early Blooming Varieties.

DIG REFUSE IN.

This is positively the last call for planting outdoor bulbs, except possibly in a few southerly districts of Canada where there is not much frost before December. Good results can be obtained, however, if we can get our tulips, daffodils, crocusses, hyacinths and so on planted before the ground freezes hard, although for best results itl s well to have these in before this, as some root growth is possible them, we have a wider selection of varieties and there is no risk of winter stepping in and preventing our planting altogether. However, there is one compensation at this late date.

Usually at the end of the season prices are reduced in order to clear out the remaining stock, but of course we have not the selection, most popular varieties having been sold out. Plant in clumps of at least half a dozen bulbs of one variety. With tulips, place the early flowering type about three inches deep in clay and four in lighter soil, with the later and taller Darwins and Breeders going in a little deeper. Place about from five to eight inches apart in the clump.

Daffodils and hyacinths should be planted about two inches deep and the crocusses only about half an inch. The latter will bloom a few days after the snow disappears and because of this they are often planted through the lawn where they are among the first things to gladden the eye after the long winter. The early tulips, daffodils and hyacinths come on from two weeks to a month later, while the big, late tulips will bloom from May until well on in June if the proper selection is made of early, medium and late varieties.

Indoor Planting

Of course for indoor bloom we can go on planting bulbs right on until January. This is a most satisfactory form of gardening as good results are guaranteed if we get hihh quality bulbs and follow a few simple directions. Moreover, while flowers are welcome at any time they are never admired quite so much as when they are no longer possible outside. For indoor bloom, select those tulips specially recommended for forcing, which will mean varieties in the early types. If we want our hyacinths in a hurry it will also be necessary to take those particularly specified in the bulb catalogue for early bloom.

The paper-white Narcissus will come into flower first, averaging about nine weeks from the time they are planted, and because of this bowls of them can be planted in succession to start blooming around Christmas and continuing at weekly or fornightly intervals right through until Spring. Tulips, hyacinths and daffodils require from two and a half to four months, depending upon the variety, before blooming. These bulbs can be planted in fibre, or soil, while some of them such as the hyacinth, paper-white narcissus and Chinese lily will also do well in pebbles or just plain water with a few pieces of charcoal. The water should be changed about every eight days to keep it sweet.

In fancy bowls or gaily wrapped earthenware pots started bulbs make excellent Christmas presents, particularly if they are given when in full bloom or when ready to come up out of the cellar. Incidentally it should be stressed right here that all bulbs to bloom satisfactorily must be started in some cold, dark place like a corner of the fruit cellar or the outside garage, or lacking such places simply in a covered box outside. Narcissus are ready to come out of this place in from four to six weeks, while tulips, hyacinths and daffodils require from eight to ten weeks. If they do not get this sort of a start, essential to developing proper root growth, they will only produce weak tops and very little or no flower at all. After the cold, dark start, bring out to full light and temperature of about 65 degrees, though this should be done gradually, taking about a week to make the change.

General Work

Do not make the mistake of cleaning up all garden foliage and burning or carting away. It is important that all this refuse, except in the case of diseased plants, should be dug in or place on the compost heap where it will rot. Vegetable tops, corn stalks, sweet pea vines and similar material make valuable fertilizer, or, probably more correctly speaking, humus, which if dug into the soil will loosen up clay or will improve the texture of sand. It is this essential humus which holds the water in the soil and prevents it from baking or becoming too warm in the summer. Vines of peas, beans and clover are particularly beneficial as they contain a considerable amount of nitrogen which is released for further use when incorporated with the soil. The ideal way, of course, is to let this material and also grass clippings and leaves rot in the compost heap or it can be dug in when giving the garden the usual Fall spading or plowing. This material also makes valuable protection for perennial flowers, rose bushes, strawberries, vines and similar plants. After the ground freezes hard it should be thrown loosely over the beds. It will also help to catch and hold snow, which is Nature's regular winter blanket.

Record Shipment Of Potted Plants

A new record for fall freight was set up this month when a carload of potted plants from a Vancouver grower shipped to the Dale Estate at Brampton, Ont., crossed the continent in nine days. The shipment marks an important new development in Canadian horticulture, as heretofore practically all potted plants were imported by the trade. There were about 14,000 plants in the shipment which included an assorted variety of Phoenix, Rochelenii, Boston and Whitmanii ferns, some very fine large specimens of Kentia palms, from ten to fifteen feet high, and Aspidistras.—Dept. of Agriculture. PREPARATION OF FLOWER BEDS

Apply Three to Four Inches Straw Manure as Mulch After Ground Freezes.

MUCH ATTENTION NEEDED.

The preparatory work on a new flower bed or border should be done in the fall. Manure which is turned under at this time will have a better chance to decay and consequently will be more quickly available to the plants. Many weed seeds will germinate and be killed by frost, and no doubt a number of insect pests will be exposed and perish during the winter. The addition of bone meal or rock phosphate can be made now, but quickly available fertilizers should be applied in the spring.

Activities in other parts of the garden are quiet at this season, but the established perennial bed or border deserves attention. The overgrown clumps should be divided, and any of the tall plants, which, during the previous season, seemed to spoil the symmetry of the border by their proximity to the front, can be moved back to a more appropriate position. With the probable exception of the latest flowering and the most tender sorts, perennials should be planted in the fall. Spring-flowering bulbs should also be planted now so that a good root system can be established before really cold weather.

Dig Up Tender Perennials.

A few of the most tender perennials such as Bellis perennis and the various Kniphofias should be dug up and wintered over in cold frames or in some well sheltered location. Still other perennials require more protection to prevent winter-killing. Unless plants are diseased it is well to leave the current year's growth until spring, as this tends to hold the snow and thus protects the plant.

Three or four inches of strawy manure make a very good mulch for the flower bed or border, and should be applied after the soil is frozen fairly solid. The purpose of a mulch is to prevent alternate freezing and thawing, which often lift plants that are not deep rooted. Applying the mulch too early encourages the plants to make soft growths which readily freeze. By exercising the proper care, perennials can be carried through the winter with a minimum of loss.

COSSACK PROVES IDOL OF SOVIETS

Budiony a Military Hero — City Bears His Name.

MOSCOW, Oct. 7.— The Soviet people's craving a national military here finds an outlet in General Semen Mikhailick Budiony, Cossack with long moustaches, whose first wife fought side by side with him. General Budiony's moustaches make him easily recognizable.

In conversation his manner is polite and every now and then he breaks into a fit of laughter. He is noted for his anecdotes of army life, especially after he has drunk the health of his companions at a party.

Budiony has had his tragedy. He once was married to a woman no less a soldier than himself. In spite of the fact that she was the mother of two children she took part in battles side by side with her husband. She could ride a horse better than many of her mates of the other sex. She was an expert rifle woman.

One day when all their battles were over and more peaceful days came, the soldier was cleaning her rifle and shot herself. Budiony married again but not to a woman soldier. He said he would never again wed a woman who used firearms. His second wife is a well know nactress in the Male Theatre of Moscow.

Budiony has been well rewarded for his services to the revolution. On his breast he carries four decorations of the Order of the Red Star. Brucha, a city which the famous General conquered after a bloody battle with the Whites, has been remained Budiony. He is an active figure in Soviet affairs, acting as a popular agitator.

EXPORT SALES OF HOLSTEINS AT HIGH LEVEL

Pleasing Feature of Trade is All Breeding Centres Are Getting Share.

PRICES MOVING UP.

Between Jan 1 and Sept. 15 Over 2,700 Head Been Shipped Out.

In the matter of sales for export to foreign countries, Canadian breeders of registered Holstein cattle have been doing a business this year that has already surpassed the high level attained the first eight months of 1930, and present indications points to a turnover equalling in number of transfers, the splendid record established in 1929. Between January 1st and September 15, according to the Extension Department of the Association, more than twenty-seven hundred head of Holstein cattle were shipped out of the country and the prospects are for a continuing fall trade that will take care of all the surplus that will be available for purchase. As recent as last week, an order was received from Hong Kong, China, for seventy-five head, and during the past few days inquiries coming to hand for early fall freshening cows and heifers have been most encouraging, with the result that several carloads have been sold for delivery during the latter part of this month.

Sales Spread Around

"A very pleasing feature about this export trade in Holstein cattle," says R. B. Faith, Director of Extension," is that all the principal breeding areas are getting a share of it. Take, for instance, the business we have had since September 1st. Why, practically every county from London to Sherbrooke has had an opportunity of contributing animals. Moreover, prices have gradually been going higher, and I am looking for a general upward trend in the figures being paid for good commercial cows. Of course, real high-class Holstein cattle have never gone down very much in price. To-day, an outstanding bull or a cow is worth just as much as they were two or three years ago. Only last week a number of Holstein cows changed hands at from $200 to $400, and whole carloads brought averages running all the way from $110 for heifers to $135 for mature cows.

"It is worthy of note to observe," says Mr. Faith, "that the registrations of the Association are now ahead of those for the same period of time in 1930, while transfers are running so close to the equalization mark that the gap will be closed before very long. This growing business of the Holstein-Friesian Association has been responsible for the development of a more optimistic feeling in the minds of those associated with it, a sense of personal security in conditions that give promise of being able to wear out the depression."

LAYING CONTESTS DRAW INTEREST

Pen No. 21 Leading By 27 Points—Now in 47th Consecutive Week.

The Twelfth Canadian Egg Laying Contest is now entering its most interesting stage with the forty-sixth consecutive week completed. Size and volume are the outstanding factors with the leading pen No. 21, a good 27 points in hand. Less than 16 points separate the entries in second and third places, while Pen 45, the Barron entry, holds fourth with 1760.2 points for 1586 eggs. While this is 61.1 points below the leading pen the leaders had to lay 1,898 eggs for a total of 1821.3 points.

Barron's pen of Old Country White Leghorns may not lead on total points or total eggs laid, but they certainly have a strong edge on everything else on egg size, scoring an average to date of 1.1 points for each egg as compared with .96 for the leading pen.

Two Have Good Chance

It is a good pen that scores better than a point average in contest work, and both Barron's pen and No. 53 now in third place have only to increase production to be really threatening to the leaders. During the past week the leaders laid 43 eggs to score only 38.9 points, while the Barron entry scored 37.8 points for 25 eggs and the third place pen scored 35.8 points for 34 eggs. The pen now in second place is dropping points for volume, scoring only 43.8 points for 48 eggs.

Equally interesting is the Eleventh Ontario Egg Laying Contest where the leaders, Pen 40, scored 2074,6 points to date on 2,211 eggs laid, while pen 51, in fourth place with 1893.8 points for a total of 1,797 eggs, has a good chance to forge to the front if increased volume at the same or better size develops. In the contest during the past week one pen laid 52 eggs to score 48.5 points while the other placing pens were scoring a point or better on each egg. The leaders have an edge of 93.4 points, however and at this early date look fairly secure.

STOLE MONEY TO BET ON RACES TWO TORONTO MEN ARRESTED

Chas. T. Marshall Confesses Theft of $10,000 From Employers.

POSTAL CLERK TAKEN.

TORONTO, October 7. — Gambling on horse races was the explanation given in the arrests yesterday on charges of theft of Charles T. Marshall, 272 Avenue Road, accountant for the Empire Wall Paper Company, Limited, 344 Yonge Street, and William C. Mackay, aged 52, of 19 Roseneath Avenue, letter sorter in the Post Office, Bay and Front Streets.

The theft charge against Marshall involves $10,000, while Mackay is charged with stealing six letters from His Majesty's mail. The theft of letters, postal officials claim, goes back to the month of February of this year, and involves a few hundred dollars.

Steady Job Since 1927.

Marshall is 32 years old. Until last September he had worked steadily since 1927 as accountant for the Empire Wall Paper Company. He first is alleged to have stolen $200, and by falsifying his books evaded detection. He began playing races and the stock market until his losses amounted so high that he was seized with the gambling fever, and is alleged to have admitted stealing larger sums in the hope of "getting a lucky break" and being able to put back the cash he had taken.

Ill-fortune continued to pursue him, he told the police until he began drinking to relieve the mental strain. The realization of the huge amount of money he is alleged to have admitted taking preyed upon his mind until he made a confession. Auditors were called in and the amount found to be $10,000. Crown Attorney Eric Armour, K.C., was consulted, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Marshall appeared at headquarters, and was taken into custody by Detective-Sergeants McCready, Tinsley, and McCathie.

In a signed statement the prisoner is said to have expressed his relief at having made a clean breast of his alleged defalcations by stating he was "glad it is all over, for you cannot believe how it was bothering me."

With Postoffice 25 Years

Betting with handbooks is how William Mackay, a mute, accounted for the disappearance of money he is charged with stealing from letters, the police stated.

Mackay, a married man, has been employed as a sorter in the Main Postoffice for the past 25 years. He is said to have admitted opening letters and taking money from them since last February. On Monday, Detective Skinner charges, Mackay stole six letters, from which he got $7. This money he reported he lost to a handbook operator. Mackay denied betting at the racecourses, saying all his bets had been put up by himself with "bookies."

Mackay's system, police said, was to cut open the end of a letter with a paper-knife, then remove any money that was in the letter, drop mucilage along the open side of the letter and seal it. The letter would then be forwarded on to the address marked on the envelope.

The "Garden of Memories" at Shakespeare's cottage at Stratford-on-Avon, England, said to contain a specimen of each flower mentioned in his works, was visited by an unusually large number of tourists this year.

WAGE CUTS TERMED UNSOUND

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 7.—Wage reductions were held to be economically unsound and unjust by Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in an address here last night. Too much wealth is accumulated for the benefit of the nation and not enough for distribution to the workers, he claimed. Canada, Mr. Moore said, can afford to put every man in the Dominion to work.

HOME INDUSTRY BRINGS PROFITS

Candied Fruit, Made of Apricots, Pears, Peaches Become Popular.

METHOD GIVEN.

The results of experimental work carried on at the Summerland Station of the Dominion Department of Agriculture indicate that the production of candied fruits on a commercial scale may soon be a reality in British Columbia. One firm there is at present considering commercial production, while several small operators make a few hundred pounds a year in the home. The fruits used include apricots, peaches and pears.

Candying these fruits starts with a preliminary boiling in water or a weak syrup to soften it and render it receptive to the syrup. In the first stage fruit is boiled until all the whiteness has disappeared. The next stage is to place the fruit in enamel pans and cover it with a 25 percent syrup, that is, one cup sugar to four cups water. The following day with the use of a hydrometer the strength of the syrup is taken and raised 5 per cent by the addition of sugar. During the first four or five days the fruit is boiled for three minutes when the syrup is added. This is done to prevent fermentation. The syrup is strengthened 5 per cent per day until the hydrometer shows a 65 per cent solution. This takes about eight days. The fruit is then left in the syrup for two weeks, after which it is removed, washed in a 30 per cent syrup a dried on tinned wire trays.

Candied fruit as a home industry can be made more convenient through the simple expedient of canning the fruits to be candied in the usual way and carry out the candying process at any convenient time during the winter or later in the year.

Mayor Digs Potatoes For Relief At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., 7.—When Mayor Jack McClarty starts anything he sees it through. Told that the farmers of St. Joe Island were prepared to donate vegetables toward the maintenance of the Soo's jobless, the mayor secured a truck, upon which he loaded his committee. Upon arriving at the island he discovered that the donations comprised potatoes, still in the ground, so the mayor peeled off his coat, exhorting his committee to do the same, and grasping a potato fork went after the spuds. They dug two tons of potatoes and brought them to the Soo.

EXTREME CARE MUST BE TAKEN IN WINTERING OF ROSE BUSHES

Mounding and Trenching Experiments Prove the Former to be Better.

LET WOOD HARDEN WELL.

(Experimental Farms Note.

Of the many flowers grown in Eastern Canada, perhaps one of the most popular is the rose, even although it must be handled very carefully to ensure success. The question of wintering is of prime importance in rose growing, as practically all kinds and varieties have to be given some form of winter protection.

In order to determine the most satisfactory method of wintering, an experiment is being conducted at the Experimental Station, Fredericton, N. B., comparing different types and methods of wintering. For the greater part of the experiment in 1930, two methods of wintering were used, namely, "mounding" and "trenching." In mounding, the bush is left in its permanent location, but soil is mounded up around it to a height of approximately 8 to 12 inches. In trenching, the bush is removed in the fall after the wood has ripened, and buried in a trench about two feet deep in a sandy, well drained soil. In the spring it is removed from the trench when the frost has come out of the ground, and placed back in its permanent location.

Experiments

In all, 172 plants were used in this experiment, 86 being trenched and 86 mounded. Notes were taken on the growth of plants throughout the entire summer, and the results indicated that "mounding" was the most satisfactory method of wintering. Bushes thus wintered were larger, and bloomed much earlier. Mortality, however, was slightly higher, nine of the "mounded" plants dying as compared to three of the "trenched" plants.

It will thus be seen that roses can be successfully wintered in Eastern Canada by mounding the bushes with earth to a height of approximately 8 to 12 inches, then preferably filling the intervening space with fresh, strawy horse manure after the ground has frozen.

It should also be remembered that no matter what method of wintering is employed, it is essential that the wood be hardened and thoroughly ripened. Hence, the watering and fertilizing system should be such as not to unduly prolong growth in the fall.

Watch Cheese Curing in Fall

Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, calls attention to the importance of maintaining adequate temperatures for the curing of cheese made during the fall months, particularly October and November. The temperature of the curing rooms should never be allowed to go below 60 degrees F., and the cheese should be turned every day. A fire in the curing room keeps the air drier and gives the cheese better rinds while maintaining adequate temperatures.

TWO MEALS DAILY BEST FOR FOXES

Feed Cereals at Meal After Longest Fast to Ensure Them Being Eaten.

One of the special recommendations in the recent report of the Experimental Fox Ranch at Summerside, P.E.I., is the following:

"For fox breeders are recommended to avoid feeding excessive amounts of food at one meal as the stomach becomes gorged and slows down the rate of digestion. Also according to our evidence, this tends to lead to an inflammatory condition of the stomach. We would recommend fox breeders to feed two meals daily and while the meat is digested more rapidly than the cereals, from our experience in the ranch, it would appear to be immaterial whether the meat should be fed at the evening meal or at the morning meal. While there is no doubt that it would be most desirable that the stomach should be empty before the next meal is fed, as fox breeders are aware, foxes have a keener appetite for meat than for cereals. Therefore, if the cereals should be fed at the meal where there has been the longest fast, it will insure this food being eaten, so that it is very questionable whether there would be any greater advantage feeding the meat at the morning meal in preference to the evening meal, which appears to be the general practice."

LINDSAY WELL CONTRACT IS LET

Three Will be Dug by Brantford Firm at Cost of $27,714.

GIANT MUSKIE LANDED

LINDSAY, Oct. 7. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The local water commissioners are already to proceed with the work of sinking wells in order to supply the citizens with palatable water, which they have not enjoyed for some months. The contract has been awarded to a Brantford firm and the cost will be $27,714. The cost is based on a sliding scale, and the figures are given for the cost of three wells. The mains will have to be built by the Water Board to link up the wells with the present distribution system.

CENTENERY HOLDS ITS ANNIVERSARY

Splendid Sunday Services and Fowl Supper Mark Occasion.

CENTENARY, October 7 (Examiner Correspondence). — Rev. S. A. Kemp of Havelock preached to large congregations on Sunday. All the beauties of flowers and foliage bathed with the bright sunlight, provided a perfect setting for the anniversary service at Centenary United Church on Sunday evening. Rev. S. A. Kemp of Havelock was the special speaker of the day. His morning text was found in Genesis 22, verse 8: "And I John saw these name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel; for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men, and hast prevailed." In the evening Rev. Mr. Kemp gave an earnest and comprehensive sermon from the text found in Revelation 22, verse 8: r'And I John saw ahese things and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worshp before the feet of the angel which showed me these things."

Keeping his congregations interested Rev. Mr. Kemp preached a sincere and thoughtful sermon in keeping with the season. Special music was rendered by the choir under the supervision of Miss Hilda Arthur. In the morning the choir sang two anthems and a duet was rendered by Misses Jessie and Beatrice Smith. The choir in the evening consisted of talent from Fenella, who furnished excellent music and contributed three anthems that were very much enjoyed.

On the following Tuesday a successful fowl supper in connection with its anniversary was held in the church shed. The autumn atmosphere was emphasized in the colors of flowers which in dainty containers were placed at interva's down the length of the long tables. Shortly after 5 p.m. the tables began to fill up with guests and for more than three hours thereafter those who were serving were given scarcely a breathing space since vacant chairs were immediately occupied.

The Concert.

The church was filled to overflowing for the concert which consisted of local talent and was thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed by the large audience. The numbers were as follows:

Opening hymn—"All hail the power of Jesus' name." Miss Marguerite Burrison favored the gathering with two solos. Recitation by Dorothy Tucker entitled "The Goblin will get you if wou don't watch out." Rosella Taylor did equally as good by reciting "I don't care what the people say, I wish I were a boy." Solo, "Little Joey," by Luella Timlin. Misses Jessie and Beatrice Smith sang in their usual manner a couple of selections. A very pleasing number on the program was a pantomime by Miss Luella Timlin, who was dressed very attractively and did her part well, while Miss Burrison sang softly "The Last Rose of Summer," accompanied by Miss Arthur. The pastor, Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., was generous as a chairman, giving many humorous jokes which added pleasure to program and social atmosphere.

The choir from Saint Andrew's Church provided music for the occasion, the organist, Miss Stella Hetherington, playing at both services, the anthem in the afternoon being, "God so Loved the World," and following the sermon the quartette, "Le. Him In," was beautifully sung by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. M. McDowell.

Lovely fall flowers and foliage banked within the altar made the church beautiful for the anniversary occasion ,the minister choosing his text for the afternoon sermon from II Thessalonians 3, 3, "But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil."

The young peoples' choir from the village led in the worship of song at the evening service, Saint Andrew's Church being closed at night, and again on Sunday, October 11, when the anniversary at Zion appointment takes place. Rev. S. C. Moore, of Oshawa, being the special preacher.

CROP OF ALSIKE IN LITTLE DEMAND

Farmers Having Difficulty Meeting Financial Obligations—Rain Needed.

CAVAN, Oct. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—Farmers are finding it extremely hard to meet their financial obligations this fall owing to the low prices and lack of demand for their produce. Men have aslike for which they cannot even get an offer.

Pigs reached the low price of 4½ cents a pound. A local man had a sow which he wished to dispose of and asked a drover what he could offer. One-half cent a pound was his best price or $2. for a four hundred pound sow.

Potatoes are practically not worth raising, beyond the needs of the farm and added to this the potato bugs were extremely bad this year, much Paris green, etc., having to be purchased and time and labor spent in applying it.

Grain is extremely low in price, yet the pay for the thresher will be very little below last year.

Taxes have become a serious problem, on one hundred acres, one hundred dollars or slightly over is quite an item to pay for taxes alone.

Grain, even at the low price prevailing is not much in demand. Again this year the farmer's buying is curtailed, thus adding to the general depression.

Rain is badly needed. The pastures are drying up, wells are dry and springs low. It is almost impossible to plough.

The flow of milk is much lower as cows, are not getting as much water as they need and many farmers have to drive their cows quite a distance to water.

FRIENDS HONOR MILLBROOK GIRL

W.A Members Present Miss M. Duncan With Aeropack on Eve of Departure.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—A number of the members of the Women's Association of Saint Andrew's Church, together with the pastor and his wife, Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones, gathered at the home of Mr. G. A. and Miss May Duncan, Anne street, on Saturday evening to bid them farewell before their departure for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duncan, and to present Miss Duncan with a handsome seal-brown leather 'aeropack, as a slight token of esteem and appreciation for her services in church activities.

Mrs. J. McKnight read the eulogistic address, and the gift, which had within it a large box of chocolates, was presented by Mrs. George E. Burnham. The event was a delightful surprise to the recipient who made reply in brief and feeling terms. Rev. Mr. Jones and others spoke appreciatively of Miss Duncan's long and faithful term of service as treasurer of the Women's Association, known as the Ladies' Aid in the former Methodist Church and of her regular attendance and willing helpfulness in the church choir.

The home being dismantled for the removal to the States for several months' stay, and for the incoming of the new tenants, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Thornton and family, the gathering on Saturday evening was of a most informal nature, pleasant conversation passing the time after the presentation of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duncan arrived by motor on Sunday, and the party left on Monday morning for the trip to Cleveland.

Among those who were present at the surprise gathering on Saturday were Mrs. R. H. and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. J. Albert Brown, Mrs. J. McKnight, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mrs. I. M. Nattress, Miss Jean L. Burnham, Mrs. G. E. Burnham and others.

"It helped my nervousness very much, and built me up." Mrs. W. C. June, Gainford, Alberta.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

The management of farm pastures is being made the subject of an extensive study by the agricultural economics department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. From information obtained by personal visits to thirty of forty farmers in each of the principal dairy and beef producing counties, supplemented by experimental work at the College it is hoped to make important recommendations for the improvement of the pasture of the province.

WHAT SHALL I GIVE THEM TO EAT

THREE meals a day—365 days in a year—what a lot of meals to plan—to cook—to serve!

And that isn't all of it. You have to buy food for those meals. Meat. Groceries. Vegetables. Fruits.

A big job! Not only does it take careful buying to keep within your food budget, but ingenuity to vary your menus so that they are nourishing, yet free from monotony.

However, you can simplify this feeding job by reading the advertisements that feature food products. In these times, food advertisements are most complete in information regarding the price of the product, its quality, its health value and its uses. Often the reading of the one advertisement can furnish you with ideas—not only for dinner to-night, but for your breakfast to-morrow, and luncheon the day after.

How often you say, "What shall I give them to eat?" Read the advertisements and you'll find the answer.

Longshoremen Go On General Strike

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 7—A general strike of longshoremen was declared early to-day by representatives of the Boston Councils of International Longshoremen's Association.

The decision to walk out was reached at 2 a.m., after long negotiations to avert such action had met with failure.

Late yesterday the Boston port authority issued an agreement plan, under which it was hoped to obtain a settlement. A truce, which was scheduled to end last night, had been extended 24 hours, and conferences between shippers and workers had been arranged for to-day.

VANCOUVER COUPLE WED

HOLD CEREMONY IN TORONTO

Miss Doris Marlatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Marlatt of Vancouver, B.C., and George D. Mickleborough, also of Vancouver, whose marriage took place at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Mount Dennis, Oct. 6. Mr. Mickleborough is a brother of Mrs. Frank Tretheway, wife of Frank Tretheway of Trewtheway Mines, at whose home, Holmstead Place, the reception was held.

If you are troubled with articles blowing about and hangings fluttering out into the room when windows are opened during the night or daytime, try some of the ideas given to-day to avoid the annoyances.

• • • • • • •

A cover over a table by a window will be held down securely if a weight is sewed in each corner.

• • • • • • •

If the tablecover is washable sew a wee pocket in each corner and close it with a snap. Into each pocket a heavy weight such as is used on garments is slipped in when the cover is freshly laundered or out when it goes to the wash.

• • • • • • •

Large and heavy glass or metal beads are sometimes used decoratively as weights on corners of covers. Usually the beads have tassels depending from them.

• • • • • • •

A row of smaller garment weights sewed under the bottom hem of window draperies will prevent them from fluttering out in a breeze.

• • • • • • •

Weighted strips can be bought at notion counters of department stores. These are flexible and hold materials evenly. Or a few larger weights covered with the same material as the hangings can be sewed at regular spaced distances along the lower edge of the draperies.

• • • • • • •

Another method of preventing draperies blowing about is to run a brass curtain rod through the bottom hem of the curtain. Use filled rods that are solid and heavy.

• • • • • • •

Put a row of stitches along the hem to make a narrow portion of it especially for the rod to be run through. Adjustable attachments to screw to the sides of window frames can be bought to hold draperies away from the window panes.

• • • • • • •

A piece of coarse net, such as fish net, cut a little larger than the table over which it is to go makes a splendid throw to cover a table or desk and hold papers, etc., in place when a wind blows across them.

• • • • • • •

The corners of the net must be weighted. An attractive cover can be made from colored net or theatrical gauze of ample dimensions so weighted.

• • • • • • •

The net must be strong but very open so that it is not heavy as it lies across articles on a table.

• • • • • • •

The weighted corners will hold the dainty cover in position without making it press down heavily on whatever it goes over.

• • • • • • •

For Christmas gifts such covers are unusual, and sure to be appreciated because they are so useful.

ST. JAMES' W.M.S. STUDY MISSIONS

October Meeting Held in Wesley Hall—Reports Received.

A splendid attendance marked the October meeting of St James' W.M.S., held in Wesley Hall on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. A. E. Moorhouse presiding. The seating was arranged in a cozy circle and nearly every member present had a part in the interesting program, planned by Mrss Ingram and her group. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Waterman and Mrs. Beavis.

Mrs. F. Curtis read the scripture lesson. Miss Kidd told a very interesting devotional story dealing with Christ's call to Peter and Andrew that they might become "fishers of men." This worship period closed with prayer by Mesdames Gillespie and Merrill.

A questionaire on our W.M.S. work in both home and foreign fields, as given in the "Blue Book" of the society, was the theme of study for the meeting. The leader, Mrs. Ingham asked the questions which elicited many informative facts in response. Those taking part included Mesdames Evans, Reesor, Carter, Davis, Payne, Byers, Meredith, Davidson, Copson, Wilson, Rose, Drysdale and Miss M. Deyell.

Letters of sympathy were sent to bereaved members, Mesdames English, Fell and Munn, and flowers sent to Mrs. McKinstry.

An order was drawn on the treasury for the new study book, "Korea, land of dawn" to be introduced at the next meeting.

Exceptionally good were the reports given of the various departments of work by the secretaries, as follows

Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Armstrong.

Temperance, Mrs. Beavis.

Supplies—Mrs. Payne, for W.M.S

Supplies for relief in West, Mrs. Sloan.

Strangers, Mrs. A. Davis.

Associate helpers and mite box, Mrs. A. R. Church.

The hymns throughout were an inspiring addition to the service which was brought to a conclusion by the benediction pronounced by Mrs. Woodley.

ANOTHER DEVICE FOR THE HARD OF HEARING.

I have spoken before about the different devices, now available, to enable the deaf to hear. They have opened up a new world to those hard of hearing, as they can now go shopping answer the telephone, attend church or theatre; in fact, do everything a normal person can do, owing to the aid these cunningly hidden devices can give.

Many cases of deafness are due to middle ear disease, because when the disease itself heals, the little bones carrying the sound from the drum of the ear are found to have grown together into one solid bone which is unable to carry the sounds as did the three little connecting bones.

It is interesting therefore to read of another little device whereby Prof. Frederick Bedill, professor of Physics at Cornell University, has been able to make the teeth take the place to some extent of the little bones in the ear. The professor invited some friends to his home and had each of them bite gently a long piece of wood with a sharp, pencil-like point. They placed the sharp points on a tiny metal disk on the table and were able to hear a phonograph, the sound of which could not be heard without this little device. The tiny metal disk was a special sound receiver for the deaf, transmitting its vibrations to the wood. By biting the other end of the stick lightly the listeners could hear, and, to two of them at least, the music sounded as perfect as if heard by the ear.

Professor Bedell said he perfected the device in hope that it would be useful for the deaf in listening to talkies and radio. The receiver would be placed on the backs of seats, and the straw-like sticks would cost but a trifle. They are ordinary wood.

The sound vibrations pass directly to the auditory nerves through the bones.

Prof. Bedell said that only destruction of the auditory nerves prevents hearing by the teeth method.

The point then is that in patients where the ear drums are destroyed this method will enable them to hear.

It is certainly gratifying to see all these new devices coming to the help of our hard of hearing friends, thus making life very much more worth living, by enabling them to take their rightful part in family and community life.

LONDON IS SHY VICTORIAN MODE

Goes Slow on New Styles and Bustles Few and Far Between.

By BETTY TWIST

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(Special to The Examiner).—In normal times London would now be in the full swig of autumn dress shows. But times in England are far from normal. Everybody is economizing. Leading firms are making drastic cuts in the number of their displays, some are cancelling them altogether. Fashions, however, seem just as lovely as ever. London houses are attempting to prove that British fabrics and British fashions can be cheaper and equally as chic as foreign ones. It has been estimated that $15,000,000 worth of dresses, costumes, coats and skirts are imported into England yearly. Although women are buying proportionately more English clothes each year it is pointed out that in the interests of national economy this figure is still far too high.

The Queen and the Royal Family have on many occasions demonstrated their preference for British materials. Revilles, the queen's dressmakers, are the pioneers in all-British fashions. They are showing new feather-weight Scottish tweeds in Balmoral blue with a faint black check.

Wear British Clothes.

Satins of British manufacture and chiffon velvets, supple as gossamer, are utilized in evening gowns which are distinguished by their grace of line and reject most of the extravagances which Paris launched in the new period revivals. A gown in burnt-umber velvet, almost classical in its simplicity, the only individual note being threaded cross straps across the low-cut back, relied for its appeal on the richness of its deep color.

Fur coats reaching practically to the hem of the gown and the shorter belted models made from Empire skins are inexpensive. They are skillfully cut to fit snugly to the figure and avoid all unnecessary bulk. Lighter still for autumn days are the short fur cloths. Fur cloth is no longer considered beneath the notice of the well-dressed woman and its likeness to the original is as perfect as an imitation could ever be.

Worry of New Styles.

London is going slow with the new styles. There are touches of Victorianism about sleeves and necks and materials, but many of the gowns still retain the moulded hip line with cross panels sometimes decorated with embroideries of beads or silk. All of them clear the ground, though some have short trains which are merely an extension of the back draperies. Bustles are few and far between. A fish-tail cascade of frills springing from the waist is a feature of one caramel-colored taffeta gown while a dozen or more loops of red and black cire ribbon make a butterfly decoration on the back of a black satin model.

A hint of panniers is given by pocket-like draperies on evening gowns as in one model of rust-colored lace in which this was the only decoration. Lace alone, or combined with georgette is as popular as ever. An afternoon dress of brown crepe de chine has a straight collar and narrow panel down the back of the same material.

FRENCH GIRL SEEKS CANADIAN HUSBAND

Writes to Montreal Mayor From Paris—Sees Better Chance Here.

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 7.—(CP).—Another prospective "mail-order bride"—this time a French girl of nineteen—has written to His Worship Mayor Lavigeur at the City Hall here, asking if the Mayor can find her a Canadian mate, stating that she would prefer to marry a man of her own language here than a Frenchman.

"I have learned from a young Quebec girl with whom I correspond," she writes, "that sometimes you have been able to meet the wishes of young women writing to you asking you to find them Canadian husbands."

"I want to marry a Canadian. Perhaps you will wonder why and think it is just the distance, or the new land and new people. But it seems to me that a man from your country has a better guarantee of happiness. Anyway, I can have my own preferences, can't I?" she says.

The writer, who lives in Paris, goes on to state what kind of a Canadian she would like.

"I could love an upright, honest man, one who has made a place for himself; and he must be, tall, and not more thant thirty years of age. As for myself, I am a blonde with blue eyes, of average height—and I was nineteen just yesterday. I am a stenographer, but I have no dowry or fortune, so that I should bring nothing to my new home but my youth and my willing nature."

Along with the letter was sent a photograph. In the absence of the Mayor the assistant city clerk has replied to the girl stating that her only hope would be that publicity to the letter might attract some Canadian looking for a bride. Last spring Mayor Lavigeur was deluged with letters from young women in England asking him to find them husbands.

More than 3,000,000 "dead letters" mailed in 1925 and 1926 have just been burned in huge bonfires by the French Government, which has issued a special appeal to writers to be more careful in addressing their correspondents.

WOMEN'S WORK IS LOWEST PAID

Research Expert Advises Them to Maintain Earning Power.

U. S. INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 7.—This country's 10,778,794 working women, their ways and their wages, have been placed under the microscope by the Women's Bureau. Requested by club women, the results of the studies are to be issued in a few weeks. The nation's 23,000,000 housewives, not listed as "gainful workers" by the Census Bureau, can then go fact-finding about their sisters of the pay envelope.

No idealistic picture of the noisy, speedy, mechanized, industrial world for women was painted by Mary Elizabeth Pidgeon, research expert in interpreting the working woman.

"Women are the one who perform the most repetitious jobs, and upon whom the burden of monotony falls most heavily," she said. "Women's earnings tend to be very low.

She termed women "latest comers in industry," "cheapest labor on the market," not having equal economic power with men "in bargaining for better hours, conditions, and remuneration." She deplored the double duties of married women workers who with "one job in the factory, another in the home" have no time to "fight for economic status."

She urged legislation as a "short cut to better conditions," specifying the shorter working week as the antidote for machine-monotony, elimination of night work, noise-reduction, improved hygiene, a higher wage scale.

Yet she did not advocate the return of women, even married women, to the home. On the contrary she urged them to keep us their earning capacity.

"There is no security in domesticity," the study contended. "Divorce, death, or money loss may throw a woman upon her own resources. The married woman who lets herself go upon the easy tide of domesticity iso ffering herself as a victim in a future tragedy."

Nearly 10,000 members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians recently held their annual parade in Edinburgh, Scotland.

THE MODERN MAN BURNS HIMSELF UP.

Excepting trained athletes, we moderns are punk creatures compared with our forefathers. Even athletes soon burn out eating acid-forming foods, the great cause of modern physical inferiority. From 32 to 50 Dr. Jackson was one of the unfit. At 50 Dr. Osler gave him four months to live, dying from acid-forming foods. He then invented alkali-forming Roman Meal. Before that he lived on the ground floor, unable to climb stairs. Four years afterwards he climbed the 50 storey's in Washington's Monument, up and down, solely due to the alkalizing properties in Roman Meal. In September, 1928, when seventy, he ran five miles in forty-five minutes—was not even winded; again due to Roman Meal. Earnshaw Pulls A's From Abyss of Defeat

VETERAN QUAKER CITY HURLER HOLDS CARDS TWO SCATTERED HITS

Smile of Confidence Once More Returns to Face of Athletic Leader.

CARDS USE 3 PITCHERS.

Pepper Martin, Colorful Card Fielder, Connects for Single and Double.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7—"Big Jarge" Earnshaw, one of the greatest pitchers ever to tread a World Series mound, had brought the smile back today to the face of an aged gentleman pointing toward his third consecutive championship of the world.

The old gentleman was Connie Mack, pilot of the world championship Athletics, and as he sat in the tiny tower of his office in Shibe Park to-day, pondering his pitching selection for the fifth game of the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals, there was nothing but joy shining out through every wrinkle in his 68-year-old face, and thanksgiving in his heart for the magnificent pitching ability of this 30-year-old product of Swarthmore College.

"Big Jarge," stepping into the breach where the mighty Robert Moses Grove had failed, turned in one of the World Series masterpieces of all time yesterday to riddle the National League champions with his fast ball, baffle them with his curves, humiliate them with his control, and swing the Athletics back from the abyss of almost certain defeat to an even footing again with the Cardinals. They have two victories apiece after the first four games of one of the most sensational World Series of all times. It was "Do or Die Day" for the mighty Athletics yesterday. Battered and hounded by the surprising Red Birds, strangled for two straight game by the magnificent three-hit, left-handed pitching of frail Bill Hallahan; the snarling, doggedly, vengeful two-hit epic of the A's lifelong foe, grizzled Burleigh Grimes, and the amazing "Pepper" Martin.

A Near Catastrophe

It was a day when the Athletics, thirsting for three straight world championships if only to answer the prayer of a grand old man seeking his last baseball record, suddenly found themselves, the first American champions to trail the National League rulers in five years, struggling on the brink of World Series catastrophe. They talked the situation over among themselves, they listened to Connie's plea, watched the lanky old fellow with the thin aesthetic face of a priest tap Earnshaw on the shoulder and say:

"George, you've got to do it for me; just this one thing."

Then they went out to tackle the Cardinals in the fourth game of the series, the second at Shibe Park, and the next to the last effort they could make if the riotous Cardinals, riding the high wave of two of the finest pitching efforts any pair of world series hurlers ever put together kept up the amazing, and overwhelming drive to victory.

They came out grimly, defiantly and the manner in which they ripped into Sylvester Johnson, big Cardinal hurler who has been doing splendid relief duty through the past two series, was a picture of the Athletics the baseball world has come to recognize as invincible until the Cardinals learned how to take the great Grove apart. Jimmy Foxx hit a tremendous home run. Simmons, Dyke, Bishop and Miller all got the range as the A's emerged from their slump.

Leading the comeback surge, magnificent in his power, was Earnshaw as he turned back all but one of the Cardinals, Martin, while the big gunners of Connie's crew, finding the range at last against the pitching of Sergeant Gabby Street's second stringers, battered out a 3 to 0 victory.

Inning after inning, Earnshaw, pitching perhaps the greatest game in world series history, mowed the Cardinals down to add another two hit classic to a string of pitching performances that knows no equal in past series history. In Earnshaw's right arm yesterday was all the guile, all the swiftness, power and control to merit a no-hit classic, the goal that no one has ever attained in this annual struggle of baseball mighty.

But there was one fly in his ointment, the chunky dogged figure of John "Pepper" Martin, freshman outfielder who is playing this series for the Cardinals, his first in major league baseball, as no rookie ever has before him. Just as Earnshaw inspired with a new zeal for victory love for his aged benefactor, Connie Mack, was pitching the greatest game of his career, so was the grim, Hawk-faced youngster from the wide open stretches of Oklahoma battling eagerly and fearlessly for his own private fetish.

As the series wears on the wonderment increases steadily at the fanaticism with which this young man, an ordinary hitter during the National League season, assaults the offerings of every Athletic pitcher, even an Earnshaw on the greatest day of his career, as well as giving them all a slight attack of the jitters by his display of speed and daring once he is on the bases.

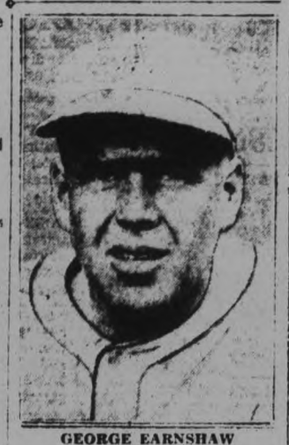
Colorful Clouter

While the veterans of the Cardinal clouters, the league champion Chick Hafey and his rival Sunny Jim Bottomley, were vainly poking at Earnshaw's dazzling speed and uncanny curves, lifting them feebly into the air or rolling them vainly through the dirt to the infielders, "Pepper" took his cut freely and whole-heartedly and smacked "Big Jarge" for two hits, the entire Cardinal quota. He fanned in the second inning and the alien crowd cheered his every movement thought for a while he had been finally stopped. Instead he wholeheartedly laced a single into left field in the fifth and after getting the entire A's defense on edge wildly stole second base, his fourth theft of the series to come up after a headlong dive into the bag covered with dirt, grinning through the grime like a big mulatto stevedore on some boat dock.

That blow ended Earnshaw's chance, for a no-hit game, but he still had an opportunity to ease home under the two-hit figure Burleigh Grimes set yesterday until "Pepper" strode to the plate to start the Cardinals' eighth. This time the irrepressible youngster smashed a double against the left field wall, but again he could get no further than second as Earnshaw snuffed out the mates who followed him to the plate. ... ...

So despite glory that was Earnshaw's, the blistering attack that shattered the Cardinals, the hero who can hardly lose his crown for the Series no matter what he does from now on, gained himself further laurels. At the present he is batting a gawdy .646 with nine hits, four of them doubles in the first four games, surpassing the all-time record of .625 Babe Ruth set when the Yankees conquered the Pittsburgh Pirates in four straight games in the Series of 1928. And so far there is no indication at all that "Pepper" has shot his bolt. The A's are beginning to stay up nights trying to devise some way of getting him out.

All the strategy that the sideline critics could muster in the face of the silence of both Connie Mack and Gabby Street indicated that a left hand pitching duel to-day between "Rube" Walberg, or even Lefty Grove, the battered master, for the Athletics, and Bill Hallahan for the Cards in the last of the three games here. Regardless of the outcome to-day the scene shifts back to St. Louis again to-night for as many of the final two games as are necessary to give one club four victories and the championship. The sixth, and seventh game if necessary, are scheduled for Friday and Saturday on the banks of the Mississippi.



GEORGE EARNSHAW

Brings back smile of confidence to Connie Mack by subduing the Cardinal sluggers to two hits and winning 3—0 decision and evening the World Series at 2—all.

CHICAGO TITLE IS WON BY SOX

Score Six Runs in 4th Inning to Defeat Cubs 7-2 in Final Game.

PLAYED BEST BALL.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 7.—(C.P.)—Donie Bush and his luckless White Sox, who were kicked around unmercifully by the American League clubs last season, had their big day at last Friday.

They were Chicago city champions for the first time in five years, their pockets were lined with the big end of the players' purse, and they had a big time joshing Cub followers by wishing they played in the National League instead of the American. Bush had something more to be happy about as it was generally believed he might after all be re-hired as manager of the team for 1932.

A noisy six run raly in the fourth inning, backed by Al Thomas' four-hit pitching, gave the White Sox a 7 to 2 victory in the seventh and final game of the long series at Wrigley Field yesterday.

Throughout the seven games, the cellar occupants of the American League played by far the best baseball. They scored 36 runs to 17 by the Cubs and their pitchers turned in several beautiful hurling performances. While the Cubs won their three games by the margin of one run, the White Sox captured their victories by margins of 9 to 0, 4 to 3, 13 to 6 and 7 to 2.

The official total attendance for the series was 137,451, with receipts at $152,124.50.

SPORTS By JIMMY THOMPSON

A FUTURE CHRISTY MATHEWSON

If anyone ever told a story of how he had seen a pitcher strike out 24 batters in a nine-inning game, he would probably be laughed at for the rest of his life. But here goes, and this story is vouched for. In the final game for the Ontario Amateur Baseball championship in the bantam group, young Sammy Salsberg actually struck out twenty-four batters in the first game of the series against Merriton. In the five games he hurled in the play-offs he whiffed, fanned, struck-out, baffled and otherwise amazed no less than 101 so-called hitters. Then in the final game he pitched his no-hit, no-run game. Sammy, who never knew he was a pitcher until the coach of the Toronto St. Andrew's team happened upon him one day, is most modest about his startling performances, thinks that some day he would like to have a try at pro. ball. He needn't worry; he's probably a marked man by a dozen scouts already.

Johnson Named As Garden Head

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 7 (C.P.)—Jimmy Johnston, veteran promoter and manager, has been offered the post of vice-president and general manager of Madison Square Garden.

William F. Carey, president of the Garden, said that official announcement of Johnston's engagement will be made, if and when he accepts a proposal already submitted by the Garden.

Johnston, who promoted several big outdoor bouts in opposition to the Garden this year, will, if he accepts, take over the post occupied last year by Frank Bruen.

Boxing observers forecast the resignation of Tom McArdle, Garden matchmaker for three years, if Johnston accepts the post.

Two Box Lacrosse Games This Week

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 7.— Two box lacrosse games are scheduled this week in Campbellford when the Campbellford Maroons and Tigers will play home games on Wednesday and Friday evenings in the Davidson Arena. This should prove an interesting spectacle to see the home teams clash on their own ground as both are well matched in regard to strength. These games are scheduled for 8:15 and are part of the Inter-County Box Lacrosse League.

The Canadian Historical Sites Committee will mark the place where in 1788 Lord Dorchester established a dockyard at Navy Bay, Kingston, Ontario. A tablet will also be placed at Kingston to mark the site of the first Parliament of Upper and Lower Canada in 1841.

ROCHESTER COPS 4TH STRAIGHT WIN FROM ASSOCIATION CHAMPS

Wings Outhit 11-8

International League Champions Take Big Lead in "Little World" Series.

WIN YESTERDAY 4-3.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 6.—(C.P.)—A single victory stood between the Rochester Red Wings and their second successive "Little World Series" championship to-day.

The International League champions, led by Billy Southworth, gained a commanding lead of four games to one by turning back St. Paul, American Association titleholders, yesterday, 4 to 3. St. Paul now is faced with the almost impossible task of winning all four remaining games. Another victory for Rochester automatically will end the series.

The Red Wings were outhit, 12 to 8, in the fifth game, but bunched these blows with nine walks by three St. Paul hurlers for their winning margin. The run that decided the game came in the seventh inning when Jack Bentley, former Big Leaguer, singled after Pepper and Puccinelli had walked.

Carmen Hill was shelled off the mound by St. Paul in the second inning. Buck Foreman took up the burden and staggered through to the end, although he was wild and hit hard.

The Red Wings, participating in their fourth straight series against the Association champions, beat Louisville last year after losing to Kansas City in 1929 and Indianapolis in 1928.

The sixth game to-day and all other games necessary to wind up the current series will be played in Rochester.

LEONARD STARTS ON COMEBACK WITH KNOCKOUT IN 2ND ROUND

Count Goes for Hallow Victory as 15,000 Fight Fans Jeer Result.

MERELY A PUSH-OVER.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 7 (C.P.)—Benny Leonard has started his comeback campaign with a knockout victory over Pal Silvers of Brooklyn with the jeers of a crowd of 15,000 as the principal accompaniment.

Leonard floored Silvers in the second round of their ten-round bout in Queensboro Stadium last night and Silvers stayed down for the full count, although most experts at the ringside thought the blows were anything but hard. At the count of ten, Silvers bounced to his feet, apparently unhurt, and ready to continue. Referee Arthur Donovan waved him to his corner and lifted Leonard's hand as the winner.

Benny, a bit plump around bout in the second round made it impossible to deduce just what chance Leonard has of winning the middleweight title, the goal on which he says his eyes are fixed.

There were a few cheers when the referee lifted Leonard's hand, but these were drowned in a storm of boos from a major portion of the capacity crowd.

Leonard took the match with Silvers last week after the New York State Athletic Commission had declined to sanction a bout between Leonard and Paulie Walker, until Benny first proved his ability in a smaller arena.

Leonard weighed 152 pounds; Silvers, 157.

P. C. I. SECOND TEAM DEFEATS GROVE 17-15

Collegiate Team Outplays Opponents in Practically Every Department.

HEAVY PLUNGING.

Showing vast superiority in practically every department of the game, the P.C.I. Intermediates got revenge for their past defeat in Lakefield by taking a 17-15 decision from the Grove School twelve at James Stevenson Park yesterday afternoon.

The Collegiate crew, with the exception of a lapse early in the first quarter when Carson picked up a P.C.I. fumble and ran fifty yards in a clear field for an easy touch made a determined effort from the start and Wood, Chesler, Wainman, Glover and Hewett simply poured through the line on plunges with Chesler and Wood showing up particularly well on these barges. Don White looked after the kicking nicely and besides tossing some nifty forward passes for big gains, he was on the receiving end of two of Hewett's tosses and trotted over for a touch on each occasion. tearborn, at quarter, mixed up the plays in fine style and kept the team going all the time.

The Grove squad, outweighed at nearly every position, put up a plucky battle and were in the fight all the way but they found it hard standing up under the punishment that the P.C.I. buckets were handing out. Disney, Carson Stuart and Wright showed the best form for the visitors but the entire squad is well drilled and fought till the final whistle, in fact their final touch and convert came within a half minute of the finish.

Grove Opens Scoring

Grove opened the scoring early in the period when Carson picked up a loose ball from White's fumble and ran half the length of the field for a touch which they converted by a placement kick. P.C.I. were showing fine form in mid-field but lost the ball as they neared the scoring line but just before the quarter, Don White booted a high one for a point.

The scond quarter found P.C.I. hitting a better stride and Hewett, Chesler and Wood plunged for big gains with the latter taking the ball over for the local's first major score. The best the visitors could do was to chalk up two single counters to make the count 8-6 in their favour at the half.

The 'Petes' opened the play up considerably after the rest and mixing the formations with heavy bucks and forward passes, soon had the Grove boys at sea. After working three quarters of the way down the field with line plays and nice running efforts by Dearborn and Glover, Bob Hewett threw a speedy forward pass over the line to White for a try which was not converted. A few minutes later the same play was repeated about Grove's ten yard line and White sauntered over for another five points. Play remained at midfield for some time and both teams kicked for single points to end the quarter.

The locals were appearing to have everything their own way in the last quarter, when a Lakefield red shirt broke away for a long run down the side of field only to have Wagar grass him about ten yards out. However, the game little school team were not to be denied and with two plunging plays crossed the line for the last try of the game which they converted just as the whistle sounded, leaving them on the short end of the 17-15 count.

The teams:

Grove—Harris, snap; Bagg, Wood insides; Wright, Gunn, middles; Burgess, McDonald, outsides Stuart, Atwood, flying wing; Carson, Disney, halves; McCray, quarter; McGill, Anderson, spares.

P.C.I. — Duncan, snap; Wood, Chesler, insides; Sedgewick Johnson, middles; Mackay, Wagar, outsides; Wainman, Glover, flying wings; Hewett, White, halves; Dearborn, quarter; Parnell, Yeotes, Weddell, Waddell, McKone, Darcy, spares.

Referee—E. Legon.
Umpire—H. Waddell.

Bowling Notes

A considerable number of the members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club have caught the epidemic which has been spreading through this neighborhood recently and become infected with the horse-shoe pitching microbe. Since the lawns have been closed for the season, the suggestion has been made by members that horse shoe pitching courts should be established on the grounds adjacent to the club house now used as parking space. The directors have obtained 8 sets of horse shoes and if enough members express their desire to any member of the Board for the establishment of the courts, the work may be proceeded with immediately. Here is a chance for the horse shoe pitchers in the club to make their desires known and thus get early action in the matter.

Annual Banquet.

The date of the annual banquet and presentation of prizes has been set for Wednesday, October 15. The function will be held in the club house and as usual, it will be one of those jolly affairs where everyone has a good time. There is but one stipulation. Members who intend to attend are required to notify the secretary or some member of the Board by Saturday night of this week. Refreshments are to be provided and this makes necessary advance notice by members of their intention to attend.

To-night's Meeting.

The vice-president and the secretary of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association are to address a meeting of lawn bowlers in the club house this evening. Representatives will be present from other clubs in the district. The principle subject for discussion will be the advisability of the Central Ontario Association affiliating with the Ontario Association. All are welcome.

LEADERS BEAT NORTH-ENDERS BY 4-2 COUNT

While King Edward Trounces Prince of Wales 6-1 in League Fixture.

NICE COMBINATION.

George Bousfield Plays Spectacular Game in Half-back Division for Winners.

King George School soccer team stabilized their position in the local league yesterday afternoon, when they defeated the Queen Alexandra eleven by four goals to two. George Bousfield, at centre half for the winners, being a power of strength in the half back division. The left wing of Hopcroft and Lee being the most prominent, with nice combination and positional play.

From the kick-off, King George hemmed their opponents into their own territory to harass the defence with dangerous raids. Dainton, in goal for Queen Alex., frustrating their attack at the opportune moment. Eventually King George's left wing combination carried the ball into the flag corner and outwitting the defence with close passing, left Lee, outside man, in a favorable position, who passed across to Burton. The centre man connected with a perfect touch past the goalie. Queen Alex. replied with two dangerous raids that failed to be effective to get the necessary result through the good work of the King George goalie. Half time: King George 1, Queen Alexandra 0.

Nice Combination

On resuming, the teams played their positions to perfection which brought out the excellent qualities of the forwards in instituting scrimmages in front of goal. After a bombardment on the King George citadel, Bousfield nullified the attempt to get into the shooting zone and carried the ball up the field to Burton, who made tracks for his objective. The full backs closed in on him, but not sufficient to halt his progress as he delivered a fast drive inside the post. Dainton failed to hold the ball with one hand. He received another opportunity a few minutes later, when the North End boys were concentrating their whole attention to bring the score done. The Kink George half back division domineered the situation to permit the forwards to get away to the other end. The full backs were not ready to check Burton, who dribbled his way through until he scored. For the remainder of the period the Queen Alex boys had the better of the play and were rewarded with two penalty kicks, but Pink failed to convert from the spot on the last occasion. Dorrington got the other tally for the losers. Kink George, 4; Queen Alex. 2.

Queen Alex.—J. Dainton, goal; J. Pink and A. Sharp, full backs; R. Mackey, R. Bradley and J. Ash, halves; R. Ash, J. Dorrington, R. King, J. Galley, and J. Reynolds, forwards.

King George—J. Legon, goal; N. Hewitt and O. Gardener, full backs; A. Charten, G. Bousfield and E. Smith, halves; F. Earl, R. Wood, L. Burton, K. Hopcroft and W. Lee, forwards.

WAGE CUT FOR HOCKEY STARS

International League Decides to Slash Players' Salaries for This Year.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—(By the Canadian Press.)— Taking its cue from the National Hockey League, the International League, in annual session here, has decided to supoprt a program of economy.

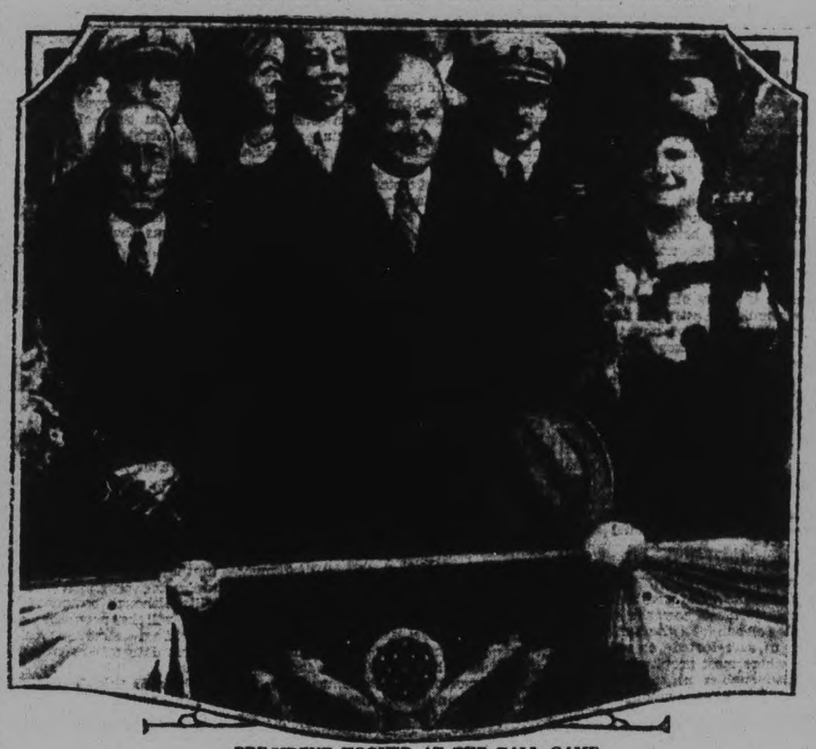
The first step in this direction will be a slash in the pay of players during the coming season which commences Nov. 11.

Charles W. King, Windsor, president of the League, was given authority to decide the percentage of salary reductions.

While the International moguls adopted a schedule the list of games will not be announced for a few days as several club owners requested a change in certain home dates and it is likely the schedule will be revised.

The tentative schedule calls for the opening games on Nov. 11 with the Cleveland Indians travelling to London and the Detroit Olympics testing the league champions at Buffalo. The other teams inaugurate the season a few days later. Each team will play 24 games at home and a like number abroad.

SEES CARDINALS WIN THE SECOND GAME



PRESIDENT HOOVER AT THE BALL GAME

Contrary to expectations, President Hoover didn't prove a mascot, as he has been in former series, for the Athletics at Philadelphia Oct. 5, but quite the reverse, the charging Cardinals, for a change, benefitting by his mystic powers. It was the first time that A's have lost in a world series when the chief of the nation has been in attendance. The above snap shows Mr. Hoover throwing out the first ball at Shibe Park. It wasn't a good toss, either Perhaps that's the reason why the Mackmen were knocked off.

SPORTS Day by Day

SOCCER, BASEBALL, GOLFING
AQUATIC, SOFTBALL, TRACK

CASUAL COMMENT

Yes, sir. It's a dull ball game that hasn't at least one home run injected somewhere. That's the way it seems these days while the World Series is on, and that's the way it was at every game we saw through the summer. Of course, a couple of triples and three or four doubles wasn't too bad, but after all, isn't a homer thrilling?

• • • • • • •

Well, offhand we'd trade Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Hack Wilson and Al Simmons out and out for Christy Mathewson or Walter Johnson—that's what we think of this epidemic of fence-busting sluggers that has grown up with the dynamite ball. In the days of real pitching, every player on the team had to be an all-round star, able to bunt or place hits, steal bases, and take advantage of every break.

• • • • • • •

Of course, every sport has opened up. They've had to, to keep satisfied the appetites of a thrill-hungry generation. Dempsey taught fans what real fighting meant, and that's all they want now. Sonnenburg opened up wrestling, and the game has been suddenly resurrected. Rugby, with the advent of the forward pass, is a far cry from the game it once was. The blue line passing in hockey has pepped that game up a great deal. And so on.

• • • • • • •

But we don't like the rabbit ball in baseball. In the days of Homerun Baker, ten or twelve four-baggers a year was quite an accomplishment, while Ty Cobb had to steal five or six dozen bases a year to show he was the fastest man in his league. Nowadays, they slap out fifty or so homers every year, but they don't pilfer so many sacks, because they don't need to. Oh, well, that's the way things go.

• • • • • • •

The World Series is developing into quite a battle, one of the best in years. There's no telling how it will turn out, but plenty of interest in every game is apparent all around town. And the radios are sure getting a big play. One thing, it looks as if "Pepper" Martin, Cards' centre gardener will be the big hero of it all.

• • • • • • •

With Rochester needing just one more win over St. Paul, the Wings seem to be sitting pretty in the Little World Series. The Saints haven't shown much since winning the American Association title, and tomorrow's contest may finish it up.

• • • • • • •

The first hockey game of the season will be played next Tuesday in Kitchener—an exhibition professional affair for relief. Players like Hainsworth, Hinsperger, Seibert, Osborne, Hines and Kuntz will swing into action along with others from that district.

• • • • • • •

This afternoon, St. George's, of Toronto, and Galt Terriers play the deciding game for the O.B.A.A. senior championship in Hamilton, and fans all over the province are wondering if the Galt outfit can defeat the McKenna team again this year. The winning team may, although it's not too probable, take part in the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles.

• • • • • • •

And speaking of the Olympic games, they may not be held next year at all. Several countries have asked for a postponement because of the expense involved during this wave of depression, and the Danish Olympic Committee has definitely decided not to participate for this reason. Los Angeles is a suitable spot for the States and Canada, but European countries look with disfavour on such a trip next year.

PLAYERS' SHARE LOWEST IN YEARS

Approximately $5,000 Will Go to Each Player on Winning Team

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 7. — (CP). Each winning player will receive $4,494.24 and each loser $2,989.49 as his share of the 1931 world series pool, if it is split 30 ways.

The Cardinals have already decided to cut their series "melon" on this basis but the Athletics may have fewer slices, thereby making each player's share larger.

The players' pool, derived from a big portion of gate receipts from the first four games only, amounts to $320,308.46. It is the smallest since 1922. hTe series rivals split 70 per cent. of this on a 60-40 basis. The other 30 percent goes to the clubs finishing second, third and fourth in each major league.

These clubs split $96,091.03 as follows: $24,022.75 to each of the second place teams, New York Giants and Yankees; $16,015.17 each to third place clubs, Washington Senators and Chicago Cubs; $8,007.58 each to fourth place outfits, Brooklyn and Cleveland.

FRANK HART HERE AGAIN

Three Boxing Bouts on Next Pro Card on October 15th.

PREPARING FINE SHOW.

With Thursday, October 15th, definitely decided upon as the date for the next big boxing and wrestling show at the Brock here, due to the plowing contest that week, Charles Hallet is bus, lining up some outstanding boxers. The card will consist of three boxing and a wrestling match.

One of the principals in the grappling go will be the popular Frank Hart. Mr. Hallat has not named his opponent as arrangements are incomplete just yet, but he will be a prominent light heavy pro wrestler, one who will be in Hart's class. Frankie has a large following here, right from the first bout in which a poor decision gave him his first reverse, and through the last exciting scrap in which he outclassed the tough Alex Kasaboski.

The three fights will bring together outstanding exponents of the cauliflower industry. With so many visitors here for the plowing matches, the local club is going to unusual trouble and expense to put on a fine show for the large crowd who will attend. The names of the boxers and Hart's grappling opponent, along with their matching and weights, will be announced in a few days when definite arrangements have been completed. Some of the pugs' names will surprise followers of the fisticuffing game.

Manchester Boys Learn Advertising

Municipal High School of Commerce Trains Students for Publicity Work.

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 7. —(CP)—Among the many facilities offered by the Manchester Municipal High School of Commerce for training for salesmanship are the courses organized to provide instruction for those desiring to enter, or who are engaged in, the advertising business. These courses have been arranged in consultation with the Manchester Publicity Association and are especially appropriate for students reading for the examination of the Advertising Association.

The students of these courses attend the Municipal High School of Commerce for market research, media, psychology, English, administration, and economics; the College of Tecnology for lay-out, reproduction, and letterpress, and the School of Art for principles and general knowledge of commercial art. The members of the lecturing staff have been very carefully chosen for their high professional qualifications and for their teaching ability.

Last year each of the classes of the intermediate course was well attended, and a considerable proportion of the students were successful in the Advertising Association's examination. This year a course for the final examination has been added, and it is expected that these publicity courses will be more popular than before.

International Games To Be Held At Kezar

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 7.—(C.P.)— William Coffman, district commissioner of the American Athletic Union, announced to-day that the British Empire-United States games will be held at Kezar stadium here following the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles.

The game will bring into competition British winners of track and field events against United States' winners.

Coffman said he expected the Prince of Wales would attend, since "for twenty years it has been customary for the Prince of Wales to present trophies to winners in these games."

Canadiens Victors Over Maple Leafs

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 7—Montreal Canadiens blasted the hopes of the Toronto Maple Leafs for the immediate possession of the championship of the International Professional Lacrosse League here last night by beating them 6 to 3, and forcing the series into the third and final game to be played at Toronto on Friday night. The Leafs won the first game at Toronto last week 7 goals to 6 after overtime.

Facing elimination last night, as Toronto took the first game last Friday, Canadiens tore into the attack and gradually made the score mount at the rate of two goals a period. Toronto were two goals behind the Montrealers the majority of the time, but were always dangerous.

SOCIAL UNREST WINS RECRUITS, LABOR WARNING

Human Scrap-heap Piled High Condemns Present System.

VANCOUVER MEETING.

Temperate Men Beginning to Speak in Different Tone.

(Associated Press Despatch)

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7.—Warning industry that "revolutions in the past grew out of distress and hunger, and the aristocracy never learned," William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, recently called upon America's organized workmen to add another point to the Bill of Rights — the right to work.

Responding to welcoming addresses by Canadian officials and tradesmen, President Green pledged the Federation to "maintain at any cost the friendship between the United States and Canada," and then launched into a rapid-fire outline of the aims and purposes of Labor as it began its fifty-first annual convention.

"Unrest Everywhere."

"Tremendous feeling of social unrest is developing everywhere," Green said. "Men who are temperate in the use of language are beginning to speak in no uncertain terms.

"Standards of life and living must be maintained on a high level if our institutions are to prevail. I must warn employers and leaders of industry against the life-destroying, heartless policy of wage-cuts.

"In my opinion the time has arrived when the representatives of labor can take a most advanced position."

Attacking what he termed "inequitable distribution of the earnings of industry," which permitted the building up of immense fortunes, Green called for a division of excess profits in the form of wages.

"The wage standard must be built up," he said. "The earnings of industry are most inequitably distributed. Instead of corporations declaring a 40 per cent dividend to stockholders, they should divide the profits with the workers who have earned it.

"If they refuse to listen, then we will go to the sovereign people through the ballots, and bring about a distribution of these large fortunes back to the people through the power of taxation.

"The Hunger Instinct."

"The great army of the unemployed stands as a menace to the existing order. No urge is as powerful as the hunger instinct. It cannot be controlled by social laws.

"In the United States we are facing the third workless winter. Savings were exhausted last winter.

"Shall we make paupers out of men strong, willing, anxious — begging for work?

"Men are afraid of banks. Men are afraid of unemployment. Men are afraid of wage-cutting. Their buying power is paralyzed, frozen. Men will not spend money.

"Eight million cannot buy. Forty million will not buy. Prosperity will never return until the buying power of the nation is restored."

One of the chief functions of organized labor of the United States and Canada, he said, "is to maintain at any cost the friendship between the two nations and show the world that it is possible for two nations to maintain a perpetual peace."

Asking if capitalism had failed, Green asked: "What shall we say of a system that put men in the prime of life on a human scrap-heap, and whose only remedy for depression is to cut wages and reduce the standard of living, so that men and women can buy less, use less, spend less? Shall we live in time when wealth is concentrated in the hands of a few while millions are starving"

CONTENTMENT

Contentment is a frame of mind That we, alas, too seldom find.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

There was contentment on the rock slide far up on the side of the high mountain, and contentment is, as Farmer Brown's Boy has said, something that we too seldom find. But little people who are called Pikas and Conies and sometimes Rock Rabbits, possessed it. Yes, sir, they did so. And being content they were happy, for happiness always goes with contentment. It is part of it.

To begin with they had a wonderful crop of hay, the finest kind of hay from their point of view, for not only was it perfectly sun-dried, which insured its sweetness and goodness for all the long Winter, but it was made up of those grasses and plants which they like best. It was not of just grasses alone. There were the tender stems of other plants, goldenrod, lupine, fireweed, nettles and some berry bushes.

"One needs variety," said Mrs. Little Chief. "No matter how good a food is one does get tired of it if there is no change. Now these grasses are delicious and make up the greater part of our hay, but they will taste all the better for having these other plants mixed in with them. Really, my dear, it is the finest hay we ever have put up, and there is plenty of it, even if the winter should be extra long."

"True, my dear, and now that we have it all stored away we haven't a thing to worry about," replied Little Chief. "I don't envy any one in all the Great World."

"Nor do I," said Mrs. Little Chief. "We have everything that any one can desire, a safe, comfortable home in the finest place in all the Great World, plenty to eat, our work for the season done and time to sleep, play and do whatever we want to. What more could anybody ask?"

"Nothing," replied Little Chief. "I don't know why Old Mother Nature should have favored us so. For instance, just see how she covered the soles of our feet with fur. That makes us sure-footed on slippery rocks, where most people would slip, and also enables us to run about without making a sound, to say nothing of keeping our feet warm in cold weather. No, sir, I don't see how any one could ask for more than we have."

Now, as you know, these little people were living on or in a rock slide, a great jumble of rocks and stones high up on the side of a mountain where no trees grew and where the cold winds swept across from snow-covered peaks. To most folks it would have been the most dreary and inhospitable place in all the Great World. Yet the Little Chiefs thought it perfect, and because they thought it perfect, and because they thought so and were filled with contentment it was. You see, they had learned to live there and to make the most of all that they had.

As I have told you before they looked much like baby rabbits with round instead of long ears, but could you have seen them working as Farmer Brown's Boy did you would have known at once that they couldn't be even distantly related to Peter Rabbit, for they were altogether too thrifty for such a thing to be. There is no thrift in Peter Rabbit or any of his family. Peter never has learned to make the most of his opportunities and never will. He eats what he wants to-day and trusts to luck that he will be as fortunate to-morrow. So Peter has fat times and lean times; times as in summer, when he can stuff himself whenever he will with all sorts of good things, and times, as in winter, when he almost never knows what it is to have a full stomach.

"One needs variety," said Mrs. Little Chief

In dry sheltered places down under the rocks Mr. and Mrs. Little Chief had stored their hay. Not for a single day would they go hungry and wonder where the next meal would come from. Never would they have to go out in bitter weather to look for it. The drifting snow would never get down into their under-rock home. Only Shadow the Weasel could follow them there and Shadow never had visited that slide. Not even a Bear could dig them out, for they had wisely made their bedroom under a ledge of solid rock. So there was no fear in that home, and when they were outside they had full faith in their eyes and ears to warn them in time of the few enemies that might visit that rock slide.

So contentment filled their hearts. They had worked hard when work was to be done and now they could rest and play and take sun baths. Contentment was their reward.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10.35 a.m. to noon, from 3.15 p.m. to 5.45 p.m., and from 9.10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger hours are from 7.30 a.m. to 9.40 a.m., and from 6.05 p.m. to 8.20 p.m.

More conspicuous for domestic changes and events than changes in the business or professional sphere, October 7th promises, astrologically, much in the way of achievement along steady and progressive lines. The benefits, although postponed in productivity, will be none the less sure and abiding. Marriages celebrated on this date will be crowned with success.

Children born on this October 7th will be tactful, ingenious and clever. They will be "romancers," especially where their individual activities are concerned. Events, in which they have taken part, will be exaggerated. Whilst no outstanding success is foretold, they will not be failures. Their natures will be optimistic and cheerful.

You, if born on October 7th, would rather be a big frog in a little pond, than a little frog in a big pond. Unless you are the hub of things—no matter how trivial they may be—you feel down-hearted and dispirited. You, of course, would like to be a big frog in a big pond, but very wisely realize that this is beyond your limitations. You are more the small village, than the large city type, and will act wisely if you keep within your own natural confines.

You are not equipped for a prolonged and stiff struggle. You may eventualise as a fairly good amateur, but you will never become a professional. You are shrewd, fairly intelligent, honest, and industrious. You are a "sticker," and not disposed to grasp opportunity, unless it is handed to you on a silver platter. You are also a "stickler," and enthusiastically subscribe to orthodoxy and convention. You are imitative, but never original.

If a woman, it will be rather hard for you, at any time, to break the fetters of "Main Street." You should make an effort, however, to rise superior to the impulse of gossip, and to remain silent when speech would hurt. Both October 7th men and women are destined to marry early, and their lives will be full of little happenings and much monotony.

PROMOTION FOR HUGH CAMPBELL

Appointed Manager of Parent Plant of Johnson Motors.

STII MANAGER HERE.

Having earned remarkable success here as manager of the Canadian Johnson Motors Co., Ltd., Hugh M. Campbell has been recalled to his company's home office in Waukegan, Illinois, to take charge of the parent plant as general manager.

While this announcement heralds Mr. Campbell's definite departure from Peterborough, he will retain the managership of the local plant along with his other duties for some months hence and during that time will make periodic visits to the plant here.

Mr. Campbell has been manager of the Peterborough plant of his company since it was first located here three years ago. The marked advancement of the Johnson Motor Company's Canadian business is a result of his organizing ability and knowledge of the motor boat industry.

Soon after his coming here, Mr. Campbell began to take an active interest in the affairs of the community, his efforts were especially directed toward sports. He had a large part in the establishment of the Canada Power Boat Association's course at Clear Lake for sea fleas and other fast outboard moto rtrials. In the attempt to re-establish senior ball here this summer, Mr. Campbell was a leader, and was president of the senior club.

Mr. Campbell will retain his residence here until the spring at least and Mrs. Campbell will reside here until that time.

STUDENTS GET HOLIDAY OCT. 16

Half Day is Granted to Permit Attendance at Plowing Match.

BOARD OPINION SPLIT.

Following a great deal of discussion over a suggestion put forward to the Board of Education by J. J. Duffus, chairman of the local committe in charge of arrangements for the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration, it was decided by the Board to grant a half holiday on the afternoon of October 16 to pupils of the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, and to allow the senior pupils of public schools to take a half day to attend the plowing match if they so desired, and providing they would be accompanied by an adult person.

Mr. Duffus placed the suggestion before the Board in the form of a letter in which he pointed out the great educational advantages to be derived by children and others in a visit to such an event.

It was felt by certain members of the Board that there would be a danger to children attending the match in view of the large crowds that were expected to attend.

It was moved by Dr. A. Moir and seconded by E. F. Reid that no action be taken. R. T Lillico moved an amendment which carried and which ensures a half holiday on the 16 for Collegiate pupils. It was also remarked by Mr. Lillico that by an arrangement with the Automobile Club and Frank G. Stinson assistance would be provided so far as transportation was concerned for children wishing to avail themselves of an opportunity of attending the match and demonstration.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN LOCAL PICTURE

Recess Scenes Included in Film for Regent.

From the handling and distribution of milk to children's activities during school recess has been the scope of the work covered by the camerman of Metropolitan Film Productions in the making of the civic and industrial motion picture which that company is producing in Peterborough for the Regent Theatre.

Location experts of the producers announced that with the cooperation they are receiving here and the enthusiasm with which the project is being received by all who have been approached by them on the matter, the completed production promises to be one which everyone in Peterborough who has the interests of the city at heart will enjoy seeing when it is given its premier display at the Regent.

The producers have made many such pictures as the one being produced here and they have been warmly and appreciatively received wherever shown.

After the display of a production of this kind in Niagara Falls, Ontario, recently, C. M. Willex, District Governor of Rotary International for this district made the statement that "it was a great thing for any community," in his estimation.

The general idea is a great asset in the stimulation of interest in any community for many visitors to every community are often found to know more about that community derived from their visit than many of the residents.

It is the intention to cover as far as practical everything of outstanding interest in the city in the production and no pains is being spared by the Regent Theatre management to make the film one that will do Peterborough justice.

MARK ST. CHURCH CONCERT ENJOYED

Delightful Program by Pearl Newton and Thos. McClay.

Under the auspices of the Women's Association of Mark Street United Church, a very successful concert was held last evening in the church, with Miss Pearl Newton of Toronto as the main entertainer on the pfogram, assisted by Thomas McClay, tenor singer, and Charles Hood, pianist and accompanist, both of Toronto.

The Rev. Mr. Daniel introduced those taking part on the program, which was varied and very entertaining. Miss Newton, who is an elocutionist of charm and great ability, especially in her impersonations of various types, delighted her audience with readings, both grave and gay. Her skill as a delineator of character parts was very evident in "Mrs. Brown's Change and Rest," by Nellie McClung. Her hearers enjoyed immensely the acting that brought clearly to their perceptions the different people in the well-known skit.

Miss Newton recited also "The Independent Pair," "I Wish I Was a Preacher," "The Red Girl's Test," and "Canadian Born," both of the latter rendered in Indian costume. "The Text that Filled the Case," "Bridget O'Brien," "The Irish Woman," and "Toronto Public School," and "Cheering the Invalid."

Charles Hood, the accompanist of the evening, opened the program with a well-played piano selection, "The Dance of the Demons," and Mr. McClay, the possessor of a fine, rich tenor voice, sang very charmingly several numbers, including "I love a Lassie" (in Scotch costume), "Bonnie Mary of Argyle," "Little Town in the Old County Down," "Believe Me, if All Those Endearing Young Charms," "On the Road to Mandalay," "When Vesper Bells Are Ringing," and "Once in the Dear Dead Days Beyond Recall."

For Miss Newton's rendition of "A Tale of Long Ago," with piano accompaniment, Miss Jean Hurl sang behind the scenes, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Fining an unemployed man for keeping a dog without a license, Judge P. S. Bell, in Belfast, Ireland, Summons Court, ordered the defendant to take out a license, and stipulated that people receiving city aid "have no right to be paying dog licenses out of public funds.

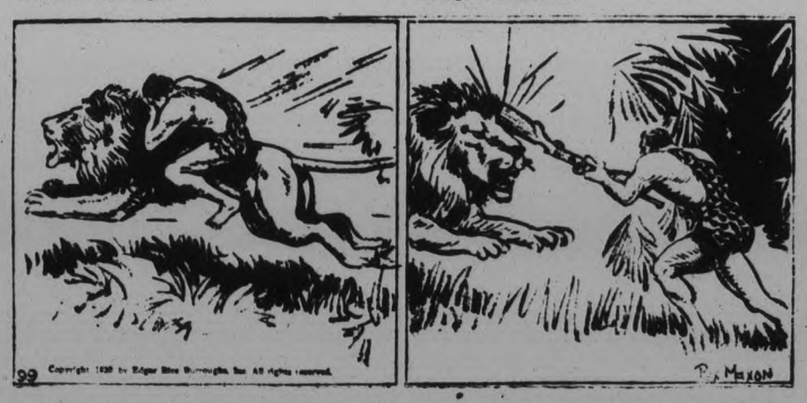
TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR NO. 99 By Edgar Rice Burroughs
(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

The lion was crouching as Tarzan discovered the tragic tableau. Numa was almost beneath the branch upon which the ape-man stood, unarmed! There was not even a moment's hesitation upon the part of the latter. So hopeless had seemed the situation to her that Jane Clayton but stood in lethargic apathy awaiting the impact of the huge body that would hurl her to the ground. What use to attempt escape? As well face the hideous end as to be dragged down in futile flight.

She did not even close her eyes to shut out the frightful aspect of that snarling face. And so it was that as she saw the lion preparing to charge; she saw, too, a bronzed and mighty figure leap from an overhanging tree at the instant that Numa rose in his spring. Wide went her eyes in wonder and incredulity, as she beheld this seeming apparition risen from the dead. The lion was forgotten—her own peril—everything save the wonderous miracle of this strange recrudesence.



With parted lips, with palms tight pressed against her heaving bosom, the young woman leaned forward large-eyed, enthralled by the vision of her dead mate. She saw the sinewy form leap to the back of the lion, hurtling against the leaping lion like a huge, animate battering-ram. She saw the carnivore brushed aside as he was almost upon her, and in that instant she realized that no wraith could thus turn the charge of a maddened lion with brute force greater than the brute's. Tarzan, her Tarzan lived!

A cry of unspeakable gladness broke from her lips, only to die in terror as she saw the utter defenselessness of her mate, and realized that the lion had recovered himself and was turning upon Tarzan in mad lust for vengeance. But Tarzan's quick glance had seen at his feet the discarded rifle of an Abyssinian, and as the lion reared to seize this rash man-thing who had dared interpose its puny strength between Numa and his prey, the heavy stock whirled through the air and splintered upon the broad forehead of the lion.

PUPIL AWARDS ARE PRESENTED

Social Evening Held Under Auspices of Confederation School Association.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAM.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at Confederation School on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Home and School Association. Mrs. T. Monk president, occupied the chair and welcomed the parents and friends. The important item of the evening was the presentation of diplomas to the pupils of the school who had been successful in passing the entrance examination. Inspector Copp handed the certificates to the following successful scholars. Annie Burhan, (honors). Olive Cookman, Eileen Doig, Ralph Douglas (honors), Eric Douglas, Kermit Duff, Norma Edwards, Ruth Firr (honors), Jane Harvie, Zalda Harvie, Isabella Jackson, James Kitchen, Kenneth Wood.

Mr. Copp gave a very interesting and helpful address, particularly to those who were carrying the laurels that evening. He advised them to carry on their learning. The fact that they were gaining entrance certificates did not signify that their knowledge was complete but rather that they had arrived at that stage in life when they could think more for themselves. He advised them to continue their studies and so grow to be good citizens. Preceding the presentation of certificates a program by the scholars was much enjoyed, the items being as follows: "O Canada" Business the president. Piano solo Jean Meeks Recitation, May Pickles. Quartette "The Church in the Wildwood" L. Carson, G. Harvie J. Hawthorn, and G. Juniper. Harmonica selections E. Hockie D. Pilling, and G. Juniper. Recitation, Viola Edwards Chorus, "Love at Home" Girls of Mrs. Jackson's Room Duet Viola Edwards and Madeline Gilbert. Play "Tom Tulliver at School" G. Martin, E. Young, and A. Pilling. Piano solo Gerald Bullied Recitation, Willow Wilford. Piano solo, Mary Parkes, Duet Jim Hawthorn and Grenville Juniper.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the donation of $1 25 to the association by the girls of the Joy Seekers' Club. This small organization is carried on entirely by the girls, whose sole object is to give joy to others. The club has contributed in all $5.30 to the association for their winters work articles being made and sold to raise the money. They deserve great credit and every encouragement. Thanks to the guest speaker and artists was conveyed by the president after which the singing of the National Anthem brought proceedings to a close.

WAR CLOUDS GATHERING OVER CHINA

NOMINATIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN ON OCTOBER 16

Political Complications Prevent Estimates of Strength of Groups.

LABOR IN THE FIELD.

Has More Than 500 Candidates—Liberals Stand Alone.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Writer)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(C. P. Cable)—Candidates for the British general election will be nominated on Oct. 16. Had the times been anything like normal it would have been possible even today, the day after dissolution, to give a rough indication of the strength of each division assembled in line of battle, but nothing like that is feasible in the present confused circumstances.

Except for the Labor party, united in opposition to the National government forces, the marshalling of forces will remain largely in the hands of the political outposts, great and small, throughout the country, not with the higher commands in London. The question of avoiding as far as possible fights between members of the different wings of the National government is a question to be governed mainly by local circumstances.

Labor's Preparation

At the moment the Labor opposition has more than 500 candidates in the field. On the other hand the Conservative candidates number about 500. To these may be added 13 members of the old Labor party who remained true to the National government, and another 30 candidates could be found to add to these. Liberal members of the old parliament who have rallied around Sir John Simon in support of the National government number 25 and could draw a couple of dozen recruits, if some contribution to their personal expenses, was forthcoming. This would give, roughly, a total of 600 candidates for the government.

Rt. Hon David Lloyd George is understood to have refused any aid from the Liberal war sheet for those Liberal candidates supporting the National government. What the strength of the Lloyd Georgian Liberal candidates will be is uncertain, although he is expected to put twenty or thirty in the field, pledged to free trade.

Labor is expected to fight all ten Manchester seats, of which they held five in the last house. Labor will also defend all three seats in the neighboring borough of Salford, won by Labor in 1929.

In Manchester E. D. Simon, Liberal member of the last house for Withington, is the only one retiring. Philip Guedalla, well known writer on political and historical matters, who unsuccessfully contested Rusholme, Manchester, in 1929—his fourth attempt to enter parliament—is expected to run in place of Simon.

Sir William Jowitt, attorney-general in the Labor government and also in the National Government, will not seek re-election in Preston. In the last elections he was elected as a Liberal and joined the Labor party immediately afterwards. Instead he proposes to run for one of the seats of the English combined universities, where Sir Martin Conway is retiring.

Runciman In Field

Walter Runciman, famous shipping magnate, has decided after all to seek re-election as Liberal member for St. Ives, Cornwall. He had previously announced he would retire, this his wife would contest the seat. Mrs. Runciman was an unsuccessful Liberal candidate in Tavistock last election.

Electors of Colne Valley, the seat of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will likely be wooed by four candidates now that Mr. Snowden is retiring. Ernest Marklaw, a Grimsby fish merchant, will be the Labor candidate nominated by former supporters of Mr. Snowden. Col. Lascelles, a native of New Zealand, will be the Conservative candidate. Edward Mallilieu, who has family connections in this part of Yorkshire, will be the Liberal and Captain W. Bagnall of Saddleworth, who also possesses some personal influence, appears as an Independent. All four are newcomers to the division politically. It is pointed out that while the Labor man will doubtless be strongly supported, much of the support of Mr. Snowden in previous elections came from voters whose normal political creed did not embrace the gospel of Socialism.

Tractor Plowing 3 Furrows is Guided Around 30-Acre Field Solely by Radio

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 8.—It may not be long now before farmers throughout the country will be doing their ploughing by radio.

J. J. Lynch of Miles City, Mont., demonstrated this possibility yesterday by plowing around a thirty acre field with a tractor operated by radio. Two hundred expert electricians, radio operators and business men from most of the Central States, witnessed the demonstration. They said it was the first time in history that a tractor, so operated, had actually plowed ground.

The machine carried three fourteen inch plows with a keyboard operated in an automobile thirty feet behind the tractor. Lynch started the tractor with one key, adjusted the clutch with another, guided it with a third one and regulated the speed of the engine with still another.

Pinch of Economy Nips All Britons

Workers and Jobless to Feel Effect of New Rigors.

CHANGES IN THE DOLE.

LONDON, Oct. 8. (C. P. Cable).—Workers and unemployed alike will feel the pinch of the new economy proposals tomorrow night, which is payday both in the factories and for the unemployed who receive unemployment benefits.

Some nine million workers will find another six cents taken off their pay, this being the increase in their regular contribution to the unemployed insurance fund. Employers and the state are also increasing their contributions. The housemaid and the farmer are not affected.

And the unemployed will find their benefits cut by ten percent. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has said the cost of living was 11½ percent lower, so that in reality the unemployed will be a little better off But it is cold comfort.

How Dole is Affected

Up to this week, when the new unemployed fund regulations go into effect, the employed workers have been contributing 14 cents weekly in the case of men and 12 cents in the case of women to the fund. The employer paid 16 cents per workman and 14 cents per working woman.

Now employer and worker alike pay 20 cents a man, 18 cents a woman. The state pays the rest.

As for the unemployed, the adult man "on the dole" receives $3.66 a week instead of $4.08. The adult woman gets $3.24 instead of $3.60. Adult dependents receive $1.92 instead of $2.16. Dependent children are still allowed the rate of 43 cents.

Thus the married man with his wife and children receives $6.54 instead of $7.20.

STREET RAILWAYMEN OPPOSE CUT.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 8 (C.P.).—The ten per cent. cut in wages of 800 employees of the Winnipeg Electric Company, to become effective November 1, will be opposed "to the limit" by the Street Railwaymen's Union, it was decided in a resolution passed at a mass meeting of employees yesterday.

Railwayman Killed By Shunting Engine

TRENTON, Ont., Oct. 8 (C.P.).—Crushed beneath the wheels of a C.P.R. yard engine which his son, Merven Pacey, was firing, William Pacey, 65, was terribly mutilated and died in the Belleville Hospital early to-day.

Pacey was knocked down by a shunting train, backing east, and dragged along 50 feet. When picked up, it was found his left foot had been cut above the ankle and his left hand was horribly mutilated, but he was still conscious.

Pacey was an old employee of the company, and was to have concluded his service at the end of October.

Trenton police and Dr. W. B. Crowe, coroner, have investigated, and called an inquest for Thursday.

GANDHI ADMITS HE HAS FAILED

Suggests Appointment of Judicial Tribune in Moslem-Hindu Case

STILL HAS HOPES

LONDON, Oct. 8 (A.P.)—Mahatma Gandhi announced to-day at the meeting of the Indian Minorities Committee, presided over by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, that he had failed completely to settle the Hindu-Moslem communal problem.

He qualified his statement, however, by saying that this does not mean that he has abandoned hope of ever arriving at a solution of this issue. "I propose," said he, "to use the present failure as a stepping stone to success."

He added that the work of trying to solve the communal problem must continue and that the failure thus far must not be permitted to block the other work of the Round Table conference.

He suggested appointment of a judicial tribunal at the end of the conference to examine the claims of the various communities which constitute India's population.

FIVE YEARS AND TEN LASHES FOR KIDNAPPING CONSTABLE

James Shortt, of London, Ont., Sentenced at Stratford.

JULY ESCAPADE.

STRATFORD Ont., Oct. 8 (C.P.).—James "Red" Shortt, the London youth who pleaded guilty a few days ago to a charge of kidnapping Traffic Officer M. Hodgson of Walkerton last July, was sentenced by Police Magistrate J. A. Makins here to-day to five years in Kingston Penitentiary and ten strokes of the lash.

Shortt was the companion of Amie Lamontagne of Toronto in the escapade of last July when the pair kidnapped Officer Hodgson and forced him to drive their car for hundreds of miles. Arriving at Mitchell Lamontagne held up Fawn's garage at the point of a revolver and wounded a youth who was in the garage at the time. He escaped, but was caught next morning and is now serving a ten-year term in Kingston. He was also to receive 16 lashes. On the night of the hold-up Shortt was left to watch the traffic officer and on hearing the shots from Lamontagne's gun, he forced the officer to drive away from the scene.

Shortt was not caught until a few weeks ago, when he was arrested in Toronto on another charge and recognized as the man wanted in the kidnapping case.

SEAWAY PARLEY TO BE RESUMED AT EARLY DATE

Ottawa and Washington Announce Treaty Negotiations Coming.

TEN YEARS OF TALK.

Premier Bennett Gave St. Lawrence Pledge When He Was Elected.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 8. —(CP)—After ten years of discussion off and on, concrete developments towards the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway are taking place. From Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, and President Hoover in Washington, came simultaneous announcements last night that negotiations will be initiated at once between the governments of Canada and the United States looking to the framing of a treaty for the development of the St. Lawrence.

Start on the work of construction early next summer providing employment on a huge scale is quite probable. The fact that the United States government has accepted the suggestion of Canada for a verbal exchange in the early stages of negotiations should expedite the making of a treaty. Premier Bennett pledged his government in the general election of last year to the building of the St. Lawrence.

Cost Half Billion

The estimated cost of the entire work is $500,000,000 approximately which will likely be shared equally as between the two countries. The Welland canal, which Canada has been building at a cost of $125,000,000 will be part of the main scheme, and it is anticipated that this expenditure will be deducted from the Dominion's contribution of $250,000,000.

The treaty to be negotiated between the two countries, it is expected, will be in shape to be placed before the Canadian parliament and the United States congress and senate for ratification during February or March.

FAIL TO COME TO AGREEMENT

No Understanding Reached at Franco-British Discussion of Financial Crisis.

VIEWS EXCHANGED.

PARIS, Oct. 8 (A.P.) — Lord Reading, British Foreign Secretary, concluded his discussion of world financial problems with Premier Laval and other French statesmen to-day, after which he said no understanding had been reached since "We do not know what will happen in the future."

"I have explained to Premier Laval, Foreign Minister Briand and Minister of Finance Flandin the situation in Great Britain, the direction in which we hope things will develop and how touched the British public is over the material aid the French have given us," Lord Reading said.

"The French gave me an equally frank and full account of their views of the situation."

The British Government, he said, is exceedingly happy at the impending voyage of the French Premier to Washington. The part United States can play in world reconstruction is enormous, he added, and he wished the French Premier Laval well.

Lord Reading said he was unaware of any plan for Great Britain to be represented at the conversations between Premier Laval and President Hoover, and that in his opinion the time was too short for an English representative to be present.

The head of one of France's greatest banks told the Asosciated Press that the French bankers went to the United States so that they could study President Hoover's financial proposals before Premier Laval arrived.

"Prolongation of the Hoover moratorium," he said, "would involve a loss for France of two and a half billion francs yearly. This would mean the French Government must find an equal sum in order to balance the budget. I don't know where these sums can be found. The Government must decide this in order to avoid a fresh burden on French industry and commerce by increasing taxes."

MACDONALD SENDS OUT CALL ASKING BRITAIN'S ELECTORS TO ASSURE GOV'T FREE HAND

Henderson Replies Gov't Has No Policy—Asking for Blank Cheque.

ISSUES CLEARING UP.

Baldwin and Samuel Issue Manifestos To-night—Lloyd George to Act.

LONDON, Oct. 8. (C. P. Cable)—The issues are being clarified. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Field-Marshal of the consolidated National Government forces, has issued his general appeal for support of the National Government. Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative wing, and Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal wing, will issue their own manifestos to-night following up that of the Prime Minister.

The Labor Party's stand is already defined, defined more clearly perhaps than that of the component parts of the National Government. Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Parliamentary leader of the Labor party last night replied to Prime Minister MacDonald's manifesto with the challenge: "the decaying fabric of socialism cannot be patched up any further. We must go forward decisively to a socialist society."

Lloyd George to Broadcast

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, titular head of the Liberal party, is expected to broadcast his views on the campaign issues shortly from his sick room at Churt in the Surrey Hills. But the Liberals have three voices in this campaign. Sir John Simon, erstwhile staunch free trader who has turned protectionist, who broke personally with Lloyd George some months ago, declared last night that now was the time to show the Prime Minister that if he has lost the Socialist machine he has gained the party backing of his fellow-countrymen. Sir John claims the support of 25 Liberal members of the last Parliament. Sir Herbert Samuel will speak for the Liberal members of the National Government. Lloyd George will speak for his own faction—and Lloyd George controls the Liberal war chest.

Address Broadcast

The Prime Minister followed up his keynote with a broadcast address in which he declared that unless the excess of imports over exports were stopped, the state would become bankrupt. To stop the adverse balance, it might be necessary to impose tariffs or prohibitions on certain luxuries. "Your duty is plain—the nation first," he said. "I would that every party would join up and make the world behold a nation united in national defense but if that is not to be,

MONEY STOLEN FROM GARAGES

Two Tills at Havelock Pried Open During Night.

WATCHMAN ELUDED.

Two public garages in Havelock were broken into last night by burglars and a small sum of money and a few other things stolen. The losses weren't discovered until this morning, and Provincial Constable Sylvester went down from Peterborough to investigate.

Entrance was gained to R. J. McCutcheon's garage through a big west window which was pried up. Mr. McCutcheon could not say just what had been taken, but thought a number of tools had disappeared. No check had been made early this morning to ascertain the extent of his loss.

Taking advantage of an unlocked door in a showroom of James Wilde's to break the glass in the partition door and enter the adjoining garage of H. Williams, a thief or thieves rifled a till of a small sum of money and escaped. There is no way of telling just how much money was there at the time, but Mr. Williams did not think it could be very much.

The work in both cases seemed to be by the same person, and was done, apparently, by some one familiar with both places. This fact is further borne out when it became known that Mr. McCutcheon's large Newfoundland watchdog, which is always on hand, had been at the home of Orville Saunders—a brother-in-law—at Belmont the past few days. Some one knowing this evidently took advantage and broke into the garage.

A watchman, paid by Havelock business places, and living in Norwood, had toured the business section around 1.30 and everything seemed all right at this time.

Pours Gas on Fire; Chinese Girl Dies Of Terrible Burns

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 8—Geam Lee, 16-year-old local Chinese girl, died in the General Hospital early to-day as the result of terrible burns to her body, received yesterday morning when a can of gasoline exploded in the rear of her father's laundry. At the time of her admittance to the hospital, little hope was held for her recovery, so severe were the burns. She mistook a can of gasoline for one of coal oil, in starting the fire in a rear room. It is not known whether or not an inquest will be held.

REQUEST WORK AT CITY HALL

Croup of Unemployed Dispersed by Police Here To-day.

MAYOR DENNE AWAY.

Peterborough witnessed its first demonstration of unemployment and unrest this morning, when about forty men paraded to the City Building and demanded work or transportation to the Provincial Government camps in the North.

Informed that the city official whom they were seeking to lay their demands before was not in the City Buildings, the gang of troublemakers stomped over to Mayor Denne's store on Water Street.

Dispersed by Police.

Rallying their forces outside the store, they demanded to see the Mayor. Police constables and detectives had watched the progress of the parade and at this time decided to take a hand. They ordered the group to disperse. With a few low-toned mutterings and threats the gang of men separated.

Later a smaller group gathered outside the Provincial Employment Bureau on Charlotte Street but these, too, were dispersed with little ado.

"Tip-off" Wednesday.

Word spread over the grape vine wireless yesterday afternoon that there was going to be a Red demonstration this morning. The word reached police ears and Chief Newhall had his full force on duty at 9 o'clock to-day prepared for eventualities.

Before 9 o'clock an element of the city's unemployed commenced to assemble in ones and twos on Confederation Square corner on George Street. They stood about talking, apparently waiting for a sign from their leader.

About 9.15, the number having grown to about forty, the group crossed to the east side of George Street and paraded in twos and threes, with little or no order down the sidewalk to Simcoe Street. They then marched to the City Engineer's office, where they voiced their demands of work or railway fares to the North.

The girl on duty informed them that Engineer Parsons was out of the city. Without delay, the men decided to talk to Mayor Denne, who, however, was out of the city on relief affairs.

Outside the Mayor's store they were dispersed without any trouble or hint of violence by several constables.

Police in Force.

The full force of police waited on duty at the station until late in the morning, prepared if the unemployed decided to reform their ranks, and renew their short-lived demonstration.

Dick Ruskin, second-hand dealer on Aylmer Street, was held by Chief Newhall for questioning. He was charged with being the ringleader of the parade, but denied this. Warned to go home and confine his future activities to his business, Ruskin was allowed to go.

Chief Newhall stated that he knew nearly every man who had graced the ranks of the paraders.

Police believe that some of the Red agitation is spreading from the "jungles" about the south-end of the city. In future it is probable that police will visit the "jungles" daily, and that members of the wandering fraternity will be ordered to keep moving.

Chief Newhall stated that handwritten bills announcing the unemployed demonstration had been circulated yesterday and the day before. The bills, he said, urged the men to assemble in Confederation Square to gain their rights.

Thirty Bombs Dropped on Chinese Town—Casualties Unreported.

MILITARY ACTIVITY.

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)— Rengo news agency received word from Mukden to-day saying Chinese reports indicated that Chang Hsueh-Liang, Governor of Manchuria under the Chinese Nationalist regime, was concentrating military forces at Chinchow.

The latter city is on the Peiping-Mukden railway and about 125 miles south-west of Mukden, Chang's capital, which has been held by Japanese troops since their occupation of Southern Manchuria September 18.

Assembling Infantry.

Rengo's informant indicated Chang was assembling two brigades of infantry and several detachments of artillery in the Chinchow region.

A Mukden report to the Tokyo newspaper Nichinichi said the commander of Japanese forces in Manchuria was preparing to make an attack in the direction of Chinchow on the ground that the Chinese concentration was endangering Japan's military position.

The War Office here said it had no confirmation of either report.

DROP 36 BOMBS.

PEIPING, China, Oct. 8.—(A.P.)—J. G. Thomson, British manager of Peiping-Mukden Railroad, reported to-day that 12 Japanese airplanes had dropped thirty-six bombs on the town of Chinchow, 150 miles south of Mukden, inflicting an undetermined number of casualities.

He said the bombs were chiefly directed at the university of buildings which temporarily house the headquarters of the Manchurian Provincial Government. One bomb was said to have hit a railway service car and killed two Chinese servants while another struck a locomotive shed. Telegraphic communication with the town was interrupted.

LABOR DEMANDS JOB INSURANCE

American Federation Proposes Unemployment Reserve Fund.

DISCUSS DRY LAW.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 8—Figuratively shedding its coat, the American Federation of Labor toiled to bring controversal issues into the open for discussion to-day.

The newest resolution, introduced under special permission of the convention, demanded Government employment assurance, work insurance financed by State and Federal aid, creation of a gigantic reserve fund to support the unemployed in crises, shorter working hours, State control of industry, and a "long range plan of public works."

Whether the A.F.L. will adhere to its stand for 2.75 per cent. beer or advocate outright repeal of the Volstead Act and 18th Amendment, and how Labor's remedy for economic ills of the world will be prescribed are to be determined during the next few days.

GREAT INCREASE IN EXHIBITORS AT MADOC FAIR

Attendance Estimated at 7,000—Cattle Shown Totalled 160.

ENTRIES DOUBLED.

Weather Threatened All Day —Occasional Showers During Day.

MADOC, Oct. 8.—Madoc Fall Fair goes on record as the biggest and best in the long history of big and prosperous fairs for Madoc and vicinity. The threatening clouds of the early morning followed later by intermitten showers kept the large crowds from gathering in the early part of the day, but as the morning advanced and the clouds parted for brief periods of sunshine, the hopes of all were fulfilled as the grounds filled, and all parking space was at a premium. According to latest reports the gate receipts were equal, if not slightly greater than last year, which means a record crowd, as school children were admitted free.

The bright day of Tuesday made for splendid exhibits in all classes, and there were many new exhibitors, while each class showed a great increase in the number of exhibits, in some cases these were doubled, while in many of the ladies' departments the exhibits were trebled, making the work of the judges no sinecure.

All departments of cattle, horses, sheep, pigs, chickens and all poultry showed a similar increase, so that the Madoc Fair officials can justly be complimented on the general improvement of the fair in all its departments.

A Bigger Midway

The Midway was "bigger and better than ever," and the business never seemed to flag from early morning until late at night, when the crowd simply shifted to downtown and thronged the Masonic Hall where Arlie Marks and her well-known show were busy, also the Empire Theatre, where Bert Johnston has entertained old and young for three nights with his wonderful feats of mystery and strength.

At the Armouries, the younger crowd tripped the light fantastic toe until the wee hours of another day to the excellent music provided by Charlie Allen and his aggregation of musicians so everybody was happy in spite of the rain which threatened to make a very wet end of a very busy day.

In the large exhibition hall, the school children's work was especially attractive, and a large display made, both of the regular school work in drawing, writing, weed collections, modelling in plasticine, paper cutting, etc., but also in sewing, manual training work and cookery.

The Domestic Manufacture class was crowded, and the work all of high order; while the Home Cooking will soon need a building to itself, so large was the exhibit. Attracting special attention was the very complete display of painting, and china, also the display of novelties in several varieties, while the domestic manufactures of quilts in their many classes, and comforters were well worthy to be exhibited anywhere.

The new sheds on the grounds for the placing of cattle drew forth many exclamations and much admiration of the growth of the Fair, and the usefulness fully tested by the splendid display of cattle.

The many games of chance all did a fine business during the day, while the many stands with cider, soft drinks, ice cream, etc., all got their share of the public attention.

Special mention should be made of the great profusion of flowers which made a specially bright welcome at the entrance of the hall. Cut flowers were there of every variety, while the exhibit of roses alone were worth much attention. The potted flowers were of many varieties, and of the very best of each variety.

The attendance at the Madoc Fair is estimated at over seven thousand; the horse races better than ever; the entry of cattle about 160, and all classes of live stock filled to capacity.

Bank of England Director

EDWARD PEACOCK HELPED MAKE HISTORY

Edward Robert Peacock, a native of Glengarry County, Ontario, and a former master at Upper Canada College in Toronto, was one of the two "very forceful characters" who applied "the actual pressure" on Premier MacDonald and Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden when interests behind the Bank of England decided that financial assistance must be sought from France and the United States and that a national government was desirable. Such at least is the testimony of Commander Kenworthy, a man in the inner circles of the Parliamentary Labor group. Mr. Peacock served his financial apprenticeship in Canada, but has since become a resident of London, where he is a member of the powerful banking house of Barings and also a director of the Bank of England. In the layout Mr. Peacock is at the right. Also seen is Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson—former Foreign Secretary and widely known as "Uncle Arthur"—who led the revolt against Ramsay MacDonald's capitulation to the international financiers and who succeeded him in the leadership of the Labor party.

Hoover's 6-Point Program

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 8.—President Hoover's six point program:

1—Creation of a half-billion dollar private credit agency to handle credits unacceptable to the reserve banks.

2—Liquidation of some of the frozen assets of insolvent banks.

3—Appointment of regional bankers committees to aid generally in credit expansion.

4—Liberalization of the rules to permit reserve banks to handle a wider variety of securities.

5—If necessary, creation of a Government credit agency similar to the old war finance corporation.

5—Strengthening of the resources to further accommodate the farmer.

FRENCH BANKER SAILS FOR U. S.

Farnier, Accompanied by Lacour-Gayet Will Discuss Financial Situation.

HINT BRITAIN BE ASKED

PARIS, October 8 (C.P.). — Vice-Governor Charles Farnier of the Bank of France sailed for the United States to-day to confer with the heads of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York on the international financial situation.

The fact that the United States and France are the principal counries remaining on the gold standard and the problems arising from that situation, were given as the reasons for their voyage.

Reading Confers With Laval.

Meanwhile, Great Britain's Foreign Secretary, Lord Reading, continued his deliberations with Premier Laval, Foreign Minister Briand, and Finance Minister Flandin on what the French Government calls the "general position" but what is admitted to be portentous financial matters relating to the pound sterling.

In this connection the Continental edition of The London Daily Mail suggested that the United States Government might well invite a British representative to participate in the Franco-United States conference and put forward Lord Reading as "an admirable person" to do the job.

JUDGE ADVISES NO SPEED LIMIT

Claims it is Chief Cause of Perjury in Our Courts.

PREFERS ENGLISH SYSTEM.

HAMILTON, Oct. 8.—After deliberating for three hours, a jury dismissed the action in Supreme Court last night of Henry Geiss, who sued Ernest Pomfret, Jr., for damages of $24,000, for the death of his wife and injuries to one of the five children in an automobile accident on the Beach Road last April 12.

Mr. Geiss who is a taximan, said he was accompanied by his wife and their five children, and they were driving in his car to church. He swore that Pomfret in making a turn toward a side-road leading to the Hydro substation, forced the Geiss car into a ditch. Mr. Pomfret denied that his car made any such turn, and swore the cause of the accident was the excessive speed at which the Geiss car was going.

When the question of the speed of the plaintiff's automobile was being discussed, Justice Logie said: "For my part, I think that the speed limits should be abolished. They lead to more perjury in our courts than any other thing. The English system of speed regulation would result in much purification in the course of justice."

Feast of Cutlers Must Be Staged

LONDON, Oct. 8 (C.P. Cable) —Instances are multiplying of how the regime of economy may have double-edged reactions. Sheffield has been discussing abandoning the famous Cutlers' feast this year. This "banquet of the north," where almost every British personage of the last fifty years has been entertained, had Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada as its chief guest last year.

It has been decided by the incoming "Master Cutler," Joseph Ward, that the feast is a valuable advertisement for Sheffield manufacturers so it will be held—but with a modified menu.

NEW GOLD FIND NORTH ONTARIO STIRS UP RUSH

Government Geologists Head for Scene to Check Quality of Discoveries.

CABINET AWAITS ANAYLSIS.

One Strike Made at Little Long Lake, Other in Swayze Township.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—Two brand-new gold strikes, positively indicating two new gold fields in Northern Ontario—one at Little Long Lake, on the Canadian National Railways, 18 miles west of Longlac, and the other in the Township of Swayze, north of Ridout, on the Canadian Pacific Railway— were reported to the Department of Mines at Queen's Park yesterday, and are now under official survey by departmental geologists.

Two hours ofter news of the discoveries filtered down to Toronto, Dr. M. E. Hurst and H. C. Rickaby, the geologists, had packed their bags and were northbound for the scene of the strikes, the former proceeding to Longlac and the other to Ridout.

Reports Awaited.

Their reports regarding the gold and the geological relationships are eagerly awaited by the Government. Both discoveries have caused no end of sensation in the North. More than 125 claims have already been staked at Little Long Lake, and about 80 have been staked in Swayze Township. From all sections of the country further prospectors are moving toward the discoveries.

According to Thomas W. Gibson, Advisory Consultant to the Mines Department, the find at Little Long Lake is in sediment associated with porphyry and iron formation. The Swaze Township discovery has produced some samples of quartz showing a profusion of free gold. There is a large area of greenstone and porphyry which apparently extends from Swayze into the Township of Dore, on the east, and into Denyes Township, on the west.

PEER GIVEN POST LEFT BY BYNG

Lord Hugh M. Trenchard Will Head London Metropolitan Police.

HAS BRILLIANT RECORD.

LONDON, Oct. 8—Lord Hugh Montague Trenchard, one of the most distinguished members of the British fighting services, and Marshal of the Royal Air Force, yesterday succeeded Lord Byng of Vimy as Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police.

Lord Trenchard is the recipient of a score of war service medals.

Although at the top of Britain's aviation force, Lord Trenchard once declared that the evils of war were so great he would like to abolish it.

Entering the army thirty-eight years ago, when he was 20, he served in South Africa, where he won the Distinguished Service Order and was dangerously wounded. During the Great War he was mentioned in despatches eight times.

It was said to-day that the appointment of Lord Trenchard reflected the importance placed by the Government on the maintenance of existing high standards of discipline in London's police. Lord Byng resigned because of ill health.

Choice Pleases Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 8.—Appointment of Lord Trenchard, British Air Marshal, to succeed Viscount Byng as head of the Metropolitan Police of London, was enthusiastically received in official circles in Ottawa, owing to the New Scotland Yard head's close connection with Canada and the possibility of his visiting here soon.

Lord Trenchard is understood to have consented to travel to Kitchener, Ont., to review the Scots Fusiliers of Canada, with headquarters there, in his capacity of Honorary Colonel of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, with which the Canadian militia unit is affiliated.

Twenty-five Swoop Into Calgary After Drive of Miles.

MUM AS TO STRIKE.

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 8 (C.P.)—Twenty-five Indians swooped into Calgary by automobile yesterday, raced to the Government land office, and filed gold claims for the region north-west of the Moreley Indian reserve.

Quartz and placer claims were granted the Indians, all members of the Moreley reserve. The reserve is about 50 miles west of Calgary, with the region where the claims are staked being another 50 miles north and west, at the headwaters of Fallen Timber Creek.

Indians were silent on their prospects. Someone had been doing placer mining and found traces of gold; the rush followed. No steps have yet been taken for a Government analyst to inspect any of the ore.

Tobacco Growers To Fight Price Cut

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 8 (C.P.) —Tobacco growers of this area report they have made representations to the Dominion Government in connection with prices, considerably under last year, being offered by wholesale buyers.

Growers of Norfolk Township claim the 1931 crop of bright leaf and flue-cured tobacco is considered the finest in the history of the district. One large buyer is said to have quoted 30 cents a pound as the top price, as compared with 40 cents paid last fall.

MANY MINERS ARE STILL IDLE

Alberta Workers Give Little Response to Saskatchewan Call.

STABBING REPORTED.

CALGARY, October 8. — Groups of miners in Alberta coal fields were idle yesterday, some in protest against the slaying of three miners during a strikers' demonstration at Estevan, Sask., last week, and some because mine whistles did not blow. Last night it was indefinite whether the protest strike, called by the Mine Workers' Union of Canada to last twenty-four hours had been general.

Only one point in the Province, Drumheller, reported any violence, and it was believed to have been the case of mistaken identity. John Mitchell, rooming-house proprietor, was attacked by two men with knives while at the rear of the rooming-house. Police believed Mitchell, who is not seriously injured, was mistaken for another man who had opposed the sympathetic strike call.

KING PROROGUES BRITISH HOUSE SUMS UP CASE

Only About 100 Members Dot Benches, Majority Absent in Constituencies.

OUTBURSTS OF FEELING.

Premier Appears Pale and Tired—Busy Preparing Govt's Platform.

LONDON, Oct. 8 (A.P.)—The British Parliament was prorogued yesterday with a speech from the throne while excitement prevailed over the coming general election.

The King, in his speech, briefly summarized the efforts of the Government to pull the nation out of its financial and economic troubles.

Only about one hundred members of the House of Commons were scattered along the benches, many already having departed for their constituences. Jeers, jokes and outbursts of party feelings interrupted the proceedings as the members shouted across the floor in the House from the various sections.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald appeared tired and pale. He was at his desk at 10 Downing Street at six o'clock Tuesday morning and almost as early yesterday preparing h's appeal to the nation and planning the National Government's coming campaign.

King's Speech

Following is the text of the speech by the King adjourning Parliament:

"My Lords and Members of the House of Commons:—

"My relations with foreign powers continue friendly.

"I have been following with interest and sympathy the resumed deliberations of the round table conference. I trust that joint endeavor may produce an agreement on a plan which will commend itself to the judgment of wise statesmanship.

"In the last few weeks my people have been called upon to face a financial and economic crisis which continues to give cause for anxiety.

"Measures taken by my ministers with the support of Parliament to meet this emergency involve sacrifices from every member of the community. I am confident that as on former occasions in the history of the country, every citizen will co-operate to the utmost of his power in restoring prosperity to the nation.

"I have given my assent to measures necessary to balance the national budget.

"An act has been passed to amend the law relating to the gold standard.

"My assent also has been given to a measur to ensure the public against exploitation in regard to the supply or the price of certain articles of general consumption.

"In bidding you farewell, I earnestly commend you to the merciful protection and guidance of almighty God."

No Coupon System

From the constituencies already come stories of confusion over candidates in this most confusing of general elections. There will be no such "coupon system" as marked the famous Lloyd George coupon election in 1918. Local associations of the parties supporting the Government are left to make their own arrangements, and reach agreement on mutually satisfactory candidates.

But the tariff is already proving a stumbling block between Liberals and Conservatives in the constituencies. It is reported from Darwen in Lancashire that Sir Robert Samuel, Liberal free-trader, will be opposed there by a Conservative protectionist. It is also reported that Sir Donald MacLean, another Liberal free-trader member of the Government, will be opposed by a Conservative protectionist in North Cornwall. The Conservatives are putting protection in the front of their own campaign.

And Laborites are asserting that Prime Minister MacDonald, their own leader, will have hard running in Seaham, the constituency he now represents, but whose local labor executive have repudiated him. Mr. MacDonald had an overwhelming majority in a four-cornered fight there in 1929, but he will be without the support of the party machine if he sticks to his statement that he will again contest Seaham. There was a report in London yesterday afternoon, which could not be confirmed, that the Prime Minister might change his mind and run in a London constituency.

Campbell Opposes Henderson

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, new leader of the Labor party who will bitterly fight the Government forces, will probably be opposed by Rear-Admiral Gordon Campbell, V.C., the man of "mystery ship" fame, who sank three German U-boats during the war. Mr. Henderson's seat is Burnley, a Labor stronghold since the war. Rear-Admiral Campbell, who went on the retired list in 1928, will be making his debut on the political stage.

The postion of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George remains obscure and is not likely to be cleared up until he addresses his constituents at Carnavon. Despite the split down the middle of the Liberal party, Liberal headquarters intimate there will be no "heresy hunting." The weight of the Liberal organization however, will be placed behind the free-trade Liberals.

As the campaign opens the elector faces an unparalleled confusion of parties and groups. The coming three weeks will do much to sort out and winnow them down but for the time being the man-in-the-street is bewildered. "It's the kind of thing we have read about in continental romances," commented the Liberal Star to-night, "but few pre-war Englishmen expected to see the day when their own country would see such a riot of parties."

MACDONALD ISSUES CALL

let the vast majority of the electors of all classes and all parties see to it the Government receives from their hands ample authority to complete the work which has been so well begun," he concluded.

From Scarborough, came Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson's taunt the Government had no policy of any kind; it was falling back on demands for a blank cheque. "It puts no measures before you because it neither knows nor can agree upon measures to propose." The Prime Minister met this broadside with the retort the National Government was formed to complete a task deserted by the old Labor government.

Wheat Quotas

Pending Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's exposition of the Conservative wing's election platform the Conservative headquarters indicate that quotas on Britain's wheat purchasing, which would allow a guaranteed market for domestic and empire farmers, will be a plank in the platform. "It is intended to offer an extension of the quota system to the empire farmer in return for a larger preference in the market of his country for our manufactured goods."

It is expected 1,700 candidate of all parties will take the field in the 615 constituencies. In the last general elections the candidates numbered 1,729—590 Conservatives, 570 Laborites, 512 Liberals, 25 Communists and 32 others.

Prime Minister MacDonald begins his personal campaign in his own constituency of Seaham, Durham, which gave him an overwhelming majority in 1929, on Monday, his 65th birthday anniversary. He may have a Communist opponent and perhaps an opponent from the Labor party, but the Conservatives and Liberals are not expected to oppose him there.

PILES GO QUICK

Without Salves or Cutting.

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories, and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's precription HEM-ROID succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing that McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.

Prowlers Take Quantity of Jam While Mr. and Mrs. Madge Are Absent.

CHILD BURNED BY LYE.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FENELLA, October 8.— While Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Madge and family were absent from home one day recently, prowlers entered and stole a quantity of jam and jelly. The thieves showed their ability to judge between first and second grade products as they took only first grade jam, discarding the second grade. The theft was not noticed by Mrs. Madge for several days.

What might have proven to be a serious accident occurred a few days ago, when the children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Madge were playing. One child threw a quantity of lye at his little sister, burning her face. At first it was feared one eye was injured, but fortunately the injury was not serious, as the mother immediately applied first aid, and the child is recovering, with only a slight scar on one cheek.

No Unemployment In N.-W. Territories

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 8 (C.P.).—Unemployment, money-troubles and depression in general are unknown in the North-West Territories, whence comes Col. J. K. Cornwall, "Peace River Jim," as he is known along Canada's arc of the Arctic circle's circumference, says that up north everybody works. Money isn't used and depression hasn't been noticed.

"Folks who don't work would starve in the Territories, so they don't travel up there," he said last night, en route from Great Bear Lake to Toronto. "Money doesn't matter, because barter is the rule. Even if furs aren't as valuable as before, the vegetable crop along the Mackenzie is the best in years and meat is plentiful."

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1931

FAMOUS OVERNIGHT.

If any young man is anxious to win fame overnight, he has only to look at the current world's baseball series to discover how it can be done.

All that is necessary is step up to the plate in the annual baseball classic and drive the ball all over the lot.

A week ago the name of "Pepper" Martin was known only to close followers of baseball, and to them merely as an aggressive young fellow, fast afoot and a fairly dangerous hitter, but hardly the sort of player that could be counted upon to outshine the stars of the two championship teams.

To-day the whole Continent is buzzing with the exploits of the same Martin, who has almost single-handed put his team in a commanding position in the battle for the world's championship, who has hit every Athletic pitcher at will, has run bases with reckless abandon and has grabbed for himself the major share of the laurels.

Martin may never rise to such heights again—the history of the world's series contains more than one hero who failed in after seasons—but be that as it may, this youngster is already assured of a prominent place in baseball's hall of fame.

His performance in the first five games of the present series have made the exploits of Frank Merriwell seem common-place and tame.

A CHANCE FOR A JOB.

Once more The Examiner would like to stress the desirability of combining this week's Fire Prevention campaign with the Give-a-man-a-job drive inaugurated by the City Council.

The two movements naturally dovetail.

The first step toward effective fire prevention in the dwelling houses of Peterborough is the removal of fire hazards, and therein is the opportunity to provide some unemployed person with a job.

Clean up if you want to cut down the fire risk in the home.

See that your chimneys are clean, and that stove and furnace pipes are not lined with soot and thus ready any time to start a fire.

Get the cellar cleaned out, and do away with any accumulation of inflammable material that is likely to act as a fire-breeder.

In carrying out this important task there should be a job for someone who is badly in need of an opportunity to earn a little money.

Don't put it off—decide what is needed to make your home safe, and then get in touch with the Employment Bureau, which will be glad to supply a man to do the work.

AN IMPORTANT OCCASION.

The Utilities Commission in erecting colored lights in the business section has given a commendable lead to the public generally in regard to the international plowing matches next week.

This will be an event of outstanding importance and interest, attracting thousands of visitors, most of whom will spend a portion of their time in Peterborough, and it is desirable that the impression they will carry away will be that of an up and coming community.

It is suggested that the merchants should recognize the opportunity by attractive window displays, and by keeping their premises brilliantly illuminated during the evenings of next week, while the idea of having the stores remain open on Wednesday night has also been mooted.

In any case, Peterborough should have on its best bib and tucker for the plowing matches, an occasion of unusual interest throughout the Province.

This is the first time in which this district has been honored by being chosen for the scene of this huge event, and Peterborough should show its appreciation by dressing itself in its best clothes as a gesture of welcome to the army of visitors expected next week.

EXCLUSION; NOT PROTECTION.

The latest imposts on British exports into Canada occasioned a protest from Mr. Mackenzie King that they virtually wiped out the British preference.

This accusation, coming from the leader of the Opposition as it did, might be regarded by some people as the orthodox thing under the circumstances, but when such a staunchly Conservative newspaper as the Ottawa Journal assails the Government's action that puts a different aspect on the situation.

In a vigorous editorial it declares that the most recent imposts "are not protection, but exclusion."

"It is one thing," says the Journal, "to give fair protection to Canadian manufacturers and producers: it is another and quite different thing to all but embargo imports. No Canadian industry is entitled to anything of that kind, and the Canadian public is entitled to something better."

The Journal's objection is to the decision of the Government that, in addition to valuing British goods for duty purposes as if the pound sterling were at par, an Ottawa ruling declares that if and when the goods are charged for, as per invoice, at less than par the price shall be considered "at less than fair market value" and thus be subject to the dumping regulations.

That is, if the Canadian importer pays less than $4.86 to the pound sterling then a special duty equal to the difference between the amount paid and the arbitrary value fixed will be levied, and that in addition to the regular duty collected on the par value of the pound.

This works out something like this, as a contemporary explains it:

"If a Canadian purchases £100 worth of goods from Britain, they must be valued at $486, although the actual cost, say, is only $400. The duty will be levied on the par value. Supposing the average duty against Britain to be 25 per cent. (it is in reality higher), the duty paid should be $100 (still taking the pound sterling to be worth $4). Under the new ruling, however, it will be $121.50 (one-quarter of $486).

"But the customs department goes further than this. It asserts that because the goods are sold at $400 (on account of the deflated pound), when the 'fair price' is $486, it will levy the added impost provided for by the dumping clauses of the law, which, in our illustration, would be $86. Thus, instead of a duty of $100 (25 per cent. of $400), we have a total levy of $121.50 plus $86, or a total of $207.50."

The Ottawa supporter of the Bennett administration says in concluding its arrangement of this action:

"As much as it ever was, this newspaper is for protection, but it is not for the kind of protection that would destroy the spirit of Imperial trade, nor for protection that strikes at England when England is all but down. That sort of tariff is not good for the Empire and for what the Empire means, and it is not good for Canada. No country or people should want to rear prosperity upon selfishness."

CHANGES NEEDED.

Unofficial reports from Toronto say that the Ontario Government is contemplating a reduction of 10 per cent. in the salaries of Cabinet Ministers, members of the Legislature and all employees of the Government. The annual payroll in this connection is now approximately $15,000,000, so that a 10 per cent. cut would mean a substantial saving and go quite a long way toward meeting the heavy deficit that Treasurer Dunlop is said to be facing.

* * * *

An official salary bill of $15,000,000 for the operation of Ontario's public machinery is a large one—much too large, many taxpayers will say. However, we are not arguing that ministers, members and permanent officials should be paid niggardly wages. These officials are entitled to a good stipend. We do feel, though, that the Government is seriously overstaffed. The Legislature is too large, the Cabinet could be smaller and the chances are that the civil service could be reduced in numbers at least 10 or 15 per cent. without in any way injuring its efficiency. Indeed, it is often found that a reduction of staff makes for much more efficient results than were secured before.

Year after year, Governments go on increasing in size, just as in private business. Eventually the machine becomes top-heavy. Then when general conditions are depressed and the taxpayers begin to feel the load, the cry goes up for a generous sweep of the pruning knife. This is not an easy task, but it can be carried out. In the long run, as a rule, it results satisfactorily.

* * * *

On many occasions in these columns we have called for a drastic cut in the size of the Legislature itself. We can see no earthly reason for the maintenance of 112 M. L. A.'s at Toronto. Each man draws a salary, each man means more expense for the Province. Sixty members or therabouts, in our opinion, would be ample. Essex County, as an example, has four members at Queen's Park, when one or two would be entirely sufficient.

Out in Manitoba the other day, Attorney-General Major proposed a reduction in the size of the Winnipeg House. There are 55 members there now, we believe, and he suggested cutting off 20 seats, merely by merging various constituencies. His plan is being studied by a committee of the Legislature.

In South Africa recently, Premier Hertzog announced that he intended to do away with what are known as Provincial Councils, thereby eliminating four unnecessary public bodies and saving the Union a great deal of money annually.

* * * *

If reductions can be made in Manitoba and South Africa, they can be effected, also, in Toronto and in Ottawa and, indeed, in every Province. As a matter of fact, Canada has too many Provinces. One instead of three would very well serve the Maritimes. One instead of three would do on the Prairies. Ontario and Quebec are large enough, of course, both numerically and geographically, to support separate governments.

One school of thought goes even further and suggests the abolition of all Provincial Governments in Canada, leaving the entire control of the country to the federal authority. We have 10 Governments now and approximately 10 millions of population—a Government for every million. This is too much government, of course, and far too expensive, but it is doubtful if public opinion is sufficiently far advanced to accept the federal centralization idea now. We should not hesitate, however, to make radical reductions in the size and number of our public bodies. The burden of taxation is becoming almost more than the people can bear. There must be relief and much of this will have to come through a reduction in the cost of administering public affairs. —Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The settlement of the coal strike in Saskatchewan provides one encouraging piece of news from the West.

Mr. Hepburn's demand for a probe into Hydro affairs may have had a political motive, but it voiced public opinion nevertheless.

Three weeks doesn't seem a long enough time for the British electors to decide what they are supposed to be voting on.

Premier Bracken of Manitoba has proposed a coalition government to function through the period of depression. The idea of non-party governments seems to becoming popular.

The British election campaign will be short, but signs are not lacking that it will be far from sweet.

Don't forget the Give-a-man-a-job campaign. Even a few hours' work will help somebody who is out of a job.

Britain's resources are quite adequate. Lloyd George says. And they include Mr. Lloyd George.—Border Cities Star.

WHITE FAWN

INSTALMENT 26

It was a green Christmas the papers said. But Fabia could see little green about it. She shed no tears. She gave no expression to the burden she carried, but she could not conceal it.

The Duncan Phyfe in the dining room was extended to its fullest capacity. There were twenty chairs placed around it—the ten Chippendales and ten of the Hepplewhite set. Another round table seating twelve, was placed in the alcove off the dining room. It was Rupert's and Lisa's year for the family Christmas dinner. There were to be thirty-two.

The family began arriving at 12. By 1 the living room was seething with them. The presents had now all been opened. Fabia, standing for a moment alone at the far end of the room listened to the din of many voices. She sighed. Why couldn't she mix with them, become part of the pleasant confusion? She felt apart, aloof, as if she was looking down from a height. Like an iceberg, she decided.

She was an alien body here, resisting the ordained ebb and flow of the sea around her. She always had been an alien body. She always would be. Dan had left her to drift on by herself alone. Where was Dan now? What was he doing at this moment? Was the medley in the little bungalow living room on Nebraska street anything like this one? Was the cheesecloth covered table in the bungalow dining room now revealed to view? And was it gay with the Christmas trimmings like the Duncan Phyfe? If she were there with Dan, would she feel an alien, even as here? Or if he were here with her, would he feel an alien, unaccepted, unwelcome? Well, what difference, if they had each other? Of what significance are surroundings to the merged triumph of two substances such as hydrogen and oxygen. Water is sufficient unto itself. It does not depend for existence upon human relationships and social laws and orders.

It was late afternoon before the families had dispersed to their various homes. It was after 5 o'clock and dark outdoors when Fabia was at last free to go to her room and close the door. Without snapping on the light she threw herself down on the taffeta covering of her bed—too listless to turn it back—too listless even to discipline Peter for having been curled up on it.

She had not returned Peter to Dan. It seemed too trivial a gesture now. She had made no sign to Dan whatsoever. His letter remained unanswered. When a blow is very severe, one becomes unconscious. Even after consciousness returns, one lies limp and lifeless for days sometimes, powerless to move. Consciousness had returned to Fabia, but not initiative.

Pulling Peter off the bed onto the floor, Fabia lay down on the warm spot he had made. She stared up at the dim ceiling. How was she to go on, broken and bruised like this, through the January balls that continued up to the Harvard mid-years, through the February Vincent Club rehearsals that lasted till the performances in late March and through the late crop of April and May luncheons and small dances? What was there to look forward to afterward—next summer, next fall, next spring, next any time?

There was a knock on her door.

"Come in."

"Mr. Morris Haverford is downstairs," Jennie announced.

"Please tell him I'm sorry, but I'm resting and can't see him. Oh, I might as well go down, I guess. Perhaps it would help pass the time."

"Mother," said Fabia, one night some six or seven weeks later, when Lisa came to her room to see if she was asleep, a habit Lisa had formed since the night Dan hadn't appeared, "I suppose you've been wondering why I've been seeing so much of Morris Haverford lately. Sit down a minute, and I'll tell you."

Fabia was propped up against the head-board with several pillows behind her. She had been reading a novel of Hardy's. She had turned to Hardy for comfort because his characters seemed to suffer almost as much as she. Lisa drew up a chair and sat down beside the bed.

"Morris has asked me to marry him," said Fabia. "I'm not engaged to him yet. I'm just sort of trying it out. I knew you'd be pleased, so I'm telling you."

"Oh, but I'm not pleased, Fabia!"

"Why not? Isn't he in every way suited? Won't the family be delighted? Just imagine how pleased Grandmother Vale will be, and father. And surely Morris Haverford will be a perfect father for those children I am to have."

"Dear, don't talk like that! It sounds so hard and bitter. You're still suffering from Dan. This is no time to become engaged to any one."

"I've made no promise as yet. I've told Morris about Dan. He understands, and doesn't want to hurry me. He's awfully kind, mother. I'm beginning to think I could patch up my life with him better than with any one."

"You mustn't marry to patch up your life. Not at twenty. I want you to marry a man you love, Fabia."

"I think," said Fabia, with a shrug, "I'd rather marry a man who loves me. Of course, I want to love the man I marry a little, but not the way I loved Dan. I don't want any man to be able to hurt me so much. I'll never be the same again. Just think, I haven't seen Dan or heard of him since his letter came before Christmas."

Nor had she mentioned his name to Lisa. Lisa was silent now, not daring to speak, for fear she would frighten away the first shy bird of a possible flock of confidences in hiding.

"I didn't answer his letter," Fabia went on, "and he hasn't made a sign yet. I'm always thinking that he may. It's awful. I don't go to Grandmother Vale's any more than I can help, because it's so near Dan. The Junior League sent me down to the Massachusetts General on an errand, the other day, and I saw Dan's car outside. I felt weak all over. I want to get away from being so near him, from the fear, or hope—I don't know which it is—of seeing him. I promised you I'd go through with this coming-out, and I mean to do it. But when it's over, I want to go away, mother."

"Where do you want to go?"

"I want to put thousands and thousands of miles between me and Boston. I think I'd like to go around the world. Morris has passages engaged on steamers sailing next May and June, as well as September, in case I can't get to care enough for him enough."

"Oh, Fabia, you mustn't marry Morris to escape. I know you're suffering, but only time can heal you. No decision you make about marriage is to be trusted now. Promise me, you'll wait till you're over Dan, Fabia?"

"Over Dan? I'll never be over him, mother. I don't know that I love him any more—perhaps it's hate now—but he's as much a part of me as a scar I'll carry for life."

Lisa returned to her room deeply thoughtful. How could she give happiness to Fabia? What could she do to restore that rarest of possessions to this child of hers who had been so wounded and robbed? What if she were to go to Dr. Warburton, and subtly, delicately, reopen communication between Fabia and Dan Regan? Perhaps Dr. Warburton and she had been mistaken. In this age of tearing down old codes and conventions, and building up new ones on independent standards, had they attempted to apply to Fabia and Dan out-of-date rules for happiness?

Even in Boston, if the marriage should prove unhappy there was escape by divorce. She must not close her eyes to existing conditions, simply because her own sentiments cried out against them. What if she were to turn-about-face and encourage Dan and Fabia to put their love to the test?

No! It would simply be courting later unhappiness. She must be practical. She must be provincial. She knew her circle in Boston too well to trust this romance of Fabia's to weather the storm of the Vale's disapproval, to be followed by years of eyebrow-lifting and deprecatory remarks, made by dictators who were likely to remain in power for at least another quarter-century.

Lisa wished Morris had appeared upon the scene before Dan's entrance. He would have awakened Fabia more slowly than Dan, she imagined. But a fire that has been persuaded to burn is no less bright once under way. It was not inconceivable that Morris could kindle a new flame in Fabia's heart. It should not, however, be attempted until the old one was quite out. In time it would go out, if unfed, untended. Lisa had married Rupert, blinded by the promise of position. Fabia must not marry Morris, blinded by the promise of escape. Fabia must not marry blinded by anything—not even by love. "What had I better do?" whispered Lisa. What was the next wise step for her to take? She sighed deeply. To go to bed, she guessed. It was late. Quarter to twelve.

At a few minutes before twelve there was a low buzz of the telephone bell concealed beneath her dressing table. Barry, perhaps, to say good night. They had run across each other at Grandmother Vale's for tea. Barry had brought her home in his car afterwards. Lisa had dismissed McKay, for it had been arranged she would run across Barry at Grandmother Vale's.

That mustn't go on. Last Saturday night Barry had taken both Lisa and Charlotte to the Symphony Concert. He had sat between them and devoted himself to Charlotte in conversation. Poor Charlotte! Did she not surmise she was but a camouflage? Lisa and Barry had seen each other frequently since Christmas. Rupert had been out of town a great deal of the time. His firm was opening a branch office in Chicago. It necessitated his constant attention.

After Lisa had gently hung up the receiver, she threw herself down on her chaise lounge, and, hands clasped beneath her head, her thoughts again soared far away.

Emma Barry's wife, had been dead three months now. Barry did not pretend to mourn for her. It was not like Barry to masquerade, unless by so doing he was saving some one pain. Emma had not existed as Barry's wife for fifteen years, except in name. Long before Lisa had appeared upon his horizon (like a flickering light of hope at first, he said; finally like a steadily shining beacon), Emma had ceased to be more than heavy cargo. Her death relieved Barry of a burden he would not abandon because he was so tender of heart. But he had long desired release from Emma. Lisa knew this. There was little about Barry she did not know now.

Gazing up at the ceiling, the sound of his goodnight still murmuring in her heart, Lisa fell to reviewing the facts of Barry's married life. It had taken her five years to piece it together. Before Barry met Lisa, he had never discussed his private affair with any human being, nor complained of his lot. His confidences were not easily won. Lisa treasured them all the more.

Editor, The Examiner.

Dear sir:

In view of the fact that a report has been circulated to the effect that Mr. Nathan Payne is receiving Old Age Pension, I take this opportunity to advise the public that such is not the case. Mr. Payne does not receive an Old-age Pension, nor has he applied for same.

HE HAS SPOKEN

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Of what use is to to spend so much money on "schooling" when 99 per cent of the people care nothing about the magazines and newspapers and good books of the Public Library from which they might learn much that would equip them to give an intelligent if not correct opinion at the polls.

They would see for nothing what Mr. Coolidge, the New Englander with the puritan conscience can do to save the party in the name of righteousness and other fine talk nagged in to fool the people. He may believe what he says, no doubt. But it would take a moron to believe that he cannot distinguish between what he thinks and what is right. H has committed suicide in the minds of the future.

Not a word about his country. It takes a man with a true soul to love his country more than his party or even to understand what it is. His people will wipe out his party.

MEMORY

The memory ought to be a storeroom; many turn theirs into a lumber-room. Train the understanding. Take care that the mind has a stout and straight stem. Leave the flowers of wit and fancy to come to themselves. The progress of knowledge is slow. Accident Occurs

An accident occurred about two miles south of Stirling on Sunday evening when two cars came together, one being driven by Mrs. Phoebe Wilson, of Smithfield who was going south and William Foster, of Deloro, who was proceeding north.

The left front wheel of Mr. Foster's car was smashed and the car went into the ditch, being later brought to Bailey's Garage, Stirling for repairs.

Provincial Constable Frink investigated the accident and the matter of damages was settled between the two parties.

U.S. WALES WILL PAY HER DEBTS

Theodore Announces Every Penny Plus Interest Will be Sent Commonwealth.

COURT ACTION DROPPED.

CANBERRA Australia, Oct. 8 (C. P. Cable via Reuters)—The State of New South Wales, which early this year refused to meet some of the instalments of interest due on overseas debts, will refund to the Commonwealth Government every penny the Commonwealth has paid out on its account.

This announcement was made by Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth treasurer, in the House of Representatives yesterday. Payments made when the Commonwealth shouldered the burden amount to $29,480 including interest, exchange or remittances and loan charges. From this total must be deducted $7,060,000 due to the state which the Commonwealth had withheld.

The next debt to the Commonwealth is $22,795,000 and the state is discounting treasury bills to this amount, paying the proceeds to the Commonwealth. The state also declared some time ago that all future debt payments would be met. It finally fell in line with the other states and Government of the Commonwealth in carrying out an orthodox programme of retrenchment designed to lead to balanced budgets.

"As New South Wales is now meeting full interest payments as they fall due," Hon. Mr. Theodore stated, "the Commonwealth has agreed to discontinue the court action." This action was instituted by the Commonwealth on behalf of itself and other State Governments against New South Wales for recovery of the payments made on her behalf.

STRIKE BLAMED ON COMMUNISTS

Third Occurrence in B. C. Lumbering Concern Over Reinstatements.

PLANT WAS INVADED.

OTTAWA Ont., Oct. 8. (CP)—Communist activity was blamed by officials of the Department of Labor for a strike which opened today at Port Moody, B.C., in a lumbering concern. It was the third similar occurrence in the Vancouver area, said Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor. According to telegraphic reports reaching Ottawa, wages was not under dispute. Two hundred men from Vancouver invaded the plant and prevented 150 employees from continuing work. Reinstatement of four employees of the concern was the issue at stake, according to reports received here.

Money Is Accepted At Par By Hotels

NEW YORK, N.., Oct. 8.—(By the Canadian Press.) — Two of the largest hotels in New York to-day announced they would accept Canadian money at par value, despite its depressed condition on foreign exchange markets in the United States.

The announcement said the two hotels had accepted Canadian money at par even during the days immediately after the Great War, and would continue to do so regardless of the money's worth in United States' funds.

PARTRIDGE BAN STILL ON

Hon. Chas. McCrea, Minister of Game and Fisheries, announced last week that the season for partridge shooting would be postponed for another year. The extremely rapid increase in the number of partridges all over Ontario this year, has led to almost a universal demand for an open season for a week, and frankly, The Standard can see no reason why the season should not have been opened for say the first week of the deer season, with a small bag limit, but the Minister has decided that it would be best to give the birds a chance to increase still further.—(Havelock Standard).

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, has decided to accept a peerage, the Central News Agency said in a dispatch from London. Snowden, financial genius of the Labor party, recently announced his retirement from politics after the present emergency is settled. It was expected he would be rewarded by being sent to the House of Lords.

PROPOSED $500,000,000 CREDIT CORPORATION EXPECTED TO BE INCORPORATED WITHIN 48 HOURS

Plan Calls for Director From Each of Twelve Federal Reserve Districts.

N.Y. BANKERS AGREE.

WASINGTON, D.C., Oct. 8 (C.P.)—President Hoover's plan to ease the financial strain on the nation's banks moved swiftly to-day toward actual operation.

He was informed by Governor Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank that the proposed $500,000,000 credit corporation was expected to be incorporated within 48 hours and that details of the completed proposal would be laid before every clearing house and banking group in the country at once.

The plans contemplate a director for the institution from each of the twelve Federal reserve districts. Its operations will be national and not regional in scope.

Meantime, it was disclosed the plan had been discussed by the President with a group of New York bankers last Sunday night at Secretary Mellon's apartment and that they agreed upon it then.

Officials declined to say what bankers attended the conference.

While the bankers expect to have their organization completed soon, it was described as hardly possible to put the plan in operation in that time.

The plan presented by President Hoover to amend the Federal Reserve Act to permit broader classes of paper to be eligible for rediscount at Federal reserve banks was said to be designed to replace and take over the work to be carried on by the bankers' organization which was regarded as only a temporary affair.

Some of the funds of the organization, it was said, probably would be used to advance to depositors of suspended banks part of the money due them and thus relieve acute situations.

The Federal Reserve Act, it was said, has been outgrown by business and needs to be revised to meet new conditions. The broadening of the eligible paper section of the law, it was said, would meet the situation.

ACTION STARTS ON WATERWAY

United States Agrees With Move—Herridge to See MacNider.

VISION OF CENTURIES.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 8 (A.P.)—Early realization of the centuries-old vision of seagoing vessels sailing westward over the St. Lawrence River into the Great Lakes is to be sought by Canada and the United States.

Definite steps towards negotiations for a treaty covering the gigantic shipping and water-power project have been agreed upon by the two Governments after years of discussion.

Direct diplomatic exchange of views, the State Department announced, will be relied upon in initiating the discussions.

Hon. Hanford MacNider, United States Minister at Ottawa and Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister here, will act as spokesmen. The United States had suggested a special commission.

President Hoover has agreed to the procedure and is desirous of pushing the undertaking, which will cost many millions, as a spur to employment.

Until the announcement yesterday action upon the project had been virtually at a standstill.

The chief dispute in this country has been over whether the route should be from the Lakes via the St. Lawrence or across New York State. President Hoover, while Secretary or Commerce, urged the St. Lawrence way in a report to President Coolidge.

The problem of disposal and control of power development also is unsettled.

DAVIS ENTERS ALIBI DEFENCE

Seeks Remand From Magistrate to Prepare His Argument Speech.

VISITING ALL DAY.

Acting as his own counsel Ralph Davis, on trial before Police Magistarte O. A. Langley, K.C., on a charge of stealing $3.60 from the cash register of the Red Indian service station on George street on September 10, this morning entered his defence.

It was palin that by the evidence of five witnesses, Davis was endeavoring to prove an alibi. Several witnesses testified that they had seen him at Archie Barbau's home on Simcoe street during part of the morning and again in the afternoon.

To Prepare Address.

At the completion of the defence, Davis asked the magistrate to remand him again until to-morrow so that he might prepare his argument. The request was granted.

Again Davis showed considerable skill and judgment in the handling of his own case. There was point to all his questions and subjected Chief Newhall, called in reply by the Crown, to quite a grilling.

May Davis, accused's wife, stated that Davis had left home about 9.30 the morning of September 10 and had not returned until 11 o'clock that evening. She informed him that the police were looking for him and that they had said they would return that night.

Didn't Run Away.

"I didn't seem excited or scared, did I?" Davis asked his wife.

"No," she answered.

"I didn't try to run away although I had about 3 hours to do it in before they came?"

"No. You went to bed."

Archie Barbau, next witness, said that Mrs. Ella Manbeck, accused's sister, was keeping house for him on September 10 in the absence of his wife. Davis had come to his home about 11.30 in the morning and as far as he knew remained there until about 10 o'clock in the evening.

Went Out For Tobacco.

Witness said that about 12.30 he had his dinner, Davis not eating with him, and then he went out for a plug of tobacco. Davis was at the house when he left and he was there when he returned perhaps half an hour later.

Mrs. Manbeck said that she had been at Barbau's home all day, except between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon when she went home to get her father's supper. Davis was at the house all the time and could not have left without her knowledge, she stated.

Others Saw Him.

J. D. McIntosh said that he visited Barbau's early in the afternoon and Davis was there then. He fixed the time as shortly after 1 o'clock. John Vincent stated that he had been at Barbau's in the forenoon and returned about 2.30 in the afternoon and Davis had been at Barbau's both times.

Jack Irwin remembered seeing Davis at Barbau's when he called there to see about some furniture, but he could not say definitely what day it was.

Called by the Crown, Chief Newhall stated that Davis had been a spectator at police court on September 10 and that after 12.30 that day he had seen him standing at the corner of Simcoe and George streets. Barbau had told the witness in an interview that it was 1 o'clock when he had his dinner and that it was before dinner that he had gone out for tobacco.

WORK ASSURED G. E. EMPLOYEES FOR HALF YEAR

Avert Lay-offs Without Pay Until Next May.

ADD TO RELIEF FUND.

Proposal by General Electric Guarantees Average Wage of $15.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—A virtual guarantee of six months employment beginning Nov. 1 for all shop workers of the General Electric Company, was given yesterday in a plan submitted to employes by Gerard Swope, president. The proposal is to be voted on by the employe members of the General Electric unemployment pension plan which embraces the great majority of all shop employees of the company.

The plan as described by Mr. Swope, is to so divide the work that there will be no further lay-offs for lack of work between Nov. 1, 1931, and April 30, 1932, without compensation, and that all those on the payroll on Nov 1 1931 will receive during this period not less than the equivalent of one-half of their weekly average earnings for full time, but in no case more than an average of $15 a week. If actual earnings are above the average, however, the employe is to receive his actual earnings.

The method of insuring this result is to be threefold. Employes are to be assigned to work outside their regular work, if necessary, at the prevailing rates of pay for such work. The unemployment emergency fund which has been operating since Dec. 1, 1930, is to be augmented by increasing the contributions of 1 per cent of earnings now made by all employes working more than half time to 2 per cent, and by increasing the company's contributions to match those of the men. This increase fund may then be drawn upon by the employes "under the present provisions."

Approval of the plan in principle has been given by the board of directors. If these provisions are inadequate, the directors will be asked to authorize additional payments by the company to the emergency fund without increasing the employes' contribution.

In the ten months since the begining of the unemployment emergency approximately $1,000,000 has been distributed, one-half of which was contributed by the employes working half-time or more by contributions of 1 per cent of their earnings, and an equal amount was contributed by the company.

"We are firmly of the belief," said Mr. Swope, "that the electrical needs of 125,000,000 people in the United States, especially with the increasing demand in the home, will keep the electrical industry active. If the General Electric Company is to be in a position to secure a fair share of the available business, it is essential that our workers maintain the quality of our products, our engineers continue to make progress in the design of our apparatus and the management supervise efficiently. We think that the organization has done and is doing a satisfactory job, but this does not mean that it cannot continue to improve.

"We realize the anxiety in the minds of our hourly and piece work employes in the apparatus works, which necessarily reduces their effectiveness and restricts their output and to relieve this, we have offered for adoption by them this program, which we confidently belief we can carry out."

Cut In Radio Program Stirs Prison Inmates

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 8—Protests against what Warden H. B. White said was curtailment of radio privileges created a disturbance among prisoners in the Federal Penitentiary here early to-day.

The warden declined to disclose the extent or cause of the radio restrictions, but said there was no cause for alarm, as all of the angry convicts were locked in their cells. A report that the ban included broadcasts of the World Series games could not be confirmed.

The angry shouts of the prisoners and the continual ringing of gongs within the prison walls were heard a considerable distance from the institution.

WARSAW UNITED CHURCH CONCERT

Fowl Supper and Program Largely Attended

WARSAW, Oct. 7.—The fowl supper served by the Women's Association of Warsaw United church was well patronized. There was abundance of chicken and goose, and all other good things to tempt the appetite. The tables were decorated with red and orange runners, candles and flowers. The room, too, had streamers of red and orange.

When supper was nearly over, word came that John Clydsdale's barn was burning. Without hesitation, men left the tables—some with a bone in the hand, and car loads of men went to aid.

The program given by the orchestra of Indian River and Keene was thoroughly enjoyed and almost every number was encored, but with few exceptions there was no return, as the hour was late.

Mrs. Spencer of Indian River, played accompaniments on the piano, played the 'cello in the orchestra, sang in a duet with her husband, sang the contralto in the quartette, "Abide With Me," and "The Auction Sale." She also recited "Learning to Pray," in a very touching manner, and "The Ladies' Aid." Mr. Bootle of Norwood, gave several selections on the concertina. Miss Olive Spnecer gave a soprano solo, and accompanied the orchestra on the piano. Mr. Spencer, as a Scot sang "Soosie McLean," and "She's the Lass." Mr. Stephen Miller gave some banjo selections. Mr. Spencer and his son gave clarinet duet. Mrs. Carr, of Indian River, took the soprano in the mixed quartettes and sang a solo.

The orchestra consisted of Miss Ollie Spencer, pianist, Mrs. Spencer 'cello, Ronald Spencer clarinet, Mr. James Miller, Otonabee, Mr. Spencer and Mr. Patrick O'Bryan, violins, Miss Audrey Miller, auto. harp, and Mr. Stephen Miller, banjo.

Mrs. William Dewart played for the quartettes. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson was chairman.

Rev. Mr. Archer, of Lakefield, gave a short talk, during which an expression of sympathy with Mr. John Clysdale in his loss was given by those present. He aso spoke of the abundance given those present.

Mrs. John Sargent spent a few days at Orillia, the guest of Rev. H. B. and Mrs. Herrington.

Mrs. McCauley, now living in Norwood, spent Tuesday visiting friends in Warsaw.

Mrs. Hagerman, Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. R. W. Payne.

Mrs. Fred Bell is a granddaughter of Mr. Heard, who died in Smith at the age of one hundred and four years.

Several farmers in this vicinity go to Port Hope and other places on the front for apples.

A large amount of supplies were sent to parsonage for relief work for the west, before word came on Saturday that they were not needed. The goods were gladly given, but it did mean inconvenience in a busy time for people to get their supplies down, and extra work for Mr. Wilkinson to personally go to some places on the charge and then to have them stored at his place.

Miss Eileen Hamblin, Norwood, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hamblin on Tuesday evening.

MAKING HEALTH INTERESTING TO CHILDREN

It is often very difficult to make children eat foods that are absolutely necessary for them. Every child, for instance, should drink a quart of milk a day. Because milk is one of the most wonderful foods for children.

Many wise mothers have found that Kellogg's ready-to-eat cereals are the easiest as well as the most healthful way of encouraging a child to take plenty of milk. The number of combinations of Kellogg's Cereals with other foods is almost endless and, even over a long period of time, they can be made different and thus tempting to the child's taste.

And then there are so many Kellogg's cereals too. A favorite for each appetite. . . A preferred dish for every individual. Some like Corn Flakes. Most Kiddies are crazy about PEP Bran Flakes Rice Krispies with their "snap! crackle! pop!" never fail to delight them.

Adding honey or fruit makes a brand-new dish. Serving cereals in combinations is a new taste delight.

In order to help you with the problem of encouraging your child to eat foods that are really good for him, Kellogg has prepared a series of booklets especially for the children. Here in the midst of play, for example, they learn that hot, heavy foods are not so good for them at night as crisp, easily digested cereals—and many other facts that will simplify your feeding the children.

SOMERVILLE MAN FACES 3 CHARGES

Sale of Lindsay Water Board's Debentures Stirs Split With Council.

LINDSAY, Oct. 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—Following an investigation conducted by Sergeant Zaneth, R.C.M.P., William Henderson of Somerville Township, was charged yesterday with having illicit liquor in his possession. In fact three charges are embodied in the information laid again him. He was remanded until October 14 on $10,000 bail. It is understood that Henderson was recently acquitted at Peterborough on a similar charge. The three charges under the Excise Act dealing with illicit liquor are laid by W. J. Buller, Excise Officer of Peterborough.

Lindsay Water Board is in disagreement with the town council over the action of the latter body in selling the Board's debentures in Toronto. It is contended that no benefit, financial or otherwise accured as a result of the council's action. The Board had to pay $491.15 interest to the bank while waiting for the debentures to be sold. The Chairman of the Board holds that these debentures should have been sold over the counter to local people. The Board also feels aggrieved at the action of the council on Monday night when that body was asked to approve the contract which the board had entered into for the sinking of wells. The council turned the matter over to a committee, delaying action for a week. The board looked upon this action as a vote of want of confidence.

Coffee delivered like a "FRESH FOOD" because it is a fresh food

THE DATE INSURES YOUR GETTING THIS SUPERB COFFEE AT THE PEAK OF ITS FLAVOR

The DATE on the tin is your absolute guarantee of full flavor

FLAVOR AND FRESHNESS! In every perishable food these two qualities go hand in hand. Now scientists tell us that coffee is a perishable food, like milk and butter, and no matter how good its flavor is when fresh, that flavor is marred by staleness.

Now, for the first time, coffee is being brought to your grocer by swift, "fresh food" delivery—every tin marked with the delivery date. Look for this date just as carefully as you look for freshness in your milk. You can't buy a stale tin of dated Chase & Sanborn's Coffee, for at the end of ten days we replace any that's unsold with fresh.

Coffee is perishable because it contains a delicate oil. In freshly roasted coffee this delicate oil carries the delicious flavor and aroma, but comparatively soon after roasting, it begins to turn rancid, just as butter does. It actually spoils. Naturally, this rancid oil affects the flavor and aroma of the coffee.

Get a half- or one-pound tin of Chase & Sanborn's today! Enjoy its superb flavor . . . See what a difference freshness makes in even the finest coffee.

WHEN THE DELICATE OIL in coffee gets stale and turns rancid, it not only affects the flavor and aroma, but it is frequently a cause of indigestion, headaches, sleeplessness. It is now known that fresh coffee actually aids digestion.

LETTERS OF QUEEN VICTORIA PRESENT MINE OF INFORMATION

Newly Published Volume Contains Items of Direct Interest to Canada.

COVERS YEARS 1891-95.

LONDON, Oct. 2 (By Thomas T. Champion C.P. Staff Writer)—A rich mine of information is presented to the student of modern political history in the letters of Queen Victoria, covering the years 1891-95, edited by G. E. Buckle and published to-day by John Murray under the authority of King George.

It so happens that both the opening and closing pages of this great volume are concerned with two incidents of direct interest to Canada.

On June 6, 1891, Lord Stanley of Preston, Governor-General of Canada, (father of the present Lord Derby) telegraphed to Queen Victoria the news of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald, who had been Prime Minister of Canada since 1878.

This was followed by a long letter from Lady Stanley to the Queen, describing the last hours of the great Canadian statesman and the funeral. In her own journal, which is interpersed between the letters in the present volume, Queen Victoria described Sir John as a most loyal and able man.

Peerage Suggested

In the following June Lord Salisbury, Prime Minister, wrote to the Queen submitting that a peerage be conferred on Lady Macdonald. The Queen wrote personally to the widow of Sir John, saying it gives me much pleasure to mark my high sense of Sir John's distinguished services by conferring on you a public mark of regard for yourself as well as for him.

A letter from the Earl of Aberdeen, as Governor-General of Canada, to Queen Victoria in December, 1895, forms the last item of all in this volume. Lord Aberdeen had been touring Canada and he found everywhere most satisfactory tokens of Canada's thorough and abiding loyalty to the Queen and firm attachment to the British connection.

Happily continued the Earl's letter to Her Majesty, this has always been the prevalent as well as permanent attitude of Canadians, but there can be no doubt that during recent years there has been a growth, a process of confirmation and deepening of the principle.

When Lord Aberdeen visited Toronto for the first time five years previously he went on, he observed in several instances a combination of the Union Jack with the Stars and stripes. This was wholly unobjectionable no doubt, if regarded merely as a manifestation of friendship toward a neighboring people, he wrote to the Queen. But a movement against the practice was instituted and it had now almost entirely disappeared.

Idea Ignored

As to the question of public policy, for example commerical union, so-called, with the United States, the Earl's letter continued, this idea had latterly been entirely ignored by all the political parties and a prominent exponent of views, Mr. Goldwin Smith, was some time ago requested to remove his name from the principal social club of Toronto.

This of course was the result of expressions used by Mr. Goldwin Smith upon various occasions and it is much to be regretted that a man of his talents should have deprived himself of much of the influence which he would naturally be expected to exercise owing to what have been, to say the least, unguarded utterances.

The tragically sudden death of Sir John Thompson, Canadian Prime Minister, at Windsor Castle in December, 1894, is the subject of a lengthy note. Thompson was a Roman Catholic, writes Victoria, so the priest from Windsor was sent for. The priest held a short service which Sir Charles Tupper, Lord Clinton and Dr. Reid attended. I could think of little but this bad tragedy. I placed two wreaths on the coffin and turned to Sir Charles who, quite overcome, kissed my hand and said, Canadians will never forget this.' Thompson was only 48, a very clever and able man, most loyal and excellent, and his loss is a very great one to Canada.

Some Incidents

Of the wealth of material in this volume, revealing the relations existing a generation ago between the crown and peers and the people, it is only possible to give here a broad indication. We find in 1893 Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer under Prime Minister Gladstone, writing to the Queen on behalf of himself and the Grand Old Man, Gladstone. He expressed their joint opinion that as concerned the initiation of conversations on political topics the ministers should await an expression of Your Majesty's desire before entering upon any particular political subject, and if it is Your Majesty's wish they should of their own accord enter upon these subjects and submit their views upon them, they will gladly do so, as there is nothing they would more desire than that Your Majesty should be fully possessed of the motives with which they act and the objects at which they aim. They deeply feel that the ministers should possess in fact as well as in name, the confidence of the sovereign.

When Prime Minister Gladstone forwarded recommendations for honors, it seems he was permitted to offer explanations by word of mouth which he hoped might save Victoria some trouble. It is revealed the subject of honors came up in connection with the birth of the Prince of Wales in 1894. The discussion arose because it was proposed to make the doctor who assisted at the birth a baronet.

Prince's Christening.

The Queen's Own Journal contains a delightful picture of the christening of the infant Prince of Wales. "The dear fine baby, wearing the Honiton lace robe worn by all our children, and my English grandchildren," writes Victoria, "was handed to me. I then gave him to the Archbishop and received him back....I had tea with May (Queen Mary now) and afterwards we were photographed I holding the baby on my lap with Bertie (later King Edward VII) and Georgie (the present King) standing behind us—thus making four generations."

Incidentally this photograph has proved probably the most popular picture post card the world has ever seen, the sale running into millions of copies.

"This hateful business," was Victoria's description of the discussion which arose between herself and other high personages concerning the proposal to make the German Emperor a British Field Marshal. Victorias' objections were ocrdialy supported by Lord Roseberry, the former Liberal Prime Minister., who died recently, although the Prince of Woles (King Edward) and Lord Salisbury supported conferment of the distinction.

Queen Victoria was most anxious that her son, the Duke of Connaught, should succeed her cousin, the late Duke of Cambridge, as commander-in-chief, but Lord Wolseley's claims were too great to be passed over. The Duke of Connaught (who was Governor-General of Canada from 1911 to 1916) wrote to Queen Victoria's private secretary: "Whatever my private feelings may be I wish loyaly to accept the Queens' decision in a matter of such importance to herself and for the good of the army. I hope the Queen will however insist on Lord Wolseley and all his staff ceasing once and for all to have any connection with the press. The discipline of the army and its loyalty and contentment are at stake, and unfortunately both Lord Wolseley and the present Q.M.G. (Quartermaster - General) have been great offenders in this matter."

Queen Concerned.

Considering the change which has taken place in the constitutional position of the House of Lords it is striking to note Queen Victoria's concern when Lord Roseberry in his short premiership, brought reform of the Upper Chamber into prominence. Being informed of Lord Rosebery's proposals, Victoria sent him this telegram:

"This is tampering with our constitution, and where will it stop. I earnestly appeal to you to support me in preserving that which I am bound to uphold."

To the Marquis of Salisbury the Conservative leader, the Queen wrote a very private letter, in which she said: "The action proposed, she thinks mischievous in the highest degree and, she must add, disloyal."

Victoria also telgraphed the Prince of Wales (King Edward later) in a message favoring dissolution of parliament. "I quite share your feelings and I am anxious," Edward replied. "I fear anything I could write or say would avail nothing."

But reform was to come in later years.

UNIVERSE SEEN IN FEEBLE STAR

Its Luminosity is 1,400 Times That Of Sun.

IN INFINITY'S REALM

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 8 (By The Canadian Press).—A faint star known to astronomy as H.D. 698 in the constellation of Cassiopia is the most massive yet discovered, according to a recently completed spectroscopic study at the Dominion astrophysical observatory near here.

The sun's mass is taken as the unit for expressing the weight of the various stellar bodies, and this recently studied star, which is in the form of a binary system, consists of two giant suns of 134 and 50 times the weight of the earth's sun. These suns, separated from each other by a distance of 150,000,000 miles, revolve around each other in slightly less than fifty-six days. They speed around their orbits at the rate of 53 and 142 miles per second respectively.

A faint conception of the comparative mass of these suns is given by the knowledge that the weight of the sun is expressed by 2, followed by twenty-seven ciphers, tons.

Prof. J. S. Plaskett, director of the observatory, has recently been devoting a good deal of study to the characteristics of these distant gigantic stellar masses. He finds that their light shows that the smaller component has a temperature of 25,000 degrees Fahrenheit, a volume 135 times the sun, and is intrinsically about 350 times as bright.

The larger star, he finds, has a peculiar spectrum. Besides containing the ordinary hydrogen and helium lines of a high temperature star, it has in addition many lines of the enhanced metals, such as iron, titanium and chromium usually found in cooler stars. This indicates that the density is abnormally low and that the star is an exceedingly large one. The computed volume is 3,550 times the sun, the temperature 18,000 degrees Fahrenheit and the luminosity 1,400 times that of the sun.

Furthermore, the interstellar calcium lines have revealed the distance of this extraordinary system. According to the hypothesis of uniform distribution, the strength of the lines should be directly proportional to the distance of the star. The measured intensity of the lines in M.D. 698 indicates a distance of 3,100 light years. An additional estimate is obtained from the measurement of the radial motion of the intervening gas. The observed velocity corresponds to a distance of 3,700 light years. These different methods agree in assigning a distance of approximately 3,400 light years in more than 20,000,000,000,000,000 miles.

KNOX APPEAL IS DISMISSED

Jean H. Fisher Appeals Against Ruling By Judge McEvoy.

OSGODE HALL CASES.

An appeal heard recently at Osgoode Hall, in which the defendant Robert A. Knox sought a reversal of a judgment from His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke given in favor of the plaintiffs Melva H. Bickell and John F. Bickell of Smith Township for $600 and costs, and that plaintiff upon payment transfer to the defendant 400 shares of the preferred stock of Second Standard Royalties, and 800 shares of common stock of the same company, was dismissed with costs.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., appeared for the appellant and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. for the respondent.

A promisary note was given by the defendant for $600, upon which a clause was placed, "If Standard Royalties is not satisfactory twelve months to date." These words were not inserted by the maker of the note, but defendant contended that his liability was restricted to a period of twelve months, which had elapsed. His Honor found liability on the part of the defendant and that if the defendant had intended a restriction of liability he would have stated so at the time of the making of the note.

On appeal it was contended that plaintiff had elected to retain the securities and by their neglect they were stopped from claiming relief from the defendant.

Appeal from Judge McEvoy

In another appeal by the defendant Jean H. Fisher from a judgment of Judge McEvoy in favor of the plaintiff Marion C. Martin for $3,700 balance of the purchase price of a house, the appeal was argued and allowed with costs, and action dismissed with costs.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for appellant and J. J. Maclennan for respondent.

The judgment originally handed down directed that the amount of the balance on the purchase price of the house should be paid in ten equal annual instalments with interest and defendant's counterclaim was dismissed. The agreement for sale and purchase contained a cause "$1,200 cash and the balance of $3,800 in such sums at such times as the second party (the purchaser) may be able to make the payments." The purchaser executed certain improvements, but only made one payment of $100 on principal in five years, at which rate of payment His Lordship found, would take 185 years to complete the purchase; that notwithstanding the elasticity in the words of the agreement he could not conclude that there was failure to agree to anything upon the ground of uncertainty, but there was an agreement for payment within a reasonable time.

UNIFORM REGISTRATION RULE SUGGESTED FOR A. A. U. OF C.

W. H. Kilby, Executive Officer, is Author of Proposed Plan.

SECURE UNIFORMITY

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 6—(CP)—Probably the most important matter that will come up at the next annual meeting of the A.A.U. of C. at Winnipeg on December 3, 4 and 5 will be the plan of national registration. In the past individual associations and provincial bodies have issued cards at, in most cases, 25c a head, the cards being charged to them by the National Union at 5c a head.

The new registration law which has been compiled by W. H. Kilby of Montreal, who is chairman of the Constitution and By-laws Committee of the Union, has been submitted to the governors. It will be proposed by him at the annual meeting, seconded by B. J. Palin, and reads as follows:

"For many years the question of universal registration has been discussed at annual conventions of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and there are several reasons in favor of its adoption, the most important of which are:

"1. To secure uniformity of issuance of all amateur cards.

"2. To have one card that will be recognized by all branches and allied bodies at present members of the Union and also by athletic organizations of other countries.

"3. To give the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada form of revenue that will enable them to sucessfully operate from a financial viewpoint and thereby relieve this body of one of its greatest difficulties.

"In order to acomplish the adoption of universal registration it will first be necessary for all branches to agree on: (a) Uniformity of fee to be charged. This varies from 25c to 50c. (b) The amount to be charged by the national body for cards. At the present time the national body receives five cents from the branches on each card issued, irrespective of the fee charged to the applicant.

Uniform Rate.

"It is suggested that a uniform rate of 50c per card be charged and that 20 per cent of this sum, i.e., 10c, should be retained by the National Body.

"Assuming that the above questions have been settled, the next feature to be faced is the method of handling Universal Registration which briefly might be worked as follows:

"At the beginning of each year the National Secretary would have available a sufficient supply of suitably designed amateur cards properly numbered and to be issued upon demand to all the Provincial Branches; these cards to be billed to the branches at 10c per card. Cards so issued would bear the signature of the honorary secretary of the Union and be countersigned either by the secretary of the branch or the chairman of the Provincial Registration Comittee.

"Such a card should contain the name and signature of the holder and all cards should bear a uniform expiry date; this date being December 31st. In order that a minimum amount of work may be involved in the issuance of cards the form might contain a printed stub to record the essential data necessary for record purposes. At the end of each year each branch would return to the honorary secretary all unused and spoiled cards.

"In adition, each branch would submit monthly to the National Secretary a statement showing details of cards issued, such as name, address and association, together with date of issue; this statement to be prepared by the Branch Registration Committee or branch secretary. This would enable the National Body to have at all times, a complete record of all amateur cards issued and thereby be able to give full information to any branch or allied unit of all registrations. The Provincial Registration Committee chairmen should all be members of the National Registration Committee.

"It is of course recognized that some difficulties will have to be overcome in the adoption of universal registration, but if all branches and allied units will cooperate with the National Body there is no doubt but that it will finally work advantageously to all parties affected.

"Another feature that should be given special consideration is the standardization of forms used in applying for and renewing cards. At the present time no two branches use the same form. The standard form is now given in the handbook and should at all times be used.

"A decision should be given in conection with the necessity of taking affidavits before a commissioner for oaths. At present in some instances this is not being called for, but its use would seem very desirable, as it has a tendency to impress on all applicants the importance and value of an amateur card."

GEORGE ST. Y.P.A. HOLDS FALL RALLY

Discussion Propaganda is Feature of Young People's Meeting.

The Young People's Association of George Street United Church has again resumed their activities for another year. Their first meeting last week took the form of a rally and social evening, concluding with a pie social. There was a good attendance at the meeting on Tuesday evening, which opened by singing "O Canada," followed by the devotional exercises in charge of Orville Jinks. The lesson, based on propaganda was read in unison with remarks on the passage being given by Mr. Jinks.

The president, Homer Borland, presided and announced the topic of 'Propaganda' giving a general introduction of the subject. It was studied under three different headings: Newspaper and Magazine Propaganda by Miss Helen Burn; Radio Propaganda, by Miss Esther Thornton, and War Propaganda, by Cecil Wasson, which was followed by a general summary given by the president.

The remainder of the evening was spent in jolly games and contests, and with sing-song and taps.

Cornwallis Honors Founder Of Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 8. — A wreath was laid at the bronze feet of the statue of Hon. Edward Cornwallis, founder of Halifax, by a lineal descendant— Lord Cornwallis Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Great Britain, yesterday.

Conditions in the old country were by no means hopeless, said Lord Cornwallis. The coming general elections would, he hoped, clear the air and the country could settle down to the task of working out its problems in a systematic manner with a stable Parliament. Economists were predicting that Great Britain's recovery would be remarkably rapid.

Disgusted with climatic conditions in India, a large industrialist in Bombay has announced that he will dispose of his many interests in India, including 10 cotton mills, and move to Shanghai, China.

RODEO AT RINK ALL NEXT WEEK

Welsh Brothers Return to Peterborough Under Kiwanis Auspices.

FAVORITES BACK.

The Welsh Brothers Rodeo will perform at Brock Street Rink during the week of October 12 under the auspices of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club and in conjunction with the Produced-in-Canada Exhibition to be held in the Armouries.

During the past season the show has played several successful dates including London Western Fair and have just completed an engagement at the Leamington, Essex County, Exhibition, where all previous grand stand attendance records were broken. This has been the second successive year for the rodeo at Leamington.

All the horses which the Welsh Brothers carry this year are entirely new. None of the horses which put in an appearance at Peterborough Exhibition last year will be on hand. Such well-known bucking horses as Gentle Annie, Tornado, Volcano, Irish, Lightning, Grey Ghost, Pretty Polly, Wild Flower, Black Maria, and many others will give the cowboys their usual troubles.

Most of the boys who were with the show last year will be here along with several other top riders including Henry Nichol of Medicine Hat, Alberta, winner of the Medicine Hat and Moose Jaw Stampedes this year; Joe Wilson, a real steer rider, and Herb Biggart of Vulcan, Alberta; Louis Welsh, Josie Welsh, Curly Smith, Ranger Granger, Boy Watson, Shorty Campbell, Joe Wilson Jr., and others.

The cowboys are all set for a real week of Wild, Woolly and Western entertainment, and along with the Kiwanis big program, Peterborough citizens and visitors to the plowing match should be afforded plenty of excitement.

PRODUCE GRAIN, CATTLE,

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, October 8. — Supplies of fresh eggs were no more plentiful yesterday than previously on the local market, and though prices to country shippers were steady with those of Tuesday, brokers were asking higher levels for graded supplies, and wholesalers were quoting the trade higher figures. There were practically no fresh eggs on spot, and wholesalers found a good demand for storage supplies which were quoted at 28c for extras, and 26c for firsts.

Country shippers were offered 30c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 14c to 15c for seconds, delivered, ungraded cases returned. Retailers were quoted extras in cartons at 40c, extras, loose at 38c, firsts loose at 33c and seconds loose 19c to 20c. Brokers were selling graded eggs on a general basis of 32c to 35c for extras, 29c to 30 for firsts, and 17c to 18c for seconds, in free cases.

Butter.

There were no changes in prices asked for butter. Local brokers were trading on a range of 20c to 20½c, for No. 1 creamery solids with the bulk of the business in the 20c to 20¼c range. Trading was slow, local buyers not wishing to take any large supplies. There were reports of more Western butter going to the United States, this still being possible on account of the rate of exchange.

Cheese.

Prices for new cheese were no different than those quoted on Tuesday, brokers offering new large at 11¾c to 12c, twins at 12c to 12¼c, and triplets at 12½c. Retailers were asked to pay 13c for new large, 13¼c for new twins, and 13½c for new triplets.

Expert From Gov't To Speak On Flowers

HAVELOCK, Oct. 8 (Examiner Correspondence). — Local flower lovers will do well to attend the lecture in the town hall Friday evening this week, by Mr. John Clark, expert horticulturist in the employ of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Clark is perhaps one of the best authorities on matters pertaining to flowers of all kinds, and on this occasion will lecture particularly on rock gardens.

Mr. Clark has a number of beautiful lantern slides with which he will illustrate his address, and those who attended his lecture at the town hall in the spring, will be sure to be on hand on Friday evening. Last time he invited any one interested to ask questions, which he would undertake to answer; so bring along your problems in connection with rock gardens, and he will probably help you solve them.

The lecture is under auspices of the local Women's Institute and there is no charge for admission. However, there will be a silver collection taken up, the proceeds to go towards the expenses of fixing up the plot around the town hall, and to purchase a few of the rare shrubs which are needed to complete the border.

HOSPITAL AT NORTH BAY OPENS PLANNED BY BISHOP SCOLLARD

Crowning Achievement of His Social Work in North.

BORN IN ENNISMORE.

NORTH BAY, Oct. 8.—When St. Joseph's General Hospital opens its doors to-day to cater to the physical welfare of the residents of North Bay and district it will be to set another jewel in the richly-adorned crown of achievement which Rt. Rev. D. J. Scollard, D.D., shaped for himself during his thirty-five years' residence in North Bay as head of St. Mary's parish, and his more than twenty-five years as administrator of the extensive Sault Ste. Marie diocese.

This splendid institution, together with the boys' college, opened this month, are, as it were, highlights in a career that glows with evidences of progress and achievements. From his very first year of residence in North Bay, Bishop Scollard's life had been devoted to the spiritual and physical well-being of those under his charge. Aside from that he gave freely of his time and ability to discharge his duty as a citizen. Tribute in this regard was paid him by prominent citizens at the public reception held in the Capitol theatre on the occasion of his Episcopal silver jubilee in May of last year.

Announced Hospital.

The hospital and college, presented to North Bay citizens this month, have long been cherished visions of Bishop Scollard. In planning the building of the parishes of the city and the diocese, generally, the establishment of these worthy institutions were foremost in his mind. It was not until the time of the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate, commemorated last May, that he made definite announcement of his intention to realize this long-cherished aim and within a few weeks afterwards the buildings were actually under way.

Together with being a devoted pastor and bishop, Rt. Rev. D. J. Scollard is regarded as one of the ablest business administrators of the Canadian College of Bishops. He has the reputation of being particularly progressive and with that possessed of exceptional visionary power. When assigned to North Bay parish of Peterborough diocese in 1896 it was to come to a community equipped with an old and inadequate church. To-day a magnificent cathedral and two other parish churches grace the city. Furthermore, a site has been secured for an additional church to be established in the east end of the city when required. Likewise the school accommodation was very limited, a building on the brow of Priest's hill and accommodation over the vestry of the old church on Main street, being the extent of the accommodation. Under the direction of His Lordship school facilities were gradually improved until to-day they are regarded as the equal of any city of like size in the Dominion.

The ability reflected in the Catholic institutions of North Bay are but a part of progressive programs engineered and carried out by Bishop Scollard throughout his expansive domain. During his twenty-five years of diocesan administration he has caused one hundred churches and chapels and thirty-three rectories to be erected at a combined cost of $3,314,000. On these edifices there only remained a debt of $300,000 in May, 1930. Educational and charitable institutions were likewise established as required and in the relatively short period of twenty-five years $2,600,000 was expended for the physical welfare of the people of the diocese.

Born Near Peterborough.

His Lordship Bishop Scollard is a native of Ontario, having been born at Ennismore, near Peterborough, the son of the late John Scollard and Catherine O'Connor, both natives of Ireland. He received his early education at the rural school at Ennismore and entered St. Michael's College, Toronto, in November 1882, to continue studies which led him to devote his life to God's service. Five years afterwards he passed to the Grand Seminary, Montreal, to prepare for his life's work by the study of philosophy and theology.

On December 21, 1890, he was ordained to the priesthood and was immediately appointed by the late Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor, Peterborough diocese, as curate at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough. Later he served as rector for four years and on March 1, 1896, was named as parish priest of St. Mary's parish, North Bay. His elevation to the Episcopate was announced on Nov. 14, 1904, and his consecration took place at Peterborough on Feb. 24, 1905.

When Bishop Scollard arrived in North Bay, the only Catholic Church was a wooden structure on the site now occupied by the Cochrane Dunlop building, Main street. He immediately set about to provide his people with a more worthy place in which to worship God and within two years the site of the Cathedral was purchased. The building of the edifice was commenced early in 1904 and the corner stone laid on June 19. It was opened in the fall of 1905. To-day there are two other Catholic parishes with ample church accommodation, St. Vincent de Paul, Wylde street, and St. Rita's Italian Church, Douglas street.

From the time of his coming to the city until very recently, Bishop Scollard was in close touch with educational matters as secretary-treasurer of the Separate School Board. In the course of his service in that regard the educational facilities developed from two small buildings to five modern and commodious institutions, and with that St. Joseph's Academy for girls was established.

During his thirty-five years of residence in North Bay and his quarter of a century as administrator of Sault Ste. Marie Diocese, Bishop Scollard has occupied an unique position of importance and respect. His varied accomplishments are probably without parallel in the Dominion. Moreover, during his active and busy career he found time to take a personal interest in the affairs of his parishioners and the people of his diocese and in that gained and retained the esteem of people in all walks of life and of all religious persuasions.

SUB FILM ACT IMPERILS SIX

Actors Nearly Drown as Chinese Become Entangled in Rope.

OFF PORTSMOUTH, ENG.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Six actors narrowly escaped death one night recently in the making of a submarine film at sea off Portsmouth. They were acting in a scene showing the crew of a sunken submarine escaping by means of life-saving apparatus.

As no submarine could be "flooded" for the purpose the actors had to descend under water by a rope. One member of the crew, Wang Wong, a Chinese, found himself entangled in the rope and forgetful of his perilous position removed the mouthpiece. Water rushed into the apparatus and filled it, and Wang could not rise.

Sydney Seaward, one of the actors, reached down and dragged the Chinese up to the surface, but Seaward unable to support Wang and his own weight was himself in danger until rescued by a boat. There will still five actors to be "rescued" and the delay over the Chinese had made their plight a real one. A strong current had set in and was carrying them away, and though all could swim they were cumbered by the weight of the life-saving apparatus.

By the time the rescue boat reached the last of the five he was at the point of sinking.

FASHION SERVICE

Here's one of the smartest dresses of the new season in simple good taste for day wear.

And into the bargain, it's slimming to.

The wrapped skirt gives charming height to the figure, closing as it does at the left-side front, with its snug fitting hip yoke, button trimmed. The one-sided collar has a decidedly narrowing effect on the bodice. The softly falling jabot frill contributes further slenderizing effect.

Style No. 3018 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 27-inch contrasting.

A plaided sheer woolen was used for the original model in dark green. The trim in plain shade matched the lightest tone of the plaid. The bone buttons choose the deepest tone.

It's a dress that will give excellent service.

Black crepe satin with eggshell trim is stunning in this model.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred).

GERMAN WOMEN IN PUBLIC LIFE

Forty in the Reichstag—Prison Staffed by Women.

CARS ARE SCARCE

NEW YORK N.Y., Oct. 7. (CP)—A healthy, level-headed, energetic people, courageously trying to make the best of a bad situation and doing an excellent job of it—

This is the impression of the German people brought back by Julia Collier Harris, journalist and author after a two months' study of political, economic and social questions in the German republic as an appointee of the Carl Schurz Foundation. Mrs. Harris is the wife of Julian Harris, news director of the Atlantic (Ga.) Constitution, who toured Germany with her also as an appointee of the Foundation.

"The German woman in public life" she said, "is a remarkably fine and well balanced person. She has taken with her into a new field much of the thoroughness and orderliness in which German women have been trained as home makers for many generations, and somehow she appears to be more womanly than the feminine leaders in some other countries.

"There are 40 women in the Reichstag. In Berlin there is a prison for women that is staffed entirely by women—and I don't think there is an institution in this country to equal it.

"The Germans are really the most industrious, energetic people I ever saw. Their young people are so fine and healthy looking. Outdoor sports have become enormously popular, and everywhere one sees deeply tanned young people, magnificent specimens.

"They don't talk very much about their troubles. You have to ask them. That probably is one reason why, to the casual observer, Germany appears to be much more prosperous than she really is. It is only when one is invited to their homes—as Mr. Harris and I had the opportunity to be—that realization of what they are up against is possible.

"One thing you do notice, though, is the scarcity of automobiles. Someone remarked that there weren't any more automobiles in all Germany than there are in the city of Atlanta."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

HIVES A SIGN THAT SYSTEM HAS BEEN SHOCKED.

When we were youngsters and had an attack of hives, just what might have caused it was not given much thought. A dose of castor oil was the treatment and that was all that mattered.

Nowadays an attack of hives (urticaria) is given real attention not because there is anything dangerous about it, but because it is a sign, a signal that some article of food or other substance upsets the whole body, and the hives is just what the skin shows on the outside of the body; the real action on the body processes is going on inside.

Investigation shows that during an attack there is loss of red corpuscles it the blood. As these are the food and air carriers to the tissues this is important to every cell in the body.

The blood loses some of its stickiness and it is this stickiness that means good healthy blood; this is important. The blood pressure falls during an attack of hives also.

Now this loss of red corpuscles, loss of stickiness in the blood, and the lowering of the blood pressure, all mean that the system has received a 'shock.'

Such shocks are not good for the individual and he would be wise to try and locate just what food or foods may be causing them.

Very often this is not hard, and by avoiding these foods, or eating them in small quantities, he is able to avoid hives or urticaria.

When the food causing the trouble is not known, then treatment is of course more difficult. It may mean trying out various foods by themselves, and when the one causing the trouble is located, very, very small amounts of that food are taken every day in an effort to get the system so used to it that it will not cause shock when taken in larger amounts later on.

Other methods include the injection of small quantities of a strong solution of baking soda or other alkaline salt.

For the immediate treatment of hives, emptying the stomach by tickling the throat with a feather, or by giving a little mustard and water is helpful. If seen some hours after eating, a dose of Epsom salts is good treatment.

To overcome the 'shock,' adrenalin is given by mouth or by hypodermic injection.

It should be remembered that infection from any source—intestine, gallbladder, teeth, tonsils—may also cause attacks of urticaria.

Anniversary Held

(Examiner Correspondence.)

QUEENSBORO, October 8 — The anniversary services held at Harts' United Church on Sunday, conducted by Rev. W. H. Truscott of West Huntington, were well attended and the thankoffering was equal to what was given a year ago. Mr. Truscott preached two very helpful sermons, which were much appreciated by all present. The choir rendered special music at each service. The church was prettily decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and vegetables of various kinds.

On Monday evening a chicken and meat supper was served in the basement of the public school; this too was well patronized. A program consisting of the following numbers was given at the close of the supper:

A chorus, entitled "Hello," by Leona Blakley, Norma Martin, Eileen Holmes, Betty Demorest and Clayton Holmes.

A recitation, "Brother Bill," Betty Demorest.

Solo, "The Church on the Hill," by Mrs. Calvin Tanner.

Recitation, "The Minister's Sermon," by Everet Moorcroft.

A selection on the mandolin by Miss Small.

Readings, "The Signboard," and "Lucky Jim," by Allan Diamond.

Reading, "Burdock's Music Box," Miss Ida McCaw.

Mandolin solo, "Mother Macree," Miss Small.

Solo, "Spread a Little Gladness Along Life's Way," Mrs. R. A. Sager.

Readings, "Because," and "The Call," Allan Diamond.

A chous by Leona Blakley, Nora Martin, Eileen Holmes, Betty Demorest and Clayton Holmes.

Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Eldorado, a former pastor, was present, and gave a very helpful and interesting address on "Thanksgiving."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Those of you readers who are housewives know that housework entails keeping the hands in water more or less which makes it imperative that you pay particular attention to your hands to keep them looking well.

• • • • • • •

All the attention should not be directed toward manicuring, but some to the soaps and solutions you use, the scouring agents, and the everyday care given your hands.

• • • • • • •

It is as important to use a kitchen soap that agrees with the skin, as to have a toilet soap that does.

• • • • • • •

Just what soap should be used, each person has to find out for herself, according to the sensitiveness of the skin, and its natural oiliness or freedom from oil. This is true also of solutions.

• • • • • • •

Some which are excellent for clothes or dishwashing, will redden certain skins or make nails brittle. Others roughen the hands.

• • • • • • •

It is advisable to use a hand lotion that counteracts the bad effects of agents that do not suit the hand, when such must be used.

• • • • • • •

In fact, a good hand lotion is an essential to use frequently. One homemaker whose hands are perfectly kept, always washed them thoroughly with her best toilet soap after each dishwashing. Then she uses a lotion.

• • • • • • •

Another woman whose nails are rather brittle, finds the liquid nail polish which as you know acts like a varnish, is a fine preventive against broken nails.

• • • • • • •

It strengthens them as well as polishes them.

• • • • • • •

Broken nails are annoying since they catch in every slightest roughness. One of the best ways to treat them is with surgeon's plaster.

• • • • • • •

Stick a tiny shaving of the plaster over the broken part of the nail, and trim the edges as you cut the nail. This soothing remedy is excellent when doing housework, as the plaster will withstand quite a little water.

• • • • • • •

But for good looks, use pink court plaster in the same way. It will scarcely show while it protects, but it will come off when the hands are washed. It requires frequent renewing.

OLD ROMAN SITE NEAR ST. ALBANS

Ancient City of Verulanium Being Revealed by Work of Professor, Students and and Laborers.

AN ANCIENT SITE

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Twenty miles from London there is now being unearthed the city of Verulamium which was flourishing when the Crucifixion was an event but of yesterday. It lies within a mile of the city and Abbey of St. Albans—the great church dedicated to the first martyr to suffer in Britain. London was a mere upstart amongst towns when the mosaic pavements and the walls of flint and tile, now being uncovered, were laid by the Roman builders. Every British child has heard of how Boadicea, the early Anglican queen, headed the tribes in revolt against their Roman oppressors. Colchester, a newer but a stronger Roman settlement than Verulamium, fell before them. Verulamium, too, was swept by fire and sword, but within a few days the Romans effected such reprisals here as to shock even the most hardened of Roman soldiery. The city was rebuilt, and prospered exceedingly for a century or more until it again fell with the coming of the Saxons. St. Albans Abbey, as we see it to-day, was built with bricks from the ruins of the Roman town.

Within the last 12 months, thanks largely to the practical interest of the Corporation of St. Albans and of Lord Verulam, an elaborate scheme of excavation has made substantial progress. The work is being conducted under the superintendence of Professor Robert E. M. Wheeler, Secretary of the London Museum, one of the greatest archaeological experts in Britain. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler have the capable assistance of bands of students from all parts of the country, who voluntarily spend a week or more of their vacation in searching over the ruins of one of the most powerful settlements ever established by a foreign invader. Many visitors who enter the area under excavation will perhaps find the experience reminiscent, to some degree at least, of their earliest introduction to the trenches of Flanders during the War. Ordinary laborers do the rough preliminary work with pick and shovel. In the places thus left bare the visitor will behold young men and women scraping with careful diligence the earth from tesselated floors, the exquisite patterns of which have been hidden for 10 centuries. The area which was originally enclosed by fortifications alone exceeds 250 acres. There is no suggestion the whole of this will be upturned.

What has already been done makes fairly clear that the Roman city was built mainly from A.D. 120 to 140, although there are distinct traces of a much earlier foundation. Some of the buildings have been preserved for the present generation to rediscover by the curious circumstances that when they became unfit for further habitation by their Roman owners they were merely filled up and either left derelict, or other buildings were placed upon their foundations. The defence walls of the city are very well marked. Outside one of these has been discovered a cemetery. The dead in most instances had been interred in a crouched position, with oblong coffins. One of the most interesting sites uncovered is that of a Roman shop. The two doorways are clearly discernible, and a millstone is upon the floor.

Verulamium came upon its final dissolution largely because the builders of the Abbey used it as a quarry. It also seems that the early Abbots were much troubled because the wreckage of the city of the Romans provided a resort for thieves and malefactors. The Saxons used these Roman bricks for their church more than 1000 years ago, and 300 years later the Normans used them again in the great tower which still crowns the hill.

PARIS TRAVELOGUE

Address by Miss M. Montgomery at School Meeting.

The October meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School was held Monday evening with a large attendance.

After a short business session, Miss M. Montgomery spoke on Paris. It was a most interesting talk, giving her hearers an intimate glimpse of the cosmopolitan city in its varying aspects, leaving vivid pictures of its people, customs, amusements, its cathedrals, shops, opera and many places of interest and note.

Mrs. Ford Turner sang two pleasing solos. Miss Mildred Hetherington gave two excellent piano numbers, also playing Mrs. Turner's accompaniment.

A pleasant event took place just before the close of the meeting, when Miss M. Morrow, a former member of the teaching staff of the school, was presented with two books on Travel by the Association, after which refdeshments were served and a social hour spent.

To-day Dixie's Heritage

"GOOD to the LAST DROP"

AN outstanding example of Southern hospitality is the Maxwell House in Nashville, Tennessee. Not only did this distinguished old inn become famous for its food, but also for a wonderfully rich and mellow coffee originated by a Southern gentleman with a genius for flavour.

A coffee so good that those who tasted it once never forgot it. Instantly it became Dixie's favourite. In these later days most people choose Maxwell House as their favourite coffee.

Canada Quick To Recognise Its Superiority

When the news of this distinctive coffee spread, Canada lost no time in deciding on its merits. Today Maxwell House is the country's favourite, roasted and packed in a great Canadian plant. Vacuum packed in tins ensures that you get it always fresh—just as if you had just ground it yourself. Ask your grocer for Maxwell House in the blue tin.

MISS MARJORY KIRKHAM WINS HER MATCH AT THE 23 HOLE

While Miss Cecil Smith Falls to Mrs. C. S. Eddis of Toronto 2 and 1.

MISS MACKENZIE WINS.

TORONTO, October 8 — With Mrs. C. S. Eddis of the Rosedale Golf Club defeating Miss Cecil Smith of the Toronto Golf Club, 2 and 1, in a downpour of rain and on a water-soaked course; Miss Marjory Kirkham, of the Forest Hills Golf and Country Club Montreal, eliminating Miss Honor Bright, Look Out Point, Welland, at the twenty-third hole; Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Women's Golf and Tennis Club, defeating Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf Club, by 4 and 3, and Mrs. E. W. Whittington of the Toronto Golf Club winning on the home green after a close contest with Mrs. Ronald Holmes, also of the Toronto Golf Club, the Canadian women's closed golf championship reached its semi-final round yesterday on the course of the Lambton Golf and Country Club.

Champion Survives.

Two rounds of the championship, which commenced on Monday, with Miss Cecil Smith leading a strong field of Canadian golfers, were held yesterday. There were two close contests in the second round of the tournament. Miss Cecil Smith met a keen golfer in Mrs. T. J. Agar of the Mississauga Golf and Country Club, but won by 2 and 1, while Miss Honor Bright, one of the younger entrants, defeated Miss Verena Newton of Windermere, Muskoka, 1 up. Other winners in the second round scored in a decisive fashion. All former title-holders and contenders for Miss Kirkham's title remained in the tournament for the third round.

Medallist Is Defeated.

Although she met Miss Cecil Smith, the medallist of the tournament and runner-up for the title last year, Mrs. Eddis was expected to provide a close contest on account of the game she displayed in the United States open championship at Buffalo, where she was a qualifier and a winner in the strongest field on the continent and her golf during the Canadian open championship. At the turn, Mrs. Eddis led by one hole. On the way in, Miss Smith lost an opportunity to reduce her opponet's lead when she took three putts on the twelfth green. Mrs. Eddis encountered a semi-stymie at the fifteenth, and then on the sixteenth Miss Smith sank a long putt. However, Miss Smith's attempt to avert defeat was unsuccessful, and Mrs. Eddis was delared the winner at the seventeenth.

Go To Twenty-third Hole.

While Miss Kirkham was compelled to go to the twenty-third hole to win her match with Miss Bright, the match revealed Miss Kirkham as one of the strongest golfers in the Dominion. She played daily at Rosedale in the Canadian open, finally meeting Miss Orcutt for the title, and then went to Lambton for practice, after which she started off in the qualifier of the closed tournament. After ten days of consecutive tournament golf, she meets Mrs. Eddis to-day. Miss Kirkham failed to secure a substantial lead, and found herself all square on the home green. As it proceeded it became keener. The nineteenth hole was halved in fours and the twentieth halved in threes, both players putting for birdies. Par golf prevailed in spite of the condition of the course until Miss Bright failed to secure her five at the twenty-third hole.

Miss Mackenzie Wins.

Miss Mackenzie's victory over Mrs. Mulqueen recalled championships of the past when Miss Mackenzie and Mrs. Mulqueen were the outstanding contenders for Canadian and Provincial titles. Miss Mackenzie played fine golf and at the turn enjoyed a three-hole lead, which she increased over the second half of the course. If there was a surprise in the third round it was Mrs. Whittington's victory in her match with Mrs. Holmes, a former title-holder. Mrs. Whittington was one up at the turn. The breaks of the game shifted repeatedly on the second nine, and finally went to Mrs. Whittington on the home green.

Championship Fight, Second Round

Cecil Smith, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. T. J. Agar, Mississauga, 2 and 1.

Mrs. C. S. Eddis, Rosedale, defeated Hazel Hudson, Toronto Ladies', 8 and 7.

Honor Bright, Lookout Point, defeated Verena Newton, Windermere, one up.

Margery Kirkham, Forest Hill, defeated Mary Millichamp, Rosedale, 5 and 4.

Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. Gordon Konantz, of Winnipeg, 5 and 4.

Ada Mackenzie, Toronto Ladies', defeated Mrs. Eric Phillips, Lambton, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Ronald Holmes, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. A. B. Fisher, Lambton, 4 and 2.

Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto Golf, defeated Mrs. Adair Gibson, Lambton, 7 and 5.

(2) The Isle of Man is in large measure unspoiled by the high pressure, rush and hustle that characterizes so much of modern life, but on occasion it capitulates to the 1931 idea, as witness this motor-cycle race for the island's junior grand prix, with an interested gallery lined up. Enroute to St. Louis with Athletics, Oct. 8.—The world champion Athletics sped westward today for the concluding world series drama. Looking and acting like anything but a club possibly on the verge of being shorn of its title.

They must win the sixth game tomorrow at St. Louis to prolong the fight but they are already talking about the fun they will have with the Cardinals in the seventh and deciding contest. To a man they consider the sixth game and another deadlock theirs for the simple reason they do not see how George Livingston Earnshaw can lose.

Connie Mack smiles and says "Yes, I have a lot of confidence in George." The players think Earnshaw certainly will pitch Friday and if he wins, they regard it likely the famous righthander will start the seventh game Saturday, with Lefty Grove in reserve both days.

"The way I look at it," said Mickey Cochrane today, "Earnshaw has shown he can over-power the Cards—that is, all but this Martin. He has shown he can do the iron man stunt. He told me yesterday he felt like pitching. He pitched successive games in both the 1929 and 1930 series with only a day in between."

Earnshaw is one of the few who doesn't participate in the general hilarity of the world champions en route. Big George prefers relaxation and a quiet conversation to the boisterous exchange of wisecracks or a poker game. He looks very much like a great right-handed pitcher who felt confident he could "bear down" on the opposition and smother them whenever required. He's the one big reason why the A's are still confident they will take two in a row and win the series.

You hear plenty about a young gent named Martin in the gabfests of the world champions.

"When Martin came to bat about the third time yesterday," remarked Cochrane, "I said to him: 'Say kid, don't you ever pop out?' He came right back: "I'm just in there swinging and getting the breaks.'"

"I don't know how to stop him," admitted Cochrane. "He has hit everything we have tried against him, high or low, fireballs or slowballs."

Mack's shake-up of his line-up in the fifth game, with McNair replacing Bishop at second, Jim Moore going to the outfield in place of Haas, was believed merely a one-day emergency measure designed to break "Wild Bill" Hallahan's defense. Both Bishop and Haas likely will start tomorrow, especially if Burleigh Grimes is the Cardinal pitching choice.

The A's believe that with Earnshaw invincible and Grove "due" they have an edge in pitching over the Cardinals, who must rely on Grimes and Hallahan without giving either his customary rest.

Earnshaw in Cochrane's opinion, was never faster than in winning the fourth game. The A's backstop met Jim Collins Card pinch-hitter who struck out, and was asked whether one of Big George's strikes had much of a break on it. "Only about a foot," Cochrane replied. "I though so," said Collins, "but I'm not sure I saw it."

FOUR REGULARS ON INJURED LIST

Nevertheless P. C. I. Seniors Expect No Difficulty in Subduing Lindsay Collegiate.

SECONDS HERE SATURDAY.

For the first time this year, the P. C. I. Seniors will enter the game in Lindsay this Saturday in a badly crippled condition, having no less than four regulars on the casualty list. However, the rest of the squad bolstered with substitutes, expect to take the Lindsay boys with not too much difficulty as the Scugogville team appears to be the weak entry again this year.

Vern Armstrong has been troubled with a trick knee since near the first of the season and as a result his kicking has been seriously affected so Coach Legon will probably keep the big fellow on the side lines unless the game is going against his team. Dinneson, who has been sharing the kicking burden with Armstrong, also has a game leg and even if he gets into Saturday's contest, he will not be able to do any booting and Jack Gardiner will no doubt get the assignment.

Ralph Clark and Grant Breckenridge are the two men who are definitely out for a couple of weeks or more. Clark received a kidney injury in the Cobourg game here, forcing him to retire, while Breckenridge, going around the end in yesterday's scrimmage practice, fell on his shoulder on being tackled and knocked the shoulder bone out and as a result is suffering from a painful dislocation.

All these boys will be badly missed when the 'Petes' invade Lindsay this week but with Young and Richardson on the half and Waddell, Clayton, Lord, Gardiner, Reynolds and Marsh ready for line duty, Coach Legon need have no worry regarding the outcome of the struggle. The squad will be away for the next two Saturdays as they tackle Oshawa in the Motor City a week from Saturday, but will be home to Lindsay in three weeks time when they play their last home scheduled group game.

Seconds Here Saturday

However, fans will be treated to some high class rugby this week-end here when the P. C. I. Intermediates take on Oshawa in their first home appearance of the season. The 'Petes' lost their first tussle in Oshawa at the start of their campaign but got right back in the running when they defeated Port Hope 11-8 in the Lakeshore town last Saturday. Another win this week would put Coach Cummings squad right in the thick of things again and give them a fine chance for the group championship.

The team has been greatly strengthened within the past couple of weeks and shows fine promise. Don White and Roy Tranter will be at half and both these boys can travel at record speed for the entire sixty minutes.

In Wood and Chesler, the Garnet and Grey team has two insides with plenty of weight and line plunging ability above the normal and are sure ground gainers at every call. 'Pud' Braund and Harold Wilson are classy middles and Gord Dearborn has been showing excellent form at quarterback.

In all, the Intermediate 'Petes' deserve a fine crowd this week and fans are assured of a high class exhibition as the squad, which is one of the heaviest Intermediate outfits in some seasons, is a classy line plunging outfit and Don White and Bob Hewett have been tossing the pigskin around for some long gains via the forward pass route.

Long-Lost Drama Is Found In Norway

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 8—(A.P.)—Literary Norway was stirred this morning by the publication in the Aftenposten of the news that a long lost drama of the noted playwright Bjornsterne Bjornson has been found.

No details about the play were disclosed except that it was written by Bjornson while on a visit to Rome as a young man and the central character is the famous medieval King Oystein.

Bjornson died in 1908. The play was handed 30 years ago to Professor Collin of Oslo University, who has been dead seven years.

Beaver Meadow Club Annual Field Day

The annual Field Day of the Beaver Meadow Golf Club held last Saturday was the most successful one since the club was organized in 1925. A large crowd attended and the various events were thoroughly enjoyed. The club has just finished a good year, and with improvements being made on the greens during the fall and early in the spring, an even better season is predicted for next year.

The winners of the competitions were: Ladies' driving, Miss Burns and Mrs. Inch; ladies' approach, Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Shields; ladies' putting, Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Hardill; ladies' 4-hole game, Mrs. Inch and Mrs. Simmons; men's driving, R. Simmons, Jr., and R. Simmons, Sr.; men's approach, J. E. Girven and I. Pitchford; men's putting, W. K. McGee and F. Bowness; men's 4-hole mashie game, W. K. McGee and J. E. R. Munro; junior 4-hole game, R. Simmons Jr and A. Archibald Jr.

The annual competition for the Bowness Cup has been won by W. H. Prest, who defeated C. D. McLeish in the final. The final for the Macdonald Cup, not completed yet, will be between J. McKenny and J. E. Girven.

Rome Expected to Add to List of Beatifications

Roman Catholic authorities in Britain anticipate that during the autumn, steps will be taken by the Congregation of Sacred Rites in Rome for the beatification of some or all of the English martyrs remaining on the list when the pope beatified 136 on Dec. 14, 1929.

Prior to that date the names of 252 English martyrs were submitted to Rome, leaving 116 for further consideration.

Martin Equals World Baseball Series Hit Record

WAHOO FROM OKLAHOMA HAS AVERAGE OF .667 IN 5 GAMES OF SERIES

Drives in Five Runs, Scores Five Himself and Hits for Total of 19 Bases.

"A ONE-MAN SHOW."

Mack Uses Trio of Pitchers in Effort to Halt Onward Rush of Cards.

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Aboard the Cardinals' special train enroute to St. Louis, Oct. 8.—Under the personal supervision of John Leonard "Pepper" Martin, escorted by John Leonard "Pepper" Martin, dominated by John Leonard "Pepper" Martin, the one man show that is the world series of 1931, moved westward out of American League territory to-day and into the land of the St. Louis Cardinals, practically the personal property of John Leonard "Pepper" Martin.

Never in all world series history, not even in the heyday of baseball's immortal Babe Ruth has a single individual so taken into his own eager, irrepressible self a drama of the magnitude of this world series struggle of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Red Birds from the banks of the Mississippi.

Five games have flowed under the baseball bridges since the world champion Athletics, overwhelming favorites to win their third straight crown and set a new record for series conquests, tangled for the first time with the National League champions just a week ago in St. Louis. To-day, as the series speeds westward the Cardinals lead three to two in games and restlessly waiting to administer the coup de grace is this same "Pepper" Martin, just about the cause of it all.

There has been pitching by the Big Moose of the Athletics, George Earnshaw, that for studied painstaking brilliance has never been surpassed in these annual inter-league struggles. The great warrior of the game, snarling bitter, uncompromising Burleigh Grimes, buried another two hit masterpiece, and Wild Bill Hallahan, a superb little left hander, round of face and frail of body, twice has conquered the champions of the world, once without a run, allowing only three hits and again yesterday, 5 to 1.

There are prodigous world series feats and more amazing they came in succession. Yet the wonder of them fades and all the glory that would be theirs alone if it were not for this same "Pepper" Martin pales in the brilliance of the Wild Wahoo from Oklahoma.

Single-handed he has won two of the three games that now belong to the Cardinals. In the first game, when Lefty Grove pitched a loose victory, he hit safely three times, drove in one run ,and scored the other. Personally he beat George Earnshaw in the second game, hitting safely twice, running bases madly, scoring twice. When the Cardinals were trouncing Grove in the third game, he led the way again with two hits. In Earnshaw's great two-hit victory it was Pepper who got them both.

Comes Into His Own.

But yesterday, with the Series deadlocked at two games all, the pressure on full, the Athletics hitting and fighting mad, tremendous advantage or virtual elimination hinging on victory or defeat, this Wild Wahoo came into his absolute own.

Instead of weakening, resting on the laurels already won, letting someone else go out there and win a ball game for a change, all Pepper did was beat out a bunt, drill a single into left and hit the home run that smashed the gallant comeback of Waite Hoyt, veteran of a half-dozen World Series conquests with the New York Yankees. Moved up to fourth place in the batting order, the clean-up position, Pepper drove in four runs. He had no part in the making of the fifth, when the victory had become a rout, in the ninth, probably because he didn't happen to come to bat in that inning.

All told, Pepper has driven in five runs, scored five himself, hit for a total of 19 base, and a grand average of .667 for the World Series so far. His 12 hits, four of them doubles, already equals the record for most hits in a World Series. Opposed by the might of the Athletics, it has been as amazing a performance as sending out one man to win a World War and having him do it.

With Pepper driving the heart right out of the Athletics, the rest of the Cardinals hit well. Jim Bottomley, dropped to sixth in the batting order shift that moved Martin into the clean-up post, collected two hits. Frankie Frisch banged out a single and a double and Jim Wilson collected a pair of singles, but it was Martin alone who could hammer over the runs when the ball game was still hanging in the balance. He came to bat in the first inning, the roars of an alien crowd of 32,000 ringing in his ears, liking him in spite of the crusader's zeal with which he has been flogging the home boys. Andy High was on third, running for Sparky Adams, injured third baseman, who had singled. Frisch's long single had sent him to third. Martin immediately scored him with a long fly out to Simmons in deep left.

Although he beat out a bunt to start the third and Bottomley singled, Martin did no more damage until the sixth.

Simmons Takes Spotlight.

It was anyone's ball game through these innings as Al Simmons, doubling to the score board to open the second and smashing a single off Hallahan's leg to start the third, was the particular thorn in the Cardinal southpaw's side. It took brilliant pitching and Simmons' own foolishness on the base paths to avoid an Athletic score on the first occasion as Jimmy Foxx grounded out and Simmons, hurrying to get the tying run across, tried to score from second on Bing Miller's infield out. He was caught with fifteen feet to spare at the plate.

Simmons precipitated another tense situation for Hallahan as he singled to open the third and Foxx walked. But the little Lefty forced Miller and Jimmy Dykes to pop to Bottomley and fanned Dib Williams.

But before Simmons could break through with his third hit, rob Hallahan of another shutout, and end his scoreless inning streak at 15, Martin broke up the ball game in the sixth. With one out, Frisch doubled over third base. Once more it was Pepper's turn and he walloped a nice outside ball into the stands.

With that clout went the ball game, although Simmons singled to left, went to third on Foxx's single off Hallahan's shin, and scored without opposition on Miller's infield out in the seventh, Martin got that run back in the eighth by singling to drive home George Watkins, who had walked and stolen second. Bottomley reached first by forcing Chick Hafey, who had singled off Rommel to start the ninth, and the first baseman scored an unnecessary run on singles by Wilson and Charley Gelbert.

A's Get Nine Hits

The A's reached Hallahan for a total of nine hits, 7 of them in the last three innings when the game was no longer in doubt. Martin will be unleashed on the Athletics again in the sixth game in St. Louis tomorrow. Burleigh Grimes, or Paul Derringer, right handed rookie beaten off in the series opener, will go after the final victory the Cards need to win the National League's first championship in five years. George Earnshaw is Connie Mack's likeliest selection.

GEORGE DAVIS LEADS ST. PAUL TO 9-3 WIN OVER ROCHESTER

Saints Prolong Little World Series by Showing a Hard-Hitting Attack.

GETS FOUR HITS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 8. — George Davis, who has been the batting "goat" of the Little World Series, came to life yesterday, pounded out four hits and led the St. Paul Saints, champions of the American Association, to a 9 to 3 victory over the Rochester Red Wings of the International League. Although winning, the Saints still trail the Red Wings two games to four.

Davis was ably abetted by his teammates in a 14-hit attack that was distributed impartially among five Rochester pitchers. Roettger also slammed out four hits and Fenner connected with three, one of them a home run. The Red Wings' moundsmen issued seven walks, five of which came in the hectic eighth inning when the Saints scored five runs. The Rochester defense also cracked badly, four errors being charged against it.

Jack Bentley, the Red Wings' first baseman, featured at bat for his club with a single and a long homer that scored Puccinelli ahead of him in the second inning. Delker had three hits, including a double.

The Saints pecked away at the offerings of Herman Bell right from the start, getting hits in each of the first three innings. They scored once in the third inning, took the lead in the sixth with a two-run rally, and were never headed thereafter. The five runs in the eighth merely made the game one-sided.

Bell was removed in the sixth inning. He was followed in succession by Ira Smith, Hill, Judd and Starr.

Briaz. ("Slim") Harriss, tall right hander, pitched steady ball for the Saints, holding the Wings runless until the ninth after Bentley's second inning homer.

Showers just before noon kept down the attendance to 7,000.

The teams play here again tomorrow. The series ends when one team has won five games.

Softball Double Bill on Monday

Ardent softball fans who have been lamenting the fact that the season for organized ball is over will be pleased to learn that arrangements have been made to stage a post-season exhibition game at the East City Bowl on Monday next at 2.30 o'clock when an all-star team representing the pick of the players from the Brintons, Westclox, Sixth Line and C. G. E. teams will clash with the clever Keene girls who walked off with the league championship.

A game of this type is always appreciated by the dyed-in-the-wool fan who has been following the fortunes of the various teams during the entire season and has often weighed in his own mind the chances of the league champions against the pick of the league. The final choice of players has not as yet been made, but it is understood that a complete list of the names of the picked players will be available shortly.

Any receipts which will be realized from this game will be used to defray expenses incurred by the C.G.E. players who were injured in a car accident on the way home from Cobourg.

The combined acreage of land sown to wheat in Canada, the Argentine, Australia, and the United States this year was approximately 12,500,000 less than in 1930.

Despite the heavy field and slippery ball the Lakefield youngsters played clever rugby. The game was featured by the playing of Dench at quarter and of Drake, the Grove captain and middle wing.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Our Boarding House . . . . . By Ahern

"Mother understands, but..."

"I KNOW it's not pleasant to shave, son, but surely you won't continue to risk the respect of your wife just to avoid a little discomfort. I really think Mary has been quite tolerant. Your father was always careful about shaving and I would have felt very badly if he hadn't been particular. I don't think you can realize how much this means to a woman, although before you and Mary were married I never saw you without a clean shave. Now you're getting careless, and Mary is terribly upset about it. She hasn't mentioned it to me, but I know you're treading on dangerous ground. Mary can't help but think you care less for her now than you did when you married her, and I know that isn't the case. Please, son, you'll make us both happy if you're more careful about shaving."

• • •

Mother is right, a clean shave is extremely important to most women. A growth of stubble is repulsive and can actually cost the respect of wife or sweetheart. In the past shaving may have been a task to avoid. Now Gillette offers a fine new razor blade, a remarkably keen blade that shears the beard without discomfort. It was designed especially for men with tender skin and is, we believe, the finest razor blade ever produced. Try it on our positive guarantee of satisfaction. Buy a package and slip one in your razor tomorrow morning. You agree it is a far superior blade, that every shave is quick and clean, or return the package to your dealer and get a refund.

CUBS WIN 18-6.

City Service Stages Late Rally to Cop 17-12 Win From Dominion Woollens.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 8 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Softball League has proved this year to be more popular than ever and with the first half more than half over the interest is much greater, as with two sections the winner of each to win a cup means that the fans as well as players are kept on their toes.

Bridgenorth and Warsaw led off in what was, for four innings, a very snappy game. In the first of the fifth Bridgenorth cut loose and made fifteen runs which shot the Warsaw team to pieces. Forsythe struck out twelve men and walked none.

Nicholls on third base for Bridgenorth, and Bell for Warsaw were strong men for their teams.

E. Briant at the plate and B. Blewett at bases were umpires.

The score was 20—3 in favor of Bridgenorth. The line up was as follows:

Bridgenorth. — L. Forsythe, p; Connors, c; J. Hardill, 1b; B. Jopling, 2b; Nicholls, 3b; F. Jopling, ss; R. Jopling, ss; D. Jopling, rf; A. White, lf; C. Forsythe, sub.

Warsaw.—R. Payne, p; Darling, c; Hamblin, 1b; Thompson, 2b; Bell, 3b; Sloan, ss; Bowen, ss; McCauley, rf; G. Payne, lf.

The score by innings was:
Bridgenorth .....00021503—20
Warsaw .....0000 030— 3

CUBS WIN 18—6

The second game between Selwyn and the Cubs also ran seven innings in an hour's play and was worth while, although the Selwyn team was not up to its usual standard of play. McCarty, the Cub's pitcher, fanned twelve men, which shortened their chances of running.

T. Connors at the plate and L. Forsythe at bases umpired the game. In addition to his pitching McCarty made four runs and Wingett and Stewart made three each. The score was 18—6 for the locals. The line up was as follows:—

Cubs.—McCarty, p; Wingett, c; Wannamaker, 1b; Stewart, 2b; Morrison, 3b; White, ss; Lancaster, ss; C. Payne, rf; Chaplin, lf; Briant, sub.

Selwyn.—Blewett, p; G. Nicholls, c; J. McConkey, 1b; Fitzgerald, 2b; D. McConkey, 3b; M. Wilson, ss; Oliver, ss; Darling, rf; Shearer, lf.

Score by innings:—
Cubs .....0530343—18
Selwyn .....0311010— 6

RALLY TO WIN 17—12

The last game was close till the last innings when City Service ran away with the big end of a 17—12 score after being just one up at the end of the fifth. Montgomery fanned sixteen and walked three, while Nash fanned twelve and walked three. Dorrington for the winners and Legrow for the losers each ran up four runs. The umpires were E. Briant at the plate and W. Elliott at the bases. The line up was as follows:—

City Service.—T. Montgomery, p; Mahood, c; Smith, 1b; Foley, 2b; Dorrington, 3b; Playford, rss; Gillespie, lss; F. Montgomery, rf; S. Montgomery, lf.

Twenty-Six Teams In Bowling League

At a well-attended meeting last night, the five-pin bowling section of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club got under way for the coming season and contrary to present conditions have received twenty-six men's teams which is exactly the same number as were entered last year.

This bowling organization is by far the largest in the city and next Wednesday should see the first of the teams toppling the pins at the Duffus Recreation Academy where the bowlers have performed since the league was organized a few years ago. The league has been fortunate in securing the services of several of last year's executive who will again attend to the many details common to this type of league.

The officers are as follows:—Bud Weese, president; Bill Bolam, Jr., vice-president; Fred Martin, secretary, and Stan. Lawrence, treasurer.

Mickey Cochrane And His Nemesis

In the duel between the sterling backstop of the Athletics, rated by critics as the best receiver in baseball "Pepper" Martin (at right) has had much the better of the argument, so much so, that Mickey Cochrane admits that he had better look out or the St. Louis speed merchant will "steal his glove.

CASUAL COMMENT

If Thanksgiving Day is fine, we'll have a chance to see one more girls' softball game this year. The champs of the league, Keene, will play an all-star outfit selected from other teams in the loop at 2.30 over at the East City Bowl. The money collected at this game will go to the several girl players who were injured returning from a game in Cobourg, in an auto accident, in August.

• • • • • •

Players to oppose Keene will be picked from Brintons, Sixth Line, C.G.E. and Westclox, and they certainly ought to be able to get nine classy softballers out of those four teams. It should be a fine exhibition on the holiday, and we're hoping the sun is shining.

• • • • • •

The C.G.E. Shop Bowling League gets away to a start at Duffus' next Wednesday evening, with twenty-six teams again belonging to the loop. The Engineers have eight teams this year instead of ten, and all the crews carry seven bowlers. Bud Weese is president of this, the largest bunch of pin-spillers in the city for the winter.

• • • • • •

Incidentally, in this league is a fellow who had a perfect score once last year. W. G. Shiner is the only Peterborough bowler in recent years to roll 450 in a regular league game. He received numerous trophies for accomplishing this feat, all the more remarkable because he has seldom ever approached the mark before. Ernie Legon has his rugby boys from P.C.I. just rarin' to go against the Lindsay aggregation Saturday. The Scugog team has been practicing nightly for two weeks and may make something of a dent in the Petes' string of wins.

• • • • • •

Two local ladies were eliminated yesterday afternoon in the golf tournament for the Canadian ladies' closed golf championship at Lambton, Mrs. H. S. Southeran losing to Mrs. J. P. McIntosh of Montreal, 4 and 3, and Mrs. F. L. Roy bowed to Miss Van Allan of Toronto, 3 and 2, in Tuesday's play.

• • • • • •

A deluge of rain yesterday forced the postponement of the senior baseball finals between St. George's and Galt. The teams will settle the Ontario supremacy in Hamilton on Monday afternoon. Yes, sir, our play-offs generally run later than the World Series.

• • • • • •

Many ball fans here will remember Carl (Inky) Wood, who pitched for Alex. Kay's Curlers at one time, later playing for Deloro. He is pitching for McIntyre Mines now, which team is battling it out with Smith's Falls in the semi-finals for the Eastern Ontario pennant. "Irish" Rasson won the first game yesterday for the Falls with fine twirling.

• • • • • •

Carl is just twenty-two years old, and has won many games this year for his outfit. He will likely get into one of these play-off contests this week. The winning team meets Temiskaming next week for the title and the Ottawa Journal Trophy.

• • • • • •

According to the Cobourg paper there is a rumor making the rounds that Orme Gamsby, of Orono, has received a flattering offer from Strathroy, Ontario, for the services of his star twirler, "Lefty" Wills. Orme could dispose of half his players and still have enough left.

• • • • • •

The senior ball club will be minus their live-wire president, Hugh Campbell, next summer, as he is leaving shortly for the States. It will be a job to fill his position, as Hugh was popular and a hustler. The other executives always worked well with him and they put the seniors back in there this year. Hugh deserves a lot of credit for what he did for sports here in the short time he was in Peterborough, and we're wishing him luck in his new office.

THEATRES

AT THE REGENT

"THE MIRACLE WOMAN"

A rather satirical writer recently described the famous Temple of Aimee Semple McPherson, in Los Angeles, as being a compound of soft music, bright lights, ladies in angel robes and sex appeal. The producer of "The Miracle Woman" probably modelled his scenario on that outline, for "The Temple of Happiness" which provides the setting for the picture follows out the description fairly well.

Barbara Stanwyck, who made such a hit in "Ten Cents a Dance" has the stellar role, with a great cast which includes the incomparable Sam Hardy and the delightful little Beryl Mercer, central figure of "7 Days' Leave" with her habit of making everything she says sound like a fairy tale. Hardy is the promotor for the Temple, a hard-boiled, hard-fisted gentleman who thinks nothing of taking a crack at a blind man when he comes in his way and who pops up the religious business in the same manner that he would use for a mercantile establishment.

It is a picture that must be seen to be fully appreciated. There is the delightful heroine with her extremely natural type of acting and her peculiar, fibrous voice; there is oddly enough, a blind ventriloquist as the main masculine figure, with his talking doll, "Eucalyptus"; there is the charming small bit where the tiny mechanical piano grinds out the music of "The Farmer in the Dell" to the accompaniment of the girl's sobs; there are the high-pressure sales methods of Hardy as the promotion manager; there is the somewhat flamboyant scene in the flaming Temple, with "Sister" Fallon in her white robes on the fire-swept stage, and there is the last bit, with the Salvation Army breaking into the movies again, as it did in "Dance, Fools, Dance."

It is a good picture, with that quality of extreme naturalness and reality that Barbara Stanwyck seems able to inject into her work.

LOCAL CLUB MEETING.

Ways and means of improving the game of lawn bowling were discussed at a very interesting meeting held last evening in the Club House of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. rPincipal speakers were Messrs. Cowan and Langford, of Toronto, vice-president and secretary of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association. These speakers explained that the Provincial Association is seeking to establish itself on a strong basis. Its object is to organize the province into districts which in turn will have the privilege of sending representative rinks to compete for the provincial championships. The provincial organization includes some 90 clubs and hasd ivided the province into some 15 or 16 districts. The chairman of the Central Ontario group is Mr. Goodwin, of Oshawa. Some of these groups are not well organized as yet and the speakers expressed the hope that the clubs in the Central Ontario District would decide to affiliate with the Provincial organization. Club membership in the Ontario Association costs only $2.50 a year. In addition affiliated clubs are asked to raise among their more active bowlers 25 cents a member a year. The idea is that the active bowlers in a club will be willing to contribute for the general benefit of the game such as by promoting district and provincial tourniaments, the drafting of proper rules and other similar ways.

The Provincial Association does not favor tournaments conducted on the plus and minus system, preferring instead open elimination tournaments. Considerable discussion took place around this point. It was shown that one of the disadvantages of the plus and minus system is that it is possible for a weak rink, by being pitted against still weaker rinks, to run up a big score and win a tournament, whereas much stronger rinks being pitted against each other, are unable to win by sufficiently large margins to ensure their winning the tournament. Against this it was shown that many players can compete only in afternoon and evening tournaments and it is impossible to conduct an elimination tournament in the time available. Under these circumstances no better system of determining the results is known than on the basis of the scores.

Messrs. Cowan and Langford showed that the Provincial Association is trying to promote lawn bowling along the lines followed in Great Britain, where the game is played for the game's sake rather than for the winning of prizes. Instead of trying to run up big scores at the expense of their opponents, the spirit of the game is shown to better advantage when a rink, after getting a one or two point advantage seeks to place guards around its bowls and to win out on that system.

Owing to the fact that the only other club from the district represented at last night's meeting was Oshawa, Messrs. Stonehouse and Goodwin being present from that club Alderman Fitzpatrick, the President of the Peterborough Club, acted as chairman. He explained to the visiting speakers that the local club did not care to take any action in the matter until it has been discussed by the district association, of which Mark Bredin is the President, and which will meet within another week or so. Mr. Bredin made a note of the main points that had been discussed and promised to have these considered at the district meeting. The discussions last evening were considered to have been most helpful and to have brought about a better understanding among the organizations present.

IS DISREGARDING THE FORWARD PASS

Joe Breen, once one of the greatest half-backs in Canadian football, and now the coach of Western University, the 'baby' of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, apparently doesn't think much of the new forward pass rule now making its bow to Eastern fans in the Senior Leagues. According to reports emanating from London, Joe isn't doing much about the rule except in a defensive way. He's concentrating on the line again, as he did last year. Fans will remember what the Western line did to the opposition last year; they broke through them like tissue paper. Unfortunately they didn't have the backfield to make the gains for them. The Mustangs were the surprise of the year last season, and there's no telling what applecart they are going to upset this fall with a good many of last year's players still in cleats. At any rate, Joe is making as good a coach as he was a player.

Huat Defeats Brown By Close Decision

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 8 (C.P.).—By a very slight margin, Eugene Huat, of France, took the decision over Newsboy Brown of Los Angeles, after a fast twelve-round fight here last night before a crowd of approximately 7,000.

The slender Frenchman and the thick-set Californian provided a striking contrast but there was no contrast in their fighting ability as both battled tooth and nail the whole bout.

Huat redeemed himself last night by winning the decision as in their last bout here a month ago he lost on points to Brown after a hectic fight.

Huat weighed 117 and Brown 116¾.

Pro. Boxing Card Here Postponed

The boxing and wrestling show, which was to have been held next Thursday evening at the Brock, has been postponed for a week or so since the Brock Street Arena will not be available due to the Welsh Brothers' Rodeo there during the week. Promoter Charles Hallat will now have more time to prepare his card and sign up several outstanding boxers for this show.

WHY FARMER BROWN'S BOY MADE NO SNOWBALL.

We see yet really do not see
For mind and eyes do not agree.

What Farmer Brown's Boy means is that when we see, or think we see, certain things and then find we are mistaken the fault is not with our eyes but in our thinking. Something we see reminds us of something else and at once we think it is this something else.

It was so with Farmer Brown's Boy as he climbed high up on a mountain slope.

There was snow on the very top of that mountain and on some of the other peaks. This was because those peaks were so high that even in the middle of summer the snow did not melt there, for the higher you get the colder you find it, and these mountains were very high.

Farmer Brown's Boy had longed to climb to that snow-covered mountain-top but he had been warned that he must not try it alone, and so far there had been no one to go with him. It was too dangerous for one without experience to try alone. So he had tried to be content to explore some of the upper slopes and rock slides and this is what he was doing when he discovered not so very far above him a white patch on the mountain side.

"There is some snow I can get to," exclaimed he. "It will be fun to make a snowball in summer. That is something I never have done. It is queer that there should be that one little patch of snow so far below the rest. There must have been a snow slide down from the top and all but that little patch has melted. That must be it. Well, I'll have the fun of making that snowball anyway."

Now in the clear mountain air it seemed but a short distance across to that little patch of white above him on the opposite slope, but in reality it was very much farther than it looked to be. Moreover he first had to climb down into a rather deep gulch and then climb up that other slope. It was slow work for he couldn't afford to slip and risk a fall. He had promised back at camp that he would be very careful and he is a boy of his word.

So slowly and carefully he climbed down into the gulch which proved to be much deeper than he had thought it was. From down there he couldn't see that little patch of snow but he had carefully noted its position and felt sure that he was traveling in the right direction. That climb was a hard one. It made him puff and blow and he frequently had to rest. He began to wonder if after all it was worth while to work so hard just to make a snowball.

However that is what he had started out to do and he is one who believes in doing what he starts out to do. So puffing and blowing he scrambled up the rocks. At last he felt sure that he must be near that snow. Rocks still hid it from him but looking across the gulch he could see that he was almost level with the place from which he had started. "It can't be much farther," he muttered. "When I get where I can look around that big rock up there I ought to see it pretty near."

He rested awhile and then went on. At last he reached the big rock and began to climb around it. Presently he reached a point where he could look around it and as he did so he gave a little gasp of sheer surprise, his eyes seemed to fairly pop out of his head and he almost lost his footing. As he said afterward he had had many surprises in his life but never one quite equal to this one.

What was it? Why that patch of snow had come to life. Yes, sir, it had come to life. Before the astonished eyes of Farmer Brown's Boy it got up on four feet and developed a head with two short black sharp horns, a long face and a beard. Yes, sir, there was a beard, a snowy white beard! And on that long bearded face was a look of surprise quite equal to the look on the face of Farmer Brown's Boy.

It was white-coated Billy the Mountain Goat, who had been dozing there and had awakened only just as the latter had looked around the rock and rattled some stones under his feet as he did so. And this is why Farmer Brown's Boy made no snowball that day.

What To-day Means To You

"LIBRA"

If October 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 1:10 p.m., and from 5:15 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger hours are from 2:20 p.m. to 4:05 p.m., and from 9:50 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The planetary aspects of October 8th favor business, but are inimical to social interests. Many opportunities for development and advancement, along commercial lines, will present themselves, and, if seized, will lead to ultimate success. Minor worries in domestic circles will breed individual pessimism, and create a frame of mind opposed to geniality or romance.

Children born on this October 8th will have retentive memories and good minds for details. Even in their very early years they will show unmistakable evidences of neatness and tidiness. They will be amiable, magnetic and intuitive and have hosts of friends, and be happy themselves as well as promote harmony all around them.

Born on October 8th, you are far-seeing and practical. The signs indicate that a business career is the one in which you will shine and succeed. This applied equally to men and women. The latter will show little desire for domestic cares, and, whilst fond of the comforts of a good home, they are not equipped either to plan or run it. In order to bring out the best that lies in October 8th subjects, they must be in continual touch with the whirl of affairs, and will show great aptitude in out-thinking others. Drudgery and routine—with all its attendant monotony—will only provoke stagnation.

You are independent and original. You chafe under guidance and resent interference. You, of course, are not infallible. You have made, and will continue to make, "misses." The bull's-eyes, however, outnumber them, and these have all been made when you have been free to choose your own rifle. You are destined to travel a great deal during your lifetime.

You are attracted by, and attractive to, the opposite sex, as there is a magnetism about you which invites confidence, esteem and admiration. You should not marry until your position is assured, as you could not tolerate the atmosphere generally engendered by any degree of privation.

C.G.I.T. CAMP REPORTS READ

George Street United Church Group Holds Regular Meeting.

GOOD PROGRAM.

The Fall Rally of the C.G.I.T. of George Street United Church was held on Tuesday evening with a fine attendance. The president Miss Mary Vance, occupied the chair and the meeting opened with a sing song followed by the pledge "I will be true" led by Miss Edith Roberts.

Excellent reports from the local camp were given by Beatrice Roberts, Gladys Constable and Dorothy Routley, and a report from the provincial C.G.I.T. camp at Georgian Bay was given by Mary Vance.

Rev. J. E. J. Millyard gave a fine address to the girls, urging them to have some definite aim and goal in life, to live a life for others not for self.

At the short business session the girls decided to adopt the group system for the coming year. Captains of groups to be appointed at the next regular meeting when the election of officers for the incoming year will be held. The meeting closed with Taps.

WOMENS LEAGUE VISIT OF CHIEF

Catholic Women Hear Fine Address From National President.

FOR GOD AND CANADA

The National president of the Catholic Women's League Mrs. McIntyre of Charlottetown, P.E.I., was in the city this week and spoke to the local branch of the League on Monday evening at a meeting held at the Knights of Columbus rooms. The president, Mrs. G. White, was in the chair.

Mrs. McIntyre, who impressed her hearers by her charming personality and clear enunciation, gave an interesting review of the work being done by Catholic Women's League in Canada. She reported on the various types of charitable work performed by the Sisters of Service, especially in the remote districts of the Dominion and spoke of the support given them by the League.

Mrs. McIntyre referred to the late Encyclical letter of the Pope, exhorting his subjects all over the world to practise charity in all its forms. Never in the history of mankind was there greater need for the practise of this great virtue. With so much poverty and restlessness, those who can should help, first at home and then in reaching out to foreign districts.

Mrs. McIntyre also explained the elucational work undertaken by the League. Every year four scholarships are awarded, sponsored by the League. This year a local pupil, Miss B. Galvin, stood third on the list of candidates, a very creditable standing in view of the large number of contestants.

Lastly, the speaker adjured the ladies to live u pto the slogan of their organization: "For God and Canada" and urged that they not only revere these sentiments themselves but also try to instill them into the minds of their children, so that they may grow into a splendid generation for future upbuilding of Canada.

A short musical program was given, with a delightfully played piano solo by Miss Veronica Scollard and two songs by Miss Stella Brady, singing in her usual pleasing voice. Miss Margaret McCabe played accompaniments.

CURRENT ORDER WARNS MILITIA

Indictable Offence to Transfer Unit Without Due Notice.

CASES HAVE OCCURRED.

The current orders issued from Military District No. 3 contain a warning to militiamen who have been serving with one particular unit and who have enlisted in another unit before the expiration of their original period of service.

"Cases have occurred in which militiamen attested for service with one unit of the Active Militia, have again enlisted with another N. P. A. M. unit before the expiration of their original three years", state district orders. "Attention is drawn to the militia act that a man enlisted takes the oath of allegiance, and engages to serve for a period of three years, and that he shall not be permitted to retire during those three years without giving six months notice; also that a man enlisting in another unit, while still on the rolls of his original unit, is guilty of an indictable offence."

CATHOLIC BAZAAR WELL PATRONIZED

Event Which Ends To-night in Aid of Cathedral Improvement Fund

HALL DECORATED.

There was a large attendance yesterday at St. Alphonsus Lyceum for the grand bazaar which is being held there in aid of the fund for improvements to St. Peter's Cathedral. The ladies in charge, members of the Catholic Women's League, with the president, Mrs. G. White, as general convenor, have spared no pains in making the booths attractive and in serving a hot fowl supper on both nights. The bazaar ends tonight.

Thanksgiving decorations and colored streamers have been used in arranging the booths where various articles are sold, and in the decorations of the tables where supper is served upstairs. The sale is in the main hall downstairs.

In charge of the dining room are Mrs. J. E. Sullivan and Mrs. J. R. Corkery, with Mrs. M. Costello in charge of the kitchen.

Mrs. W. Young, Mrs. J. V. Gallivan and Mrs. Frank Lynch have the Country Store, where F. J. Overend and John McCarney acted as treasurers and Thomas Deforge and Thomas Turcotte run the wheel.

The fish pond, where many juniors are accommodated with articles that please their fancy, is in charge of Miss Annie Simons, assisted by Mrs. T. J. Lane, Miss Josie Lynch and Miss Clara O'Toole.

Miss Geraldine Collins, president of the Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral, has charge of the sale of candy and soft drinks and the bingo game is run by V. McCabe and Jack McCabe.

The ladies in charge wish to say that, owing to the large crowd for supper last night, the supply of fowl gave out. They promise an extra supply for tonight's supper.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR NO. 100

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Not as an ordinary mortal might strike a blow did Tarzan of the Apes strike; but with the maddened frenzy of a wild beast backed by the steel thews which his wild, arboreal boyhood had bequeathed to him. When the blow ended, the splintered stock was driven through the lion's skull. In the instant the lion sank, lifeless, to the ground, Jane Clayton threw herself into the eager arms of her husband. For a brief instant he strained her dear form to his breast, and then a glance about him awakened the ape-man to new dangers.

Upon every hand the lions were leaping upon new victims. To remain was to court death. Tarzan seized Jane Clayton and lifted her in his powerful arms. The blacks who had witnessed his advent looked on in amazement as they saw the white giant leap easily into the branches of the tree from which he had dropped so uncannily upon the scene and vanish as he had come, bearing away their prisoner with him. But they were too well occupied in self-defense to attempt to halt him; nor could they have done done so if they had tried.

And so, unmolested, Tarzan passed from the camp of the Abyssinians, from which the din of conflict followed him deep into the jungle. Back to the spot where he had left Werper went the ape-man, joy in his heart now where fear and sorrow had so recently reigned. But Werper was gone and Tarzan was convinced that the man had purposely eluded him. So straight as homing pigeons the two made their way toward the ruin and desolation that had once been the center of their happy lives.

Past the village of Achmet Zek their way led them, and there they found the charred remains of the palisade and the native huts still smoking, mute evidence of the wrath of a powerful enemy. "The Waziri!" commented Tarzan with a grin smile. They cannot be far ahead of us. The gold is gone and the jewels of Opar, Jane; but we have each other and the Waziri. We have love and loyalty and friendship. And what are gold and jewels to these?" But Fate they were soon to see had turned her smiling face once more upon them.

Weddings

LOUGH—WHITFIELD.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Knox United Church, Peterborough, October 7, at 1 p.m., when Anna Beatrice, youngest daughter of Mrs. Whitfield and the late Mr Wesley Whitfield, was married to Stewart William Lough, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lough of Marmora.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, William Whitfield, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mr. William Potter, organist of the church. She was dressed becomingly in a suit of brown bouclé with fox trimming, wearing a corsage of orchids and lily of the valley.

Miss Evelyn Scott, her bridesmaid, was dressed in a navy suit, with corsage of Talisman roses. The groom was supported by the bride's cousin, Donald Devell of Peterborough. Mr. Frank Whitfield of Peterborough and Mr. H. B. Lough of Brantford, brothers of the bride and groom, acted in the capacity of ushers.

Rev. William McDonald, minister of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev H. G. Whitfield, of Northville, Mich., brother of the bride.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Rose Williamson sang sweetly "All Joy Be Thine."

The happy young people received the felicitations of a great number of relatives and friends who witnessed the impressive ceremony, and left by motor amidst good wishes for Ottawa and Quebec. On their return they will reside at Marmora, Ontario.

IN MEMORIAM.

CHURCH—In loving memory of my dear husband, Israel D. Church, who passed away October 9, 1930.
'Tis lonesome here without you,
There is such a vacant place;
Where I never hear your footsteps
Or see your smiling face.
As I loved you so I miss you,
In my memory you are near,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.
—Sadly missed by his loving wife "Lizzie."

IN MEMORIAM.

CHURCH—In loving memory of Israel D. Church, who passed away at Mount Julian, October 9, 1930.
Deep in our hearts lies the picture,
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we will keep it
Because he was one of the best.

RECORD CROWD FOR PETERBORO DUE NEXT WEEK

International Plowing Match May Attract 75,000 People.

A LOW ESTIMATE.

Kiwanis Fair and Welsh Brothers' Rodeo Amplify Program.

Next week Peterborough should see the largest number of strangers within its gates that have been here in any one week at any time, and the attraction is the International Plowmen's Association match to be held on the farm of Torrance Lillico and adjacent farms, a short distance out on the Port Hope Highway. Enquiries have been made as to the number of visitors at previous Plowmen's Association Meets, and the figures given are almost unbelievable, but nevertheless are vouched for, and vary from 50,000 to 80,000 people. A large percentage of the visitors, no doubt, will be in and out each day, but a great crowd will be established in, and around Peterborough for the week, necessitating lodging and entertainment. In providing entertainment the talkies will give specially attractive programs for the week, but due to the fact that the Kiwanis Club holds its annual Produced-in-Canada week at the same time, the members feel that owing to the week being turned over to them for their annual Indoor Fair, the responsibility of providing much of the evening entertainment is on their shoulders, so that visitors may have an enjoyable time while here.

Realizing the splendid support given them by our citizens, and wishing to assume its responsibility to the visitors for the week, the Club has not only added to its regular program in the Armouries, but secured Welsh Brothers' Rodeo, which will perform every evening commencing Tuesday, in Brock Street Rink. Welsh Brothers will be remembered as the peppery cowboy outfit that put on the Wild West Show at the Exhibition a year ago. They have even a better indoor program and between the Exhibition at the Armouries, and the Rodeo at the Rink, Kiwanis members feel they will have sufficient features to more than satisfy all our own people, and the visitors who are with us.

The proceeds are altogether used for underprivileged children and one of the branches of this work is the Club's share in the Summer Camp at Jackson Park.

EDISON NEARS GREAT DIVIDE

Deep Stupor Grips the Mind That Scorned Long Slumbers.

COMA APPROACHING.

(By Robert J. Cavagnero.)

WEST ORANGE, N.J., October 9 (C.P.). — While autumn leaves fluttered to the ground on his beautiful 15-acre estate, Thomas A. Edison slipped into a stupor to-day, and death crept nearer to his bedside.

The world-famous inventor hitherto an extremely light sleeper was in an unusually deep slumber this morning when a cool October day dawned. At breakfast time he was aroused with difficulty. A stupor, forerunner of the coma from which a patient cannot be awakened, had gripped him.

He was persuaded to take a few spoonfuls of cereal, but not nearly enough to combat the uremic poisoning which is combining with three other ailments to sap his strength day by day. Last night he took nothing and all day yesterday he went practically without nourishment.

"Mr. Edison spent a more quiet night, sleeping soundly," said a bulletin issued this morning by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his physician. "This morning he roused sufficiently to take a few spoonsful of nourishment. He is, however, gradually weakening."

Chinese Over U.S. Boycott Jap. Goods

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.—(A.P.)—Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, director of the Chinese Trade Bureau, has announced a boycott of Japanese goods to the United States by the Chinese Merchants' Association.

Dr. Hsieh said punishments ranging from a $50 fine to ostracism would be imposed on all Chinese merchants in the United States breaking the boycott. He announced that orders for Japanese products totalling $750,000 had been cancelled.

R. DAVIS GUILTY MISSED CALLING COURT REMARKS

Would Have Made a Good Lawyer, Magistrate Langley's Opinion.

HIS OWN ADVOCATE.

Youth Found Guilty of Robbing Service Station.

Having praised Ralph Davis for the clever way in which he had conducted his own defense while being tried in police court during the past two days on a charge of robbing the Red Indian service station on George street on September 10, Magistrate Langley, K.C., conclued by finding the young man guilty.

Sentence was withheld until Monday, although the magistrate read out Davis 'criminal record, which extends back to 1926 and includes two terms in the Ontario Reformatory for theft and a two-year term in Portsmouth Penitentiary for house breaking.

"I want to congratulate you on the splendid way you conducted your defence," commented the Magistrate. "You did it as well as any lawyer, showing a clever mind and abundance of native intelligence. You were quick to pick weaknesses in the Crown's evidence and conducted your whole case in a most fair and commendable maner. Had you decided to be a lawyer, I have little doubt that with the proper training you would have made a good one."

Case We'l Argued.

Davis addressed his argument to the magistrate this morning. His argument had been carefully prepared and was written out on narrow sheets of paper in pencil from which he read. He argued that his alibi that he had spent the (whole) day of September 10 at a friend's home on Simcoe street was airtight, and that David Tucker, proprietor of the service station, had failed properly to identify him as the thief. He also drew attention to discrepancies in the description of his shirt as given by Crown witnesses.

"If those witnesses ar to be believed I must have been wearing two shirts that day," he affirmed.

He closed his address by appealing to His Worship's sense of justice and asked that the evidence be carefully weighed before a verdict be returned.

Alibi Broken Down.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., reviewed the evidence in which he pointed out that Tucker had identified Davis as the man who had fled from his service station. Another witness, who had seen the robber, chased by Tucker, run between two houses behind the Collegiate, had stated that the man looked like Davis.

A few minutes later Davis had been seen by Chambers, an employee of the Fitzgerald service station on McDonnell street, walking out of the station yard and had not seen him enter by the back way.

Chief Newlove had seen Davis on George street about 11.30 on the morning of the tenth and Constable Puffer had seen the man at the corner of Murray and George streets about 12.55 that day, only a few miutes before the robbery had been committed.

Crown Attorney McElderry argued that in the face of the evidence of all these witnesses, Davis' alibi fell down.

Magistrate's Judgment.

Magistrate Langley held to the same opinion. He stated that the only witness for the defence who said definitely that Davis had been at Barbau's home during the time that the robbery was committed was the accused's sister, Mrs. Manbeck. He declared that he did not believe Mrs. Manbeck's testimony.

There was also grave suspicion, stated the magistrate, that Davis had been hiding-out at the Simcoe street home. "Otherwise," he stated, "how can he explain why he stayed inside another man's home throughout a very hot day without any dinner. No reason is given for his long all day visit on Simcoe street except that his sister was there. That part seems most unlikely to me unless he went there to hide after having committed the robbery."

A Last Link Severed With Past In Mrs. Clinton Atwood's Death

(By F. M. Dela Fosse)

The passing of Mrs. Clinton Atwood marks the severing of almost the last link that connected the Lakefield of the present day with the original founders of the village, and possesses more than ordinary historical interest from the fact that she was the last surviving daughter of the late Catherine Parr Traill and a niece of Agnes Strickland, the noted authoress.

Mrs. Atwood was born on December 14th, 1838, in Lakefield. Her parents Mr. and Mrs. Traill, had settled on a farm near Gore's Landing, where they resided for some years till the burning down of their house caused them to remove to Lakefield, where they lived at the home of her brother, Colonel Samuel Strickland. From Colonel Strickland' residence Mrs. Atwood was married in the year 1858 to the late Clinton Atwood, who predeceased her several years ago.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Atwood lived on a farm at Gore's Landing. There they remained for twenty-eight years until failing health caused Mr. Atwood to relinquish the farm and return to Lakefield, where the family have lived ever since.

Mrs. Atwood was distinctly a lady of the Victorian type, and no one could be in her company for five minutes without being struck by her graciousness and kindliness and her capacity for enjoying all that savoured of highmindedness and goodness in personality and literature. She was more than well-versed in a knowledge of English authors and her memory was a most remarkable one. Apart from all these traits she took the keenest enjoyment in the society of her friends.

MRS. CLINTON ATWOOD

From a photograph taken several years ago at her home in Lakefield. Her death this week removed a gracious personality, loved by many friends throughout Canada.

Her life was a quiet one but the influence of her personality was such that it is bound to leave a beneficent and enduring mark in the community of which she was so long an honoured member.

LEAGUE COUNCIL IS SUMMONED TO DISCUSS MANCHURIAN CASE

Japanese Officials Claim Yangtse Forces Not Larger Than British or U. S.

MANY WARSHIPS READY.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 9. — (AP)—An urgent meeting of the League of Nations council next Tuesday was decided upon today at the request of China in connection with the situation in Manchuria.

Japanese officials asserted that, despite the ominous situation in the Yangtse valley, their military and naval forces there would hardly exceed the Yangtse forces of Great Britain and the United States. They admitted, however, that additional fighting ships were being held in readiness at Kure and Sasebo, 24 hours steaming distance from Shanghai.

Maneuvers Over

Recent rumors to the effect that fifty Japanese warships had been concentrated in Southern Japanese bases ready to sail for China were explained as having been due to the annual naval maneuvers held off Kyushiu Island. It was said these maneuvers had ended and the ships were returning to their home bases.

The cruiser Tokiwa, of 9,700 tons, was bringing a landing force of 400 bluejackets besides its regular crew. It probably will be sent to Hankow soon. The Tenryu is a swift craft of 3,500 tons.

Japanese Naval forces on the spot or approaching China included four cruisers, five destroyers and eleven river gunboats, stationed at Shanghai, Chinkiang, Nanking, Wuhu, Kiukiang, Tayeh, Hankow, Changsha, Ichang and Chungking. Excluding the Tokiwa's complement, the ships in Shanghai at present have a landing force aggregating 700 besides their crews.

Aged Man And Youth Lost In N.S. Bushland

HALIFAX, N.S., October 9 (C.P.).— An aged man and a youth are lost in the bush at separate points on the south shore of the province. Gordon McGowan, 24, Montreal, has not been seen since he set out from the home of his grandfather at Middle Clyde Shelburne County, to pick cranberries on Tuesday morning. He had been spending the summer at Middle Clyde.

Archibald Snair, 80-year-old resident of Black Point, near Hubbards, left his home for a stroll in the woods after breakfast yesterday and had not been found early to-day.

DEBT HOLIDAY HELD DOUBTFUL

Proposals That Hoover Moratorium be Extended Beyond Year, Frowned On.

WASHINGTON, D.C., October 8 (C.P.). — The Hoover moratorium launched last June under the sunny auspices of universal acclaim, is running into thickening weather as the President prepared to discuss it late this month with Premier Laval of France.

While no one doubts that Congress will ratify the one-year holiday on debt and reparations payments, already proclaimed by the administration, the question of an extension for two or three years beyond next June is quite another matter.

Mr. Hoover is under an increasing pressure for such a renewal. Much of the agitation centres in the New York banking group on which the President must count for support in his new prosperity credits program.

Plain notice has been served on the President that he will find difficulty ahead in Congress if he agrees to an extension uncoupled with a definite European agreement to scale down armaments.

SLASH IN WAR DEBT PAYMENTS WILL BE CONSIDERED BY U. S. IF EUROPE CUTS ARMAMENTS

Hoover Intends Two Subjects to Remain Indubitably Linked.

NO COMPLETE REVISION.

Attack Pointed at Loans to Nations for Balancing Budgets, War Loans.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 9 (A.P.)—Reductions in war debts payments will be considered by the United States only if European nations in turn effected drastic curtailments of armament.

President Hoover intends that the two subjects shall remain indubitably linked. In his approaching conferences with Premier Laval of France, he expects to press his views that disarmament and a naval holiday cannot be logically separated from the question of war debts and the world financial condition.

There has been no indication, however, that the administration would enter into a complete revision of war debts.

Just yesterday, President Hoover again voiced his emphatic disagreement with outlays for armaments at the expense of productive enterprises.

In an address before the fourth Pan-American Commercial Conference, he pointed his attack at loans to nations for balancing budgets, or for military equipment or war purposes.

The coming Anglo-French discussions were the subject of a conference in Paris between Premier Laval and Lord Reading, British Foreign Secretary. Laval said it was "devoted to a frank and complete exchange of views of the world situation and the measures best adapted to the amelioration of existing conditions."

France Worries

Meanwhile, two high officials of the Bank of France left for this country to study in advance proposals of President Hoover. The apprehension of French public opinion that President Hoover would propose to the Premier further suspensions of German reparations payments was reflected in Paris newspapers.

From the head of one of France's greatest banks came the assertion that prolongation of the moratorium beyond next June would involve a loss for France of 2,500,000 francs ($1,000,000,000) annually, and would mean the Government would have to raise an equal sum in order to balance the budget.

In his insistence that European armament limitations shall be the price of further relief in war debts, President Hoover has the outspoken support of Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Generally among Congress members, however, judgment is being reserved on proposals to extend the moratorium.

Shot Through Head Lad Walks For Aid

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 9.— Owen Meisner, 12-year-old boy of Ingrahamport, stepped out of a motor car and walked into Victoria General hospital here last night. He had been shot through the head, the bullet entering his temple and coming out the bridge of his nose, but his only apparent anxiety was that his parents be notified where he was. Particulars of the shooting could not be learned, but it was believed to have occurred accidentally as a number of boys were handling a rifle.

4 PETERBORO MEN INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Taxi Swerving to Avoid Old Man, Piles Into Cement Pier.

ON LAKESHORE HIGHWAY.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—Travelling along the Lake Shore Highway on their way to Long Branch racetrack, four Peterborough men and a taxi driver were injured when their automobile, a large heavy sedan, crashed through the bushes on the north side of the road into an old Hydro concrete pier this afternoon.

The injured were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital. They are: Patrick Geraghty, Adelaide Street, driver of the taxi, in serious condition with chest and leg injuries; John Carroll, Jr., 19, of 25 St. Joseph Street, medical student, University of Toronto, lacerations, not serious; Frank Carroll, brother, living at the same address, and also a medical student, cuts and bruises; John Carroll, Sr., 51, Peterborough, cut on head and chest injuries. He is the father of the two students; Frank Heffernan, 40, of 377 Reid Street, Peterborough, several fractured bones.

John Carroll, Sr., who was sitting in the front seat with Geraghty, had several ribs broken and a bad laceration of scalp with minor cuts.

"We were on our way out to Long Branch" John Carroll, Jr., told The Examiner. "An old man walked right out in front of us. The driver had to make a very sharp turn to avoid him. That is all I know. They say we ran into a hydro pier."

REAL SERVICE BY C.G.E. LOCAL PLANT

Fast and Timely Work Helps the Examiner.

The getting of business these days is not so easy as it used to be, and orders are usually required in such a rush that to run into unavoidable difficulties just about upsets a whole plant. The Examiner had an experience this week with an important two-color job for delivery at the Plowing Match on Saturday. It was being run on the only press capable of properly taking care of a job of this kind. Every working hour was needed to get it out on time.

With everything running smoothly, the motor, about twelve years old, suddenly burned out at 4.15 in the afternoon, and it looked as if days would be lost, and an unforeseen and embarrassing delay in delivery the result. The Canadian General Electric Company was appealed to for help. Grant and Thorpe disconnected the burnt-out motor, and the C.G.E. Company's production department by changing rotors and stators of standard machines furnished the special motor that was required. This was installed and the press was running again in a little over an hour.

There was no red tape to go through. It was a very small job for a big plant to be concerned about, but it got our job department out of a hole, and it is appreciated.

In this experience and of others we have had, we see the desire of big institutions to give service, and be accommodating as in days gone by. The wish of individuals and of organizations to assume their responsibilities to the public without a mass of red tape, the same as in the good old days, and if this spirit is carried on throughout the Dominion in all the different branches of manufacturing and merchandising, we must be on the right track for better times ahead.

OUST CANADIAN FROM DETROIT FARM MARKET

Common Council Approves Lease to Michigan Growers, Farmers.

DECISION TUESDAY.

Terms Designed for Purpose of Excluding All Foreign Produce.

DETROIT, Oct. 9—Canadians who attempt to do business with Detroit found another barrier looming yesterday when the Common Council approved a plan to lease the city's three municipal markets to a group of Michigan growers and farmers, under terms which, it is admitted, are designed for the purpose of keeping out "foreign" products. The plan, which will be formally voted upon by the Council next Tuesday night, provides that stalls in the markets are to be leased only to members of the Michigan Produce Growers' Association. The three markets did a business of $4,700,000 last year. The association, formed among farmers who have been bringing their foodstuffs into Detroit public markets for several years has not yet been incorporated, but when it is, any Michigan grower will be admitted the membership on payment of a dollar-a-year fee. What with immigration restrictions and the drastic discounting of Canadian money in practically every shop in the city, the way of the Canadian in Detroit is not being made any bed of roses.

FREE TRADE AND PROTECTION IS LOOM AS CHIEF DIFFERENCE IN BRITISH ELECTION BATTLE

Baldwin in Manifesto Calls for Ottawa Imperial Economic Parley.

LEANS TO TARIFFS.

Cripps Claims Labor Completed Plans for Taking Over Bank of England.

By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 9—(C. P. Cable)—The British elector had before him today in one form or another the campaign platforms of the major government and opposition parties.

And to the majority of electors the issue was not between Labor and a conglomeration of National Government parties but between free trade and protection.

Following the appeal for general support issued by Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald, both the Conservative and Liberal wings of the Government revealed their stand last night. The Conservative outline was contained in a manifesto from Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council. The Liberal aims—at least the aims of that section of the Liberal party which supports the Government but is opposed to protection—were outlined in a speech by Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secretary at Bradford.

Labor's manifesto is yet to come from Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson. But the Labor party's platform is well-known, having been rushed through the party conference at Scarborough for this election.

Tories Hold Chief Interest

Of the three Government platforms undoubtedly greatest interest is taken in the Conservative one. They might be jotted down in this form:

Prime Minister MacDonald: "As it is impossible to foresee in the changing conditions of to-day what may arise no one can set out a programme of detail on which specific pledges can be given. The government must be free to consider every proposal likely to help, such as tariffs, expansion of exports, contraction of imports, commercial treaties and mutual economic arrangements with the Dominions."

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin: "It is imperative the Government should have a national mandate giving it freedom to use whatever means may be found necessary... At home the adverse balance of trade is the paramount problem...I shall continue to press upon the electors that in my view a tariff is the quickest and most effective weapon not only to reduce excessive imports but to enable us to induce other countries to lower their tariff walls. The problem of the Empire is to secure the economic unity for which we have so long striven. I hope the reasons which led to the suspension of the Ottawa Conference have been overcome and that it will be possible for the Canadian Government to renew its invitation. The ideal of imperial economic unity is widespread to-day and I am confident that the foundation of such unity will be well and truly laid."

Samuel's Manifesto

Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel: "I for one, and I think the Liberal party as a whole, wish the Government to go on with its work.... The proposal of permanent tariffs is not directly related in our view to the present emergency. However, it might be found there was a need for some emergency measures in order to restrict certain imports. For nearly 40 years I have served this great political cause (Liberalism) and I have never betrayed it yet and shall not betray it now on this issue of adverse balance of trade. It may be on other aspects of the present emergency my mind is open to any argument."

That the Conservatives, most dominant factor in the National Government, will seek to overwhelm the Free Trade Liberal wing, is the conviction of observers. Sir Herbert Samuel himself will be opposed by a Protectionist Conservative in Darwen, Lancashire.

An indication of how the Labor Party has gone back to Socialism to unite in vigorous opposition to the National Government is given in the speech of Sir Stafford Cripps, former Solicitor General, at Hull last night. He declared the Labor party already has completed plans for taking over the Bank of England, if returned to power. This is part of the plank calling for public control of the country's banking and credit policy. Other outstanding plans are for public control of lands, mines, and the major industries, and reversal of the National Government's unemployment insurance cuts.

22,000 STRIKE IN LAWRENCE MOVE SPREADS

Boston Longshoremen Refuse to Handle Cargo on Any Ship.

MILLS CLOSE DOWN.

Wage Cuts and Working Conditions Causes of Walk-outs.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 9.— More than 25,000 jobs went begging in Massachusetts to-day as workers incensed by announced reductions in wages or by unsatisfactory working conditions, walked the streets on strike.

The general strike movement, having its centre in the textile industry of Lawrence where approximately 22,000 men and women left their looms and benches rather than accept a ten per cent reduction in wages, to-day had spread to other centres. In Boston approximately 3,000 Longshoremen were refusing to handle cargo on the coastal and foreign vessels plying in and out of this port, although the crux of their quarrel with the ship owners was not entirely a matter of wages but centered with greater gravity on a working condition.

In the textile city of Lowell, a geographical neighbor of Lawrence, strike talk had brewed several days and was transformed into action yesterday when more than 200 employes left one of the mills. An announced ten per cent wage cut here, also, was the motivating element. Several hundred workers in a hosiery manufacturing plant in Northampton, objecting to wage reductions, succeeded in forcing the closing of the plant.

EDISON FAMILY GATHER FOR END

Famous Inventor Clings to Life With Surprising Vitality.

IN CONTINUOUS DOZE.

WEST ORANGE, N.J., Oct. 9.—Thomas Edison, displaying surprising vitality, clung to life to-day, although his own physician and a consultant said the end was near.

A bulletin on condition of the 84-year-old inventor issued by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, read: "Mr. Edison has undoubtedly lost considerable strength and is in a doze all the time."

Dr. William R. Williams of Cornell Medical College arrived with Dr. Howe last night to see Mr. Edison. Dr. Williams told the family that Mr. Edison was gradually losing ground.

New York and New Jersey police arranged to-day to furnish a motorcycle escort to Dr. Howe during his frequent trips to the Edison estate, because Dr. Howe might be called at any moment of the day or night to speed to the inventor's bedside.

The entire Edison family was at West Orange to-day. His daughters, Mrs. Marion Oser, arrived from Norwalk, Conn., completing the family group.

POST OFFICE REQUESTED FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Council Passes Resolution for Federal Government Petition.

WILL PROVIDE WORK.

A. T. Linton Named to Fill N. Clarke Wallace's Place on Public Library Board.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 9 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — By resolution passed by the Campbellford municipal council at their regular meeting last night, petition will be made to the Federal Government asking that a post office be erected in the town of Campbellford as a means of providing work for the unemployed and also as the redemption of a promise made by the government in 1912 to erect this building. This resolution was presented by Deputy Reeve N. A. MacColl and seconded by Reeve J. N. Stone, and came after letters had been read by Clerk J. F. McGregor relative to relief measures which had passed between Mayor J. M. Bygott and W. A. Fraser, M.P.

The resolution embodied the fact that the government of Sir Robert Borden had been petitioned by the then Federal member of Northumberland riding for the erection of a post office in the town of Campbellford.

This petition had been met with favor and a site purchased in 1912. Owing to the outbreak of war, however, the work had not been commenced. From 1919 to 1930 the Federal member for the riding, M. E. Maybee had continually urged the necessity of this building for the provision of work, but with no success. It also pointed out that whereas the present government was undertaking the erection of public buildings as a relief measure and that unemployment in Campbellford totalled 240 up to August 15 of this year, since which date many men had been partially deprived of their earnings by being on short time and some of the local industries having cut their pay rolls, it was thought that now was an opportune time to continue with this project and the government was urged to give the resolution its closest attention. A copy of this resolution will be sent to the Hon. the Minister of Public Works; W. A. Fraser, M.P., and M. E. Maybee, ex-M.P.

Reporting on the work to be done on the Campbellford end of Highway No. 30, Deputy Reeve MacColl stated that this work was starting right away and would be rushed as soon as possible. All local labor would be employed and that every care was being taken that married men with families were given preference.

Mayor Bygott, speaking on this subject, stated that he thought that it was possigle that this year the crushing of stone for the highway would be started by the Raynor Construction Company, which would also help the employment situation. Regarding the $10,000 grant rfom the Government for the road work, he said that as much as possible of this money would be spent in wages

A. T. Linton Appointed.

Accepting with regret the resignation of the Rev. N. Clark Wallace as a member of the Campbellford Public Library Board, on motion A. T. Linton was named to fill the seat vacated by Mr. Wallace.

The Council also went on motion as supporting a resolution sent by F. G. Stinson, of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, petitioning the Canadian National Railways to resume the gas train No 698 on the Peterborough-Belleville-Lindsay line, and the clerk was instructed to write Mr. Stinson of this action and also forward a like resolution to the general passenger agent of the C.N.R. at Montreal.

BOMB ATTACK IS EXPLAINED BY JAPANESE

Made in Retaliation for Firing on Planes by Chinese Troops.

TOLL VARIES TO 20.

Chang Hsueh-Liang Mobilizing Widely—20,000 Men at Chinchow.

TOKYO, Oct. 9. (CP)—Japanese authorities declared to-day the bombing of Chinchow, Manchuria by Japanese airplanes was in retaliation for an attack upon the planes by Chinese troops.

Mukden headquarters of the Japanese army asserted in a statement that Chinese troops had fired upon the planes while they were on a reconnaissance tour, whereupon the Japanese replied yesterday with bombs.

Other than stating "considerable damage was inflicted" Japanese communique gave no intimation of casualties. Foreign despatches to Peiping and elsewhere, however, placed the toll at from two to twenty dead.

University buildings, the temporary seat of the Manchurian Government, were damaged, other sources reported. The Japanese cabinet had the incident under consideration.

The Tokyo War Office estimated that more than 20,000 Chinese troops were concentrated at Chinchow, where Chang Hsueh-Liang, youthful Governor of Manchuria, planned to set up his headquarters. Mukden, the capital is occupied by Japanese troops. Chinchow is about 125 miles southwest of Mukden.

Plans to Attend

Japanese authorities asserted Chang and an aide, Chang Tao-Shen, were planning to attack the Japanese from either side and were assembling remnants of Chinese troops scattered along the South Manchurian Railway for concentration west of Chinchow.

Japanese army headquarters at Mukden issued the following statement:

"In defiance and even challenge to Japanese military efforts to maintain peace and order with the South Manchurian Railway zone, Chang Hsueh-Liang not only established his military government at Chinchow, but ordered mobilization of his troops in all regions west of the Liao River and dispatched soldiers in civilian attire to near Mukden and other important points on the South Manchurian Railway. All are prepared to rise in arms at the first opportunity. This is actual proof that Chang Hsueh-Liang and his soldiers are still maintaining a hostile attitude against the Japanese.

SHOCKS FATAL TO MILL HANDS

Two Are Killed Within Hour at Eganville Fixing Wiring.

INQUEST ORDERED.

EGANVILLE, Oct. 9.—(C.P.)—Irwin Thompson, 35, and Herbert Pappe, 30, were electrocuted within an hour in two separate accidents at the Eagnville flour mill late yesterday.

Thompson was found in an inch-deep pool of water, leaning against a main water wheel, an electric extension in one hand and two wrenches in the other. The electric power was immediately turned off and efforts to revive him were carried on for some hours.

Straightening out the electric system of the mill soon after Thompson was found, Pappe met his death. To insert an electric globe into a socket he stepped on a steel shaft which touched the water. He fell backwards onto the floor, sat up mometnarily and then collapsed.

Two doctors worked over the men for hours before they gave up hope. The coroner decided that, as there were witnesses to Pappe's death an inquest would be unnecessary, but ordered an inquest on Thompson.

Returns Open Verdict Upon Girl's Death

STRATFORD, Ont., Oct. 9.—After deliberating for more than an hour and a half, a coroner's jury at Mitchell last night, investigating the death of Irene Collins, 17-year-old Mitchell girl, who was killed in an auto accident on the Mitchell-Kennicott highway early in the morning of October 3, returned an open verdict. The wording of the verdict was simply that the jury did not attempt in any way to place any blame on the parties concerned.

Raymond Benneteau, driver of the car in which the girl was a passenger and which crashed into the rear end of a gravel truck, faces a charge of criminal negligence.

ELECTION RACE OFF IN EARNEST

Number of Candidates Likely to be Fewer Than 1,729 in Last Campaign.

FEW 3 CORNERED FIGHTS.

By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(C. P. Cable)—Now the party leaders have fired their big guns, the rattle of the electoral small arms is heard on all sides up and down the country.

Candidates are cancelling their engagements in London—in some cases even postponing weddings — and rushing to their constituencies to join in the fray.

The number of candidates is expected now to be considerably smaller than in the last elections, when there were 1,729. One reason is the tightness of money, particularly in the Liberal party where Rt. Hon David Lloyd George has locked the war chest against Liberal supporters of the Government. The Conservatives and Liberals are appealing for public funds. Another reason is the effort by the Government to avoid three-cornered fights in many constituencies.

Conservatives and Laborites will run about 500 candidates each. The three different factions of the Liberal party will run a total of 70 or 80. Sir Oswald Mosley's new party, which had four seats in the last hour, will have a dozen or more candidates and there will of course be a number of independents.

The policy of avoiding three-cornered fights has already led to a curious situation in many constituencies. For instance in Luton Bedford, which the Conservatives lost to the Liberals in 1929, the Conservatives propose deciding between a Liberal and Conservative candidate by a ballot. The plan is to have both candidate address a joint meeting composed of 100 Liberals and 100 Conservatives who would ballot on the selection. The Liberals have not yet replied to this novel suggestion.

Facts Concerning the World's Best Tonic Food Beverage

YOUR health is too important for you to take risks by drinking any haphazard mixture of food ingredients. You want a food beverage which will be perfect and complete, and which you can rely upon to give health and strength.

The Essential Food Elements

A perfect food beverage must contain proteins, fats, carbohydrates, mineral salts and vitamins. Scientists claim that these vital elements are contained most abundantly in malt, milk and eggs. That is why these wonderful foods of Nature form the constituents of "Ovaltine". Malt extract is used, for powdered malt does not yield the same food value or exert the same digestive power. Pure fresh milk is used. Dried milk is not good enough for "Ovaltine". The eggs are obtained from specially selected sources. 12,500,000 fresh eggs are used each year.

Proteins are obtained from all three ingredients. There are several proteins—all of which are necessary. Milk does not give them all, but a combination of malt, milk and eggs, as in "Ovaltine", supplies them. Fats are contained in the milk and eggs. Carbohydrates are present in the malt and milk. These are natural sugars and are far superior to cane sugar.

Mineral salts—iron, calcium and phosphorus—are derived from the milk and eggs. No nerve-restoring food would be complete without lecithin, which is derived from egg-yolk—hence the importance of fresh eggs in "Ovaltine". Vitamins—owing to the combination of malt, milk and eggs—are all contained in "Ovaltine" and are present in correct ratio.

Correctly Balanced Nourishment

Not only must a perfect food beverage contain all these elements but they must be supplied in correct proportions and in the most readily assimilable form, as in "Ovaltine". It is easily digested because it contains no starch or added sugar. It is flavoured with cocoa—not chocolate. It is emphasized that it nourishes the system normally without causing "fatness".

Avoid So-Called Substitutes

Your common sense will tell you that ordinary malt or cocoa drinks, without real scientific preparation, cannot possibly compare with "Ovaltine". You should make these enquiries. Are they made from malt extract as in "Ovaltine" or powdered malt? Is the milk fresh milk as in "Ovaltine" or dried milk? If they contain eggs are these new laid as in "Ovaltine" or merely dried eggs? Consider carefully if these substitutes are sweet in flavour, whether you are not paying an enormous price for sugar, which if necessary you can add yourself. "Ovaltine" contains no added sugar, but only the natural sugars contained in two of the ingredients—malt and milk.

Economical in Use

"Ovaltine"—although so superior in food value—is low in price and the most economical in use of all forms of concentrated nourishment. Make delicious "Ovaltine" your daily beverage—it is acknowledged to be the best means of giving and maintaining health, strength and vitality.

"Ovaltine" is sold at all stores in air-tight tins, at 50c, 75c, $1.25 and $4.50 (special family size).

FISHING FLEET IS DISAPPEARING

Twenty Years Ago Lunenburg Sent Out Over 120 Vessels.

ONLY 20 THIS YEAR

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 9—After a hard season on the banks, hunting fish and finding few, the Lunenburg fishermen took some relaxation last week and held a schooner race in connection with the Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition. There was little wind and the race, as a race, was rather dull for a while. The vessels lifted slowly to the gentle swell and so light were the catspaws that they had to bridle out the mainsail to keep the huge boom from slanting too heavily. For hours they barely moved, and Hervey W. Jones, managing editor of the Halifax Chronicle and one of the cleverest yacht skippers in the east, found time to talk to the fishermen about their business. The stories indicated that the world famous Lunenburg fleet was dwindling at an amazing rate.

This year only forty-six schooners went fishing, they told him. Twenty years ago there were more than a hundred and twenty of them. The others did not put to sea because the fish market had been so miserable that it was felt they would lose less money tied up at home than they would fishing on the banks.

Poor Season

"The Lunenburg deep sea fishery, this year, was very poor. There were men who went out on the schooners, as fishermen on shares of the catch, who received practically nothing to show for their whole season's work. The arrangement, when they fish on shares is that the crew pay the cook's wages, pay $7 each for outfitting incidentals, and take the net proceeds of the catch. The net proceeds are what is left from the gross after paying the wages of the throater and header, paying the captain's commission of 2½ per cent of the whole catch, and paying all bills for towing, bait, ouring of fish and gauging of oil. The owners of the vessel take their half of the net proceeds, give the captain 2½ per cent, pay the rest of the bills and distribute what is left among the shareholders. When there are plenty of fish and prices are good, this works out very nicely for the fishermen on shares, as well as for the owners of the vessel. But this year the catch was very small, the smallest, it is said, in the recorded history of the Lunenburg industry, and the prices are the lowest that have been paid since 1902.

"The result of all this has been that the share fishermen, after paying for their own personal supplies, their clothing, other requisites, and their tobacco, have only a few dollars left, when they come to reckon up the season's results. They say that some of the Newfoundlanders who went out on the Lunenburg schooners this year did not get enough pay out of the summer's fishing to buy their tickets back to Newfoundland.

"And the native Lunenburg men who went out on shares have the same story. They had very poor seasons in 1929 and 1930 and a still worse one in 1931. Many of these men are married, with families. It is pretty hard lines when a man works hard, in all kinds of weather, for three months, far out at sea, separated from his own people, and then sails back to them with no money. He has his bills to pay, the same as the landsman, and, if he has now been exhausted by three bad years in a row.

Ernest Kay was sentenced to six months hard labor for stealing a car valued at £300, and a fur-lined coat, the property of Captain Michael Dillwyn-Venerables-Liwesyn, of the Grenadier Guards, stationed at Caterham.

"I drove the car out of the barracks by the main gate and the N.C.O., sentry and picket saluted me," said Kay.

Complaint Case Is Dismissed In Court

LINDSAY, Oct. 9.—(Special to The Examiner).—Police Magistrate Jordan disposed of a unique and rather interesting action in the police court this week. A South Ward resident named W. King, laid a complaint against Roy Sandercock for obstructing a sidewalk in front of a garage. The complainant was on his way to church when his way was allegedly blocked by the defendant's car which was alongside a gas pump. There was a passage of a couple of feet on either side of the car for pedestrians, but the complainant did not pass or go round the vehicle. He laid an information against Sandercock. In police court, the operator of the gas pump swore that there was easily eight feet of pavement to get around the car, and two or three feet of the sidewalk proper was also clear.

Magistrate Jordan, in dismissing the case, remarked that a man going to church should have no malice in his heart; that the offence if any, was trivial; and there seemed to be some aggravation behind it all. He advised the complainant to go round the car next time, cross the street or even go around a block to avoid any trouble.

A GREAT GIVER DEAD

Sir John Larking, the philanthropist and engineer, died recently, aged 74, at Blundellsands, near Liverpool. It was disclosed that he had guaranteed £10,000 towards the Liverpool cenotaph.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Lexington Stand Is Destroyed By Fire

LEXINGTON, Ky., October 9 (C.P.). — The grand stand from which cheering thousands watched Peter Manning set the world's mile trotting record of 1.56¾ in 1925, was a mass of charred wood and twisted steel following a fire which destroyed the structure at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track early to-day.

The blaze, its origin unascertained started in the betting sheds and swept through the building before firemen could arrive. The grand stand was built in 1893. Track employees saved most of the association's records, kept in offices under the structure.

MILLBROOK C.G.I.T. IS RE-ORGANIZED

Weekly Meeting Nights Set for Tuesday—Officers Elected.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 9 (Examiner Correspondence) — Nineteen girls were present for the reorganization meeting of the local Canadian Girls in Training group, held at the leader's home on Wednesday evening, the gathering opening with prayer, followed by discussion of the weekly night of meeting.

Tuesday evening each week, at 7.30, was decided upon as the most convenient time for the group meeting, intervening events making the change from Wednesday imperative.

An entirely new membership roll was listed after the leader had given a talk on the C.G.I.T. purpose, and the obligation involved, each girl rising and personally promising allegiance to the pledge before her name was added to the roll.

The election of officers followed, the list for 1931-32 being: president, Marian O'Brian; vice-presidents, Phyllis Kidd and Dorothy McDowell; secretary, Mary Burnham; treasurer, Bryar Edmunds; herald, Madeline McDowell; pianist, Mary Ball; ass't. pianist, Ethel Rowland.

After discussion it was decided, owing to other entertainments coming near the end of the month, not to give the group annual public meeting on Hallowe'en night, but to prepare a suitable program and present it about the middle of November, in order to add to the group funds. The executive will confer with the leader on the play, choruses etc., which will make up the program.

The usual pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close.

LOVE LAUGHS AT TELEPHONE TOLLS

Hospital days were lonely. Of course, her friends did all they could to keep her cheerful — her room was a bower of roses — but how she looked forward to evening when Jack could sit by her and talk of his day at the office.

Then came the news that he must leave town on business. She wondered how she could stand the wait until he came home. But Jack, wise fellow, knew how to bridge the gap. Promptly each evening at nine he called her over Long Distance and told her all the things she wished to hear.

Extravagant? . . . not a bit . . . for night rates are always inexpensive! What could be worth more for what it cost?

Evening rates (7.00 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. local time) are considerably lower than day rates on "anyone" calls. "Night rates" (8.30 p.m. to 4.30 a.m.) are lower still.

THE SPEED LIMIT.

Mr. Justice Logie has expressed the opinion that the speed limit on Ontario's highways should be wiped out.

The learned judge is looking at the matter, of course, merely from a legal viewpoint, inasmuch as he declares that the speed limit causes more perjury in Canadian courts than any other cause.

"The English system of speed regulation would result in much purification in the course of justice," Mr. Justice Logie remarks.

Anybody who has had any occasion to listen to evidence in cases arising out of traffic accidents will have little difficulty in coming to an agreement with Judge Logie as to the unreliability of some of the testimony touching upon the speed of the cars involved.

The number of people who are prepared to go into a witness box and swear that their car was going slower than the legal speed limit when all the indications point to a much faster rate is really surprising.

It is a novelty to find a person involved in a traffic accident admit the possibility that his car might have been travelling faster than 35 miles an hour.

NOT THE RIGHT WAY.

There does not seem any reason to suppose that the cause of the unemployed will be helped or the problem of unemployment solved by such demonstrations as that staged here yesterday morning.

True, it was not a very violent gesture, and those who participated in it readily dispersed on the instructions of the police, but the fact remains that there is nothing to be gained by parades of that nature, and citizens who are unemployed would be well advised to turn a deaf ear to Red agitators who may see in the present situation a chance to spread Soviet propaganda.

The civic authorities have been endeavoring to provide what work they can and to divide it among those most in need of it, despite the fact that the amount originally sanctioned has been reduced $20,000 by the Ontario Government.

There is every sympathy for those who are without jobs, and The Examiner is confident that the community generally is prepared to do everything possible to relieve distress arising out of present conditions.

But jobs cannot be made out of thin air, and attempts to force the hands of the authorities are both misguided and futile; the way to better conditions is not to be found through demonstrations such as was seen here on Thursday.

THE BRANTFORD TRAGEDY.

Near Brantford on Wednesday a fast moving American car, trying to cut in after passing a transport truck, skidded and crashed into another truck coming from the opposite direction, with the result that four out of the five occupants of the passenger vehicle lost their lives.

That tragedy is a sample of what is going on every day on Ontario highways.

This particular driver, who paid the death penalty for his recklessness, was driving at the rate of 48 miles an hour when he attempted to get back in line, and a wet pavement did the rest.

The Department of Highways, the Ontario Safety League and the newspapers have persistently and consistently urged greater care on the part of automobile drivers, but in spite of these appeals and in the face of laws aimed at creating safer conditions, the record of highway fatalities continues to mount, and juries and courts continue to deal leniently with drivers charged with criminal negligence or reckless driving.

It is a condition that reflects sadly upon the common sense of the community.

If a deadly disease were wiping out lives as quickly as traffic accidents are doing the whole country would be in a panic; schools would be closed, public meetings banned, and there would be conferences of health authorities and every other step likely to bring the epidemic at an end.

Yet this highway slaughter is accepted as a common-place affair.

We read about a tragedy like this Brantford accident and then go blithely out on the highway and drive just as recklessly as this unfortunate motorist did.

No wonder the death toll is climbing.

THE FINER THINGS OF LIFE.

Size, population, industrial development and public works are all sources of municipal pride. Substantial material growth is something in which he who runs away read the progressive character of a community. Yet for all their substance these are not vital things. Stratford-on-Avon is not known the world over for its reputation as a centre of active trade in agricultural produce and cattle, but for its association with the immortal English bard.

It is good to note that many an Ontario city and town, while striving to promote its physical growth, has not overlooked the importance of developing the finer things of life. A widespread interest in the arts is indicative of the fact that the proper use of leisure has not been entirely forgotten in the present day. Choral associations that flourish in several parts of the Province are a legitimate source of pride to their communities.

In this connection Peterborough is to be congratulated on possessing such a choir of feminine songsters as those who compose its Madrigal Singers. In a recent trans-Canada broadcast they captivated the country with the charm of their lilting notes. They not only sang their way into the hearts of people all over Canada and lent an added lustre to the name of Peterborough, but they have found many an hour of pleasurable companionship in their cultivation of choral music.—Toronto Telegram.

THIRTEEN YEARS AFTER.

At about this time of the year in 1918 the signs of the military breakdown of the Central Powers and of the coming triumph of the Allies were unmistakable. As we now know the German commander-in-chief had for more than a month regarded his ultimate defeat as inescapable. France was about to crush her German foe. Who, at that hour, could have imagined such a meeting as has just taken place in Berlin? From it the French Premier departs speaking of what has been done as merely a "modest achievement." But it is big with promise, not only in its immediate effect of promoting Franco-German trade, but still more in wiping out long-enduring enmities and promoting a better outlook for the whole of Europe and so for the entire world. It is in reality a wonder that has been wrought for peace within a short span of years.

The actual agreements reached, as announced in the joint communique of the two Governments, are of a kind to grow more important as they are practically developed with time. A permanent commission is to study ways of bringing France and Germany into more profitable commercial relations. The opportunities for this kind of co-operation are both obvious and large. That they will be seized upon by both countries as the years pass can hardly be doubted. Nature and propinquity have a way of over-riding politics, and will be apt to do so in this instance. Economic questions were studiously given first place in the conferences at Berlin, but political questions of various kinds will be apt to trail along with the others. For example, there was proposed a certain sort of co-operation between Germany and France in cultivating trade with Russia. Germans have the technical organization and France has the money to finance it. Bring the two together harmoniously and there may be a marked enlargement of business with Russia. Should that be one of the consequences of this extraordinary coming together of Germany and France, it would have to be reckoned as much more than a modest achievement.—New York Times.

PUTTING MONEY IN THE BANK.

Reports from Ottawa say that during the month of August there was an increase of $10,000,000 in deposits in Canadian banks. The amount resting there now amounts to $1,461,091,577.

We have not noticed any statement from the Canadian banks as to whether they desire to keep on taking in money or not. It is quite possible for a bank to have too much money on deposit, because a deposit earning three per cent. is a liability for a bank until that money has been put out in the form of a loan.

Who is stacking money in our banks at such a rate? We cannot believe it is the mass of the people, because so many of them are working on short hours with decreased earnings that they are not in a position to do it.

It is not at all likely that farmers are adding to their holdings in savings departments, at least if they are it is entirely opposed to all the reports we hear about shortage of ready cash on the farm.

We are inclined to believe that the increased deposits represent money which in normal times would be turning over in business of one sort and another. It represents cash which might be going into extension of plant or the opening of new markets. Some of it might even find use in speculation.

It may be a sign of national and individual financial strength for a number of people, but it is not a good symptom. It seems to be running along past the stage where it can be referred to as thrift, and approaching the point where this money can be called idle and nothing else.

A heap of money in a bank is only half the cycle—the more important move needed to complete the movement is that people should be going into the banks and presenting good reasons why they should be allowed to take much of it away and put it to work.—Border Cities Star.

RIOTING OVER THE "DOLE."

It was very evident that the extremists in Britain are determined to oppose to the utmost any reduction in the payment of unemployment insurance, commonly called the "dole." There apparently was a concerted effort to organize demonstrations in Glasgow, Salford, Bristol and London in order to show disapproval of the policy. The largest and most unruly of these was in Glasgow which, for many years, has been the centre of the radical movement. On Glasgow green, a mob of 50,000 people came into conflict with the police. These, for the most part, represented the unemployed. Just how extensive the movement will become cannot be foretold. There is good reason to believe, however, that an overwhelming majority of the working people of Britain sees the justice of the Government's action and will raise no opposition. The authorities are not likely to be intimidated by noisy demonstrations on the part of the extremists in a few centres throughout the country. The disturbances, nevertheless, show the seriousness of the problem with which Britain has to deal.

It is evident that the National Government, while making the reduction, intends to deal sympathetically with the unemployed. Disorganization of industry is too severe in Britain at the present time to make it possible to do anything else. In the meantime it is devoting all its energies to find a remedy for the economic depression. If the condition was merely a national one, and not world-wide, there would be greater hope of success. In one of the great financial panics in the United States, Dr. Horace Bushnell, the celebrated New England preacher, from the account of Paul's shipwreck, took for his text the words, "Let Her Drive," indicating thereby that it was utterly impossible to control the trend of events by human endeavor, and that the nation must patiently wait until the storm blew itself out. There is reason to believe that the same state of affairs exists to-day and that, while men may adopt measures that appear to be wise and prudent, the recovery of prosperity can take place only as the result of an improvement in world conditions.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Henry seems anxious to get Mr. Hepburn into the Legislature. His offer is not, however, likely to be accepted.

And now Sault Ste. Marie comes to bat with a story that caribou have been sighted in Algoma. That's a great country up there.

Most baseball fans are now listening in to world's series games mainly to find out what this young fellow, "Pepper" Martin, is doing.

INSTALMENT 27

Lisa had never met Emma Firth, but she had met her prototype—a self-centered self-pitying woman, ruling her household by the tyranny of an imaginary illness, demanding from her husband faithfulness and devotion, giving little in return but complaint. Emma went one step farther than most such women. Emma claimed that her ill-health was her husband's fault. It had been Barry who had wanted a child, and urged that she expose herself to dangers of which he was very well aware. Her mother died when she was born. Emma maintained that her nervous collapse dated from the day she first knew she was to bear a child. She had been under the care of doctors, trained nurses, attendants, and companions ever since. The birth of the immature little creature who had never breathed had justified her fears and premonitions about child-birth, of which Barry had made so light. It had given her a right, she felt, to be treated with tenderest care and consideration for the rest of her life.

For fifteen years Emma had never ceased blaming Barry. He had become convinced he did owe Emma a debt, but he despaired of diminishing it, as time went on and he observed his patience and sympathy for Emma disappearing. Emma also observed them disappearing, and accused him of not loving her any more. Then finally she accused him of loving some one else. Although at the time there was no one else of whom he was aware, he felt guilty. For by that time he wished there was some one else. Barry did his best to make up for this wish, and for the other defects of which Emma so often reminded him, by being very kind to her—by the semblance, if not the spirit, of faithfulness and devotion.

When he was offered a position in Boston and Emma refused to accompany him, the doctors advised him to go without her. They said his actual presence seemed to increase his wife's undesirable neurotic tendencies, but they told him that constant letters and frequent visits would be desirable. Emma clung, with a terrible tenacity, to all the symbols of that which she had killed. Because she had killed it, Barry, in his compassion for her, did all in his power not to let her know.

Lisa realized now it had been a selfish wish of hers that Emma should be spared, in order to justify her monopoly of Barry. Already he was a different creature since Emma had ceased to be his duty. Lighter of heart. More buoyant in speech, in manner, in step even, it had seemed to her last week as they had walked along the river-bordered Esplanade, one late afternoon, into a lemon-colored sunset.

Something must be done. The present situation was robbing Barry as well as herself of other things in life. He ought to marry.

Whenever Lisa contemplated this imaginary woman, she felt a stab of envy, or was it jealousy? Why could she not learn to love Barry maternally? But though she tried, she could not change the nature of her love for Barry.

She had considered going away. If she were out of sight, out of range, it would hurt less to give Barry to some one else. But she couldn't stay away long enough to accomplish anything definite and permanent. Then suddenly a way was open.

What would Barry have said to her just now over the telephone if he knew what she had done? Today, after driving home in the sunset glow from Grandmother Vale's in happy and almost silent harmony, she could hardly meet his eyes when he said good-bye. She had never concealed anything from Barry. But if she told him he would protest. Besides, perhaps, her coup would prove but a futile lunge in the dark.

Rupert often asked Lisa's opinion on matters connected with his business. She possessed, at times, an intuitive insight which was of value. Several days ago he had written her that he and his associates were finding it difficult to decide whether to offer the management of the new branch in Chicago to Birchard or Raymond, both men connected with the New York office. The position required social attributes as well as business keenness. The man chosen would be immediately drawn into the inner circles of both Chicago's social and banking worlds. It was a big opportunity for either Birchard or Raymond. She knew both the men. To which would she offer the position?

Lisa, after deliberating for twelve hours, had taken her pen—her stiletto—in hand, and replied that she would offer the position to Barry Firth.

Lisa received a telegram from Rupert in the morning saying he was returning from Chicago the next day. She decided to meet him at the station. She wanted to learn the edict as soon as possible.

"A splendid suggestion of yours, Lisa," said Rupert, five minutes after he was seated beside her in the limousine. "Barry is just the man for the place. We hadn't thought of him because Birchard and Raymond both wanted the position. But Barry's better adapted. The others think so, too. I read them your letter. Very convincing. We want Barry to go out immediately. Next week if possible. We're telling him tomorrow. How are the children?"

"They're well," said Lisa quietly, looking out of the window. The lights blurred, swam.

"Why did you do it, Lisa," asked Barry, two days later. "Why did you do it? Why did you do it?" Three times he demanded before he gave her a chance to reply sitting by her in the library. "They're determined to have me go. When I hesitated, told them I'd rather not, they couldn't understand. Rupert read me your letter. All those clearly stated arguments of yours, Lisa, sending me from you. Why did you do it?"

"You know why, Barry."

"I've told you a thousand times there's only one woman I want to marry."

It was no shock to Lisa to hear Barry speak in such specific terms so soon after Emma's death. He considered himself as bound to Lisa, by virtue of her trust in him, as he had to Emma, by virtue of the marriage ceremony. But it was not because he felt bound and from no sense of obligation that he spoke to Lisa so.

"And you can't marry her," said Lisa, slowly.

"Not now, I know. But sometime I can, perhaps. I'm going to wait for her, Lisa, if I have to wait twenty years."

"I simply can't let a man like you, so full of possibilities for happiness and for giving happiness, go on indefinitely demeaning himself in a secret devotion to a woman who can give him little in return."

"Demeaning himself!" protested Barry. "Little in return! Lisa, I'd rather be a doorkeeper in the house——" he stopped abruptly. "How does that go, and who wrote it? Look here, woman, who says I am demeaned, and who gives me little?" His eyes were laughing, his manner brusque, bluff, rollicking, his mood insistent, not to be denied. Lisa always found it difficult to resist Barry when he was like this. "Take it back," he commanded, and possessed himself of both her hands. "Take it back or I'll——"

"I'll take it back."

He dropped her hands instantly. "I don't like your Chicago plan," he said. "I shall tell them tomorrow I shan't go."

"No, you mustn't do that," said Lisa, becoming very grave. She knew Barry had been trying to avoid gravity. She was familiar with his tricks and devices to make her gay. "It can't go on, Barry," she said, and turned away.

"Does our engagement mean so little to you that you so lightly break it?" he asked, in a reproachful tone.

"Our engagement?"

"Yes, that's the way I look upon it, and have looked upon it ever since I have been free to pledge myself to any one."

"But I am not free."

"You will be some day."

Rupert was twenty years older than Lisa. Until today Barry had never referred to the possibility of Lisa's release through his death. He had supposed his own bondage would outlast Lisa's, but now twice within five minutes he had suggested Lisa's freedom. She was aware of a vague sensation of shock, perhaps caused by a repressed desire of her own.

"I'd rather not speak of the possibility of my freedom, Barry. Or think of it, please."

"I understand. Forgive me." His voice was gentle. "But, after all, why not, Lisa. All I ask is the privilege of waiting for you in case you do become free—of waiting for you near by, where I can see you occasionally, even though I wait all my life. Oh, do let me tell them I will not go to Chicago."

Lisa shook her head. "No. You must never pay any attention to any one as long as I am in the vicinity to be hurt by it. I know you. But it is not only for your sake I want you to go. It's for mine, too. It's better for me. I can't go on caring for you as I have since Christmas, and be the sort of woman I want Fabia to be, and June. And lead the sort of life I want them to lead."

"I know no woman who performs her duty as a mother as well as you."

"Oh, Barry, you always say lovely things! But it isn't performing my duty when my conscience is troubling me."

"Is it troubling you?"

"Lately. Since Christmas especially."

"Why, Lisa, you never talked like this before!"

"I know. Because I didn't want to listen to my own arguments, I suppose. But I must now. I don't feel right freely even about my friends. I don't feel I deserve their opinion of me. I hate marching under false colors."

She rose, walked over to the window and stood looking out. Barry rose and followed her.

"Don't be ridiculous, Lisa. Don't talk nonsense!" he exclaimed roughly, brusquely, from behind her back. "You're not going to give me up."

"Yes, I am," she replied, turning and looking at him, and he saw that she meant it.

Had he said, instead, "For my sake I beg of you don't give me up." Had he cried out in distress, "I need you," he might have shaken her firm resolve that day. There was a vulnerable spot in Lisa's heart, of which Barry, in spite of his insight into her nature, was unaware. Often he touched the spot without intent or knowledge. The vulnerable spot was Barry's need of her. Rupert had never needed her except to fill a role. No man had ever needed her.

But to-day Barry did not touch the vulnerable spot. He had never capitalized his misfortunes or played for anybody's compassion. He uttered no cry or pain to-day to Lisa.

"Rupert said you would probably be leaving within a week," said Lisa.

"If I go."

"You must go. Our caring is getting too much for me lately. I'm afraid of it, Barry."

"Don't be afraid of it. I'll never let it hurt you. Try me again, Lisa." It was the nearest he came to pleading.

"No. Please go before it is too late. Please go before what has been so beautiful to both of us becomes something to be regretted. It is my wish. Please go and save me, Barry."

It wasn't her words, and her voice that was nearly breaking, and finally her tears so rarely shed, that made Barry promise he would do anything she asked. It was his love for her.

"But I shall come back. I shall come back, and get you some day," he said.

A THOUGHT.

SYMPATHY.

Pleasant is the silence of perfect sympathy. This is the test of intimacy. A fellowship is only complete when the partners in it find themselves entirely at ease without the necessity of a word. We are a long way from this condition, when, as often happens, we talk and talk simply because we realize that a pause would be awkward on both sides.

The picture of Carlyle and his mother sitting at opposite sides of the fireplace, in absolute content, but without a word passing, illustrates precisely what we mean. We get here, perhaps, a foretaste of a stage of being when souls will communicate without the cumbrous apparatus of language. Under present conditions even the degree is marvellous to which sympathetic natures can influence each other without words.

There are souls which, in silence, seem to give off to their very essence and to inter-penetrate others with it. It is as though the harmony within communicated a rhythmic pulsation which played on responsive natures like spirit music. A volume lies in the sentence in the life of Lord Lawrence, which says that he felt uneasy if his wife left the room. Happy man! To possess as one's own this benediction of a presence that can bless without a word is to be rich indeed.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Oct. 9. — Prices to country shippers were "boosted" again yesterday and on extras the increase was a real one. Local wholesalers found supplies very light and raised their bids to 33c for extras, 28c for firsts and 15c to 16c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. This was the second advance for the week and made a total increase of 5c per dozen on extras. Brokers' quotations for graded eggs, in free cases, were also higher, extras being quoted at 36c to 37c, firsts at 30c to 31c, and seconds at 18c. Prices to retailers were steady at 50c for extras in cartons, 39c for extras loose, 33c for firsts loose, and 19c to 20c for seconds loose.

Butter.

Trading in butter was no better than previously and prices were steady at 20c to 20¼c for No. 1 creamery solids and 19c to 19¼c for No. 2. Buyers were buying for immediate requirements only and were taking only the finest offerings. Retailers were quoted the steady levels of 23c for No. 1 creamery prints and 22c for No. 2.

Brokers' prices for new cheese were stronger at 12c for large, 12¼c for twins and 12½c for triplets.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.— Prices of butter, cheese, eggs and potatoes were mainly unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized butter, in cartons, held steady at 20c a pound. To retailers, solids were unchanged at 22c, and prints are 23c a pound. Receipts were 1,122 boxes.

Ontario cheese lost an ¼c at 12¼c to 12¾c, and Quebec cheese was steady at 11¾c to 12c a pound. Receipts were 1,842 boxes.

On the egg market, carlot prices of fresh Ontario or Prairie extras gained a cent at 36c, while firsts were unchanged at 28c, and seconds held firm at 18c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged and receipts were 1,796 cases.

Montreal potatoes were steady at 30c to 40c per 80-pound bag, and New Brunswick Cobblers were 45c to 50c, while New Brunswick Green Mountains were 50c to 55c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Broader demand, largely inspired by decrease of Russian wheat exports and by curtailment of estimates of Germany's wheat yield, jerked all grains upward yesterday. Reported efforts to cancel vessel charters for grain shipments from Russia led to deduction that North American wheat would hereafter be brought more freely for overseas. Besides, primary receipts of domestic wheat yesterday were the smallest in a long while.

Wheat closed strong, 2¼c to 2¾c higher; corn, 2 to 2¾c advance; oats, ¾c to 1¼c up, and provisions at a shade to 10c gain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, October 9. — Fractional recoveries of Wednesday's losses were made on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Closing prices revealed gains of ⅛c to ¼c over Wednesday.

October closed up ¼c at 53¼c, while November gained the same amount to 53⅜c to 53⅝c. December strengthened ⅛c to ¼c at 53¼c, and May was ⅛c higher at 57c.

Constructive foreign news and strong markets at Chicago and Liverpool were primarily responsible for the improvement in prices here.

Pit trade was largely of a local character, but support was sufficient to absorb what was offered in the way of hedging sales, and held prices close to the high of the day. It was believed a stronger corn market started the Chicago ascent.

The market was lent encouragement in reports of decreased movement of grain through the Black Sea ports, particularly from Russia. Shipments of Soviet wheat have steadily decreased in the past few weeks. Argentine shipments are likely to be about 1,500,000 bushels for the week, while North American clearances are estimated at more than 7,500,000 bushels. Commercial estimates of wheat yields in Germany also aided in the bullish sentiment here.

Wheat delivered through the Clearing House on the October contract yesterday totalled 131,000 bushels, while wheat delivered to country elevators and overloading platforms on Wednesday amounted to 2,677,000 bushels, compared with 2,841,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

Trading in cash and coarse grains was very slow, and actual sales were confined entirely to a small quantity of low-grade oats for export.
